Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring: That the Legislature of the State of California at its fifty-second regular session, commencing on the twenty day of January, 1937, two-thirds of the members elected to each of the two houses voting in favor thereof, hereby proposes to the people of the State of California that the Constitution of the State of California be amended by adding a new section to Article XIII thereof to be known as section 17 thereof to read as follows:

SEC. 17. The State shall not incur any deficiency liability or indebtedness exceeding in any biennium the income and revenue provided for that biennium except upon the issuance of bonds as provided in Article XVI of this Constitution or except in case of war or to repel invasion or suppress insurrection. It shall be the duty of the Legislature to prevent the incurring of any such deficiency liability or indebtedness in behalf of the State.

The Legislature is hereby granted the authority, with exception of this Constitution to the contrary notwithstanding, to reduce any or all appropriations or expenditures of the State in an amount sufficient to keep the total expenditures of the State within its income; provided that the payment of interest and redemption on bonds heretofore authorized by a vote of the people shall not be reduced but shall continue as provided by the particular bond acts.

If during any biennium it shall appear to the Governor that there is a probability that the income of the State shall not be equal to the expenditures authorized it shall be the duty of the Governor to immediately call the Legislature in extraordinary session and present to it the facts demonstrating such probable deficiency and the Legislature shall take such action as may appear to it necessary to avert a deficiency.

The State Controller shall not draw his warrant for any expenditure of money unless the funds for the payment of such warrant are available for the payment of the warrant or unless estimates of revenue, approved by the Board of Control, indicate that funds will become available during the biennium for which the expense is incurred or the payment is to be made.

Report of Special Senate Committee on Public Utilities.

The following report of Special Committee was received:

Your Special Senate Committee on Public Utilities, appointed pursuant to the following resolution:

Resolved, by the Senate of the State of California: That a Special Senate Committee on Public Utilities, consisting of five members of the Senate to be appointed by the President of the Senate, be and they are hereby authorized to investigate the ownership and management of, and to report to the Senate at the next annual session of the Legislature, concerning the report such legislative bills, resolutions and constitutional amendments as the committee may find appropriate to carry into effect its recommendations; and be it further

Resolved, That the Railroad Commission of California and the Board of Equalization and any and all other public agencies, boards, bureaus and departments hereby directed to cooperate with the committee in furnishing it all assistance and information necessary to carry out the purposes of this resolution; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall proceed to organize by the election of one of its members as chairman and by the selection of a secretary and such technical and professional assistants as the committee shall deem appropriate and thereupon proceed with the investigation to which it is authorized to determine; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee is authorized to hold hearings at any and all places and to investigate all matters and things pertinent to the subject of this resolution; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee is hereby authorized and empowered to require the production of books, accounts, documents, records, memoranda and papers of every kind; to issue subpoenas, to compel the attendance of witnesses and to procure testimony and so far as practicable to take evidence in person; and reported so that the same may be available for use by the Legislature; and each member of the committee is authorized to administer the oath of office to the witnesses of Article VIII of Chapter 11 of Title 1 of Part III of the Political Code relating to the attendance and testimony of witnesses before the Legislature and committees thereof shall apply to the committee appointed under this resolution and it shall be the duty of all officers and employees of the State or of any county, city, town and village, or political corporation of the State to furnish such records, documents and evidence upon request of the committee as may be pursuant to the purposes herein stated; and be it further

Resolved, That the sum of $10,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the committee and the cost of its investigation, is hereby made available and appropriated for the use of the committee out of the contingent fund of the Senate, and the State Controller is authorized and directed to draw his warrants in favor of the persons or persons entitled thereto for such expenditures as may be certified to him from time to time by the chairman of the committee and the State Treasurer is hereby authorized and directed to pay the same.

Has the honor to submit this its report:

Organization of Committee.

Pursuant to the authority granted under the resolution hereinbefore set forth, the following members of the Senate of the State of California were appointed by the President thereof: Jerrold L. Seawell, Leonard J. Difani, J. C. Garrison, Walter H. Duval, and Chris N. Jespersen.

The committee held a preliminary meeting at November, 1935, and elected the following members as officers of the committee: Jerrold L. Seawell, Chairman; Leonard J. Difani, Vice Chairman; J. C. Garrison, Secretary.

Pursuant to the authority granted to him by the terms of the resolution, the chairman called upon the Legislative Counsel for the purpose of aiding in the planning of the work of the committee and the preparation of plans for the work of the committee for the purposes set forth in the resolution.

Activities of the Committee.

The activities of the committee were for the most part hampered because of the limitation in the amount of funds available to the committee compared to the tremendous task which the committee found itself faced with under the terms of the resolution. Due to a ruling of the Controller, based upon an opinion of the Attorney General, the committee was unable to use any of the funds available to it for the purpose of employing engineers and other experts who could make the necessary surveys in order to ascertain the true magnitude of the problems which the committee was authorized to survey. It was not until some time late in 1936 that the California Supreme Court, in the case of Phillips vs. Riley, 91 California Decisions, 832, held that investigating committees of the State Legislature could expend moneys for the purposes which your committee desired, but this decision, coming as it did at a date which was so close to the time set for the meeting of this session of the Legislature, it was impossible for your committee to completely survey the problems involved.

Faced with the difficulties heretofore set forth, the committee decided at its first meeting upon a plan of action which, though limited in its scope, could at least give the committee preliminary information with reference to how various groups concerned in the problem to be surveyed would be affected by any plan which the committee might recommend. It was, therefore, determined that the committee adopt a plan calling for testimony from the various representatives of publicly and privately owned public utilities concerned with the development and/or distribution of water and hydro-electric energy. In this connection your committee determined that its policy should not be one of conducting an "investigation" in the strict sense of the word but rather that the committee should seek information upon which to base its recommendations concerning the "advisability and practicability of centralizing in the State of California the ownership, conduct and control of public utilities concerned with the development and exploitation of power and water."

In accordance with the policy adopted by the committee, various persons representing the publicly owned and privately owned public utilities concerned with the problems before the committee were called upon and were asked to present their views concerning these matters.

The complete transcript of testimony taken before the committee at its various hearings and the exhibits presented are so voluminous and of such magnitude that it would be impossible to include them in their entirety in this report. We are, therefore, filing this with the Secretary of the Senate that it may be available and open to the inspection of the public. Certain exhibits, however, reflect in a concise and printable form the views of the witnesses, and in the case of certain prepared statements, contain valuable information which your committee feels should be contained in this report. Therefore, rather than attempt to set out our own version of this testimony, and so that your honorable body may have this information in the exact words of the witnesses, we are including in this report as Appendix "A", a true copy of certain of the exhibits filed with the committee. Each exhibit is marked with the same letters by which it is identified in the transcript of testimony and the official minutes of each hearing. Appendix "A" we believe will give a good perspective of the information obtained in this investigation, all of which is elaborated upon at length by questions and answers in the transcript of testimony.

In addition to calling upon persons actually engaged in publicly owned and privately owned public utility enterprises, the committee invited other persons and organizations representing the public in general to appear before the committee for the purpose of informing the committee of their views in connection with the problems before the committee.

Pursuant to the provisions of the resolution creating the committee, the chairman called the first meeting, after the preliminary organization meeting, in Los Angeles, California, which meeting took place in January, 1936.

The following people appeared and were heard by the committee:

M. J. Dowd, Chief Engineer, Imperial Irrigation District; Harold P. Huls, City Attorney, Pasadena; William S. Crawford, City Council, Santa Barbara; Carl Froerer, City Engineer, Ventura; Fred Long, City Clerk, Glendora; Fred S. Porter, General Manager, Long Beach Water Department; E. A. Vaughn, Manager, Light and Water Department, Lompoc; Ralph L. Criswell, Public Lands Agent, Bureau of Water and Power, Los Angeles; James McCambridge, Superintendent, Public Service Department, Burbank; P. Diederich, Superintendent of Plant, Water and Light Department, Glendale; H. A. Van Norman, General Manager, Water Works and Supply, Los Angeles; T. A. Panter, Engineer, Electric Distribution, Los Angeles; C. R. Reid, Executive Secretary, California Municipal Utilities Association; George L. Hoxie, Southern California Edison Company; T. A. Hunter, Secretary, Municipal League of Los Angeles; John E. Gray, Secretary, Municipal Light and Power Defense League, Los Angeles; W. H. Anderson, President, Municipal Light and Power Defense League; G. E. Austin, Master, Riverside County Pomona Grange.

The next meeting of the committee was held in the city of Fresno in February, 1936. Pursuant to the plan adopted by the committee, the personnel policy was again made known to the various persons appearing to the effect that the committee was conducting a survey rather than an "investigation" and that the committee, although limited in its scope, hoped and expected to get the complete cooperation of all the persons interested in the problems involved.

The following people appeared and were heard:

Samuel L. Heisinger, Assessor, Fresno County; Louis Bartlett, Special Counsel, Central San Joaquin Municipal Utility District; J. L. Myers, Secretary, Central San Joaquin Municipal Utility District; Carlos F. Pitt, President, Central Counties Municipal Utility District; John L. Anderson, Commissioner of Public Works, Fresno; J. P. Grange, Master, Tulare County; Pauline Morgan, J. B. Harvey, Master, Pixley Grange; Edgar J. Smith, City Attorney, Fresno; Kenneth V. Bogart, City Clerk, Los Angeles; E. A. Miller, California Power Ownership League; John W. Sturgeon, Tulare Grange; L. A. Heising, Master, Fresno County; Pauline Grange; T. Simonis, Caruthers Grange; Axel W. Stralder, Director, Multiple Irrigation District; R. W. Criswell, Electric Engineer, Multiple Irrigation District; Lawrence B. Myers, Fresno, California.

Although representatives of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company and of the San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation were present at the Fresno meeting, at their request the committee excused them for the purpose of having some thing at the San Francisco meeting of the committee.

The committee met in San Francisco in December, 1936, and continued the policy of the committee in attempting to gain information from the various groups represented, called upon and heard from the following persons:

Ralph L. Criswell, Department of Water and Power, Los Angeles; Benjamin F. Delanty, General Manager, Light and Power Department, Pasadena; O. H. Hurler, Mechanical Engineer, Light and Power Department, Pasadena; Albert Grant, Chief Engineer, Sacramento Municipal Utility District; Pauline Morgan, Sacramento, California; T. P. Wittich, Chief Counsel, Los Angeles Municipal Utility District; J. R. Mason, San Francisco, California; Louis Bartlett, Berkeley, California; Glenn A. Baxter, Secretary, Board of Public Utilities, Alameda; Arthur J. Janns, Assistant Utility Engineer, City of Palo Alto; Fred M. Haywood, President, Board of Supervisors, San Francisco; Robert H. Curtis, Pacific Gas and Electric Company and subsidiary companies.

The next meeting of the committee was held in Sacramento at which time the committee heard from the following persons:

Albert Given, Chief Engineer, Sacramento Municipal Utility District; Carlo Rybke, Counsel, Redwell Municipal Utility District; John B. McCall, State Senator, Redding, California; James M. Roche, Attorney, Tulare Water Conservancy; John F. Blakely, City Clerk, Los Angeles; Edward Hyatt, State Engineer and Commissioner, California Water Project Authority; George Scholapp, Master, California State Grange; Ralph L. Criswell, Board of Governors, California Municipal Utility Association.

Findings of the Committee.

From the survey conducted by the committee, the committee feels convinced that the problems with reference to the development of the water and hydroelectric energy for the State of California was one which could not be solved in a short period of time and that the problem was complex. At this meeting the committee at its Los Angeles meeting found that although the representatives of the numerous publicly owned utility groups in southern California were interested in the problems involved, they were for the time being satisfied with the results which had been obtained from the development of the Boulder Dam Project.

The committee found that various municipalities in southern California had contracted with the Metropolitan Water District for the taking of water from the Colorado River and in addition many of the cities which were not generating electrical energy by means of steam generating plants had contracted with the city of Los Angeles and the Federal Government for the taking of electrical energy developed and distributed from Boulder Dam.

The feeling of the representatives of the various southern California municipalities may be summarized to the effect that the State of California should not interfere with existing water and power development and distribution projects now being conducted by various municipalities and political subdivisions of the State, but that the State should cooperate with these municipalities and political subdivisions for the purpose of further development in these fields.

The representatives of the San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys publicly owned utility groups, including the East Bay and San Francisco areas, were definitely of the opinion that it was incumbent upon the State of California to develop the water resources of the State as completely as possible and that the Central Valley Water Project was essential for the continued well being of the people in that area. In this connection, the development of the Central Valley Water Project, as the same was outlined before the committee by Mr. Hyatt, has had a slow but steady progress. Construction of the project is now completely under the direction of the United States Bureau of Reclamation and, at the time that Mr. Hyatt appeared before the committee, a comprehensive investigation of the Kennett Dam Site had been made and negotiations were under way for the major construction contracts and preparations are now being conducted for the development of power in connection with this Central Valley Project.

The survey conducted by your committee showed conclusively that the municipalities, utility, and irrigation districts engaged in the furnishing of water or electrical energy to their inhabitants, have attained a marked degree of success.

The benefits derived from the public ownership of these utilities have been reflected in numerous ways, including lower utility rates, lowered taxes, and in general public improvements.

It is expected that the Central Valley Water Project, when completed, will be of inestimable benefit to the inhabitants of northern California as will be the benefits from the Boulder Dam Project to the inhabitants of southern California.

It is significant that in all the hearings before this committee no testimony was presented which indicates that there had been any failures of publicly owned public utilities or that the policy of public ownership had not been successful.

Many of the public ownership experts appearing before the committee stated that the plan of water and power development which has attained remarkable success in the Province of Ontario, Canada, would be a most logical plan for this state to follow.

The findings of your committee clearly indicate that the consensus of opinion of the people who appeared before the committee was that they are opposed to centralization in the State of California of the control of the water and power resources of the state where such policy would interfere with existing publicly owned utilities.

Without exception every representative of existing publicly owned public utilities and representatives of the public generally who appeared before the committee, favored the policy of the state owning and developing the water and power resources of this State, not now being developed by an existing publicly owned utility, and transmitting the water and power so developed to local public agencies for distribution to the people.

Recommendations.

Based upon the testimony taken before the committee and, in accordance with the findings heretofore made, the committee recommends as follows:

1. Rejection of any contemplated plan looking toward the complete centralization in the State of California of the existing water and electric energy facilities as the same are now being conducted and managed by the municipalities and political subdivisions of the State.

2. Development by the State of the water and electrical energy resources of the State and make the same available to municipalities and public agencies for distribution by them to the people.

3. Continued development of the Central Valley Water Project, and that the power developed in connection with said project shall be reserved for the benefit of the people of the State of California.

4. Purchase of existing private utilities, whenever the same shall be necessary and practical, at their fair value.

5. Issuance of revenue bonds to be used for financing the purchase of privately owned public utilities and for the financing of the future development of water and power projects in this State.

In accordance with the recommendations heretofore mentioned, your committee has prepared and introduced a legislative program for the purpose of carrying these recommendations into effect.

The committee wishes to express its appreciation for the kind cooperation of Mr. Fred B. Wood, Legislative Counsel, and Mr. Sidney L. Lipsitch, Special Counsel for the committee, in organizing the work of the committee and the preparation of this report.

The sincere thanks of the committee is also extended to the Industrial Accident Commission for making available reporters to take the testimony before the committee.

Respectfully submitted,

STATEMENT OF THE CITY OF PASADENA
OPPOSING CENTRALIZATION OF PUBLIC OWNERSHIP OF PUBLIC UTILITIES IN THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA

Represented by

C. W. Koiner, City Manager; Harold P. Huls, City Attorney.

The City of Pasadena is unalterably opposed to the centralization of public ownership of public utilities in the State of California.

The City of Pasadena owns and operates its own municipal electricity generating and distribution system, and develops and distributes water from its own municipal plant. In 1932-1934 the City of Pasadena constructed and completed its Morris Dam in San Gabriel Canyon on the San Gabriel River at a cost of approximately $7,500,000.00, the project including some 18 miles of aqueduct for the transportation of the water to the City of Pasadena. It likewise is a member city of the Metropolitan Water District and has contracted with said District for the sale of its said dam to the said District upon the delivery of a sufficient supply of Colorado River water for the City and its inhabitants by the District. It likewise has contracted to sell the said dam to the said District upon the delivery of said Colorado River water. Pasadena has developed its own water program without aid from any other agency, and enjoys a water rate which compares favorably with that of other cities or agencies under comparable circumstances.

The history of municipal ownership of electric utilities has been one of ever decreasing rates not only as far as the municipally owned utilities are concerned, but also as regards the rates charged by privately owned electric utilities which have been forced to lower rates by the competition with municipally owned utilities. The electric plant of the City of Pasadena, having its inception in 1906, is one of the outstanding examples of successfully owned municipal utility plants in this country, and the history of light and power rates in the City of Pasadena under municipal ownership shows a continual downward trend in cost to consumers so that now the City of Pasadena affords a light rate for residence use of $6.30 per 500 KWH consumption, which according to our information is the lowest residential rate in the United States. This is graphically depicted on the graph attached hereto and marked Exhibit "A". This is further shown by comparison with rates existing in the leading cities in the State of California on Exhibits "B" and "C" attached hereto.

The City of Pasadena's Municipal Light and Power plant was constructed from bond issues of $1,492,000.00, of which $252,991.00 is now unpaid, the entire expense of operation and additions to the plant having been taken care of out of earnings.

In addition to that the earnings of the Light Department have assisted materially in the construction of a Municipal Golf Course, a Municipal Hall of Justice, a Civic Auditorium, and has provided work relief and funds for the unemployed at times when such aid to other city projects was most needed. In 1935 a charter amendment became effective requiring the transfer from the Light and Power Fund annually of 8% of gross income of the Municipal Light and Power Department received during the previous fiscal year from the sale of electrical energy for use in the City to be expended for the payment of interest and or principal on any bonds of the City which are at said time or shall become wholly payable out of moneys received from general taxes of the City. This amendment is effective until June 30, 1939.

On September 29, 1931, the City of Pasadena contracted with the United States of America for the generation and delivery of 68,000,000 KWH of electrical energy from Boulder Dam. The life of this contract is 50 years from the time of first delivery with the option to extend the same for another 50 years. In addition the City of Pasadena has contracted with the City of Los Angeles for the transmission of said electrical energy from Boulder Dam, and has agreed to bear its proportionate share of the cost of construction, operation and maintenance of said transmission line to be constructed by the City of Los Angeles.

The City of Pasadena conceives that the development, transportation and storage of water for its domestic supply, and the generation and distribution of electrical energy to the City and its inhabitants is a municipal affair over which the State legislature has no control whatsoever, and over which it should be accorded no control. The City of Pasadena believes that to permit the State to gain control over such utilities which have operated, as has been shown, in the most advantageous manner for such cities and their inhabitants, would be an unwise invasion of the rights reserved to charter cities by the Constitution of the State of California to be free from outside interference in matters which concern themselves purely.

The fine development and growth of cities in the State of California has been largely due to the autonomy accorded them by the municipal home rule provisions contained in the Constitution of the State of California, and the City of Pasadena believes that to centralize the development of these resources in the State of California would be a distinctly backward step and an invasion of the guaranteed rights of home rule to cities which is not warranted by the facts of the situation with respect to such utilities in the State of California.

Dated this 14th day of January, 1936.

Respectfully submitted,

CITY OF PASADENA

EXHIBIT "B"

DEPARTMENT OF WATER AND POWER LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA

Before the SENATE SPECIAL COMMITTEE

Presented by Ralph L. Criswell.

The Department of Water and Power, being an integral part of the Los Angeles city government, and existing by virtue of the provisions of the Charter of the City of Los Angeles, which provides for the successful operation of said Department in the field of business, as contrasted with functions that are purely governmental, first came into being as a municipally owned water works in 1892 and was known as the Water Department, under the jurisdiction of the Board of Water Commissioners (seven in number). By amendment to the Charter in March, 1911, the Board of Public Service Commissioners succeeded to the Board of Water Commissioners, and subsequently the new Charter adopted in 1925 provided that the Board of Water and Power Commissioners was thereby created to be the successor in interest to both the Board of Water Commissioners and the Board of Public Service Commissioners, and that the Department was thereafter to be known as the Department of Water and Power.

The Charter provides that the powers conferred upon the Department of Water and Power shall be exercised by a Board of Water and Power Commissioners (five in number) who are subject to the general directions relating to all commissioners of all other city departments, and whose duty it is to supervise, control, regulate and manage the Department of Water and Power, and to make and enforce all necessary and desirable rules and regulations therefor. Each of the five members of the Board is appointed for a five-year term, subject to confirmation by the City Council.

The present Board is made up of the following members, with the year of expiration of their term of office: Dr. John R. Hayes, president, July 1, 1941; Arthur J. Mullen, July 1, 1939; W. H. Hay, July 1, 1938; Alfred Lansing, July 1, 1937; A. F. Southwick, vice president, July 1, 1936. The Board appoints its secretary, and James P. Vreman has been secretary for more than twenty-five years.

The funds of the Department are administered through a Departmental controller by the city controller and the city treasurer. F. M. Anderson has been auditor and controller since the organization of the Water Department in 1892. The fiscal year extends from July 1 to June 30.

As a self-supporting proprietary department, with control of definite revenues, the Department of Water and Power, through its commissioners, is required to adopt an annual budget. No expenditures may be made or expenses incurred except in accordance with that budget, unless specific appropriations are made subsequent to adoption of the budget.

The Board formulates the policies of the Department, authorizes necessary ordinances and employees and fixes their salaries and duties, subject of course, to city service regulations. The Charter provides that the Department of Water and Power shall have the power and duty to construct, operate, maintain, control, manage, and control works and properties for the purpose of supplying the city and its inhabitants with water and electrical energy, at either and to regulate and take by purchase, lease, condemnation, or otherwise, and to hold in the name of the City, any and all property situated within or without the City and within or without the State, that may be necessary or convenient for such purpose, to regulate and control the use, sale, and distribution of water and electrical energy owned or controlled by the City, and to collect for water and electrical rates, to fix the rates to be charged for connections and, subject to the approval of the Council, by ordinance to fix the rates to be charged for water and electrical energy for use within or without the City.

The Charter further provides that at the discretion of the Board of Water and Power Commissioners, they may divide the work of the Department into two bureaus, namely, the Bureau of Water Works and Supply, and the Bureau of Power and Light, and in case such division is made, the General Manager of the Bureau of Water Works and Supply shall be the Chief Engineer of said Bureau, and shall be known as the Chief Engineer of Water Works, and the General Manager of the Bureau of Power and Light shall be the Chief Engineer of said Bureau, and shall be known as the Chief Electrical Engineer. Each said Bureau General Manager shall be directly responsible to the Board in relation to the affairs of said Bureau, and in relation to the Board.

In accordance with the above-mentioned provision, the Department of Water and Power is divided into two Bureaus, known as the Bureau of Water Works and Supply, with H. A. Van Norman as General Manager, and the Bureau of Power and Light, with E. F. Scattergood as General Manager.

Joint Activities.

In addition to directing their respective bureaus, the general managers serve with a member of the Board as a "joint committee", supervising activities of various divisions of the Department that function for both Bureaus. These divisions have been established where economic advantages are to be gained through creating facilities to meet requirements common to both Bureaus.

It is provided in the charter that the general manager of each Bureau shall be directly responsible to the Board and shall have the same powers and duties as a department general manager in relation to the affairs of such Bureau and in relation to the Board.

In volume of business handled, the Department of Water and Power far exceeds any other city department. Its revenues from the sale of electricity are approx-nately $16,000,000 annually, while water revenues are in the neighborhood of $9,000,000 a year. Combined assets of the water and power systems total $275,000,000. The annual payroll of its 6200 employees, including construction field forces, was approximately $10,906,000 for the year ending June 30, 1935.

To administer efficiently this great municipal enterprise, executive management of highest order is required. That it has been rendered is evidenced by the long service records of the General Managers and the very creditable showings they have made. When William Mulholland retired from active connection with the department, in 1928, he had been identified with the local water supply system more than fifty years. H. A. Van Ness, Chief Engineer and General Manager of the Bureau of Water Works and Supply and E. F. Scattergood, Chief Electrical Engineer and General Manager of the Bureau of Power and Light have been with the department since the time of aqueduct construction, almost thirty years ago.

The Department of Water and Power consists primarily of two major units, or Bureaus, the Bureau of Power and Light and the Bureau of Water Works and Supply. Each Bureau is divided into several divisions, the heads of each reporting to its respective General Manager. A secondary group of divisions, termed "Joint", because they function in the interests of both Bureaus, report to a committee composed of the two General Managers and a member of the Board.

Only two divisions are directly under the Board, the controller's, which is headed by the chief accounting employee in accordance with charter provisions, and the legal, which is staffed by deputy city attorneys.

The controller's division audits accounts and funds, reporting conditions to the Board, audits and approves demands, checks, budgets and general accounting and cost accounting work. Frequent contact is established with the city financial officers. The division provides the management with statistical cost engineering and economic studies, estimates and reports.

The legal division gives advice to the Board and Department officials, represents the Department in law suits, prepares contract forms and cares for the general legal business of the Department. The legal staff is appointed by the City Attorney and paid by the Department. This staff consists of an assistant city attorney and nine deputies. Clerical forces are regular employees of the Department.

Many important divisions are included in the joint group functioning for both Bureaus and reporting to the committee made up of the two General Managers and the president of the Board.

The tremendous volume of detail required in billing and collecting more than 500,000 consumer accounts for water and electricity each month with a monthly average in excess of $2,000,000, requires the most modern methods of commercial practice.

Besides this activity, the duties of the commercial division include 5,000,000 readings of water and electric meters annually, addressographing 7,000,000 regular and special consumer bills each year, starting up contracts for light and water service with new consumers, receiving office and mail collections for service rendered. Seventeen branch offices at strategic locations facilitate service applications and consumer payments. Modern communication equipment including telephones, teletypes and teleautographs speed up all transactions with the public and within the organization. One and one-half million consumer account records, covering a three month period, are available almost instantly in the bookkeeping section. Use of tabulating cards makes this compact arrangement possible.

Purchases totaling $5,000,000 in a year are made by the purchasing division. Standard specifications are established for items repeatedly ordered, thus reducing purchase costs. A traffic section has effected savings of many thousands of dollars by surveying all possible shipping methods and routes and selecting the most economical.

In the acquisition of hundreds of sites for operation of the water and electric systems, including the Boulder Dam transmission system, the Department has developed a large and efficient right of way and land division. The large volume of escrow work made it feasible for the division to install its own escrow section, effecting material savings and eliminating all escrow expense to the seller.

As many of the properties owned by the Department were needed only for water rights or for right of way purposes, it has been possible to lease such parcels and derive some income. Other functions of the division are the collection of rentals and supervision of the properties, to secure easement deeds, right of way permits for water main, extensions and power line extensions, serve summons for court actions and investigate claims for damages against the Department. Acquisition of 206 miles of right of way for the Power Bureau's transmission line to Boulder Dam has been in progress for some time.

General shops, transportation equipment and stores divisions are consolidated under the direction of one head.

The stores division coordinates the receiving, storing, issuing, reclaiming and accounting of all new and salvage material, equipment and supplies.

The transportation division cares for the 1,053 automotive vehicles owned by the Department. In the course of a year this fleet of cars rolls up almost 11,000,000 miles. The units range from light passenger cars to 12-ton trucks and their range of operations extends from San Pedro to Moss River in the High Sierra, more than 300 miles north and south, and from the San Fernando Valley to the Colorado River, more than 300 miles east and west. As an example of efficiency quoted at all points of the organization to keep costs to a minimum, the division operates an oil refining plant, whereby used crankcase oil is treated and returned to a machine supply at the highest quality cost of oil. An average of 1,500 gallons a month is produced in this manner. The division also builds its own batteries.

The smallest division of the Department is that of accident prevention. Its function is to prevent accidents that might cause injury or property damage by enforcing the cooperation of workers and their superiors in eliminating unsafe practices.

With over 6,000 employees engaged in some 200 different kinds of work incident to the design, construction, operation and maintenance of the Department's several hundred miles of water and electric works, there is of necessity a constant necessity to organize and direct employee activities over these far-flung systems. To come from the Civil Service Board specifications, 1919 system. Handling all matters between this Department and that of Civil Service, including merit system principles.

making personnel studies and recommendations for improvements affecting the wage and salary schedule and for improvements in working conditions and personnel efficiency and related work. Supervision of employee health through the existing nurse's office and the administration of the workers' compensation provisions of the state law is part of the personnel division activities.

The thoroughness with which "merit system" activities are administered may be judged by comparing results with other city departments working under the same civil service provisions. Although the Department of Water and Power is independent of many charter restrictions applying to such departments as are financed by tax funds, and is in direct competition with other public utilities maintaining rigid economy in management, this Department might be expected to follow complex civil service procedure only with some degree of reluctance. However, difficulties relating to "merit system" personnel activities have been so numerous as to place the Department of Water and Power in this respect among the leaders of city departments.

BUREAU OF WATER WORKS AND SUPPLY

The Bureau of Water Works and Supply consists of the following divisions, headed directly to H. A. Van Norman, Chief Engineer and General Manager, as follows:

The Engineer of Water Works, who is in charge of the design, construction, maintenance and operation of domestic and irrigation distribution systems, pumping plants, reservoirs, supply main lines, water meters, water treatment, chemical laboratories, specifications, meters and services, system extensions, new business, surveys, drafting, engineering laboratories, etc.

The Engineer of Sources of Water Supply, who is in charge of the acquisition, maintenance and operation, construction, source of water supply, pumping plants, canals, pipe lines, buildings, shops, irrigation water, hydrographic division, etc. (Owens Valley and Mono Basin Divisions).

The Superintendent of Construction, who is in charge of the construction of all major projects, such as tunnels, canals, buildings, and all other structures as designed.

The Director of Personnel, who is in charge of all personnel matters and the records pertaining thereto.

The Executive Assistant to the General Manager, who is in charge of statistical research studies, engineering publications, budget, financial statements, cost studies, Bureau files, presentation of special reports, field construction, handling forces, administration of Bureau policies, etc.

Historical

The Pueblo of Los Angeles was established by the Spanish crown in 1781 for the primary purpose of raising subsistence supplies for the small army of occupation. Water was the element that determined the location of a pueblo and the area of the grant was adjusted to the available supply. This was done in the case of the Pueblo of Los Angeles. A grant of one league square was made and the Los Angeles River became appurtenant to this grant in 1781, and no lands were separately held until after the American occupation in 1848. The water was diverted by canals to the respective homes or ranches within the grant.

In 1857, William Dryden realized that the pueblo needed a domestic water supply that would afford more convenience than the open ditches. He obtained a franchise to raise water from the "Zanja Madre," or "mother ditch," by means of a water wheel, and also the franchise to lay pipes and conduits for a water system. The next year Dryden, Hancock, and Temple formed a corporation known as the Los Angeles Water Works Company. This company, operating under Dryden's franchise, extensively enlarged and developed the distribution system.

In 1868 a thirty year franchise was granted to the Los Angeles Water Works Company, the consideration being the establishment of a fountain in the old city plaza. The expiration of the franchise in 1898 was preceded by two years of limits of cost and time fixed by the engineers in their first estimate. It is not an exaggeration to say that the builders of the aqueduct system and a water record for efficiency and economy. Their estimate the work would be completed in five years. The work began in November, 1910, and water was delivered to the San Fernando Reservoir in November, 1914, and within the agreed limits.

The Owens Valley lies between the eastern base of the Sierra Nevada and the Inyo Ranges. The valley is about 150 miles long and ranges from one to twenty miles in width and has an elevation between 5,000 and 8,000 feet. It is situated in Inyo and Mono Counties, approximately in the central portion of California, north and south, and on the thrust side of the Sierras. It is drained from the San Joaquin Valley and San Francisco Bay south by the High Sierras. The Mono, Inyo, and Coast Range interpose between it and Southern California.

The waters of the Owens River flow on the high slopes of the Sierra Nevada. The rainfall on the valley floor is about twenty-five inches, but on the higher altitudes and on the slopes of the surrounding part of the precipitation is in the form of snow and averages more than 100 inches.

A vast amount of preparatory work had to precede construction. Roads, trails, power plants, telegraph and telephone lines were built and water supplies for camps were established along 100 miles of mountainous terrain. The work included 245 miles of road, 250 miles of pipe line, 218 miles of power transmission lines, 377 miles of telephone and telegraph lines, and 57 miles along the line of the aqueduct.

The problem of transportation of material through the desert by constructing camps between Mono and Owens Valley was solved by the building of a branch of the Southern Pacific Railway known as the Nevada and California Railway from Mojave to a junction with the main line at Owens Valley in 1910. The road was a standard gauge, with four heavy roads and is a permanent part of the Southern Pacific System at the present time. The line also built a temporary line about nine miles long from the main line near the Tiemeyer Division to near of Red Rock.

Hydrographic studies made by the Water Department together with cooperation with United States Geological Survey engineers resulted in a report showing that a supply of 20,000 miner's inches (400 second feet) of water could be obtained from Owens Valley. The report consisted of a series of six canals, distributives and miles of conduit. Approximate figures show south of Independence the main canal, with a capacity of two cubic feet per second, divides the area and carries tributaries to which are passed discharging into Haiwee reservoir at 61 miles below the intake. This 900 second foot canal will carry an average flow of 1,000 second feet of the melting of snow. Then the canal, with a capacity of 10,000 second feet, discharges five miles north of the intake, discharges into Haiwee from the southern portion of the basin to the capacity of the canal above Haiwee.

Haiwee reservoir, with a capacity of 65,000 acre feet, regulates the flow of the southern portion of the aqueduct. Its carrying capacity is 100 cubic feet per second. The first 24 miles of the canal, situated in the volcanic lands of Owens Valley, forms practically a natural river course and is not lined. For the next 17 miles to Haiwee reservoir, the canal is concrete lined but not covered. From Haiwee reservoir to the suburbs of Los Angeles the canal consists of 97 miles of covered concrete conduit, 53 miles of head tunnels, 42 miles of siphons, and 2 miles of by-pass immediately south of Haiwee reservoir.

The flow near the southern portion of the aqueduct is regulated by Patterson, Bonquet, Dry Canyon, and San Fernando reservoirs. Patterson reservoir, with a storage capacity of 7,500 acre feet, which lies north of the Coast Range regulates the flow through the Elizabeth tunnel to Bonquet and Dry Canyon reservoirs, having capacities of 36,500 and 750 acre feet respectively, working usually in flow through the municipally owned hydroelectric power plants into the San Francisco mountains at the terminus of the aqueduct proper.

Since the inception of the Los Angeles aqueduct an average of 250 second feet has been delivered into Haiwee reservoir. The crop of 1913-14 delivery was 1914-15 with 47 second feet and the highest was in 1931-32 when 570 second feet were delivered.

Wells from the Alabama Hills to Bishop were drilled to supplement the surface flow during periods of deficient rainfall. At present there are 410 wells equipped with pumps. Since 1917-18 these wells have contributed an average of 42.6 second feet per annum. The year of lowest production was in 1917-18 with 5.1 second feet, and the highest was in 1930-31 when the wells produced a yearly average of 188.8 second feet.

The completion of the Mono Basin project, which is under construction at the present time, will permit the diversion of the water from this basin for use in the City of Los Angeles. The supply from this source, together with the present estimated safe yield of the Owens River watershed, will keep the aqueduct flowing at full capacity without pumping, except in extremely dry years, and will furnish a continuous flow of 480 cubic feet per second out of Haiwee reservoir.

With the addition of Grant Lake reservoir and Long Valley reservoir, having storage capacities of 48,000 acre feet and 163,000 acre feet, respectively, the total storage along the line of the aqueduct will be 358,630 acre feet.

Rates.

February 12, 1902, after the municipality had taken over the operation of the water-works, an ordinance became effective reducing meter rates from 20c per 100 cubic feet for the first 2,000 c.f. and 15c for each 100 c.f. above 2,000 to a sliding scale of from 15c, maximum, to 10.2c minimum. The present residence rate is 13c per 100 c.f., with a minimum of $1.00 per month for an ordinary residence.

In 1915 an irrigation rate of $1.50 for the first 800 c.f. was established and 7½ mills per 100 c.f. for all in excess of 800 c.f. June 1, 1920, there was established a combination irrigation and domestic rate of 2c per 100 c.f., with a minimum of $1.00 per month, and an intermittent irrigation rate of 1.4c per 100 c.f., with a $2.00 minimum. The present combination rate is $1.65 per month minimum for 1300 c.f. supplied through a 1-inch meter, and 4c per 100 c.f. for any excess, supplied from the gravity system and 6c per 100 c.f. if supplied by pumping. The intermittent irrigation rate is 1.5c per 100 c.f. supplied by gravity and 3.5c if pumped, with a minimum charge of $2.00 for each time water is used.

Many privately owned systems have been absorbed by the Bureau. In some instances these systems were supplying water to users outside the city as well as inside. In these cases the Bureau has continued to supply the rural users, although the rate is slightly higher outside the city limits.

Reservoirs and Tanks.

The locations of the reservoirs and tanks are indicated by the several major headings given on the chart captioned "Reservoir and Tank Data." They are Los Angeles Aqueduct, San Fernando Valley, Los Angeles City and the Los Angeles Harbor District.

The functions of the reservoirs are as here described. The Los Angeles Aqueduct reservoirs serve several purposes. As a group they serve to impound and to store the waters of the Los Angeles Aqueduct supply, and also to regulate their flow through the aqueduct. In addition to this, Fairmont, Bouquet Canyon, and Dry Canyon reservoirs are directly used to control the generation of hydroelectric power at the San Francisco power plants.

The San Fernando Valley reservoirs function as follows: The Upper and Lower San Fernando Reservoirs act as terminal storage reservoirs for the Los Angeles Aqueduct, as service reservoirs to the areas lying below them, and as regulation for the San Fernando power plants. All other San Fernando Valley reservoirs, excepting the MacKay Reservoir, are supplied from these two either by gravity or by pumping. The large reservoirs, Chatsworth Reservoir and Encino Reservoir, serve as additional terminal storage for the aqueduct and help regulate the large irrigation use of water during the summer months. The smaller reservoirs and tanks serve various local areas with either pumped or gravity supply as shown on the chart. They serve for day to day regulation of the use of water required for local areas.

The Los Angeles City reservoirs and tanks serve as aqueduct terminal storage, and for local service area storage and regulation. The Hollywood, Stone Canyon, and Franklin Canyon reservoirs are the larger of the reservoirs used to regulate and store Los Angeles Aqueduct water. Upper Franklin Reservoir acts as a fore bay for power generation at the Franklin power plant. Silver Lake Reservoir functions as a storage reservoir for Los Angeles River water and also Los Angeles Aqueduct water. All other reservoirs and tanks are used for regulation of day by day variations in demand by local areas, whether supplied by gravity or by pumps.

The Los Angeles Harbor District reservoirs were designed to store and regulate the well waters which for many years were the source of supply for this area. In 1935 a new supply line was constructed which supplies this district with Los Angeles Aqueduct water, and the Harbor District reservoirs now serve to regulate this supply.

The capacities of all the reservoirs are given on the chart in units of millions of gallons, and also of acre feet.

Wells.

To augment the supply of water from the Los Angeles River and the Owens River aqueduct, the Bureau operates 86 wells in and near the city. These wells are in addition to 110 wells in Owens Valley which are operated for the purpose of equating the aqueduct flow. The Bureau also operates 67 pumps in the city for the purpose of lifting water to the higher elevations which cannot be supplied by gravity flow.

The distribution system consists of 3828 miles of pipe, ranging in diameter from 4 inches to 78 inches.

Financial.

Bonds for the Bureau have been authorized and issued from time to time, to the amount of $93,200,000, of which there are now outstanding $64,504,200. The interest rate ranges from 3 1/2% to 5%, and the bonds mature in various amounts from 1936 to 1974. As of June 30, 1935, the assets of the Bureau totaled $154,189,183.

The gross income of the Bureau for the last fiscal year amounted to $9,114,288. After deducting operating expenses, interest and depreciation, there was left a surplus of $1,298,021. For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1935, ten years ago the surplus was $742,095.

Mono Basin

The Mono Basin Project is a plan to provide additional water for the City of Los Angeles. This plan embraces the acquisition of properties and water rights and the construction of concrete canyons and conduits to convey the water and storage of the waters of the several streams in Mono Basin and their transmission to the Owens River and thence to Los Angeles. The project has made financially possible by a water bond issue, which was authorized by the voters of the city at an election held on May 20, 1920.

Mono Basin is situated in Mono County, California. It is about 47 miles in length and 22 miles in width and extends to elevation over 10,000 feet above 6,400 feet at Mono Lake water surface to more than 14,000 feet at the highest peaks.

The principal water supply of Mono Basin has its origin in the eastern slope of the Sierra Nevada, which forms the western boundary of the basin. The runoff from this area is collected by several streams, all of which empty into Mono Lake, lying approximately in the center of the basin. This lake is a large body of water, exclusive of its two basins of salt water, and has a surface elevation of 6,419 feet above mean sea level. The surface drainage into Mono Lake is supplemented by many springs, some of them of considerable size. Most of these streams are either in the bottom of the lake or near its shores, being quite numerous along the base of mountains which abut the eastern shore. The southern portion of the basin is very arid, largely destitute of vegetation and not productive of sufficient water to reach far into the basin.

The important streams of the basin, in the order of the importance of their contribution with the largest first, are: Rush Creek, forming the tributaries North Fork, Reversed Creek, Parker Creek, and Walker Creek; Leeving Creek, receiving its tributaries—Greener Canyon Creek and Walker Lake; Mono Creek and its tributary—Lake Canyon Creek; and Cedar Canyon Creek. The mountain flows of these creeks constitute practically the entire flow of the basin and are the main source, which a supplementary supply of water is being obtained.

The City of Los Angeles has long been interested in Mono Basin as a source of additional water supply. As early as 1915 a preliminary study was made, consisting of field surveys and investigations, to consider the feasibility of diverting the waters of the basin.

Hydrographic studies have shown that it is possible to divert and deliver from Mono Basin a quantity of water which, when added to the Owens River supply, and supplemented by the Owens Valley underground water system, when necessary, would enable the city to operate comfortably the Los Angeles Aqueduct at its maximum mean annual flow of 480 second feet.

For the twenty-six year period 1906 to 1931, inclusive, the average annual flow of all these Mono Basin streams, as nearly as can be determined, was approximately 226 second feet of which 195 second feet (86%) may have been diverted had the water supply system now being constructed been in operation. However, for the eleven years 1923 to 1933 inclusive, a period of satisfactory operation, the average annual flow of these streams was about 150 second feet, of which 140 second feet could have been diverted.

Engineering investigations have shown that Greener Lake is the most suitable reservoir site of large capacity in Mono Basin. The site for this reservoir will be located on Rush Creek at the narrows below Greener Lake. It will be of the earth-fill type and will rest on a gravel foundation. A dam approximately eighty-five feet in height above the stream bed at this point will create a reservoir of 48,000 acre feet capacity. Preliminary work up to July 1, 1935, consisted of removing the top soil at the dam site, and digging a ditch to divert the waters of Rush Creek during the period of construction. About 2,400 cubic yards of earth had been removed from the dam site, and approximately 6,500 cubic yards from the ditch by this same date.

The different sections of the proposed Mono Basin aqueduct will vary in capacity to carry the added water as the different streams are diverted into it at convenient points along the line. From Leeving Creek to Walker Creek the capacity of the aqueduct will be 300 second feet, increasing to 325 second feet at the Walker Creek diversion, and continuing with this capacity to Parker Creek, with another increase to 350 second feet at the Parker Creek diversion, which capacity continues into the Grant Lake Reservoir. The aqueduct from Grant Lake Reservoir to the Owens River will be a gravity line, consisting of a tunnel approximately 3450 feet long at Grant Lake, about three miles of trapezoidal conduit, and the Mono Craters Tunnel, 11.3 miles long, with a capacity of 390 second feet.

The Mono Craters tunnel, 59,812 feet in length, as being built, has a nine-foot section, wide horseshoe type, and will be concrete-lined throughout. Due to its length, two shafts, one of them, Shaft Number One, 900 feet deep and the other, Shaft Number Two, 300 feet in depth, are being sunk along its axis to avoid an unduly long construction period. Excavation will be carried on from six headings, two at each shaft, and one at each portal. The estimated time required to complete the Mono Craters tunnel is three and one-half years.

Construction on the Mono Basin Project was authorized by the Board of Water and Power Commissioners on July 3, 1934, and actual drilling was started at West Portal on September 24, and at East Portal on November 23. Excavation for sinking Shaft Number One was begun on November 28, 1934, and excavation work at Shaft Number Two was started February 8, 1935.

Up to the end of the fiscal year, July 1, 1935, 5059 feet of excavation had been made in Heading No. 1, West Portal, including 1879 feet of support, and 3790 feet, entirely supported, at Heading No. 6, East Portal. On this date, Shaft No. 1 had been sunk to a depth of 539 feet, and Shaft No. 2 had been excavated to a depth of 340 feet, 40 feet below the invert grade of the tunnel. It is expected that Shaft No. 1 will be completed to tunnel grade about April, 1936. Shaft No. 2 was completed approximately September 1, 1935. When Shaft No. 1 is completed, drifting will begin in Heading No. 2, westerly from the shaft toward West Portal, and easterly in Heading No. 3, toward Shaft No. 2. Excavation will start easterly in Heading No. 4, toward Shaft No. 1, and westerly in Heading No. 5, toward East Portal, as soon as Shaft No. 2 is sunk to tunnel grade and the muck pocket, surveyor's drifts, and other works necessary at the bottom of the shafts, have been finished.

From the East Portal of the Mono Craters Tunnel to the Long Valley Reservoir at the upper dam site at the head of the Owens River Gorge, a distance of about 30 miles, the water flows in the natural channel of the Owens River. Here a dam of the rockfill type and 132 feet high above stream bed, will form a storage reservoir of approximately 163,000 acre feet capacity. Preliminary work on the Long Valley dam site was begun in April, 1935, and approximately 3400 cubic yards of top soil had been removed up to July 1st.

Expenditures to July 1, 1935, have consisted of $3,295,000 on the Mono Craters Tunnel, $71,000 at Grant Lake Dam and Reservoir, and $206,000 at Long Valley Dam, a grand total of $3,572,000. This total includes the cost of erecting camps, installing water supply, telephone and power lines to the various camps and points of construction, the purchase of construction equipment, material and supplies, as well as the amount chargeable to direct construction.

Labor.

All employees, excepting certain laborers, are under the jurisdiction of the City Civil Service Commission, and employees are selected by merit system only. The scale of wages paid to employees is generally satisfactory to labor organizations affected.

There are 18 employees of the Bureau in executive capacities who receive over $5,000 per year each. The average monthly salary of these executives is $589. Eight California utilities (Southern California Edison, Los Angeles Gas and Electric, Pacific Gas and Electric, San Diego Consolidated Gas and Electric, San Joaquin Light and Power, Southern California Gas, Los Angeles Railway and Southern California Telephone) have 233 employees in this class who receive a monthly average salary of $771. The Bureau has 2,499 employees who receive less than $5,000 per year each. The average monthly wage of these employees is $146. The eight utilities listed above have 30,227 employees of this class, whose average wage is $127 per month. Of the above employees of the Bureau 1084 are employed on construction projects.

BUREAU OF POWER AND LIGHT

When the City of Los Angeles entered upon the task of bringing a domestic water supply from the Owens River Valley, hydro-electric power came into the picture as a valuable by-product. In 1906 E. F. Scattergood was appointed as consulting electrical engineer on the Owens River aqueduct project. Soon after his appointment, Mr. Scattergood submitted his preliminary report on aqueduct power development.

The Bureau of Power and Light was organized on March 23, 1911, under the control of the Board of Public Service Commissioners, predecessors in interest to the Board of Water and Power Commissioners. Its Chief Electrical Engineer and General Manager, E. F. Scattergood, has been in active charge of the construction and operation of the Bureau from its inception. Operations of the Bureau's generating plants commenced in April, 1917.

The first power bonds, to the amount of $2,500,000, for the acquisition of land and the construction of a power plant and transmission and distributing systems, were authorized at a city election, held April 19, 1919, by a vote of 12,296 to 1,600. At an election held March 6, 1911, the voters of the city authorized the municipal distribution of power, instead of turning the power over to a private company; by a vote of 11,809 to 1,315. A proposal to issue bonds to the amount of $6,500,000 to continue the construction of generating works and a transmission and distributing system was defeated at an election held April 15, 1914, by a vote of 31,063 for and 21,249 against, thus falling short of the necessary two-thirds by 3,812 votes. However, the proposal was reconsidered at an election held May 8, 1914, and the issuance of the bonds was authorized by a vote of 50,183 to 24,564.

When the water first poured through the Owens River conduit in 1914, it should have swept into action generating that would have supplied the city with cheap electrical energy. But it was not until the spring of 1917, nearly three years behind the carefully planned schedule that the city began to generate and distribute its own power from the aqueduct, and then just a distributing system that covered only a limited portion of the community. Losses, partly and unconsciously aided and abetted by opponents of public ownership by means of obstructive litigation and the defeat of the bond issue of April 16, 1913, for the construction of a transmission and distribution system.

Edison Purchase

In 1916, after extensive negotiations for the purchase of the distributing systems of the privately owned power companies operating in Los Angeles had failed, the city started the construction of its own distributing lines. After a few months of intensive competition, in which the municipal system was able to take over from the private corporations more than 70 per cent of their business in the metropolitan area, and threatened to extend this area, the Southern California Edison Company and the Pacific Light and Power Company, whose system was then being united with the Edison Company, agreed to sell. A third company, the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, refused to negotiate.

An agreement was entered into on April 30, 1917, through which the city was given an option to purchase the two above named distributing systems, and pending the purchase, the Edison Company agreed to operate them for the city. But handicapped by war conditions and by the further acquisition of the private power interests, it was not until May, 1922, that the city was able to take over these lines. Bonds for their purchase were approved in 1910, but their use was delayed by litigation until 1922. The operating agreements were extended from time to time. Since the actual transfer to the city of the distributing lines, the municipal electrical system has been able to demonstrate its real efficiency.

Litigation

Litigation has at times greatly delayed and impeded the work of the Los Angeles municipal system, and a large number of lawsuits have been directed against the Bureau. In by far the greater number of instances the Bureau has ultimately prevailed, but at considerable cost of time and money.

In 1914 Superior Court cases Nos. 15,569 and 17,165 were filed by Henry H. Hart and Edgar M. Frost, respectively. As both suits dealt with the same facts, they were consolidated for trial. These suits sought to enjoin the bringing of the water from Owens Valley on a proposed charge of its impurity. Actually they were intended to make it impossible for the city to carry the water through its aqueduct and use it on its way for the generation of electric power. The Superior Court gave judgment in favor of the city July 10, 1915. The plaintiff's appealed the case to the Supreme Court, which on August 11, 1919, affirmed the decision of the lower court. It cost the Bureau about $104,000 to defend itself in these cases.

On May 1, 1917, a suit was brought to restrain the Bureau from carrying out the operating agreement with the Edison Company. Judgment in favor of the Bureau was handed down August 27, 1917. The case was appealed to the Supreme Court, December 11, 1917, and on February 25, 1922, the judgment of the lower court was sustained. The case was then appealed to the United States Supreme Court, where the case was dismissed, December 20, 1922.

Territory Served.

The City of Los Angeles comprises 450.6 square miles and is located on the south coastal plain of Southern California, extending from the Pacific Ocean inland about forty miles. Approximately 80% of the area is fairly level with 20% in rugged hills. Over half of the area served by the municipal electric system is located in the San Fernando Valley, mainly a sparsely settled farming territory with several small towns, all a part of Los Angeles. The main part of the city and the center of commercial development is located from ten miles east to twenty miles south of the Pacific Ocean. The incorporated area is very irregular in shape. The central portion of the city is connected by a narrow strip or corridor one half mile wide and extending approximately ten miles southward to the harbor district.

The central business section comprises primarily buildings from eight to thirteen stories, the present limit height. The industrial section is fairly well zoned, with a considerable portion outside the city limits. Although there are many apartments and flats, the major residential development is of single-family houses on lots of forty feet frontage or more. Streets are fairly wide, tree obstruction not serious. The population of Los Angeles at the 1930 census was 1,238,048. The density varies from 250 per square mile in the rural areas of San Fernando Valley to from 12,000 to 20,000 in the central urban sections. A relatively low average density of 2,803 per square mile is largely accounted for by the agricultural area in the San Fernando Valley, which amounts to nearly half of the total area of the city.

The main economic foundation of the community is represented in manufacturing, motion picture industries, oil field development, and large citrus and agricultural developments in the surrounding area and in southern San Joaquin Valley and the Imperial Valley. A considerable part of the industrial development is located just outside the city limits. Industrial and manufacturing output for the metropolitan district, approximated $471,000,000 in 1931. The port has developed a large shipping activity.

Distribution.

Climatic conditions are favorable to low cost of distribution construction, the temperature seldom falling to freezing. There is no sleet menace, thunder storms occur seldom, rainfall averages 15.3 inches per annum and is limited to the winter season. Relatively higher standards of construction and maintenance tend to keep up costs, as does competitive construction. The growth of the territory has been rapid during the period of fairly high prices and has required rapid expansion of the system.

The municipal system had been planned with the utmost care. A consulting board of three mechanical and electrical engineers of national reputation had been selected to check the details of the system designed by E. F. Scattergood, the Chief Electrical Engineer and General Manager of the Bureau. These men were Dr. W. F. Durand, head of the department of mechanical engineering at Stanford University, Dr. Harris J. Ryan of the department of electrical engineering at the same institution, and O. H. Ensign, for many years chief electrical engineer in charge of electrical design and construction for the United States Reclamation Service throughout the western states.

At an election held June 13, 1919, a bond issue of $13,500,000 was authorized by a vote of 46,656 to 21,248 to finance the purchase of the distribution system of the Southern California Edison Company within the city. Three years later (in 1922), after successfully resisting several suits which had been filed in the courts to prevent their issuance and sale, the bonds were sold and the city acquired the distribution system of the Edison Company in the city as it then existed. Since then a number of annexations have been made to the city in territory which the Edison Company still serves. The property of the Edison Company located in the annexed territory is in process of condemnation in the courts, and will eventually be acquired by the Bureau in accordance with the terms of the contract entered into by the Edison Company and the Bureau at the time the Bureau took over the Edison lines within the city.

The service of electricity in the City of Los Angeles is divided between the Bureau of Power and Light and the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, and in the annexed territory referred to above, by the Southern California Edison Company. Measured in kilowatt-hours supplied, the Bureau serves approximately 68%, the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, 30%, and the Southern California Edison Company, 2%. The electric revenues within the city are divided approximately as follows: Bureau of Power and Light, 62%; Los Angeles Gas and Electric, 32%, and the Edison Company, 6%. The Bureau supplies the major part of low-priced industrial power, the Los Angeles Company has a limited service of power, while the Edison Company service is mainly in residential areas. These facts account for the Bureau's lesser percentage of revenue than sales.

The Bureau of Power and Light and the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation are in direct competition in the commercial and industrial center of the city and in portions of the residential section. For many years a policy has been in effect by which active competition for obtaining existing customers has been discontinued—each system retaining customers served. New subdivisions and territory have been divided so that duplication of distribution line construction and of commercial effort have been largely eliminated. What is generally termed "cut-throat" competition does not exist. There does exist, however, considerable duplication of system between the two companies. This is particularly true in the underground area. Practically all of the street lighting is supplied by the Bureau, even in districts where the Los Angeles Company supplies the domestic and commercial service.

There is an understanding between the Bureau and the Los Angeles Company that, in order to avoid economic waste, one utility will not extend its lines into territory served exclusively by the other utility, nor will either utility duplicate or displace the facilities of the other. Both utilities have agreed to not extend their direct current distribution systems, which at present are confined to a limited section of the downtown district. The Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation supplies at 60 cycles frequency and the Bureau at 50 cycles, but the Bureau will change to 60 cycles when Boulder Dam power is available.

Generation.

The Bureau at present obtains its electric supply from hydroelectric plants constructed in connection with the municipal water works and from purchases of electrical energy from the Southern California Edison Company. The Bureau has no steam driven stations. The Edison Company has a large steam electric plant at Long Beach from which it can, in an emergency, deliver energy to the Bureau's system, but the larger part of its output is from hydro plants situated in the southern end of the High Sierras. Under the terms of an existing contract between the Bureau and the Edison Company, the latter guarantees to keep sufficient steam turbines in reserve to supply the Bureau's requirements in emergency. Consequently, hereafter the greater part of the Bureau's power requirements will be supplied from the Boulder Dam power plant.

Generating facilities serving the municipal electric system consist of five hydroelectric plants having a combined capacity of 110,005 kw (or 175,750 hpi, all situated at the lower end of the Los Angeles aqueduct, which extends south from the Owens River Valley, approximately 120 miles to Los Angeles.

The two largest plants are situated on the San Fernando River, approximately fifty miles north of the city, with a total area (one of storage, constructed above for reliability. Plant No. 1, at the head of San Fernando, has a normal effective head of 870 feet. The plant consists of two units, the first installed in 1917 and the last in 1928, and has a rated capacity of 58,125 kw. Plant No. 2 is about six miles down the river from No. 1. It consists of three units, the first two installed in 1920 and the last in 1922, has a normal effective head of 515 feet and a rated capacity of 47,000 kw. San Fernando Dam installed in 1922, is situated at the northern edge of the San Fernando valley and contains two units. The normal effective head is 250 feet and the rated capacity 5,600 kw. Two small plants, one just south of the city and the other just west are: River, installed 1917, rated capacity 2,880 kw and 450 normal effective head and Franklin, installed 1921, rated capacity 2,000 kw and 240 normal effective head.

While not electrically connected to the city, the municipal electric system, the Bureau also owns and operates two small plants in the Owens Valley. These plants have a combined capacity of 8,890 kw, and are reserved primarily to maintain operations to assure an adequate water supply for the Owens River Gardens.

In addition to the city's hydroelectric plant output, energy is purchased from the Southern California Edison Company at three small generating plants situated in the metropolitan area.

Aside from a small amount of energy delivered direct to the distribution system from Franklin and River plants, all generated energy is transmitted to a central receiving point within the city over a 110,000 volt, double circuit, steel-tower, transmission line.

Three Receiving Stations within the city, namely, Receiving Stations "A", "B", and "C", having a combined step-down transformer capacity of 381,000 kva, transform the generated and purchased energy from transmission voltage to distribution, a 33,000-volt sub-transmission network to distributing points throughout the city.

Receiving Stations "B" and "C" are connected by means of a 142,000 volt steel-tower, transmission line which will include Receiving Station "A" by an extension now partially constructed. A similar extension between Receiving Station "B" and the proposed Receiving Station "D" is a part of the Boulder Dam transmission line system.

A sub-transmission network operating at 33,000 volts extends throughout the city, supplying twenty-four attended and twenty unattended local distributing stations, as well as eighty industrial consumers served directly at 33,000 volts, all making up a combined distributing capacity of 608,828 kva. This network consists of 473.45 circuit miles of overhead lines and 53.41 circuit miles of underground lines, the latter using approximately 242 tower miles. A master plan includes considerable advance construction, making further further underground extensions. The underground system also includes approximately 48 miles of rubber cable.

Primary distribution from distributing stations is at 10,000 volts, 1 phase, 50 cycles, over a low voltage system of both overhead and underground construction. The overhead system of 2507 pole line miles is made up of 17.00 circuit miles of primary lines and 1012 circuit miles of secondary line and uses approximately 132,500 poles. The underground system has 1064 circuit miles of primary, 267 miles of secondary cable, 360 miles of secondary cable and 320 miles of primary. Voids and manholes total 5128, with all necessary equipment. There are 17,264 transformers in the overhead system, having a total capacity of 298,234 kva, and 1640 in the underground system with a capacity of 75,248 kva, both including transformers in street lighting service.

The Bureau maintains and operates an extended overhead incandescent street lighting system of approximately 13,000 lamps serving practically the entire city, and supplies energy to and maintains approximately 60,000 incandescent lamps on ornamental street lighting systems.

Boulder Dam Transmission.

The Boulder Dam transmission line and terminal facilities include 275,000-volt transmission line from Boulder Dam to Los Angeles; two intermediate switching stations; a step-down transforming station; Receiving Station facilities at Station "B"; a 132,000-volt transmission line extension from Receiving Station "B" to Receiving Station "D"; Receiving Station "D"; 132,000-volt tie line terminal facilities at Receiving Stations "A", "B" and "C".

The transmission line, now under construction and nearly completed, will extend a distance of 266 miles from the City of Los Angeles to Boulder Dam power plant in Nevada. It will consist of two 3-phase circuits, operating at a nominal voltage of 275,000 volts, carried on steel towers of enduring construction anchored in concrete. The capacity of the two circuits is 292,000 kw, which amount can be transmitted previous, and immediately subsequent, to a fault involving two conductors to ground without interruption of service. For conservative and exceedingly stable operation the operating capacity has been fixed at eight-tenths of the above, or 234,000 kw.

The first 41 miles of line from Los Angeles are to be of double circuit construction with two circuits suspended from the same tower. The remaining 225 miles of line are of single circuit construction with each circuit on separate tower lines, separated on the right-of-way a distance of 265 feet.

Conductor is of hollow copper construction, 1.4-inch in outside diameter. The conductors are suspended from the tower crossarms by strings of suspension insulators having a 60-cycle dry flashover value of more than 1,000,000 volts effective, and an impulse flashover value on a 1.5 micro-second wave of slightly less than 3,000,000 volts.

The towers are supported by reinforced concrete footings carefully adapted to the topography and soil conditions. The average span between towers of the single circuit section is 980 feet and the average span between towers of the double circuit section is 790 feet.

The line is designed and constructed in accordance with the best engineering practice. It is protected against the troubles incident to lightning by four overhead ground wires and four buried counterpoise wires, running the full length of the single circuit section of line. The double circuit section is similarly protected by two overhead ground wires and two buried counterpoise wires. The line is sectionalized by two intermediate switching stations dividing the line into three sections, the purpose of which is to give the line greater stability in case of faults, and to provide continuity of service. These switching stations are equipped with the largest oil circuit breakers ever manufactured, and of radically new design.

The step-down transforming station consists of six 60,000 kva single phase auto transformers arranged in two banks of 180,000 kva each, plus one spare transformer. These banks have a two-hour overload capacity of 240,000 kva each. The purpose of the step-down transforming station is to reduce the transmission line voltage from 275,000 volts to 132,000 volts for use on the local system and interconnecting receiving stations.

Receiving Station "B" facilities are being expanded to receive Boulder Dam power. Two 60,000 kva three-winding transformer banks are being installed, which transform the voltage from 132,000 volts to 34,500 volts. Two 60,000 kva synchronous condensers are being installed for transmission line regulation. The 132,000 volt bus is being expanded and equipped with high interrupting capacity oil circuit breakers throughout.

The transmission line extension to Receiving Station "D" will be approximately thirteen miles long and will consist of two 3-phase circuits carried on steel towers operating at a nominal voltage of 132,000. Receiving Station "D" is being designed as an outdoor station and will consist essentially of electrical switch gear, transformers and appurtenant structures. Its purpose will be to transform the voltage from 132,000 to 34,500 volts, for use in the local distribution system in southwestern and western Los Angeles. There will be included two 60,000 kva transformer banks similar to those in Receiving Station "B", a 132,000-volt double bus, together with the necessary oil circuit breakers. The station structures will include a control house for housing switchboards, control and protective equipment.

Receiving Stations.

Receiving Station "A," with four banks of transformers of 96,000 kva capacity, is the terminus of the existing 110,000-volt transmission line which delivers power from the present generating plants. A 60,000 kva transformer bank has been installed at this point, stepping up the voltage from 110,000 volts to 132,000 volts for interchange of power between the generating plants along the Owens River aqueduct and the Boulder Dam System. There is being installed at present a duplicate 60,000 kva transformer bank and 132,000-volt switching facilities. The latter will consist of two double bus or circuit breaker positions to receive the two outgoing 132,000-volt lines to Receiving Station "B."

At Receiving Station "B" terminal facilities are being provided at this time for two 132,000-volt tie line circuits to Receiving Station "A" and three circuits to Receiving Station "C," thus receiving an installation of eight high-voltage circuit breakers, 132,000-volt oil circuit breakers and substation, together with the necessary switchboards, control and relay protection equipment.

At Receiving Station "C" the tie line terminal facilities are being installed for two outgoing 132,000-volt tie line circuits to Receiving Station "B," together with the 132,000-volt double bus and the necessary oil circuit breakers. In addition, a 60,000-kva transformer bank similar to that at Station "B" is being installed, and also a 60,000-kva hydrogen-cooled frequency changer is being provided near its future stand-by service from the Diesel system in event of trouble in the Boulder Dam transmission line.

Planned For Future

The engineers of the Bureau of Power and Light, under the immediate direction of the Chief Electrical Engineer and General Manager, have long since developed a general system plan including existing stations and distribution. The plan covers the whole area in the present city and covers complete development along the whole area built up of homes, business establishments and factories, and a full extension point of use of electricity.

The plan contemplates, in addition to the central receiving station mentioned in this statement, additional receiving stations as required, an interconnected wire double circuit 132,000-volt tie line as herein described, the interchange of power between the respective receiving stations and in turn in receiving business supply to any one such receiving center to cover its independent supply in its life. The plan contemplates protective installation fitting the line of supply in event of trouble at any one receiving center to automatically go around, bypassing, thus making possible complete service to one station when its source of power may be on off, without interfering with the service of any other in the line.

The plan for distribution from receiving centers to the numerous land distributing stations and from these stations to the numerous residential groups has one whole area and is entirely flexible and may be expanded as the community develops.

The advantages of having such a plan are twofold: First, it enables entirely sound planning and the delay resulting therefrom, second, it gives the possibility of obsolescence in portions of the system of lines, stations and station equipment. For example, the highly developed and extensive oil circuit-breaker equipment in such a system are located in such a manner that the removal equipment and the connections simplified for converting purposes, and as the same stand out as a possible duty for capacity such that they will serve without replacement throughout the period of their life.

This is equally true of lines, stations and station equipment throughout the system that they will be obsolete for service in their respective areas when the total area is completely developed and the full capability of the power plant capacities behind the system many times greater than the present. Such planning and building means the avoidance of great waste and necessity of modification of existing arrangements, in that no portions of the system need be discarded and discarded as the system develops.

Engineering.

The Bureau has an enormous grade of outstanding ability in engineering research, of system design and operation, of national rank. The work of the engineering group under the general direction of the Chief Electrical Engineer has developed engineering practices through research for the advance of the general art. It is building with the highest degree of reliability and permanency and simplicity in design, as well as in accordance with the professional practice of which results in reduced capital investment, in the distribution of development of system and equipment, and in the highest degree of service in operation and low cost.

The research and development work being done by this group in connection with the Harris J. Ryan High Tension Laboratory of Stanford University, the research engineers of the largest manufacturing corporations, and in the laboratories of the Bureau, with respect to the characteristics of insulation and the design and characteristics of the Boulder Dam plant and transmission system is such that the investment of approximately $20,000,000 in machinery and transmission will give the system a greater reliability and flexibility in operation than could have resulted from the best modern practice respecting voltage and design existing at the time, at an investment cost of approximately $42,000,000.

Provision for depreciation of the depreciable properties of the Bureau is taken into the accounts monthly, the amount being determined generally in accordance with the 5% sinking fund method. It is the conservative practice of the Bureau to charge the cost of minor replacements under certain conditions to maintenance account instead of the depreciation reserve. This practice, together with the policy of the Bureau to maintain its properties in the highest degree of operating efficiency and the use of conservative life tables, assures adequate provision for depreciation and an ample reserve. Equipment used to service the operating and construction work of the Bureau is in most cases depreciated on the straight line or somewhat comparable basis, and in the case of automobiles, trucks, tools and construction equipment, the capital accounts are written down currently in the amount of the estimated accrued depreciation.

Rates.

Prior to 1910 the base rate for residence lighting in Los Angeles and vicinity was 9c per kwh. The first board of Public Utilities under the charter made a scientific survey of rates in 1910 and recommended and the City Council adopted a base rate of 7c. Bonds for preliminary construction of the municipal plant were authorized by the people in 1910, and during the time litigation was pending against the bonds, the 7c rate remained in effect. In 1912, when the bond money became available, the corporations reduced their rates to 6.5c and in 1913 made another reduction to 6c. In 1914, when additional power bonds were authorized, the corporations reduced their rates to 5.5c, which rate remained in effect during the litigation against the bonds. When this bond money became available, in 1916, the Bureau of Power and Light established a rate of 5c per kwh in the territory covered by its distributing system. In the portions of the city where the power companies were in direct competition with the city, the companies met the Bureau's rate of 5c, but in those portions of the city served only by the companies, the rates remained at 5.5c. In 1920, because of the burden imposed on the Bureau by the construction of Power Plant No. 2 from revenue, the Bureau found it advisable to increase the residence rate from 5c to 5.6c. Although the private companies had for several months been contending for an increase of 25%, they did not go beyond the Bureau's rate, but retained the same inequality by increasing their rate to 5.6c in that part of the city served by the municipal system and from 5.5c to 6.2c in that part of the city not covered by the municipal system. In 1922, after the usual litigation, bond money for the purchase of the Edison system became available and the system was taken over by the Bureau, and the Bureau's rate extended to all parts of the city. The remaining competitor of the Bureau immediately reduced its rate to 5.6c. When the Bureau, in 1927, returned to the 5c rate, it was followed by its competitor.

Effective January 1, 1930, the Bureau dropped the base rate to 4 8c per kwh. Another reduction, effective February 1, 1936, dropped the base rate further to 4.4c per kwh.

Notwithstanding these substantial reductions in the base rates, there were even greater benefits extended to residential consumers by virtue of changes in other parts of the domestic service schedules, which were also followed by the competing company. For a few examples of these other changes: the minimum charges for range and water heater loads were abolished January 1, 1930; the last block in the domestic rate was changed in 1934 from 2.0c to 1.5c per kwh; a further reduction to 1.25c per kwh in the last step was made effective February 1, 1936 and a change in the water heating rate was made from 1c to 3c per kwh.

From 1910 to 1916, the average cost of residence electricity in thirty-two of the largest cities of the United States dropped from a fraction over 9c per kwh to 8c. During that same period, while the private corporations were combatting the demand of the public that a municipal plant be established, they reduced the average residence rate from 9c per kwh to 5.5c. From 1916 to 1921 the average rate for residence electricity in the same thirty-two cities remained at approximately 8c per kwh while in Los Angeles the municipal plant had been established with a rate of 5c per kwh. From 1921 to 1927 the average rate in Los Angeles remained at approximately 5.5c per kwh while the average in the thirty-two cities dropped from 8c to about 7.5c. From 1927 to 1936 the average for the whole of the United States dropped from 7c to 5.5c per kwh, while in Los Angeles the average cost of residence electricity dropped from 5.5c to considerably less than 4c per kwh.

It has been conservatively estimated that the users of electrical energy in the city of Los Angeles have saved from $70,000,000 to $71,000,000 since the plans for a municipal plant was first started in 1910. This saving of more than $70,000,000, to 1936, is based on the higher rates, in effect throughout the period, by the private corporations in that territory immediately adjacent to Los Angeles. Prior to 1910, the rates in the adjacent territory had not been higher than the rates in Los Angeles.

It is the policy of the Bureau to maintain rates as low as possible, consistent with sound business practice. Rates have been lowered from time to time, and yet surplus earnings have been maintained in recent years at an approximate average of $4,000,000 a year.

The present electric system has been well designed and constructed, is operated in an efficient manner and is maintained in good condition. The Bureau maintains a good engineering staff and an active and effective new business division. Existing competitive conditions, however, result in higher costs of operation and construction than would be expected with a unified non-competitive system. The irregular shape of the city itself and the relatively large semi rural area within the city limits, approximately one-half the total city area, tend not to cause higher costs, particularly for transmission service, than for strictly urban service in compact cities. The Bureau's records show that 22.5% of the total mass of overhead lines is located in the semi-rural section of San Fernando Valley, serving only 7% of the total customers and approximately half of the revenue from the overhead system. The costs determined therefore represent a composite rural and urban system.

All the distribution service of the Bureau is within the city limits of Los Angeles. A small isolated system in Orange Valley, northern Los Angeles, for other parts of Los Angeles, is operated separately for pumping purposes in connection with the water supply of the city and therefore has not been considered herein.

Financial.

The financial status of the Bureau is readily ascertainable from the annual audit reports of Price, Waterhouse & Company. The report of June 30, 1935, shows liabilities (including $12,000,000 in administrative bonds) and $12,250,000 of Reconstruction Finance Corporation assets of $20,743,777. After the assets (represented by plant and equipment, working capital, working funds and cash on hand) totaled $110,481,777. The difference ($87,737) is not important, because the assets the city has acquired through reimbursement of the city.

During the present fiscal year, an additional $10,000,000 was borrowed from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to complete the construction of the Boulder Dam transmission system, making a total indebtedness of $22,000,000. As a special election held October 29, 1935, the voters by a vote of 59,522 to 29,730 authorized the issuance of forty-year revenue bonds to refund the Reconstruction Finance Corporation loan. These bonds, bearing interest at the rate of 4 per cent, were sold at a premium which reduces the interest rate to 3.92, and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation loan has been liquidated.

Primarily it is the policy of the Bureau to carry its own maintenance work. The physical properties of the Bureau are spread over a large area and, in the main, are of fireproof and earthquakeproof construction. The main transmission lines are constructed of steel with towers anchored in concrete and the major substations and other structures are constructed of steel or reinforced concrete on concrete foundations. The expense of a number of years covers the policy to be sound.

During the period when the plan of the Bureau was under construction and the first years of operation, before enough income sufficient to meet all financial obligations relating to the Bureau, the carrying of the debt (incurred through the issuance of general obligation bonds for the purpose of the electric system) was not principally through the levying and collection of taxes. Such collections, together with minor appropriations made by the city council to carry the plan of the Bureau, amounted to the sum of $7,892,197.77. Since the fiscal year 1931-32, there has been no tax levy on account of these bonds, except upon income produced only because of technical requirements of State laws, which levies have been raised currently out of the Power Bureau revenues, so that all requirements have been met annually from the power revenue fund. The total of these tax and non-tax contributions have been entirely equal (any surplus of the Bureau, so that there are now no such monies invested in the Bureau's system).

Boulder Dam.

In order to control the floods and better utilize the flow of the Colorado River for water conservation, the late Arthur F. Davis, formerly Director of the United States Reclamation Bureau, conceived the idea which ultimately led to the present Boulder Canyon Project.

The Bureau of Power and Light, cooperating with the Imperial Irrigation District and the United States Bureau of Reclamation, made a careful and extensive industrial economic survey of the Southwest. This survey showed the need for the water that might be conserved at Boulder Dam and for the kind of low-cost power that could be developed and transmitted to points of use. These studies indicated that the complete utilization of the power over a period of six to eight years, and also considering the utilization of water for irrigation and domestic use, would result in doubling the total invested wealth of the Southwest and in more than doubling the total gross annual output of all industry.

Exhaustive investigations showed that the largest block of power and the lowest in cost could be obtained and the community welfare otherwise served best through the construction of a high dam for flood control, the storage of water for irrigation and domestic use and the development of hydroelectric power. This solves for many years to come the three most pressing problems, namely flood control of the lower Colorado River, domestic water for future generations for the great Southwest and a large permanent supply of low-cost power.

The Boulder Canyon Project became a reality when Congress passed an act in 1928, known as the Boulder Canyon Swing-Johnson Bill. This act authorized the government to construct a dam and power plant on the Colorado River at or near Black Canyon, for the purpose of flood control, water conservation and the generation of power but stipulated that the government must secure contracts for the sale of the firm power, to assure the complete financing of the project without cost to the Federal treasury, before actual construction could be started.

The dam that was finally recommended by a commission of consulting engineers rises 585 feet above tail water and thus will form a reservoir extending 115 miles upstream and will have a storage capacity of 30,500,000 acre feet, which is equivalent to two years of normal run-off of the Colorado River.

Boulder Dam Power Plant.

The power plant will have an ultimate installed capacity of 1,368,910 k.w. (or 1,835,000 h.p.) and will be capable of generating 4,240,000,000 kilowatt hours of firm energy per year. In addition to the firm energy, there will be for some years an excess of about 150,000 k.w. of secondary power available at an average of 70% of the time.

Power Contracts.

Before construction work was commenced on the dam, the United States Government secured contracts with the various allottees. The contracts have a life of fifty years and call for payment to the government, for the use of the falling water, of 1.63 mills for each kilowatt-hour of firm power generated, and  $\frac{1}{2}$  mill for each kilowatt-hour of secondary energy. The Bureau of Power and Light and the Southern California Edison Company, Ltd., were designated as the two lessees and generating agencies for all the power to be generated.

The generating machinery will be housed in a U-shaped building of steel and reinforced concrete, located just below the dam, one-half on the Arizona side of the river and one-half on the Nevada side. There will be installed fifteen 85,000 k.w. or 115,000 h.p. and two 40,000 k.w. or 55,000 h.p. units. The generating machinery, transforming and switching equipment, costing $17,700,000, will be installed and owned by the government. As compensation for its use, the lessees will pay an amount equivalent to the cost thereof in ten equal annual installments, at the beginning of the lease period, amounting to a prepayment of rent for the entire lease period. This will be in addition to the charge for falling water.

As one of the two lessees the Bureau, in addition to its own allocation, was made the generating agent for the power allocated to the states of Arizona and Nevada, the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California, and the municipalities of Glendale, Pasadena, and Burbank. The Southern California Edison Company was made the generating agent for the power allocated to the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation and the Southern Sierras Power Company, as well as for its own allocation.

The total allocation of firm power is as follows:

Allottees	Per Cent
Arizona -----	18
Nevada -----	18
Metropolitan Water District -----	36
City of Los Angeles -----	14.9054
City of Glendale -----	1.8867
City of Pasadena -----	1.6183
City of Burbank -----	0.5896
Southern California Edison Company -----	7.2
Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation -----	0.9
Southern Sierras Power Company -----	0.9
Total -----	100.

The Bureau of Power and Light contracted with the government for a total of 14.9054% of the 4,240,000,000 kwh together with an additional 90,000,000 kwh that have been made available by an increase in the height of the dam.

The Bureau also contracted to take and/or pay for one-half of the firm energy allocated to the states of Arizona and Nevada, if not used by those states. The Bureau's allotment, therefore may be as low as 15% and may be as high as 37% of the total firm energy generated at Boulder Dam power plant.

Taking advantage of a provision in the Boulder Canyon Project Act regarding transmission, the municipalities of Glendale, Pasadena and Burbank entered into an agreement with the Bureau for joint transmission of power from Boulder Dam power plant to a central receiving station in Los Angeles. This contract includes an option of having the Bureau transmit over its distributing system the municipalities' particular allocations of power from said central receiving station to a point adjacent to their corporate limits.

The question of how much power the states of Arizona and Nevada will use has never been determined, and up to the present time they have not contracted for any of their allocations.

Appliances.

Merchandising of electrical appliances is carried on only as a cooperative dealers' help. A stock of appliances, ranges, water heating heaters, and refrigerators is carried in displays maintained in men and women's offices. Salesmen are permitted to contact all dealers to stimulate sales. All sales made are handled through dealers only. Wiring for electric ranges and water heaters is done free. A maintenance service on major appliances is carried on with charge for material only, labor being free. Advertising is carried on through newspapers, billboards, direct mail, cooking schools, home demonstrations, radio, and a bulletin mailed with monthly bills.

Labor.

There is no controversy over the "open" and "closed" shop principles in respect of the fact that practically all of our companies in all communities employing that of laborer, are under the jurisdiction of the U. S. Civil Service Commission. Men are selected by merit system only, without the company or labor affiliations. The scale of wages paid to employees is generally entirely unobscured by any regulations affected. In September, 1935, the Bureau found in a 40-hour week time.

There are in the Bureau 11 companies in executive positions who receive salaries in excess of $5,000 per year, and in the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation there are 18 such employees. The highest salary paid by the Bureau is $18,000 per annum, by the company $25,000. The average monthly salary paid by the Bureau to executives is $618, by the company $800. There are in the Bureau 3,453 employees who receive less than $5,000 each per year in the Bureau 2,483. The average monthly wage for men Bureau employees is $139, for the company $139. In the Bureau such executive monthly payments are made of 203 employees, in the company 138. Figures for the company include both gas and electric systems.

EXHIBIT E.

The following motion made at the Regional Meeting of the California Municipal Utilities Association held at the Baltimore Hotel, Los Angeles, California, on January 14, 1936.

Motion made by Ray Eberhard and seconded by Mr. Hill.

The members of this regional section of the California Municipal Utilities Association are opposed to the State of California taking over or attempting to take over or operate any water or public utility now owned by any municipal corporation or other public corporation or district without the consent of such municipal corporation or district, and that this organization is opposed to any legislation interfering with any public corporation or district acquiring or operating its water and power utilities if it so desires.

The above motion unanimously adopted.

Certified a true copy.

C. R. RUTH, Exec. Secretary.

EXHIBIT F. A.*STATEMENT TO SENATE INTERIM COMMITTEE

By GEO. L. HONIG, Representing Southern California Edison Co., Ltd.

It seems desirable to give something of an overall picture of the complex business as it now exists—together with a bit of description of how it came about that we have electricity served by such a variety of organizations, federal, state, municipal and private.

In a word, it may be said that everything started by the taking of everything else. Nothing that legislators or common sense may do can stop the working of the inexorable laws of economics. When we think with some foresight we see that when we try to stop the working of a natural law it is as much as if one jumped off a high cliff—thinking that the law of gravity had been repealed.

Study of the probable results of State ownership and operation demands careful attention to whatever may have caused the economic situation which gave controlled electric service in the past, and which, if found in the future, will control that future.

It is hardly possible intelligently to describe an existing situation without at least a cursory examination of its history. There are competing reasons why anything is as it is at a given moment. When the problem is fairly to be laid upon what we have, it is even more necessary to examine causes. Otherwise, it is impossible for any human mind either to predict all of the possible forces that will govern the now, or to gauge their collapse.

The present investigation is obviously designed to show whether and to what extent the people of California might have to benefit by state ownership and operation of electric service. This is, first, a question of character of service and price charged therefor. Second it is vital to know whether or not gains are to be anticipated in these two fields, there might be losses in other and uncontrolled directions which would outweigh those gains.

Some examination of the history of electric power, with explanatory comment upon factors that brought increases in service, together with decrease in rates, that brought expansion of municipal service in some regions with abandonment elsewhere, seems unavoidable. I shall discuss this history as briefly as is feasible.

Electricity, although something has been known of it for hundreds or thousands of years, did not come noticeably into the commercial picture for light and power until about 1879. The earliest commercial use of electricity for lighting came with the arc lamp. The arc lamp was useful for lighting considerable areas; it was not suitable for the household. Yet arc lights in streets, public places and an occasional store, spread rather rapidly; grew from a serious nuisance to a widely used benefit within a short time. The Los Angeles Gas and Electric Company lighted the streets of this city by arc lamps as early, I think as 1881.

The development of a commercial incandescent lamp by Mr. Edison and the successful operation of the famous Pearl Street Station in New York City in 1882, threw the door open to a vastly extended field of electric operation. Yet so long as the field was confined solely or largely to lighting, the business remained small and economically hazardous. Not until electric power became commercially feasible, through the development of the electric motor, was the stage set for phenomenal rapid growth and development. An exact date cannot be set for this shift upon high speed, although the curve of electric growth turns sharply upward at about the turn of the century. Electricity prior to 1900 had been a problem for scientists, engineers, operators and to a very modest degree for financiers. Electricity as a social, governmental, or political problem is rather recent. This is not because such problems did not and do not exist in any and every line of business, perhaps more importantly then than now; it is because public attention is only attracted to size and drama. Electric power was not dramatized until it became big.

In the early days of the arc lamp, likewise at the outset of incandescent lighting, such small electric business as existed had been organized under three different forms, each comparable in size with the others. Electricity was sometimes generated by the user himself; sometimes by a municipality, not only for its own use but for sale to others; sometimes by a person or corporation as a purely business undertaking. Greatest in number, at one stage, were publicly owned municipal enterprises.

Municipal and private electric services in this country have existed side by side from the beginning—not usually in direct competition but in separate areas. Both varieties of organization are now well established; private generation by the user is now relatively unimportant.

The cost of early electric service, measured by modern standards, was high. Yet those relatively high rates seemed reasonable enough at the time, when contrasted with the advantages of the service. Sometimes electricity was measured; sometimes electric service was sold at a flat rate. Charges of 25¢ per kilowatt hour were common. Charges amounting to the equivalent of $1.00 per kilowatt-hour are reported to have been made in isolated instances. As late as 1899 I was personally gratified at being able to contract for one 16 candlepower electric lamp at the flat price of 75¢ per month—and this in an up-to-date small city in the central part of the State of New York.

For some time, incandescent service, outside of the largest cities, started when darkness approached and ceased at 11 or 12 o'clock at night. General 24 hour service really came in with the electric motor. And the electric motor, together with electric appliances and electric heating, made possible the spectacular decreases in rates which we now enjoy without remembering how they came about.

Early Organizations.

Enterprising men or enterprising municipalities started great numbers of little organizations to serve local communities. Many and perhaps most of those enterprises failed to make a living, even at the high rates then in vogue. It was supposed that an electric business could be run successfully by almost anybody; that such an undertaking must automatically succeed. In numberless instances the result of this entrance of amateurs into a business demanding special abilities, was failure. Here and there, however, favorable circumstances plus resourceful business ability pulled these little concerns through. It was normal that such successful managers should seek to expand. It was likewise normal that those who had run into difficulties should seek to sell out. Thus the tendency of private enterprise was toward consolidation and expansion. Such consolidations were facilitated by the development of the art of carrying electricity over longer and longer distances.

It is of local interest to note that one of the very first demonstrations of ability to serve electricity some distance from the point of its generation was the transmission of a small block of power from a water power in San Antonio Canyon to Pomona, 13.7 miles away. This breath-taking experiment, first at 5000 volts but a little more than a year later using ten 1,000 volt transformers in series to obtain the astonishing voltage of 10,000 in commercial practice, was first turned down by two of the large manufacturers of electrical machinery. But acceptance of the risks by a third organization caused one of the larger manufacturers to take up the task. The project commenced operation November 28, 1892. Another successful transmission of pioneer days was in Northern California, Folsom to Sacramento, 21.5 miles, 11,000 volts, completed September 9, 1895. And California has been in the forefront of that steady increase in transmission distances which in this state was accompanied by steps of 30,000; 60,000; 100,000; 150,000; 220,000, and (presently) 280,000 volts.

Development of municipal ownership of electric service did not follow the path of absorption of the weaker by the stronger, enlargement of area served by one organization, increasing economies through large scale operations and consequent ability to supply electricity cheaply. Some municipalities did expand city boundaries; some cities were large enough to provide a thriving electric service without going beyond their own borders; some of these were fortunate enough to secure able managers for their electric business.

But the great historical distinction between the two types of electric service from a purely physical standpoint is that private organizations became great interconnected systems while municipalities were compelled to remain separate and self contained. Quite aside from the question of managerial ability, these facts necessarily resulted in the absorption of great numbers of the less fortunate municipal systems—not by stronger municipalities but by interconnected private systems.

Second Era of Consolidations.

All of the preceding sketchy history belongs to the sequence of events that have controlled rates, have in fact and in the long run fixed rates. One additional and deplorable event must receive mention if we are completely to understand the rate question.

It has been mentioned that unsuccessful or barely successful electric companies welcomed, in the early days, opportunities to sell out to stronger organizations or to combine on suitable terms. These ably managed groupings gained increases in efficiency which together with the growth of business being with a fixed demand of four business days came with the electric service produced higher satisfactory profits. Several things resulted.

First, great improvement of the business brought demands for large capital additions. Organizations not able to meet such demands were forced either to liquidate, or to remain in the rear ground of progress. Second, concerns that had failed in the past were not able to reduce their costs early enough. Therefore, when recovery fairly high, the electric business in such territories did not grow so rapidly as it should have done.

Then came the second cycle of over-indebtedness but not in new lines. Financial and well-informed electric groups found that, at least on paper, even in those unbroken groups might be bought, capital proper to the market conditions, prices advanced, and not sufficient to maintain some greater investment still in new time. As the old companies buying of smaller properties met in this phase, something with the rate of price inflation in the 1920's, led to purchases of electric service for small properties. Prices were high, yet those prices did not result in the financial but the further consolidation of electric companies, but not necessarily then went to those who had not and withdrew from the industry.

So far as I know, none of these happenings came in California. But in various other sections, many that if not in the electric business have been brought additional economies, more profit and lower rates, were taken away. In that time, especially for some of the more striking rate differences in different portions of the United States. The only other impression that is left, differences in the electric cost of service and managerial facilities in some sections to suggest that growth can be made to grow faster by making rates follow some decrease than by setting up great boards. We are fortunate in California to have been in the forefront of electric progress with our electric rates among the nation's lowest.

We do not observe a number of electric lighting municipal electric systems. Each self-contained and self-generated electric utility has been growing rapidly. While the taxpayers of a municipality whose generating facilities had not been very successful with electrically light growth, it did not leave to those in electrically electrically with some other municipality a loss in the price of electric service. The management of other officials who might have been more successful.

Thus while some of the difficulties seemed to have been solved in the field of private development, no such effect was noted among the hundreds of thousands of municipalities which operated electric systems. Therefore, financial systems needed to continue, whether efficiently operated or not, while many private utilities and inefficient systems were connected with the more able municipal systems.

Those differing circumstances probably seemed for the first time only, rarely, and usually in the larger cities, did municipalities find the managerial skill possible to reach real success. The same set of circumstances brought for the first time that along with the growth of electric rates and electric service, which were the first, better connected electric systems, could not continue to the highest standards, were inefficient and usually run down municipal systems and became remnants of better connected private systems.

In a comparatively small number of instances, as in the case of some municipalities, brought efficient service and operation. These organizations did not have the opportunity but grew, expanded and today are fairly successful in great service, low rates and capable management to the average relatively small private system.

Monopoly.

It is fairly obvious that there is no room in any particular area for two or more competing electric enterprises, with duplicate lines, duplicate surface installations, constantly shifting from the service to the service of the other. It is easy to see that the best service, the cheapest service and the most reliable service is likely to be had when one electric organization serves a small area.

When a limited business must be divided with a few lines are unnecessary, high rates, or losses, or both. From this it comes about that electric service is usually regarded as a monopoly. In one sense this is true. Practically, it is the first monopoly, in kind, when a single electric organization serves a single community. In the sense in which the word "monopoly" is ordinarily understood, however, electric service is far from a monopoly.

The word "monopoly" usually denotes absence of competition, exception of output, and excessive prices for the limited supply of what is offered for sale. No such situation exists in electric service whether publicly or privately owned. Only in the field of incandescent electric lighting, now a minor part of all electric business, can it be said that competition is limited. Even in the lighting field, monopoly prices are impossible.

What is still technically called "lighting" is not actually lighting, except in a narrow part. The many kinds of appliances—irons, sweepers, toasters, coffee makers, waffle irons, refrigerators, washing machines, radios, incandescent heaters, etc. are far more electricity in the ordinary home than can possibly be used for actual lighting. But those appliances are not commercially usable except at fairly moderate rates. For each and every appliance there is a consumer other than electricity. And that competition is competition of the keenest sort. Electric companies, whether publicly or privately owned, are constantly seeking to reduce charges in order to get more of this highly competitive business. Without a considerable quantity of large and small household load, domestic rates would be higher and even the quantity of actual lighting would be reduced. Domestic service must be furnished at rates which will get the business by meeting the keenest sort of competition.

When we turn from domestic business to consider electric service in large blocks, we find competition to be even keener. In the agricultural field, an electric system must match its charges against the cost of power from gas or gasoline engines and Diesels. These other forms of agricultural power are available at so low cost that salesmen constantly make conflicting claims over which service really costs the consumer least. Another important factor compels cheap electricity in the agricultural field; this factor is ability of the customer to pay.

One of the major problems of the farmer is whether or not he can afford any sort of intensive agriculture which involves the pumping of water. There is a critical point here—perhaps the point is different for each farmer—which determines whether for a particular crop on a particular acreage the thing can be done at all. Here is another reason for necessarily low electric rates and that reason is more compelling in the long run than any possible rate order or law.

In each other field we find similar economic circumstances which fix electric rates. Railways, cement companies, electrochemical enterprises and other consumers of large size have the option of generating their own electricity. It is true that only the largest consumers can generate power quite so cheaply as a large utility. But the utility must carry its electricity to the customer, while the isolated and somewhat less efficient plant can be located right at the point of use. The balance here is so close that some consumers now make their own electricity. A very small increase in wholesale electric rates would drive many others away from the utility companies.

The field of possible consumer installations has been greatly widened and at this moment is being further widened by the steady development of Diesels in smaller and smaller efficient units. Again we find that economic circumstances—not legislators or commissions—really fix electric rates. All in all, and in the long run for all classes of electric service, it may be said without fear of successful contradiction that electric rates are and must continue to be fixed by economic circumstances, not by the Railroad Commission nor by legislative acts. To think otherwise is delusion.

It may be noted in passing that those companies and municipalities which have recognized these facts most clearly; which have made reduction of rates their primary concern; which have explored most thoroughly the possibilities of decreased costs of manufacture, transmission and distribution, and which have passed those economies on to their consumers most rapidly are the very organizations which on the whole have been the most prosperous.

Electric Rates.

We are prone to forget quickly. We are inclined to disregard the speed with which rate reductions have come automatically as service expanded and as economies were discovered. Rates move in a descending spiral. An economy is made and at least in part is passed on to the consumers. Then business increases a little. Next, that growth in business automatically brings more economies and the cycle is repeated. It is a regenerative process which, if left alone, proceeds of itself. But if in an effort to speed the process a rate is decreased too much or too quickly, the cycle tends to turn backward. The business will increase as in the other case. But the utility or the municipality thus overspeeded is deprived of the resources needed to expand its plants, to install improved types of apparatus, to realize the new economies made possible by the increased business. Thus rate reductions, whether municipal or private, bring more rate reductions if wisely made but turn the cycle backward if unwisely made.

I have spoken of the relatively high prices at which electricity was sold in the early days. For a concrete example of what has happened since, let us note that in the year 1900 the base rate for domestic electricity in this neighborhood was 20 cents outside the Los Angeles area and 15 cents inside Los Angeles, the difference coming from the obviously greater cost of serving electricity outside rather than inside congested areas.

By the middle of the year 1914 the base charge for domestic electricity had dropped to 7 cents outside of Los Angeles and 5½ cents inside Los Angeles. Thus in fourteen years the base price of domestic electricity had been reduced in round figures by almost two-thirds both outside and inside the city.

Advances from 1914 to 1936 have not equalled the gains made between 1900 and 1914. In explanation we must look to two controlling economic circumstances. The first was war; the second was a slowing down of the rate of growth of increased commercial use (as distinguished from war use) of electricity. It is almost certain that this second circumstance, likewise, was caused by the war.

During the interval 1919 to 1924, war and post-war general price increases made electric service (and practically every other sort of service) more costly. During this period charges for electricity not only failed to decrease, they increased. Just before the end of 1923 electric charges again began to decrease locally, at first outside Los Angeles but very shortly within Los Angeles as well. That decrease has since continued, not spectacularly as between 1900 and 1914 but gradually state are included in the class of "consumers" of electricity. As consumers these people are particularly interested in the character of electric service which they receive and in the rates which they pay for that service. You will wish to determine whether these citizens of the state will receive as good or better service and at as low or lower rates under state ownership as is now afforded by the present system of municipal ownership in certain cities, and private ownership serving combined rural and urban areas over a much larger part of the state.

A major problem, as I see it, is what the situation of these rural and small town areas would be under state ownership. The problem as to the larger cities of the state is less complex, (although serious enough).

It is well known that the State's more congested areas, so far as they are now served under private ownership, pay a considerable part of the cost of rural electric service in their own electric bills. Rural service by itself can not at the moment, and perhaps can not in the near future, afford to pay all of the costs associated with rural service.

This policy, through which the cities to some extent carry the electric costs of the country, was not originated by the private companies, although I think the private companies on the whole approve it. The policy is a state policy; it was deemed to accelerate the prosperity of the whole state and thus indirectly to bring prosperity to the cities. And the private electric companies have invested large amounts of capital, have gridironed the inhabited parts of the state with rural lines, under that state policy. What are the economic factors which have been supposed to make this policy a just one?

City electric service, speaking rather generally, is service of a so-called "higher class" than country electric service. That is to say, a kilowatt hour used for lighting and appliances is worth more to the user than a kilowatt hour of electric service used to pump water for agriculture.

It is an axiom that rates should be based in part upon the value of a service to the consumer, and only in remaining part upon cost of service to the agency which provides it. A rate based in part upon cost of service and in part upon value of service to the user brings, (again generally speaking) the lowest rates and the greatest prosperity both to city and to country. Prosperity in the cities is utterly and absolutely dependent upon prosperity of the country which feeds the cities. In my opinion, one of the principal problems connected with possible state ownership of California electric service is just how the question of equitable rates between city and country can be worked out.

Again, and from the standpoint of the tax paying group, which of course includes all the citizens of the state, you will wish to determine, through careful analysis, whether profits which might be made by the state through a system of state ownership of electric facilities will or will not more than offset the taxes which are now paid by the tax paying utilities. This, of course, would require that the state, as the operator of its electric utilities, receive net revenues, over the costs of operation, maintenance, depreciation and bond interest, an amount equal to or greater than the approximately $15,000,000 now annually paid by the privately owned electric utilities in taxes.

This sum includes all taxes, including those paid to the Federal Government. It may be arguable whether taxes paid to the Federal Government are or are not to be included in your computations. In my judgment Federal taxes should be included.

It is true that California, taken by itself, could make a paper profit for California, temporarily, if the net revenues of the state electric business exceeded the loss in state taxes alone—a little more than $10,000,000. Yet from a more permanent viewpoint this is not possible. If California adopts state ownership and is successful therein, presumably the other 47 states would follow California's example. In that event no state would make a profit on its electric business unless its net revenues equaled or exceeded the cost of all present electric taxes, state and federal.

You will no doubt also wish to consider the question of whether utilities now owned by California municipalities would be more economically operated, to the benefit of the local people now served by these municipal utilities, if the state were to take over and operate those utilities. This question, again, is tied into the point just previously mentioned. In other words, whether the state takes over municipal utilities, or merely supplies wholesale power leaving the question of distribution to the local municipal organizations; it should be arranged that rural areas continue to be served with electricity at a cost country residents can afford to pay.

Another perplexing economic question has to do with the effect upon Californians who now own securities of private electric power companies. It is estimated that there are some 200,000 stockholders of California electric power companies living within the State. Including stockholders' families, it seems possible that somewhere between half-a-million and a million Californians might be affected by a shift to State ownership and operation of electric service. This is an important fraction of the State's total population.

It is vital to the State that the technique of any shift to State ownership should be so carefully and equitably planned that no check be given to the welfare and purchasing power of this large group of owners of private electric utilities and their dependents. Even though a change might be deemed to bring ultimate benefits, it would be damaging to the State's purchasing power if the purchasing power of this large fraction were suddenly to be reduced or destroyed. If it be determined that State ownership should monopolize electric service, the program should take scrupulous care to avoid any check to present profitable service, or to include any feature that might scare away an outflow of foreign capital for investment in this State.

It is an axiom that capital is timid. Even an actually just policy, unless so skillfully presented and worked as not to frighten outside capital, might bring a check to the rapid development of the State of California.

Conclusion.

In this statement I have tried to outline, in rather sketchy fashion, the growth of electric service (with constantly increasing foreign investment) of what may be called the electric era in America. I have tried to explain some of the economic reasons that dictated that history. I would like to point out in addition that electric service, while highly important and indeed vital to the comfort and business progress of a community, is not unique in these respects.

Electric service has been given so exaggerated a position in the public mind that we are in some danger of forgetting that electricity is only one of many things which, all together, make up modern business, which make it possible for a hundred people to live in comfort where once primitive conditions brought one person existed in squalid insecurity. The life of a modern community is hardly more dependent upon electricity than it is upon books or hundreds of other modern activities. Electric service, necessary as it is to commerce, but only a small fraction of the total cost of present-day living.

In fact electric service costs the average citizen less than tobacco, candy, gasoline, the movies and a host of other comforts which would be hard to renounce in living. For some reason or other many people seem to believe that the greatest problem of the present era is money for reducing the cost of electricity, which by itself is almost insignificant in comparison with the really severe other problems of the moment.

In my own opinion there are other points at which substantial great improvements could be made more rapidly. In fact, while the cost of electricity can be, should be, and will be, lowered in an orderly manner as time goes on, there is I believe, no other item in the budget of living for which so much valuable service is now being secured for a dollar as is the case for electricity.

I quite realize that this statement is fragmentary and preliminary. Its outline more would be unduly to burden your time. If, however, thought occurs to you concerning which you wish to ask questions, I shall be glad to do what I can in the way of trying to answer them.

STATEMENT OF LOUIS BARTLETT TO THE SENATE PUBLIC UTILITY INVESTIGATION COMMITTEE.

At a Hearing Held in Fresno, February 10, 1936

Gentlemen: The resolution creating your committee provided that it should investigate "the practicability and feasibility of centralizing in the State of California the ownership, conduct and control of public utilities concerned with the development and exploitation of power and water."

The "control of public utilities concerned with the development and exploitation of power and water," except such as are operated by cities or other State agencies, is now vested in the California Railroad Commission.

The State of California has already gone on record in favor of a policy of State ownership and operation of the water and power to be made available through the Central Valley Project. In this memorandum, I shall confine myself to ownership, conduct and control of public utilities concerned with the development and exploitation of power.

The State policy, enacted into the law in the Central Valley Project, provides for State ownership and operation of the generation and transmission of power to be made available through the Central Valley Project. In fact the project is to be financed largely through the sale of such power. It does not, however, touch the generation and transmission of power by private agencies.

Manifestly, the State cannot make the Central Valley Project self-supporting without a market for the power generated and transmitted.

That market is now controlled almost in its entirety by public utility companies privately owned and managed. The exceptions are a few small communities, like Redding, Biggs, Gridley and Lodi, whose consumption of power is negligible.

A larger market must be found or the Kernert Dam power will go to waste.

Obviously, the Pacific Gas & Electric Company can prevent the self-liquidation of the Central Valley Project unless other distributing agencies enter the field, by refusing to buy the power. It can also fix the price at which power must be sold to it if it should decide to buy.

The northern part of the State is now, therefore, at the mercy of the Pacific Gas & Electric Company and its controlled company, the San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation.

Several State agencies in the Central Valley have undertaken to put themselves in a position to provide a market for Central Valley power. These are, from north to south:

- The Bidwell Municipal Utility District
- The Sacramento Municipal Utility District
- The San Joaquin Municipal Utility District
- The Central Counties Municipal Utility District
- Southern San Joaquin Municipal Utility District

Upon their success in providing a market for the power, or in forcing the power companies to take the power at a fair price hinges the possibility of success of a state-owned system of generation and transmission; unless the State should itself go into distribution.

The resolution under which this committee was appointed authorizes it to consider the desirability of State distribution of power. The phrase: "exploitation of power," being broad enough to include generation, transmission and distribution. The Standard Dictionary defines "exploit" as "to put to use"; "make completely available." "to utilize or employ in selfish schemes". "Exploitation of power" therefore includes its "distribution" as this is the manner in which it is "put to use."

In my opinion, retail distribution of power by the State as a policy of state-wide application would be a mistake. The organization would be too large and the management could not be as efficient as if distribution were done by smaller units. Distribution can best be handled locally in units of a size fixed by convenience of operation.

The most efficient power system on this continent judged by the universality of use and cheapness, is in Ontario, Canada, where the Ontario Hydro generates and transmits, and the cities and other units distribute power.

Summarizing my conclusions to this point, I recommend the State ownership and operation of electrical generating and transmission facilities. This is impossible without a market for power generated.

This market should not be dependent upon the will of private utility companies which might thus block or slow down the development of any state power program.

This means that distribution should be in the hands of public agencies of which there are two types available: cities and municipal utility districts. Other state agencies are not as well adapted to financing distribution systems, although the Modesto and Turlock irrigation districts, because of peculiarly favorable circumstances, are performing the task well.

The power business is everywhere highly profitable. Uses of electricity are growing rapidly, and power consumption in the latter part of 1935 exceeded that of 1929. The federal power commission has reported that there is a power shortage in California at the present time which will be relieved in Southern California by the advent of power from Boulder Dam, while in northern California the Kennett Dam will be in operation none too soon to take care of the growth of load.

This increasing need for power, insures continuance of the solvency and prosperity of power projects, and makes possible their financing out of power revenues without any charge upon the tax rate. The only thing lacking for this is a proper law permitting all public agencies to issue revenue bonds. Two excellent acts were passed by both houses of the legislature in 1935: the Garrison-Jespersen Act and the Nielson Act, but both were vetoed by Governor Merriam.

In my opinion this committee should recommend to the legislature the passage of a law permitting this method of financing as a first step in aid of public generation, transmission and distribution of power.

There are now a number of municipal utility districts in the Central Valley in a position to undertake local distribution, which should be by annexation to make units of more efficient size; and this should be another recommendation of your committee.

The possibility of making all state owned electric systems self liquidating, both as to interest and principal, is of the utmost importance in the economic development of the state. Financing should be from revenue only, without recourse on the tax payers as is the case when financing is done by general obligation bonds.

The disastrous experience of irrigation, reclamation, and other districts, where the bonds were supported by taxation, is conclusive as to the desirability of financing out of future revenues only, without recourse to taxation.

The problem of state agencies for the retail distribution of power is not one of financing only. It is easier to finance them than to organize them. The power companies of California have undertaken a ruthless campaign against the organization or enlargement of these districts, and stop at no misrepresentation or expense in achieving their purpose. To illustrate: in the campaign to organize the Central Counties Municipal Utility District consisting of the towns of Tulare and Lindsey, with a total population of approximately 10,500, three power companies, the Southern California Edison Company, the Southern California Gas Company, and the San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation was successful in securing to prevent the organization election from carrying.

A request for information concerning expenditures made by them was made by the Railroad Commission of California to Southern California Edison Company in November 1935. So far only the Southern California Gas Company has submitted a proper statement of its expenditures, and at valuation amounting $5,065.15.

The total number of votes cast in the election was 2,619.

I participated in the campaign and my impression, gathered by that of public officials in Tulare and Lindsay is that the Southern California Edison Company expended a still greater amount and the San Joaquin Light and Power Company somewhat less. I think a conservative estimate of the total expense of about three companies is $12,000. The companies themselves spent about $10,000 for the vote cast against the organization of the district:—Tammany Hall is reputed to spend only from $3.00 to $5.00 per vote.

If this were an isolated case it might not present a picture revealing any action. But the same thing happened in the case of the organization of some of the municipal utility districts organized in 1934 and 1935 and in every election for annexation to any of these districts.

Exact information is unfortunately not available concerning these expenditures in most cases. The Southern California Edison Company has the San Joaquin Light and Power Company have not made complete reports. The San Joaquin Gas and Electric Company have been fighting expenditures made by them and have not wanted the people to know, and the corporation has been in the hands of the Railroad Commission and Senator Garrison indicates that the Commission is permitting them to stall.

And this brings me to one failure of the California Railroad Commission to protect the interests of the public. It is within its power to issue a general order requiring every utility, at the time of making any expenditures for political purposes, to report the expenditure and its purpose to the Railroad Commission and to compel it to file a detailed statement of all expenditures made by it or on its behalf by anyone ten days before the election, and to make a complete report of all disbursements for such purposes within ten days after the election; these reports to be under oath and public.

This authority is found in Section 20 of the Public Utilities Act as follows: "The commission shall have authority to require any public utility to file monthly reports of earnings and expenses, and to file periodically or upon demand particular and special reports concerning any matter about which the Commission is authorized by this or any other act to inquire or to keep itself informed, or which it is required to enforce. All reports shall be under oath when required by the commission."

Section 31: "The railroad commission is hereby vested with power and jurisdiction to supervise and regulate every public utility in the state and to do all things, whether herein specifically designated or not, which it may deem to be necessary and convenient in the exercise of such power and jurisdiction."

The custom of the Railroad Commission has been not to require regular reports of this character from the utilities, and it has failed to take any in response to public clamor, or upon request of a member of the legislature or of other public officials, and has taken no steps to give those citizens the public policy that seems to be the only safeguard against this abuse.

That the precise basis on this topic may be better seen by the entire recommendation, I suggest that your committee request the California Railroad Commission to furnish you with a copy of every request made of the commission for information concerning expenditures for election purposes and the utility's answers.

I am asking for this specific information in view of the stand the Commission has taken with reference to obtaining information as contained on its letter of February 4, 1936, to Senator J. C. Garrison. It says: "It does not seem to us that we have authority to proceed against a third party who is not a public utility and require him to file a statement showing the purposes for which he may have expended monies obtained from a public utility or assumed the utility to get the information for us."

"When in our letter of January 15th we say that we feel we are not authorized to require the utilities to file certain information you desire, we refer to those expenditures and to such information which in the normal course of business would not be recorded on the books of the utility. In this connection we have in mind your request for the names of the persons who may have received monies from the 'Excessive Tax Prevention League' mentioned by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company in its letter of December 17, 1934, the names of a bond tax payers Committee mentioned in your letter of December 19th, the name of the person who may have paid money to J. Oscar Gustafson, if such payment was made to him by some one other than Pacific Gas and Electric Company, the names of persons to whom one Tracy may have disbursed monies and other expenditures not recorded on the books of Pacific Gas and Electric Company."

The Pacific Gas and Electric Company organized and financed the "Excessive Tax Prevention League" for the purpose of fighting the Sacramento District power bond issue. While it endeavored in the beginning of the campaign to hide from the public that this was a mere camouflage organization, its interest was dragged out into the open before the campaign ended. Whatever was done by the "Excessive Tax Prevention League" was done as the agent of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, and it should not be possible for that company to conceal from the commission and the public the names of those who received the money, and how it was spent, by the device of not recording these items on its books. The mere fact of turning over the money for expenditure to a dummy organization instead of spending it directly and showing its expenditures on its books is prima facie evidence that the money was spent for improper purposes, and the Commission should not lend its influence to the utility companies in aid of concealing its political expenditures.

In the Commission's letter of February 4, 1936, it says: "We think the Commission has adequate authority to protect the ratepayer against political expenditures. The Commission does not, when called upon to fix rates, include in operating expenses any allowance for political expenditures."

The report made by the California Railroad Commission to the Legislature of 1935 concerning certain operating expenses of the public utilities of California shows the expenditure by public utilities of California of hundreds of thousands of dollars for political purposes, in the form of memberships in and contributions to various organizations with political influence, subscriptions to national propaganda agencies, chambers of commerce, so-called municipal research organizations, and a number of others that have been aiding campaigns against public ownership throughout the state. These were reported as operating expenses, and allowed as such by the commission. I ask that a copy of this report be filed with this committee and made a part of its record. I ask that you obtain from the California Railroad Commission a report showing in detail what specific political expenditures were refused allowance as operating expenses in all rate hearings to date. I desire to introduce into the record a copy of an article prepared by me and published May 13, 1933, in the "Nation," in which an analysis of previous political expenditures of the power companies is made.

Referring again to the letter of February 4, 1936, from the commission to Senator Garrison, it states, "The Commission does not, when called upon to fix rates, include in operating expenses any allowance for political expenditures."

On the rare occasions the Commission has obtained reports concerning political expenditures, it has announced that these expenditures have been disallowed as operating expenses, and charged to the surplus of the company belonging to the stockholders.

But the surplus is built up by transferring to it each year the net earnings of the company not required for payment of current bond interest and dividends, and for various special reserve funds. In other words, the surplus of today is made up of the money collected from the consumers yesterday. By charging these political expenditures to surplus, all the Railroad Commission does is to allow the utilities to take money received last year or the year before from rate payers, instead of the money received from them this year. It all comes out of the consumers.

This is not protecting the public in the way the people intended, in establishing the California Railroad Commission.

Right now there is a very flagrant case of the Commission's permitting the Southern California Edison Company and the San Joaquin Light and Power Company to delay submitting a statement of their political expenses in five elections affecting municipal utility districts in the San Joaquin Valley. The San Joaquin Light and Power Company participated in all five, and the Southern California Edison Company participated in a major way in three of them. Were these expenditures known to the public before election day for the annexation of Earlimart, Weedpatch, etc., to the Southern San Joaquin Municipal Utility District, to be held later this month, the people from Earlimart to Tehachapi would overwhelmingly reject the power companies' pleas and vote for annexation. So these companies are stalling in every way.

They know as well as anybody that if their figures show an expenditure of about $10 for every vote received in their interest—and the indications from past elections in the San Joaquin Valley are that they are spending about that sum—they will be overwhelmingly defeated. The Railroad Commission is permitting these companies to hide these expenditures during this campaign just as it has done so in previous elections in the San Joaquin Valley.

Under the resolution creating your committee you are authorized to investigate "the practicability and feasibility of centralizing in the State of California the ownership, conduct and control of public utilities concerned with the development and exploitation of power and water." You have the authority to require this information from the public utilities, as accurate information concerning it is essential to a just conclusion of your investigation.

I, therefore, ask that you immediately require public utilities to furnish the reports requested in Senator Garrison's letters to the Railroad Commission and that you insist that these reports be on hand within the next week.

Respectfully submitted,

LOUIS BARTLETT.

EXHIBIT H-a.*TAX-FREE CITIES*Public Profits from Municipal Power.

By LOUIS BARTLETT

Eighty-four cities in the United States have no taxes, yet perform all the functions of ordinary cities, and keep out of debt. There is nothing extraordinary in their location or natural advantages; they pay operating expenses, as many efficient factories do, from their by-products, and they keep expenses down by saving and waste. These cities range in population from a few hundred to over 20,000, and are located in sixteen States. Oklahoma has fifty-five, Kansas seven, Indiana three; Michigan, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Nebraska five each; and Georgia, Texas, Vermont, Idaho, Washington, New York, New Jersey, and Wyoming one each. It sounds too good to be true, but the fact is undeniable: these cities keep no taxes, yet they are efficiently run and furnish the services—police and fire protection, streets, sewers, and schools—that well-managed cities everywhere furnish.

How is this possible, when most American cities are spending millions, putting down improvements, neglecting upkeep, and at the same time struggling under a load of taxes in many cases too heavy to bear, as the delinquency shows clearly? The answer is simple. These cities use the profits from the sale of municipal water, gas, and electricity, which would otherwise go to private companies, to supply in police, educational, and other non-taxable producing services. In reality, when citizens pay for public utility services is a tax, but we are not used to calling it that, because it is not paid at the City Hall twice a year, but is collected every month by private companies which make a profit out of the transaction. More people pay for water, gas, and electricity than for the support of city, county, State, and national governments, and they pay far more for those services than they pay in taxes to any governmental unit. To illustrate: In California the cost of the State government for the current year is $126,000,000; gas and electric bills alone amount to $188,000,000, or nearly 50 per cent more; city governments in California cost $145,000,000 and county governments $125,000,000. If the cost of water, telephone, and transportation were added to the $188,000,000 the distribution would be much greater. No study of taxation, therefore, is complete if it leaves consideration of what is paid for essential services which are furnished by a large business company, in other words, by a public utility company. Necessary services, such as the supplying of bread under a competitive system, are of course in a different category.

Do we pay a fair price for our gas and electricity? Are the private utility companies honest and efficient? Ask the stockholder in the local lighting companies. He knows. So do the stockholders of most utility companies. Their stocks are being put through the wringer and they are realizing that with the water squeezed out, little remains. The first assumption of these so-called "speculators" was a fraud on the public. But tons of paper and ink are now used to tell the world that the private companies, which admittedly were dishonest in their stock dealings, are honest and efficient in the management of their properties, that consumers receive from them good service at a fair price.

But the fact that cities owning their own systems get equally good service at lower rates will not do. Some time ago Senator Norris introduced a graph into the Congressional Record showing that the average rate for domestic electric service in twenty-four American cities over a period of sixteen years was 7.4 cents per kilowatt hour, while during the same period in Ontario, Canada, the average for twenty-one cities was 1.6 cents per kilowatt hour. Some few stories were told, prices under both public and private ownership have been reduced, but in about the same ratio.

Ambassador Frederick Sackett told the World Power Conference in Germany two years ago that there was something wrong with an industry that sold its product for fifteen times its original cost. Two thousand cities which own and distribute their own electric power have discovered what is wrong: the companies make excessive profits which they hide from the public in a maze of holding companies, fictitious capitalization, and jugged bookkeeping that would make the Greek labyrinth look like a four-track highway. And in order to keep people deluded, they employ all the arts of the propagandist and keep in pleasant personal touch with the leaders in every community—at the rate-payers' expense.

An interesting disclosure of how it is done came out recently in a rate hearing before the California Railroad Commission, when the San Joaquin Light and Power Company was forced to give in detail all the items charged to its "operating expenses." It paid the following club dues and expenses for its employees: twenty-two in the Commercial Club, five in the Exchange Club, four in the Rotary Club, one in the Round Table, five in the Lions Club, three in the Bakersfield Club (outside of the territory it serves), one in the Optimists Club, four in the Engineers Club, three in the University-Sequoia Club, one in the Business Men's Club, one in the Petroleum Club, one in the Kiwanis Club, four in the Fresno City

Farm Center, seven in the Ad Club, one in the American Legion, one in the Dairy-men's Club, one in the Press Club. And besides being a member of many of these clubs, the president of the company which operates in the vicinity of Fresno, 200 miles from San Francisco, had the rate-payers pay his club dues in the California Club, Commercial Club, Family Club, and Bohemian Club of San Francisco, as well as in other clubs lumped together under the title "miscellaneous." One wonders when he found the time to earn his salary of $22,900 a year.

No one is louder in the cause of good government than these club members; in fact, that is why they are members. They must be leaders in their respective communities and see that the towns are run "right." There must be no extravagance in city government; salaries must be kept down to the minimum. Especially in times of depression the pocket books must be used freely to keep taxes down. They form "economy leagues," "taxpayers' associations," and similar organizations with patriotic titles, and enroll many good citizens who innocently think they are working for the community. Let us look closely at one of these organizations.

California, like other States, must pull in its belt. Since 1931 its government has been operating with the abandon of a flush running camp and piling up a deficit. There is a legitimate place for organizations to study the cost of government and stimulate the legislature to reduce taxes. It is no wonder that the State Chamber of Commerce and the California Taxpayers Association assumed leadership in this direction. When the legislature met, the senate appointed a "fact-finding" committee on the cost of government which in three weeks made a survey of every department of the State government and of many county and city activities, and presented four hundred bills to the legislature. It seemed a superhuman task for a small group—but it developed that they had been "assisted" by the California Taxpayers Association. According to the survey, salaries were to be cut to the bone, consolidations and eliminations were to be made, schools were to be curtailed. Among other things the aggregate salaries of the seven Supreme Court justices were to be cut from $77,000 to $56,000, or from an average of $11,000 to $8,000 every year.

But who runs the California Taxpayers Association? Among its directors are the heads of the most important public-utility companies of the State. They want governmental taxes reduced. But what about the taxes they themselves collect in gas, electric, telephone, telegraph, and railway rates? Is this clamor for tax reduction a means of diverting attention from their own extravagance? One hesitates to say, but the list of salaries of over $5,000 a year recently reported to the California legislature by the Railroad Commission is interesting, to say the least. A. F. Hockendorn, president of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, the largest electric utility in the State, receives $75,000 a year, or enough to pay the seven salaries of the Supreme Court, at the figure his "California Taxpayers Association" thinks just, for a period of one year and four months. Paul Shoup, president of the Southern Pacific Railway Company, listed at $100,000, reported by the press to have been kicked upstairs at a salary of $125,000, gets enough to support the entire Supreme Court for two years. Other presidential salaries reported are: Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, $60,000; Southern California Gas Company, $50,000; Western Pacific Railroad, $45,500; Southern California Edison Company, $68,500. The total of salaries of over $11,500 paid by the last-named company would pay the reduced salaries of the seven Supreme Court justices for seven years.

The presidents of these companies are generous to others as well. The Pacific Gas and Electric Company pays one salary of $40,000, seven of $21,600, two of $18,000, seven more over $11,000—in all, ninety-four salaries over $5,000. The Southern California Edison Company reports one of $45,500, one of $33,500, one of $27,500, three more over $15,500, thirteen more over $11,500—in all, eighty-two over $5,000. The Southern Pacific Company, in addition to one salary of $125,000, pays one of $36,000, one of $35,000, two of $30,000, two of $25,000, two of $24,000, one of $20,000, two of $18,000, three of $15,000, and in all 160 over $5,000.

Even small electric utilities are generous for the welfare of their presidents. The Vallejo Electric Light and Power Company, generating no power and serving a small community, pays $15,000 a year to its president, not far from a dollar apiece from every man, woman, and child in the town.

These fine salaries should enable the companies to get the very best brains in the community, which should be reflected in good service and lower rates to the consumers. Service, in general, is good, but rates are another story. Exact comparison of rates is difficult to make, because each company has a policy all its own, usually making up its rates by adding to a minimum charge a price per kilowatt hour which varies according to the quantity used. Such comparisons are not available in all the States, but I recently made such a study for the Commonwealth Club of San Francisco, published in its Transactions for June, 1932. It may be said that the private companies' rates in California are lower on the average than those of companies operating elsewhere in the United States, though more than twice as high as the rates in Ontario, Canada, under public ownership. Twenty-one California cities own their own distributing systems, most of them buying power wholesale from the private companies. A comparison of domestic rates in these cities for lighting, heating, and cooking with those of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company shows that three small towns in the group charge slightly higher rates and that all the others charge less.

DOMESTIC POWER RATES

These four charts show the amount of power for domestic use obtainable for $1, $2, $5 and $16 in various California communities. All the cities listed own their own power plants. The Pacific Gas and Electric Company, the San Joaquin Light and Power Company, and the Southern California Edison Company are privately owned.

For instance, for $1 a month the Pacific Gas and Electric Company gives 13 kilowatt hours; Los Angeles, Glendale, and Burbank give 21. For $2 the P. G. and E. sells 37 kilowatt hours; Palo Alto sells 46, Pasadena 47, Los Angeles 48, and Healdsburg 60; Ottawa, Ontario, Canada, sells 128 and Tacoma, Washington, 130. Much the same ratios are found in the amounts of current for domestic use that can be bought for $3, $5, or more per month, and apply also for energy for commercial lighting and industrial use. Los Angeles attributes a large part of its industrial growth to its cheap municipal power rates, which had to be met by private competitors.

These cheaper power rates would hardly justify the cities, however, if they caused a deficit which had to be met from taxes. That side of the picture should be examined also. Do the cities subsidize their electric plants? The report I have cited contains exact data on this subject. It was found that after paying all operating expenses, depreciation on the investment, interest on debt, and so on—all of the items except taxes that the private companies pay—the cities made the following net profits per annum: Pasadena 47 per cent, Redding 46 per cent, Anaheim 46 per cent, Glendale 45 per cent, Lodi 38 per cent, Healdsburg 37 per cent, Alameda 35 per cent, Riverside 35 per cent, Palo Alto 34 per cent, Roseville 32 per cent, Santa Clara 28 per cent, Los Angeles 28 per cent. Moreover, the least net profit was 19 per cent, in Burbank, where the city has not a monopoly and must compete with the Southern California Edison Company. In California electric-utility taxes average about 10½ per cent of gross receipts. After that item is deducted (for bookkeeping purposes) the cities, operating with low-paid management, make from  $8\frac{1}{2}$  per cent net to  $35\frac{1}{2}$  per cent net profit every year, the average being well over 20 per cent.

COMMERCIAL LIGHTING RATES

These two charts show the amount of power for commercial lighting obtainable for $5 and for $20. All the cities listed own their own power plants. Pacific Gas and Electric, San Joaquin Light and Power, and Southern California Edison are private companies.

This theoretical tax allowance of  $10\frac{1}{2}$  per cent has no real significance, however, as all of the net profit of the municipal plants is used for city purposes. None goes out as dividends. What the private companies pay is an obligatory contribution to the cost of government, which we call a tax, the profits in operation made by the cities are all voluntary contributions for the same end, and remove the necessity for a tax to raise the amount of this contribution. These are the sums that make "tax free cities." In California there are none such, for

INDUSTRIAL POWER RATES

These two charts show the amount of industrial power obtainable for $15 and for $60. Pacific Gas and Electric, San Joaquin Light and Power, and Southern California Edison are private companies.

the cities have adopted the policy of reducing rates and thus giving a wider usefulness to electric energy, but as we have seen, even at the lower rates great profits are made. Some statistics gathered just before the crash by Red and Ryan in their book "Public Ownership on Trial" show that the net profits of the public electric plants aggregate over 30 per cent of the amount raised by taxation in the same cities. The results of later years show substantially the same percentage. The net profits of the public plants have suffered less from the depression than almost any private business, and their net profits are approximately the same as three or four years ago. Those cities which also distribute gas make a comparable showing, so that if we add to the profits made from the sale of electricity those to be made by selling gas and water and giving telephone service at fair rates, the mystery of the tax-free city is solved.

(This is the fourth of a series of articles on electric power and the consumer. The fifth will appear in an early issue.)

EXHIBIT I.

Mr. Chairman and members of the State Power and Water Investigating Committee:

As Secretary of the board of Directors of the Central San Joaquin Municipal Utility District which includes the city of Fowler and 13,000 acres of the rural district adjacent, I wish to submit the following report:

The Central San Joaquin Municipal Utility District has endeavored to annex certain territories which would make it possible to have a survey made by competent engineers to determine the most economical way to manufacture or acquire electrical energy. We have not been successful in this work due to high pressure methods of the Power interests which were well organized with unlimited funds, opposing an unorganized citizenry with practically no financial assistance.

We have been advised by competent legal authority that it is necessary to form Utility Districts in order to be in a bargaining position to secure the benefits of cheap electric power or gas for distribution to the Districts. We are of the opinion that a concerted effort is being made by the Private Electric Power Companies to prevent the formation of these Utility Districts in order they may enjoy the same monopolistic control of electric rates whether through the Central Valley Project or otherwise.

We as a Board are of the opinion that it would be unwise for the State to attempt to purchase hydro-electric sites from Private Power Companies unless at a price which would not be prohibitive or impractical. The District has been advised by a reliable gas and electric engineer that the manufacture of electricity by natural gas is much more economical than by water power, therefore, we contend that no doubt certain Power Companies would welcome the opportunity to unload on the State their holdings at high financial values. We would urge that the State utilize all available power sites for the manufacture and distribution of electric power and water to the public owned districts not under private control, and that no further permits should be granted to Private Power Companies to exploit our natural resources.

It should not be the problem of any one group of citizens to form these districts, but it is a community problem which calls for cooperation and unity of action to make possible the acquiring of public utilities for all, through the avenue of public ownership.

L. L. MILLER, Secretary,
Central San Joaquin Municipal Utility District.

February 5th, 1936.

Mr. J. C. Garrison,
Fresno Committee Room,
Fresno, California.

Dear Mr. Garrison:

I had planned for months to attend your committee hearing to be held in Fresno, but on Jan. 2nd, I had an auto accident and am still in the Madera Hospital, so I will have to state my views in writing a few lines and ask you to file with the committee.

After three years of intensive study and investigations, there is no doubt that the best thing for California would be to follow along the same lines as did Ontario, Canada. I find that to manufacture electricity is about the same all over the State, and the State could generate the juice and sell same wholesale to the different towns and districts that equip themselves with distributing systems. I do not believe it would be satisfactory for the State to distribute locally, because each city and district have their own local situations, which can be easier to rectify at home, rather than a State board with their long drawn out hearings, which would be very unwieldy to say nothing about the private power companies throwing it into court.

I would like to say more but am feeling pretty weak, so will close with Kindest Regards to yourself and the Committee.

Very respectfully,
V. RAY WILL, President.

EXHIBIT K.

Mr. Chairman and members of the State Senate Water and Power Committee.

In regards to the water and power situation in the State on behalf of the Fresno County Pomona Grange No. 24, I would like to present what we believe to be for the best interest of the people.

We favor the manufacture of electricity by the State if made available to Publicly owned Districts at a price that is low enough that said districts will be able to buy the electricity. We also feel that if the State should encourage the purchase of private hydroelectric or other kind of plants, the compensation should be given as to the price paid for them. Also proper regulations should be made as to the cost of producing electricity in the San Joaquin Valley on the use of natural gas which we believe, could be produced cheaply owing to the surplus and cheapness of the gas which is available in this valley.

In regard to the water situation we feel that the State should control and distribute the waters of the Central Valley Water Project on the Irrigation Districts and that Riparian Rights should be protected as far as possible and that the cost of such projects should be financed partly by the Federal Government, by the State of California and by the people who benefit by the water. If not financed in such a way we believe that the cost would be excessive to the water users.

Last year the grangers of Fresno County organized a union to form a Municipal Utility District. This district was formed near the presence of the San Joaquin Light and Power Company and the Local Chapter of Grangers and is now known as the Central San Joaquin Municipal Utility District. After that time the administration of the district was attempted by forming a system of rural Grange Councils. The election failed to carry on account of the outstanding passage and vote for the San Joaquin Light and Power Company and Fresno County Local Grange Committee and also practically all the small rural Grangers in the county which during the election carried large majorities of the Fresno County and Local Grange owners Committee. This leads us to believe that such Grangers are influenced by the Private Monopolies on account of the large paid administrators.

We are continuing to study different portions at this time and hope to have a larger district as soon as possible.

HISTORICAL DEVELOPMENT OF THE ELECTRIC POWER SYSTEM OF THE MODESTO IRRIGATION DISTRICT

After many years of litigation involving the various features of the Irrigation District Act of California, and the water rights and easements that are essential to the financing of a new irrigation project, the irrigation system of the Modesto Irrigation District was completed and placed in operation. Thereafter, as very little storage was provided, irrigation usually was limited to an early start in fall. This condition brought about a desire on the part of some of the water users for additional storage development on the Truckee River. Without desiring to great length on sequence of events, suffice to say that in 1922 the Modesto Irrigation District, in partnership with the Fresno Irrigation District, started the construction of the Don Pedro Dam. In 1923 and in a subsequent year, there was constructed a 15,000 kilowatt capacity hydroelectric generating plant at the base of the dam.

The disposition of the electric energy to be made available by this plant had not been determined at the beginning of the project. Shortly thereafter, two methods of disposition were advanced, namely, to wholesale the complete output to the Sierra and San Francisco Power Company, or to distribute the energy on a retail basis to the consumers in the District. These discussions were finally terminated when a vote of the people in the District revealed that it was their desire that the electricity be distributed by the District. This decision was made by an overwhelming vote, in spite of the fact that all of the expert advice available was to the end that the District could not absorb its share of the energy for a good many years, and that the wholesaling of this energy would yield a greater net return to the District.

In order that the will of the people be carried out it became necessary to provide the major portion of the Board of Directors. This act accomplished, the new Board set out to construct the electric distribution system.

Transmission of the electricity from the Don Pedro plant to Modesto was originally brought about through the construction of a 66,000 volt transmission line to the Turlock Substation, and the consummation of a transmission line retail and leasing agreement entered into in 1923 between the Modesto Irrigation District and the Turlock Irrigation District. These actions made Don Pedro power available in the City of Modesto.

Concurrent with this construction, distribution lines were built in the District. Service was rendered the first customer in December of 1923.

It soon became evident that the original allocation of funds would not be sufficient to more than start the distribution lines. Thereafter in 1924, $500,000 in additional bonds were voted, making a total of $1,055,000 for the Electric Department. This sum was sufficient to provide the nucleus from which was developed the present electric system.

The District system was then and is now in direct competition with the system of the Sierra and San Francisco Power Company (Pacific Gas and Electric Company, lessee).

Despite this competitive situation, the electric load of the District grew so rapidly that it was soon evident that there would shortly be an impending deficiency in electric energy. Plans and specifications were prepared for an addition to the original plant in the amount of 18,750 kilovolt amperes. Bonds in the amount of $236,000 representing the Modesto District's share, were promptly voted by a large majority. The additional equipment was placed in operation in July, 1928. The bonds voted for this addition were not sold, however, since the revenues of the electric system were more than sufficient to take care of this additional equipment. These bonds are still in the possession of the District.

The original transmission line was also rapidly becoming inadequate to take care of the rapidly growing electric load. Thereupon a new steel transmission line was constructed from the Don Pedro plant to Modesto. This line was designed to carry two circuits but only one was installed originally. The total cost of $146,000 was financed out of net revenues of the electric system. The first circuit was placed in operation in August of 1928. An interesting feature of this line is the fact that it will completely pay for itself during its first ten years of operation due to decreased transmission costs as covered by the leasing agreement of 1923.

Together with the additions to the generating and transmission systems, additions to substations and rural lines were made, all financed out of revenues until in July 1928 all of the farms in the District had electric service available.

An electric power shortage again presented itself to the District in the latter part of 1928. All of the possible means of acquiring an additional power supply were studied. It was determined that for a period of about ten years the most economical method of procuring power would be to purchase power wholesale from one of the utilities. The second best method was to construct a Diesel engine electric generating plant. Applications for the purchase of power were made to the Pacific Gas and Electric Company and to the San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation. In due course of time communications were received from both companies advising that they did not intend to sell the District any electric energy. As a consequence of this joint action, the District advertised for bids to be submitted for the construction of a Diesel Engine Electric Generating Plant, and simultaneously filed a complaint with the California Railroad Commission asking for an order to require either one or both of the companies to sell electric power to the District at the then existing rate schedule in effect for the sale of power to municipalities and others for resale purposes. Bids were received for equipment and the complaint before the Commission was set for hearing. The day prior to the opening of the hearing, the San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation indicated that perhaps they would agree to sell the District electricity. On the very next day an agreement was drafted which was satisfactory to the Company and three members of the District Board of Directors. It was subsequently executed in March 1929. While this contract has been opposed by some members of the Board, time has proven it to be an excellent arrangement for the District and the Company. As the District load grows, it is evident that the Company will either have to reduce its rate or be faced with other competitive sources of power. The technical features of these arrangements are of course very well known to the parties interested.

In August, 1935, the second circuit on the steel transmission line was constructed at a cost of $55,000, financed from a loan and grant agreement with the Federal Public Works Administration.

The electric energy consumption within the area served has increased more than five times since the District commenced electric service. A study of the attached charts indicates that since 1923 the gross payment for electricity has doubled, and that for this increase in cost the consumer receives five times the original amount of electricity.

Electric rates have been reduced five times during the period of operation. The charges for electric service to the consumers in the Modesto Irrigation District are among the lowest in the United States.

The gross income and net revenue for the past five years together with the accumulated total for the entire period of operation, are as follows:

EXHIBIT M. CITY OF BURBANK California.

February 5, 1936.

Senate Interim Committee,
Sacramento,
California.

Attention: Senator Jerrold L. Seawell, Chairman.

Gentlemen: The attached statement is prepared in response to the request expressed at your hearing held in the State Building, Los Angeles, January 15, 1936, and was approved by the City Council of Burbank at a regular meeting held Tuesday, February 4, 1936.

This statement sets forth the position of the City of Burbank as regards the investigation your Committee was authorized to make "regarding the feasibility and practicability of centralizing in the State the development, impounding, transmission and distribution of water, and the generation, transmission and distribution of electricity."

Very truly yours,

FRANK C. TILLSON,
Mayor.

M/J

The City of Burbank is unconditionally opposed to any Legislative Act or Constitutional Amendment which would in any way transfer ownership, control or operation of its public utilities.

History of Development.

In 1913 Burbank had a population of approximately 1,200 people. Privately owned utilities in adjacent cities were not interested in the establishment of an electrical distribution system in Burbank. The City was compelled to establish its own electric distribution and water systems.

In common with most newly constructed public utility enterprises, difficulty was experienced in the early years in making the distribution system successful. By 1920 Burbank had grown to a population of 3,000 and at the present time both systems serve approximately 19,000 people.

Both the electric distribution and water systems have been financially successful over a number of years, and up to date no benefits have been derived as a result of the Colorado River development. During the past year the City has purchased all of the distribution system of the Southern California Edison Company within its corporate limits for a purchase price of $165,000.00, paid from the accumulated reserve funds of the Public Service Department.

Burbank has an area of 16.23 square miles, a population of approximately 19,000, with an electrical distribution system, the book value of which is $502,751.77 and a water system, the book value of which is $1,184,787.88.

During the past three years, in addition to maintaining rates that are generally lower than is prevalent in adjacent communities, the electrical system has paid a net profit of $91,149.18 and the water system a net profit of $54,910.24. You will note in the Federal Commission Report that Burbank has the lowest electrical rates of any California city in its size classification.

The financial statement, previously filed, indicates the amount of bonds which were voted for the purpose of establishing these respective plants. It will also be observed that all maturing bonds and all bond interest have been promptly paid from the Utility's earnings. You will note, therefore, that the public's equity in these plants has been acquired at no cost, on the contrary, in addition to this equity many valuable services have been rendered to the Municipal Government and to the citizens.

The City is a member of The Metropolitan Water District, and has executed a contract with the United States Government for 25,000,000 kilowatt hours of electrical energy per year, for fifty years, to be generated at Boulder dam, thus assuring the City of an adequate supply of water and electrical energy for the future.

The Public Service Department is operated under the provisions of the City Charter of Burbank, is non-political in its character, and has functioned efficiently in carrying out the purposes for which the Department was created. The plants are an asset to the City and highly valued by its citizens.

Conclusion.

It may be advisable, in some sections of the State, that some form of aid be rendered to districts or municipalities contemplating the construction and utilization of undeveloped power and water resources, but in the general satisfactory manner in which the Public Service Department of the City of Burbank has functioned over a number of years; the efficiency of its operating plant; the low rates at which the service is rendered; the soundness of its financial status; the net returns from its operation; and the assurance of ample power and water for the future, neither of which is totally unnecessary and undesirable for the City to be concerned with or to any way regulate or controlled by the State or any agency of the State.

By order of the Council of the City of Redbank:

City of Redbank

EXHIBIT N. CITY OF SANTA BARBARA California.

February 25, 1937

Senator F. C. Garrison,
Modesto, California:

Dear Sir: Please find enclosed yours of Resolution No. 1000 adopted by the City Council at their regular meeting held January 16th, 1937 at 10:00 a.m.

Yours truly,

FATE CAMPBELL,

RESOLUTION NO. 1000

The City Officials of the City of Santa Barbara, California, having given no consideration to the report of their Commission, City Clerk George D. Geib, and Councilmen Wm. S. Crawford who attended the conference in Los Angeles on January 16th, 1936, said conference convened in the Assembly room of the State Building and being called by the State Senate Legislative Committee for the determination of whether or not the State of California should take over the Public and Private Utilities.

We do therefore resolve that we are in favor of Municipal Ownership of Public Utilities, when such Municipalities are able and willing to assume the expense and that we are not in favor of any further restrictions of those cities as the State than the present State Laws provide.

We further resolve that we are in favor of the present public ownership by the Railroad Commission of the privately owned Public Utilities.

In explanation of our attitude in the above resolutions, after giving your experience with our water works we feel we would not wish anything for turning it over to State Control and with the Federal Government ownership of Electric power from Boulder Dam at such low rates we will give a greater benefit through the Railroad Commission, if they would give us more than our present rate by the State.

I HEREBY CERTIFY that the foregoing Resolution was first passed and adopted on the 20th day of January, 1937, by the following vote, to-wit:

Ayes: Councilmen Charles M. Anderson, William C. Cameron, William S. Crawford, George M. Harris, Taylor McDougall, Jr., Jesse Wesson, Jr.

Noes: Councilmen None.

Absent: Councilmen None.

Geo. D. Geib, City Clerk.

By Fate Campbell,

Deputy City Clerk.

The foregoing Resolution is hereby approved this 25th day of February, 1937.

EDMUND O. HANSON, Mayor

CALIFORNIA'S OPPORTUNITY IN POWER DEVELOPMENT

I.

Handicap of Private Ownership.

To the Legislative Committee on Hydro-Electric Power.

Gentlemen: Thirty years ago the hydro-electric power possibilities of Niagara were made available for the Province of Ontario, Canada. The province had two choices open to it.

(1) To turn the power over to privately owned corporations for the exploitation of the people of the Province through monopoly power rates.

(2) To develop that power by the State to be wholesaled to political subdivisions by them to be distributed at cost to the people.

The Province decided upon the second course. Under public ownership, power is developed and distributed, not for the exploitation of the people, but for their benefit and for their use. As a result, the people of Ontario enjoy the lowest power rates in the world, and enjoy a higher per capita consumption of power than any other people. The 1934 report of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission shows that $9.1 per cent of household users of electricity throughout the Province paid less than 2 cents a kw-hr for it, favored localities paid as low as 7 mills; 10.4 per cent paid from 2 to 4 cents; 0.4 per cent paid from 4 to 6; 0.1 paid 6 cents or more. Commercial and power rates were correspondingly low.

The argument is made that such rates are possible in Ontario because of Niagara, and California has no Niagara. As a matter of fact California has power possibilities quite comparable to those of Ontario. The Boulder Dam in the south furnishes enormous power possibilities. The proposed Kennett Dam and other water conservation projects are rich in power possibilities. And the fact should be borne in mind that this power totaling billions of kw hrs. annually is a by-product attending necessary water development for irrigation, industrial and domestic purposes. Developed for use and not for exploitation, power could eventually be made approximately as cheap in California as it is in Ontario.

Unfortunately for California privately-owned power companies have been allowed to enjoy monopoly privileges. The result of such policy has not only been monopoly rates for electricity, but industrial, political and even social consequences of far-reaching and most unfortunate consequences. But perhaps the most serious injury to the State has been the opposition to state development by the special-privilege-enjoying power companies intent upon their monopoly of power and their exploitation of the people through such monopoly.

The best development of California depends upon the development of the state's water resources. Properly conserved there is available in California sufficient water for all possible purposes. With water development would come hydro-electric power in as great abundance, and at cost to consumers as low as enjoyed by the most favored places of the earth. But every move toward water development has been opposed by the politically-entrenched, well-financed power companies which see in such water development an increased power crop threatening their monopoly hold and their monopoly rates.

Thirty years ago when Los Angeles proposed to bring pure water from Owens Valley, the power companies fought the development at every step. But the people of Los Angeles eventually prevailed; not only secured their pure water, but kept to themselves in public ownership the power by-product. The result is that Los Angeles City enjoys the benefits of abundance of pure water, cheap power rates—and a population above 1,000,000. Had the power companies prevailed against the Owens Valley project, the amazing development of Los Angeles City and county would not have been possible. Without Owens Valley water and power there could have been no Los Angeles as the world knows it today.

When San Francisco proposed the Hetch Hetchy project the same power-company opposition was encountered. Owing to unfortunate political conditions and control under which San Francisco has suffered since the retirement from office of former Mayor Robinson Taylor, the power companies and their associates were able to delay Hetch Hetchy development for twenty years. This has meant increased costs, which are reflected in the high water rates paid by the people of San Francisco for water. But that unfortunate political domination which delayed the Hetch Hetchy development, made possible the passage of the Hetch Hetchy power crop, in plain violation of existing law, to a privately-owned power company. Because of such power-company opposition and interference, while it did not prevent the development, it has kept from the people of San Francisco the full benefits of their Hetch Hetchy enterprise. That San Francisco has lagged far behind in its development as compared with Southern California and the rest of the state is due in no small measure to power-company interference with San Francisco's water project.

The proposed Boulder Dam development, brought the organized power companies of the whole nation to the support of the California power-company opposition. The entire country was subjected to opposing propaganda; appeal was made to the prejudice and self-interest of sections and of states. Graceless misrepresentation was employed throughout the nation. The power lobby at Washington boasted that the organized power companies represented $7,000,000,000 of wealth, and that wealth had decided the Boulder Dam should not be built. In denouncing this lobby, Senator Hiram W. Johnson from the floor of the United States Senate declared:

"I was astounded, sir, to read in the daily press the other day what purported to be a statement made by some gentleman named Newcomb regarding this measure and that optional clause. Mind you, sir, it is purely an optional clause—an optional clause asked by the Secretary of the Interior himself—not originally asked by those presenting the bill, but an optional clause under which the United States Government has the right for itself to determine some day far in the future whether it should construct the particular works for the generation of electricity or whether it should be anything more than that.

"Yet, it is published in the press and in some of it I myself signed, that a distinguished gentleman representing the Electric Bond & Share Company, New York, which controls 145 electric corporations and utilities in Washington, I represent an expenditure of $2,000,000,000 and try to get Congress to let the Government enter the power business at Denver, Colorado.

"What could be more fraudulent, what could be more outrageous than for any man representing private corporations to stand before Congressional Avenue and kneel at the altar of the Congress of the United States and say: 'You shall not be permitted, you shall not permit the Government of the United States, to exercise an option on possible electric power which someone has spent in the future, perhaps $7,000,000,000 paid in.' What more fraudulent thing could ever be presented to a Congress at this moment in our life than the statement made by the gentleman representing us as cost $7,000,000,000."

That $7,000,000,000 expenditure was arbitrary; the man who made it Sacramento County because of it is poorer than the poorest Sacramento farmer, and it is of increased prosperity and development.

Sacramento, attempting to bring pure water from Father Creek and surrounding this same power company, and to deny the pure water supply and the attending advantage of power at that. There is enough to show in the State that the not suffered as Sacramento has suffered from such blocking of economic development.

For fourteen years the power companies have opposed the largest River Valleys water development, the proposed big of water, water in the River. At this dam alone, where one would be one of the most energy would be available.

The power companies arbitrarily have taken the position that the State could not absorb this enormous power cost.

Their position is based on a number of false facts.

It is found, at the same time, that the power companies are in control of the big dam, which the power company of California. The public cannot and does not want to the enormous waste of Klamath power.

But the contention is that if California is to be protected the same advantages in power development that were made in the power of Oregon and the same matter never came in the power of Wisconsin, Texas, and in our own state to the Modesto Irrigation District and the City of Los Angeles. No power has come down in those states, and the power companies have been in such a position, so increased that it may be regarded as a fact.

Ottawa, Ontario, furnishes a remarkable example.

Prior to 1914, water power, hydroelectric, Ontario, households paid on the average 7 cents a kilowatt for the electricity used in their homes. When in 1914 the distributing system was taken over under public ownership, the average monthly consumption per household was 19 kw. hrs. The following year the price was reduced to an average of 4.8 cents a kw. hr. Consumption went up to 24 kw. hrs. per household. Ten years later, 1925, the price per kilowatt hour had been reduced to 1.1 cents, the average monthly consumption was up to 151 kw. hrs. For the year 1934 the average rate for domestic use was 0.9 cents, and the average monthly consumption 326 kw. hrs.

Thus, as the domestic rate came down from 7 cents to 0.9 cents, average monthly consumption increased from 19 kw. hrs. to 326.

Ottawa's experience has been the experience of every community that has enjoyed the benefits of power rate reductions. Such communities avoid the gains of electrical development. Communities suffering from the handicap of high rates are denied such gains. It is possible the possibility of the use of public electricity to the people of Ontario, and the Klamath power would certainly be equal to the demand.

The policy of the power companies has been, then, to discourage water development, thereby not only denying the water so necessary for the sustenance of the State's best interests, but withholding from the public access to the generation of power easily available which would place at the command of the people of the state all the advantages and benefits of modern use of electricity in home, factory and farm as enjoyed by the people of Ontario, and a water Canada and American communities under public ownership.

To enforce their policy of opposition to water development the power companies have maintained expensive holders at Sacramento have expended hundreds of thousands of dollars in state and local campaigns, have conducted labor wars, prominent club women, and officials of prominent organizations have endeavored to influence banks by maintaining large balances without interest, and the public press by practically unlimited advertising, have engaged in excessive propaganda.

In 1922, William Kent of Kentfield, John R. Haynes of Los Angeles, Rudolph Spreckels and Senator James D. Phelan of San Francisco undertook by an initiative measure to permit State-wide water development under much the same plan as had even then proven so successful in Ontario. To defeat this move, the power companies conducted a campaign the scandal of which brought on a legislative investigation. The testimony taken by the investigating committee showed an expenditure by the power companies to defeat the plan of over $500,000. The political methods uncovered startled the state. For example, the then vice-president of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company testified that his company had paid one labor leader $10,000 for two months' service in opposing the measure; a society woman of Oakland, $1,000; head of certain San Francisco improvement clubs $6,000. Workers from one end of the state to the other had been paid from a few dollars to $26,000.

The following excerpt from the report of the Investigating Committee (see Senate Journal for 1923) shows the character of the campaign which the power companies carried on:

"In reference to the methods employed in connection with the campaigns on some of the propositions on the ballot, the committee found they were such as to have effect of misleading and deceiving the voter. This arises, for example, out of the use of high sounding, patriotic names under which the real identity of the interested parties and actual proponents or opponents is disguised. While many campaign committees selected names that fairly indicated their purpose, others selected designations which gave the voter no indication as to the real purpose or nature of the organization. The most conspicuous example of the latter was the use of the name 'Greater California League' by the opponents of the Water and Power Act. Such a name readily gives the impression of being a promotion organization which every citizen in California would feel free to join, and having nothing in its name to indicate that it was a political campaign organization.

"The testimony before the committee showed that the Greater California League was in reality merely the name under which Mr. Eustace Cullinan, employed by the power companies, conducted the campaign against the Water and Power Act in Northern California.

"The following extracts from Mr. Cullinan's testimony indicate its actual identity:

"The Greater California League never had control of the money (Campaign contributions) at all. I put that money in the bank as I received it to an account called 'The Greater California League', but no one had access to that account except me. * * * It was like most of these political groups or committees. * * * never had a meeting * * *. I appointed myself president. I was employed by the power companies, through Mr. John S. Drum. * * * and met, with myself, after the employment, and organized the Greater California League."

The power companies paid Mr. Cullinan $25,000 for his eleven months' service in this campaign.

The course of the privately owned power companies in California has not made for the well-being nor the dignity of the State.

II.

Failure of Regulation.

Thirty years ago unrest over political activities of utility corporations found expression in the organization of the Lincoln Roosevelt League; its objective, to quote the League's outstanding leader, Hiram Johnson, to restore the government of the State to the people. The scandals of corruption of public officials by various utilities came to a head in the so-called San Francisco Graft Prosecution.

Under the domination of Abe Ruef, a political boss, all but open bribery of public officials was the rule. Members of the board of supervisors trapped taking bribes, confessed, bringing squarely before the public the methods practiced by the utilities. The utilities, it developed, had passed the bribe money to Ruef; Ruef gave it to Supervisor James Gallagher with instructions how he was to divide it with his fellow supervisors. The supervisors had been elected on a pledge to fix gas rates at 75 cents; they set the rates at 85 cents. Of the attending bribery Gallagher testified before the Grand Jury:

"Q. Now, then, this gas money, who gave the money to you to deliver to them? A. Mr. Ruef.

"Q. And how much did he hand over to you on that?

"A. I figured that all out (produces piece of paper) $13,350.

"Q. Where was that he gave you that?

"A. At his office at the corner of California and Kearney streets, in this city.

"Q. Can you fix the date with reference to the passing of the ordinance?

"A. It was after the passing of the ordinance and consequently must have been subsequent to the month of February as the ordinance, I think, it was within a month as nearly as I can remember—it was about the latter part of March, 1906.

"Q. And of that amount, how much did you keep for yourself?

"A. $1250.

"Q. Then did you pay $750 to each and every one that is a member with the exception of McCreesh? A. Yes, sir.

"Q. And each of those who were here in here except McCreesh?

"A. All the members of the Board except McCreesh.

"Q. At the time you got this money from that man did he say to you about it? Did you have a talk with regard to how it was to be divided up?

"A. Nothing more than that it was to be given to that amount to each one.

"Q. Was that the amount each was to get?

"A. By suggestion by Mr. Reed that that would be the amount that he thought he could arrange to have given to the Board.

"Q. That was what he told you, $750? A. Yes, sir.

"Q. That was coming out of that money suggestion or proposition?

"A. It was."

Other members of the Board admitted getting this money from Gillingham. The following testimony from Supervisor C. J. Hartman is typical:

"Q. The next matter, I will ask your attention to is the fixing of the gas rates early in 1906, the rates to be charged for gas and electricity in the city, did you hear there was to be something coming through on that?

"A. I did.

"Q. Who told you?

"A. No one told me particularly except a rumor among the members of the Board.

"Q. Generally understood among them, how much was it to be, and they know? A. $750.

"Q. The two was fixed at $750? A. Yes, sir.

"Q. You voted for it? A. I did.

"Q. Was it understood at that time that it was confidential and that was what it was to be? A. Yes, sir.

"Q. And afterwards did you receive any money? A. That $750.

"Q. Who handed you that? A. James Gillingham.

"Q. Was that what kind of money? A. Gillingham's.

"Q. Do you remember how the gas was then and where? A. Yes, sir.

"Q. Say anything at the time of handing it to you?

"A. No, just placed it, passed it to me. I understood it."

On the testimony, three members of the Board of Directors of the Public Gas and Electric Company were indicted.

To meet such practices, when the efforts of the Lincoln-Roosevelt League resulted in the election of Hiram Johnson Governor, kind control of utilities was attempted and the utilities brought under state regulation. This regulatory system was vested in the State Railroad Commission. The Commission was in theory given strict supervision, authority to fix rates, power to punish the licensee of the public against the evils that had developed from utility domination.

In the power field the State was virtually impotent during the second decade, each being given absolute monopoly in the same district. Each company was thus protected against the wastefulness of competition. The Railroad Commission, with power of regulation and to fix rates was designed to relieve the public against the evils of monopoly, and ensure to the people rates that would be fair to consumers and at the same time provide fair return to the companies on their investments.

In theory, regulation was ideal; in practice, it has failed utterly.

Under regulation the utilities have done most of the regulating, and at about years have actually fixed their own rates, while securing all the benefits of monopoly within the territory allotted them. This is a particularly true of the power companies.

The Public Utility Act under which regulation was commenced (1911) provided that the rates fixed by the regulatory body, the Railroad Commission, should be final.

That held true as to the people who paid the rates, so far as the ratepayers were concerned the rates were final, without opportunity for appeal.

But for the utilities the rate decisions of the Commission were far from final. The utilities on the plea that the rates were confiscatory had their appeal to the Federal courts.

Soon, attempts of the regulatory body to fix rates were met by costly, time-consuming litigation, the people in the meantime continuing to pay the rates which the regulatory body had found to be too high.

Of late, the companies supplying gas and power have openly taken to fixing their own rates. Their contemptuous attitude toward the State rate-fixing authority, whose action in the words of the State Utility law shall be final is astonishing. When the Railroad Commission proposed gas rates in the San Francisco area approximately $2,000,000 a year, the affected company contested the rates in the Federal Courts alleging confiscation of its property. After costly litigation the courts held that the proposed rates were confiscatory, gave judgment for the company. The company then demonstrated that the Railroad Commission was justified in reducing the rates, and that the court was in error. The company voluntarily reduced the rates, not $2,000,000 a year, but $2,500,000.

Announcement of "voluntary" reduction of rates by the corporations quite independent of action by the Railroad Commission, in the corporations' own good time, in their own way, on their own terms, would be amusing—considering the intent of the State Utility law—if they were not so serious.

So far as effectiveness in dictating rates to the monopoly-given utilities is concerned, the Railroad Commission has become innocuous.

Further weakening of the prestige of the Railroad Commission has come through interference in its activities and its personnel by the "regulated" utilities. The utilities maintain at the Commission what amounts to a lobby. More serious, is the greater financial advantage to be gained from serving the utilities than from serving the State as executive or attache of the Commission.

In theory the Commission has regulatory control over all utilities doing business in California from railroads and power companies to warehouses and truckers. A railroad commissioner charged with this vast supervision receives $8,000 a year. The officials of the utilities he is supposed to regulate receive as high as $72,000 a year. It would take a commissioner nine years to earn the salary of such a utility executive for one year. While the commissioner is earning the salary of the executive he is supposed to regulate for one year, the executive's salary amounts to $648,000. The engineers, attorneys, accountants of the regulated utilities are paid from three to five times the salaries of the engineers, attorneys and accountants of the commission. While many commissioners and attaches unquestionably serve the state to the best of their ability, disinterestedly and faithfully, it is not strange that we have instances of commissioners passing from the $8,000 a year state job to a $25,000 a year job with the utilities they have been regulating, while effective engineers, attorneys and other employees of the commission may be justified in giving up their state positions to accept double the commission salary from a regulated utility. The sneer that the Railroad Commission has become a training school for utility executives and employes apparently has some foundation.

Most serious of all the Commission's handicaps is the underfinancing of its essential work. Governor Hiram Johnson recognized the danger of an under-financed Commission. In his inaugural address to the 1911 Legislature Governor Johnson urged: "Let us do our full duty, now that at last we have a Railroad Commission that will do its full duty, and let us give this Commission all the power and aid and resources it requires."

During the Johnson and Stephens administrations attempt was made to give the Commission the resources necessary for effective work. By assisting largely in the financing of organizations maintained to charge the State with extravagance, the utilities took important part in undermining public support of the proper financing of state governmental agencies. This made possible the election of Richardson on an "economy" platform in 1922.

Under Richardson, practically all State governmental agencies suffered from underfinancing. This was true of the Railroad Commission. Attempts to correct the situation made during Young's administration were interrupted by his defeat for reelection. With the election of Rolph, virtually the same forces which had for twenty years dominated at San Francisco took over the state. Although a majority of the commission were Young appointees, they found themselves practically powerless. This condition was significantly shown when the Railroad Commission, through its then President, Clyde L. Seavey, wrote the 1933 Legislature as follows:

"According to press reports there are before your body resolutions calling for certain information from the commission regarding the rates of return of the utilities of the State and kindred matters. Whether or not these resolutions are passed, this commission is desirous of not only furnishing any information wanted but of getting your aid in attempting to harmonize the income of the utilities with conditions obtaining with businesses and individuals. Some proposed legislation is now before you which may indirectly assist in this regard.

"For the past three years this commission has been devoting special attention to utility rates and has succeeded in reducing the return below what has been allowed in normal times, except where we have been attacked in the Federal courts. We have now three major rate cases under hearing. In addition to this, we have contemplated and have been preparing to take more drastic action which might or might not take us further into the Federal courts. On February 14th of this year the commission spread upon its minutes a resolution directing its department to bring together in concise form the data necessary upon which to institute such emergency proceedings regarding rates and rates of return. We have not heretofore actually started such proceedings for four principal reasons:

"1. Because to do so would have unduly interfered with the legal and proper process of the Legislature in the equalization of utility taxes, which matter we knew would be before your bodies.

"2. Because we believed if equalization of taxes was accomplished the return of the utilities would be reduced substantially and perhaps as low or lower than we could accomplish by an attempt to exercise extraordinary regulatory powers.

"3. Because we believed the proposed equalization of taxes would be a surer way of reducing return than drastic action on the part of this commission subject, as the latter action is, to delay and reversal through the Federal courts.

"4. Because this commission is in a much stronger position to prevent rate increases than to reduce rates.

"The commission is also advised through the press and by individual members that it is contemplated later in the session to attempt equalization of utility taxes. We wish to conform to the wishes of the Legislature in this matter. If it is your desire that we proceed at once to attempt drastic reduction of rates under the circumstances we are advised to do so.

There have so far as the Railroad Commission is concerned, been no material changes during the Merriam administration.

The public's protection in the Railroad Commission's authority to fix rates is, for all practical purposes, gone.

The power companies, given monopoly rights in their respective territories, without the check of State regulatory supervision, or of competition for all practical purposes fix their own rates.

State regulation of the utilities, rate fixing by the regulatory body have broken down in failure.

Except in territory enjoying public ownership of power, as in the Modesto and Turlock irrigation districts, the people are denied the benefits of competition or the safety of effective public control over rates. Such public ownership territory does enjoy the benefits of low private-company rates governed by the protection of the publicly-owned power plants. But outside such favored territories, monopolies reign, unchecked, across the roads from them—monopoly power rates prevail.

Regulation by political subdivisions and rate-fixing by local legislative bodies failed because of the deliberate bribery of public officials by agents of the utilities. State regulation, because of apparently unimpeachable authority has failed also. The state is given the alternative of leaving the power companies in virtually unregulated monopoly control, with practically the fixing of their own monopoly rates which means eventually rates based on all the traffic will bear, or public ownership and public distribution of power.

III.

Public Ownership.

The State's adventure in private-ownership of power production and distribution is a years-long record of scandals, bribery, corruption of public officials and legislative bodies; contemptuous treatment of the public; monopoly rates. Such experience is not limited to California; it has been the experience of every community that has left its power development to so-called private enterprise. One has only to recall the Foshay scandals, the Insular scandals, the exposures of the Federal Trade Commission to recognize the truth of that statement.

On the other hand, public ownership and distribution of power has with few exceptions redounded to the benefit of the people undertaking it.

Ontario, Canada is an outstanding example of this. Nor are alone the same success of public ownership of power has been experienced at Tacoma, Washington. In our own state, Los Angeles, even though power company opposition at every step, enjoys the benefits of public ownership of both water and power. At a time when San Francisco depended upon privately-owned companies for both water and power, the then Mayor of Los Angeles George E. Cryer made comparison of San Francisco's experience with private ownership and the experience of Los Angeles with public ownership. Mayor Cryer said:

"A careful study of the situation discloses that the people of San Francisco, served by a privately owned water company, are paying rates 248 per cent higher than rates charged by the Los Angeles Municipal Water Bureau. This is spite of the fact that San Francisco is a comparatively-built city of small area and gets its water from only about thirty miles distant, while Los Angeles' supply must be brought 250 miles and distributed over the largest area of any city in the United States.

"During the present fiscal year ending June 30, 1928, the 1,300,000 people in Los Angeles will pay approximately $9,000,000 for their water service. For the same service but under rates charged in San Francisco, our people would have to pay $23,490,000, or $14,490,000 more than they will under the Municipal Water Bureau rates.

"During the present fiscal year the thousands of factories, office buildings, stores and homes will pay $18,906,946 for power and light service under rates set by the Municipal Bureau of Power and Light. For the same service, but under rates charged by private companies to San Francisco, our people would be charged $21,855,269, or $2,948,323 more than they will pay this year in Los Angeles. This in spite of the fact that rates by private electric companies in all parts of California have been forced down by the lower schedules here.

"The total savings realized by Los Angeles citizens through their municipally-owned systems, compared with San Francisco's rates under privately-owned systems, amounts to $17,438,323."

"This means a saving of $13.40 a year to every one of our 1,300,000 citizens; it means an annual saving of $67 for the average family of five.

"It means a handsome cash dividend paid annually by its two bureaus. Since these systems are entirely self-sustaining the dividend is being secured without the necessity of a cash investment. Furthermore, the rates include amortization of bonds, which as paid up will enable a constantly decreasing rate, an advantage not true of privately-owned water and power financing."

Since 1924, the Modesto Irrigation District has, under public ownership been serving the district with the incidental power crop of its water development. As a result the farmers of the Modesto Irrigation District enjoy the lowest rural power rates in California. A farmer for example, using 200 kw. hrs. of electricity in his home a month pays $5.15 for it, while the farmer in the monopoly territory of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company immediately across the line pays $7.50 for the same service.

This saving in monthly power rates to the people of the Modesto District, has over the eleven years of public ownership operation, run into millions but it by no means tells the whole story.

For the ten years ending December 31, 1934, at the low rates charged, the net revenue from the power crop had been $2,144,171.97. The net revenue for 1934 was $204,153.48. The net revenue for 1935 was above $278,000.

The benefits of these power profits are felt by the entire district. The electrical department, for example, has during the ten years turned over to the water department, $1,400,000. Because of this the district's irrigation taxes, which are in effect water rates, have been reduced from $6.40 per hundred dollars valuation in 1924 to $2.76 in 1935. The peak of bond redemption comes in 1942. Soon after that, with low power rates continued, the entire expense of the Modesto Irrigation District will be met by revenue from the power. This means that besides having the cheapest power rates in rural California, the Modesto farmers will have free water brought to their lands.

And bond redemption means bond redemption in the Modesto Irrigation District. All bond interest and redemption for the electric system are paid out of the gross revenue of the electric department. Some $80,000 of bonds by January 1, 1936 have been redeemed. In addition, the district had purchased bonds before they were due to the amount of $115,500.

The Modesto Irrigation District bonds are held above par, with practically no offers to sell.

Practically all of what has been said of Modesto District could have been said of Turlock.

Modesto and Turlock took advantage of the power crop of their water development. With public ownership of the power as a basis, they have made a success of their water development enterprise.

Districts on the other hand that turned their power over to private power companies are practically bankrupt.

The Merced Irrigation District is a fair example of this.

The Merced District turns its power over to the San Joaquin Light and Power Company.

The Merced District farmer using 200 kw. hrs. of electricity in his home a month, pays $7.50 for it. While the Modesto farmer over the line in public ownership territory pays $5.15 for the same amount.

The Merced District can show no profits in an electric department for it has no such department. It can not use profits on its power crop to wipe out water costs for it has no such profits.

Merced Irrigation bonds are not quoted. The district has defaulted on both interest and redemption payments. But about the first of this year were given a value of 51½ because the Reconstruction Finance Corporation had purchased up to November 15, 1935, approximately $7.37 per cent of them paying $515.01 for each $1000 bond. The Federal Reserve Bank at San Francisco had been authorized by the R.F.C. to take up Merced bonds over the counter at that figure. Those who paid par for these bonds take a loss of approximately 50 per cent.

Southern California is entering into an era of increased development and prosperity because of the water and power made available at Boulder Dam. Until the waters of the central valleys watersheds are concerned there can not be any marked increase in development in Northern California. Every drop of that wasted water is needed for irrigation, industrial purposes, controlled flow of navigable rivers. With its conservation as contemplated by the Interior Valleys project, abundance of power will be made available.

In the hands of private monopolies, that power will be used for the oppression of the people of California. The people will look to you, friends, to those who control the power.

Held in public ownership for the use and benefit of all, that power will be the servant of the people.

There are two fundamental questions with California's hydroelectric energy are not in safety to the citizens of the State be turned over to private monopoly.

(1) Such a course will be proved economically.

(2) It would prove a menace politically.

Sound public policy requires that the gigantic task of water conservation and development be entrusted in its entirety to THE STATE ITSELF.

Hon. Walter H. Dwyer
Santa Paula, California.

My dear Senator Dwyer:

Inclosed you will find a copy of the Hockenbeamer letter which I intended to send you. Also Robertson's letter to Senator Dwyer. Inclosed, too, is the Hockenbeamer letter to the National Electric Light Association with the statement that the plan is well worth trying and may be of use elsewhere. I enclose including some of the excerpts of letters from California banks to Hockenbeamer thanking him with pitiful seriousness for his generous consideration.

You will note from these correspondence that I put the matter very lightly when I started before your committee that the most complete bank endorsement to influence banks by collecting a large volume of bank checks.

I can't quite understand why your bank are being concerned. It may be because it is out of the district of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company; it may be that the power companies think they have you any how; it may be that they recognize that the integrity of any banking system is as high as it can be to grant you a free deposit or would not influence but in the end had would be effort and money wasted.

Sincerely,
A. W. ROBERTSON.

PERSONAL

Mr. H. T. Sands, President,
National Electric Light Association,
c/o Electric Bond and Share Co.,
New York, N. Y.

Dear Mr. Sands:

I believe you will be interested in sending the attached letter and enclosure from Mr. Hockenbeamer, President of the Pacific Gas & Electric Company. The method outlined in this correspondence appears to me as being within the proper way to create and maintain cordial relations with our friends the banks. Indeed, in our Pittsburgh activities we have tried to follow such a scheme although not on so extensive a scale as carried out in Mr. Hockenbeamer's organization.

You will notice that Mr. Hockenbeamer asks that this letter be treated as confidential, and my only reason for sending you the correspondence is that I know you are interested in the dissemination of a correct method of carrying out the work of our committee and the public relations section.

Yours very truly,

A. W. ROBERTSON.

Personal.
Mr. A. W. Robertson,
President, Philadelphia Company,
Pittsburgh, Penn.

Dear Mr. Robertson: I must apologize to you for having so long delayed any response to your several letters regarding the "Committee on Relations with Financial Institutions," but, as you can well imagine, I have been so fully occupied with my new duties—which were thrust upon me rather suddenly—that I was compelled to lay aside practically all matters not pertaining strictly to our own activities. It was somewhat of a surprise to find myself Chairman of the Pacific Coast Section, and I would have been very much inclined to ask you to relieve me of this additional burden except that subsequent letters from you indicate that we have already gone a long way in working out the ideas presented by you, so that the task assigned to me may, perhaps, not require any more time than I can afford to give to it.

Owing to the fact that for about twenty-five years we have operated an interconnected system serving a large number of communities and requiring one or more bank depositaries in each of these centers, we "discovered" the country bankers quite a number of years ago. In this there was no particular prescience on our part, as what was at first merely a necessary business relationship took on, gradually but in an increasing degree, the additional aspect of public policy and of public relations. The bankers, as a rule, are economically minded about as we are, but, nevertheless, we came to the conclusion about fifteen years ago that as a practical incentive to get them to work with us, there is no substitute for deposits. A worthwhile account has, therefore, been the keystone of our policy, and, to assure its application, it is our practice to regulate balances in country banks from the Head Office. I may add, in passing, that we have at this time accounts with 230 country banks scattered all over our territory, and, whole our policy keeps an average of around a million and a half dollars tied up in balances in these country depositaries, we believe it is well worthwhile: first, because the service they render to us as banker is worth something, and secondly, because it cements their friendship and co-operation. Incidentally, we require no interest on these deposits.

A second step in retaining friendly relations with our country bankers has been to have our local managers keep in close touch with them. This they do, and I feel safe in saying that our district managers not only enjoy the friendly acquaintance of the presidents of these banks but of all the directors, usually influential business and professional men, and of practically the entire personnel.

A third thing we have done is to have representatives from the Head Office visit the bankers. While I was Treasurer of the Company, I did this personally on two occasions in company with Division Managers and the Secretary of the Company. It took from six weeks to two months for each round of visits, but I soon realized that the time was well spent, and if there was one thing I heard more frequently than anything else, it was expressions of satisfaction over the "nice account you keep with us," all of which went to confirm my faith in the policy of "saying it with deposits."

Before beginning our first customer ownership campaign in 1914, we saw to it that everyone of our bankers was fully informed as to the stock we were about to offer and what our plans were for disposing of it. Every banker was also told at that time that any checks drawn on his bank in payment for any of the stock sold by us would be immediately re-deposited with him and the money left there as long as we did not need it. This removed the fear of deposits being drawn down to pay for stock. Some of this money stayed in the banks for quite a long time, and the result was that, with one sole exception, the bankers became, and still are, boosters for our stock and an effective influence in spreading its sale.

On the whole, the relations with our bankers are about as cordial as they possibly could be. We have had occasion to test their friendliness on a number of occasions and they have never failed us. During our two big campaigns against the so-called "Water and Power Act"—a scheme to put California in the power business with an initial issue of half a billion of bonds—they literally sent out hundreds of thousands of personal letters and pieces of literature to their depositors and stockholders, as well as campaigning against the act personally.

My impression is that the other power companies in California follow pretty much the same policies as I have above outlined. We have here an association, of which I am Vice Chairman, which meets once a month and is representative of all of the power companies of any consequence in the State, and it is my thought to bring the subject up for discussion at the next regular meeting of the Light and Power Council. I believe this is about all that needs to be done in California, and but little would be gained, even if it were feasible, to ask the bankers to come to some general meeting. They know as well as we do the economic dangers against which we must present a united front, and the most necessary thing is for the individual power companies to maintain the individual contacts that lead to personal acquaintance, friendship and co-operation.

I would like to have you treat this as a personal communication and not as an official report by the Chairman of your Sub-committee. If any thoughts have been expressed which you deem useful, you can probably present them without undue publicity of ourselves. We have already been suspected of undue connivance with bankers.

There is a subject which I would rather not touch upon in a letter but which I should like to discuss with you the first time I see you. I will probably not forget about it, but if I should please feel free to remind me that I have something in my system that I want to get out.

Very sincerely yours,

(SIGNED) A. F. HICKENHAMER.

P. S. We also keep in touch with our bankers by means of annual letters, notifying them of their reappointment as depositories. Attached is a typical sample of these letters and also a compilation of the acknowledgments received. We are pleased to have an extra copy of this in our files and I thought you might be interested in looking it over.

EXTRACTS FROM SOME OF THE LETTERS RECEIVED FROM BANKS IN RESPONSE TO LETTER OF A. F. HICKENHAMER ADVISING
OF THEIR CONTINUANCE AS THE COMPANY'S DEPOSITARIES
DURING 1925.

Bank of Italy, Richmond Branch, Manassas

"We realize the great help your Company has been in the upbuilding of this section, and can only expect an ever continuing cooperation."

First National Bank of Omaha

"While we appreciate the action of your Executive Committee, and interpret its action as that our efforts at banking for farmers in a manner to meet their requirements has been successful, your kind words go further. They constitute abundant reason for opportunity to make our service of greater value to you."

Bank of Italy, Richmond-South Branch, Omaha

"We very much appreciate the kindly thoughts expressed by you. It is very pleasant to know that you are one of our many satisfied customers."

"Little expressions of appreciation and kindness are always welcome and make the long road more easy to travel."

Northwestern County Bank, Grand Island

"We wish on our part to assure you that we appreciate the continuing support kept with us very much and we shall always be willing and anxious to give of our very best service."

"We take pleasure and a definite pride in watching the satisfactory growth and prosperity of your good company which had its beginning here."

"With our very best wishes for your Company and its Officers."

Northwestern County Bank, Norfolk City

"Let us assure you on our part that we greatly value our present business relations, and trust that you will avail yourselves to the fullest of our banking facilities."

"We have noted with much interest from time to time the material growth and prosperity of the Pacific Gas and Electric Co., which is a source of gratification to us, not only because of our business connections, but because since Company had its beginning in this territory, and because we have for many years been consistent holders of your securities."

Bank of Alameda, Alameda

"It is not often, from the experience of the writer, that the services rendered by banks in general to their depositors elicit the expressions of friendship as is embodied in your communication."

Bank of Italy, Centerville Branch

"This well acknowledged receipt of your very human letter of January 20, informing us that we have again been favored by being named as a depository for the year 1925."

"Your most unusual statement 'that a bank account has reciprocal values' interests me greatly."

"While we do not presume upon that fact or in any way lessen our service by being so informed, it is pleasing to have a depositor bold enough to make the assertion."

"We appreciate the business given us, and also appreciate contact with your employees who at all times are courteous and considerate of the public and our staff."

Bank of Martinez, Martinez

"It is not necessary for us to say that we fully appreciate your confidence in this Bank and that it will always be our earnest endeavor to be worthy of the confidence."

"As a matter of interest to you, I might state that we are carrying $10,000.00 par value of your bonds in our bond account, which is just double our usual investment of any one issue of public service bonds."

The American Bank, Martinez.

"If we can be of any service to you in other ways we would appreciate doing so and I wish further to add that we appreciate the manner in which your local office force handle your business here at our bank, which, I imagine is the outcome of the ever present word of SERVICE so well exemplified by the Pacific Gas & Electric Co."

The Oakland Bank, Oakland.

"I am writing to thank you for your good letter of the 20th. We do not get many such letters and it makes life seem worth living."

Mercantile Trust Co., Oakland.

"We appreciate the very attractive account which you have carried with us and have endeavored at all times to give a character of service which would justify a continuance of the same. It is a satisfaction to the writer that he has been able to reciprocate recently in a rather definite way as is already known by your Mr. Newbert and Mr. Furniss of your East Bay offices."

Oakland Bank of Savings, Oakland.

"Many of our customers are holders of the various securities issued by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company and we have always been pleased to commend these securities for safe investment realizing that back of the securities, there was more than the tangible assets, as shown by the balance sheet, in the personnel that made possible the healthy progress of the Company."

State Bank, San Leandro.

"Your cordial letter advising that our Bank was designated depository of your wonderful Company has been received. We appreciate the sentiment of your letter, and assure you that we reciprocate the feelings expressed * * * * *

"At this time, we would like to say a word of appreciation of the fine fellows you have in your employ in this district. The community is fortunate, indeed, to have a public service company represented by men who are so uniformly courteous, and who take such a personal interest in the individual's power, light, and heating problems."

Bank of Napa, Napa.

"As one turn deserves another, you will perhaps be pleased to know that we are now using your service in our new bank, which was formerly served by the Great Western Power Company."

Mercantile Trust Co., San Rafael.

"For this opportunity of serving you, we thank you. We have long regarded the Pacific Gas and Electric Company as one of our desirable accounts and in appreciation thereof, have endeavored to co-operate with you in the various campaigns which have been made to acquaint the people of the State of California with the value of the service that is being rendered by the Public Service Corporations and emphasizing the folly of the substituting therefor, the inefficient management of politically controlled organizations. In this purpose, I think all who have a substantial interest in welfare of the State of California, should make a common cause."

Mercantile Trust Co., Petaluma.

"We assure you we appreciate this courtesy and will endeavor at all times to render you the best of service. Kindly feel free to command us at any time in any way we can be of assistance to your Association."

Bank of Newman, Newman.

"Your account with us has been so entirely satisfactory that we should feel your failure to designate us as a depository would indicate that our service was not in keeping with the high standard we are endeavoring to maintain."

Mercantile Trust Co., San Francisco.

"Your statement that 'efficient banking service has reciprocal values and should not be construed as merely a favor conferred by the depositor' is particularly interesting to me. That, it seems to me, is the true philosophy of a depositor's relationship with his bank, but it is rarely recognized and even more rarely expressed as you have expressed it."

"We all enjoy our dealings with you and your association; and you may be sure we all appreciate and reciprocate your kind expression of good will, and look forward to even more pleasant and mutually beneficial relations in the future."

The Healdsburg National Bank.

"It is indeed a pleasure to receive a letter such as you have written. The average bank depositor may appreciate the service given by his bank but rarely gives sufficient thought to the matter to speak of it in a kindly, appreciative manner. Therefore, when a letter such as you write is received by us it throws a very bright ray of sunshine into our daily routine."

EXHIBIT T.

STATEMENT OF THE BOARD OF PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSIONERS
CITY OF ALAMEDA OPPOSING CENTRALIZATION OF PUBLIC OWNERSHIP OF PUBLIC UTILITIES IN THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA

The Board of Public Utilities Commissioners, City of Alameda, is respectfully opposed to the centralization of public ownership of public utilities in the State of California. Alameda would, however, long since have gone into the State of California entering the field of generating and transmitting electrical energy for use to cities and other public utilities, were there any distribution system provided investigation conclusively shows the State has and maintains at a price lower than the existing wholesale rates of private utilities, the very situation the State's investment in generating plants, lines and equipment. We had no need be entirely within the realm of possibility and that the State could, without doubt, profitably sell electrical energy at an average wholesale rate of from six to six mills per kilowatt-hour.

The Alameda light and power system is one of the oldest municipal systems in operation in the United States, it having been started by the City in 1877 at a cost of $10,000.00. A steam generating plant was built in 1888, at the Alameda Electric Company, 10 1/2 miles from the City, and acquired by a vote by the company under contract with the City of Alameda for street lighting service only. In 1905 the plant began to serve a few residences and commercial concerns.

The generating plant was operated successfully from 1888 to 1905 or until time the increased cost of fuel, which it was economical to purchase from electric power at wholesale for distribution than to generate. Later, during the water shortages of 1909 and 1914, the plant was again put into operation under lease agreements with the Pacific Gas and Electric Company and the Great Western Power Company of California. When the cost of fuel and water increased, the load had increased to an extent that the plant was no longer adequate to supply the power needed. It was therefore dismantled in 1915, a part and the rest junked, most of the apparatus being sold.

Since the system was purchased by the City there have been bond issues of $50,000.00 and $150,000.00 in 1910 and 1912, respectively, for extension and for building and equipping a substation. These bonds, although they have no obligation of the City, have been assumed and serviced by the Department of Public Utilities. The present balance of bond indebtedness is $47,770.00, and is more than offset by a sinking fund of over $100,000 and increased bonds of California owned by the Department of Public Utilities during a 1914 bond issue of $120,000.00. The present system made from the very start and since then built up entirely out of earnings until the bond value after making reserve reserves is over $600,000.00. In addition, the City has received from the City during the same period approximately $2,000,000.00 in dividends. Up to January 1, 1936, the consumers have, on the average, received rates lower than the rates charged by private utilities in adjacent territories.

The history of the light and power rates in the City of Alameda under municipal ownership shows a continual downward trend in rate to consumers. Dividends paid to the City from the Bureau of Electricity Fund during the past ten years have been as follows:

Year Ending	Amount of Dividends
June 30, 1926	$105,168.70
June 30, 1927	107,540.82
June 30, 1928	110,807.80
June 30, 1929	111,425.85
June 30, 1930	110,057.27
June 30, 1931	106,478.56
June 30, 1932	171,112.56
June 30, 1933	105,000.00
June 30, 1934	250,447.02
June 30, 1935	190,110.79
June 30, 1936 (Pledged & partly Paid)	217,520.00

The dividends returned to the City have been used for the improvement of schools, fire houses, health center, golf course, public library and other city improvements which otherwise could have been afforded only by increasing the tax burden. A goodly portion of these dividends have also been used for general purposes to reduce taxes.

At the present time a substation is being built at a cost of approximately $235,000.00, all of which will be paid for out of earnings. With the exception of a Federal Government Grant of $87,940.00.

Since 1928 Alameda has been purchasing all of its electrical equipment at wholesale rate from the Great Western Power Company, being billed on the P.G. rate schedule, which results in an average rate cost of from $0.009 to $0.011 per KWH.

The Board of Public Utilities Commissioners, as representatives of the City of Alameda, feels that should the State attempt to acquire the distribution systems of municipally owned utilities it (the State) would be intruding on the rights of cities and their inhabitants in matters over which the State Legislature should be accorded no control whatsoever.

The City of Alameda is justly proud of the splendid record shown by its electric utility over a long period of years and would resent the State's attempt to absorb this electric distribution business which has proven so profitable. Alameda has established the fact that it can efficiently operate an electric utility. Its book-keeping standards and collection methods are, according to machine bookkeeping experts, outstanding in the national municipal utility field from an efficiency standpoint.

Water Utility.

The City of Alameda and its inhabitants are securing water from the East Bay Municipal Utility District. It is our belief that it would be no benefit to the East Bay District if the State acquired that utility. It is reported the water rates in Alameda and the East Bay are generally lower than they were when the water utility was privately owned. We assume the East Bay Municipal Utility District will render a complete report on the water utility in the East Bay, making further comments on this subject by Alameda unnecessary.

Our books and records are open to the Senate Interim Committee, and if further information is desired, we will be only too pleased to cooperate in every way possible.

Respectfully submitted,

G. A. BAXTER,

EXHIBIT X.

STATEMENT OF J. R. MASON, SAN FRANCISCO, BEFORE SPECIAL SENATE COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC UTILITIES.

December 8, 1936.

A. I should like to submit to the Committee for the Committee's consideration not my own views but the views of others much more worthy to express views than I feel I am.

The first thing I would like to submit is a statement made by Major John Leslie Powell, chief of the geological survey, in addressing the constitutional convention of North Dakota some 47 years ago. Mr. Powell said:

"Taking the world at large, most of the agriculture of the world has depended on irrigation for more than 4,000 years. The largest populations have depended on irrigation, so it is an old problem."

And Mr. Powell goes on to say: "All other wealth falls into insignificance compared with that which is to come from these lands from the pouring on them of the running streams of this country."

My belief is that this applies with equal force in California. In other words, I believe, as expressed in an address by former President Harding made at Spokane, Washington, in 1923, in which Mr. Harding spoke as follows:

"Our whole view of the relation of water to Western development has changed much in the last generation. Only a few years ago these waters were looked upon as potentially useful merely for irrigation and agriculture. We entered upon a great program of irrigation enterprise in that era when we had as yet but a vague notion about the dual purpose that your water resources ought to serve. But now we know that the same water can in most cases be utilized both for power and irrigation. . . . In the light of what we know now about all the aspects of this subject we may confidently look forward to a generation in which these young and vigorous commonwealths of the west will boast as great a population as the entire nation numbers today, capable of living for the greater part within itself, representing the widest variety of occupations and interests, and having its problems of transportation largely solved for it because it will be so nearly self-sufficient and self-contained."

Shortly before that, Herbert Hoover, quoting from the San Francisco Daily News of December 30, 1922, Mr. Hoover said:

"I am not now and never have been, in favor of anything but government construction of the irrigation, reclamation and hydro-electric projects on the Colorado of whatever magnitude. I have always held, and do now hold, that the projects are too vast for private undertaking, and where anyone has ever obtained any other idea is beyond me."

Mr. Hoover was asked, "Then you do not believe in private development of hydro-electric power on the Colorado, either at Boulder Canyon or elsewhere?"

And he replied, "Emphatically no!"

"It is true," he added, "that I have suggested that perhaps it would be advisable for the government, when the Boulder Canyon is finished, to sell or lease the power to some private corporation for distribution, but that is purely detail and has nothing to do with ownership or development of power."

"Between Glenn Canyon in Colorado and Boulder Canyon in Nevada, there will be developed one day from three to four million hydroelectric horsepower. All of that will belong to the people, developed by them, owned by them, and for their benefit."

"I wish I could convince you that my own object in the work I have done and am doing is to secure an advance to the whole problem of conservation and reestablishing of the type of Americans that grow out of the country. Anything less."

"I have tried to stress one or two points in this country. First, conservation must have first place over power because agriculture must always be the chief industry of that vast region; secondly, because power requires continuous flow of water, and it might be that such flow in certain seasons would be wasteful to agriculture."

"The time will come when all the water of the Colorado will be needed for irrigation. Application of priority rights of power might hold up the flow in certain seasons."

That's just a sort of background. Getting it to my mind from the New York Times, November 15, 1926, in the magazine article upon this article by the Honorable Morris L. Cooke, headed "An Engineer Reminiscent of a New America."

May I read excerpts from this?

Mr. Cooke, in discussing soil conservation, water conservation, flood control, irrigation, power and related subjects, says:

"Take the matter of soil conservation. He believes that if we could build States counties and townships institute programs, in 100 years we are better than what we can pay as we go, it will be too late. He considers the matter on a broad aspect, a simple one, though highly complicated and tedious in detail."

"There isn't so much to it as he said. All water that he has back to the sea. What you have to do is to make that movement as soon as possible. To that end we build dams, dig ponds, plant trees and tough grasses and the a hundred other things which will make the water stay put until it can be of some use."

"There are many ways of conserving this treasure. In that case, we make sure that they were controlling one with another. That's not enough of an effective attack on an area as vast and varied as the great plains. When land has been plowed which never before has been put under the plow, I'd want for a restoration of the grass cover nature originally selected for such land. Of course, that means livestock instead of grain."

"To Mr. Cooke's way of thinking, too many American engineers are specialists. There has been a school of engineers, he pointed out by way of illustration, who believed that a power dam could do nothing except generate power. Just a flood-control dam could have no other purposes than the regulation of floods, and that an irrigation dam was in still another closed compartment."

"Properly thought out and executed, a dam can be put to several uses. The water held back in time of flood is available for irrigation. In many instances the water is let out for irrigation purposes, it will generate power. The power can't don't irrigate the year round, but neither do you let the water back all the winter, leaving a dry stream bed below the dam."

"Then Mr. Cooke remarked upon the planning which he believed to be essential. 'Not many years ago,' he said, 'several power dams were built on the same river, each located without regard to the other. Now, using the river to the best advantage, they frequently had to be torn out to make way for dams placed more effectively. Today dams are being located throughout the entire Tennessee Valley watershed so as to make the best possible use of the waters, with one pool combining all power sources, steam and hydro, as the optimum objective. Presently we shall get the concept of the complementary character of all watersheds and all power dams and all stream power stations, and finally arrive at a power pool on a nation-wide basis—a pool of pools, so to speak.'

"This concept of multiple-use construction can be applied to other fields of engineering. When we get our technical leaders, as well as our politicians, to think in terms of the whole rather than of fractions, we shall have arrived somewhere."

And, in listening here yesterday and today, to all of the discussions of this general subject, it seems to me perhaps the Commission was being approached a little too much from the standpoint of power or irrigation, or one or the other of those other interest. That brings to mind an address by Mr. Owen D. Young, I think before the National Electric Light Association, at Atlantic City in 1926. Mr. Young's words were almost prophetic. He said, 'I am sorry I have not two entire evenings. I wanted here—so I will make this statement that he said, in effect, that where rivers require conservation or development, for objectives such as flood control, navigation, irrigation, and hydroelectric power objectives, where the question is too vast for private undertaking, there arises a new kind of question, wholly unrelated to the old controversy of government versus private ownership, that where dams are built, through which we have flood control, irrigation and navigation benefits, that in those events public ownership of any substantial power created at such dams cannot be objected to." That is not exactly but in effect what Mr. Young attempted to point out to the National Electric Light Association, which was attended by more than 6,000 delegates, representing every power company of any importance in the United States.

That seems to be the essence of the attitude of our President in promoting the Tennessee Valley Authority. Certain interests are attempting to give the Nation the notion that the Tennessee Valley Authority is just a government power project, but investigation would disclose that it is far deeper than that, far more broad in its scope than that.

A very excellent article on that appeared in the New Republic, November 18th, 1936, entitled, "T.V.A. Faces the Future, by Honorable Maury Maverick, Member of Congress. I would like to leave that for the record, if I might.

Senator Norris of Nebraska made the most explicit address on this question of water and power that I ever happened to read made by any man in public office. This was made at Minden, Nebraska, January 4, 1930.

This is a verbatim copy of the Senator's remarks, and I would just like to read two or three paragraphs, which give a resume of what is embodied in the address:

"That interference by the power trust will present the greatest obstacle to be overcome in bringing about government aid of irrigation for Nebraska," was the gist of the address by Senator George W. Norris here on Friday night, in outlining his stand on the flood control, irrigation question, before an open meeting attended by some 800 persons.

"The Senator outlined a four-fold program of irrigation, flood control, navigation and electric power development that is advocated as the most efficient and economic way to supply the regions of Nebraska with additional moisture.

"Experience has proved that the burden of irrigation expense is too great to be borne alone by the farmer, therefore, it is recommended that flood control and navigation, both essential to the welfare of the country as a whole, be made to bear a share of the expense," he said. "Impounded water can be made to develop electricity, which can and should be sold to further lessen the cost of irrigation to the farmer," he pointed out.

"This four-fold program dove-tails together perfectly," he declared.

"Whatever power is developed the power interests are going to ask to be allowed to distribute the product and this will result in the most serious question in the proposed rate.

"As far as I am concerned, with my vote and all the power at my command, I will go down dead before I will submit to being held up on any government proposition."

"Skipping over the body of his address, he says:

"This is my doctrine: I have no objection, no fault to find with any power man if he wants to go up here and put in a dam, sell the water to the farmer and then sell the electricity to the rest of us. That's his right, and that's his privilege, but when we build it, when we take out of the general treasury money to put in the machine, and generate electricity, I want to tell you that, as far as I am concerned, I will never consent that the government turn over the product that already belongs to the people to some private corporation to sell back to us.

"I have been asked where I stand on this question, and I don't want to deceive anybody. I don't want any man's confidence under any false pretenses, and I want you to know that with all my influence, with every bit of power that I possess, so far as I am concerned, I will go down dead before I will submit to being held up by anyone on any government proposition.

"Have we reached the point that anybody or any corporation is big enough to say to the United States, 'You cannot build that dam, you cannot control flood water, you cannot have irrigation, unless you let me have the by-product, electricity?'"

"It might be disastrous if we could not make these improvements, but I would rather suffer death than let any man hold me up, if there was any way to get out of it, and it seems to me that the only thing that is right, when we take the people's money to make this development, is to return to the people the by-product of their improvement.

"Opposition will come in a way that we won't surmise. It won't come directly from the power people. You know what happened in the Legislature last year when cities owning a municipal plant like yours asked to extend the product into rural communities. You know that was the thing that was pledged by the majority of the members of the Legislature and denied when they came to redeem their pledges.

"A great institution of this kind never raises its head in public if it can be avoided, and you know that some of the most disgraceful things that ever occurred in the history of our country have been in the past six years, through the secret methods used to influence the government. They went into the schools by the back door, into the colleges, into the churches, into politics, always in disguise.

"In bringing about what I believe to be the proper development of our streams and control of water, it will be the by-product that will bring about the greatest conflict."

That was said nearly seven years ago.

In a current issue of "Country Gentleman," 1936, there appears an article with out precedent in any Curtis Publishing Company publication. It gave me quite a start when I read this article in a magazine published by the Curtis Publishing Company, which also publishes "The Saturday Evening Post." The "Saturday Evening Post" has been traditionally nonpartisan and has not been guilty of even attempting to place articles in the same category as "Country Gentleman."

The name of the article is "Imperial Eagle Out." It is very short.

I will read it:

"The total cost of this work is being advanced by the Federal Treasury without interest, which makes possible Imperial's present financial stand in that State, hereafter."

"At the present completion the Federal obligation of $750,000,000 is due in the following manner: 4 per cent annually for the first 4 per cent annually for 10 years, 4 per cent annually for 20 years, and so on."

"Provided Imperial successfully obtains arrangements with various business men seeking its electrical power distribution, the monetary value of that security can be added to the above item of savings. It seems that this condition does nothing of liquidating the entire cost of Imperial's huge undertaking."

Many greedy eyes are resting upon this point alone at the moment?

Never has such an article before appeared in any Curtis Publishing Company publication to my knowledge.

I shouldn't attempt to read those who further there can be meeting the purpose of this pamphlet, as explained in the opening.

"How Reconstruction in Basin Water and Why." It was published by the Democratic National Committee, Washington, D. C.

This pamphlet sets forth official facts which prove that the only program of Secretary Garfield and other noted conservationists have not been sound. Secretary Hubert Work is willing to accept the immediate policy of agricultural production at the behest of the electric trust.

This exhibiting paper is rather voluminous. There is a "Country Gentleman" special edition. The interesting part is this: The Government of Great Britain—we have heard about the Ontario plan, but here is something Imperial which has a completely government-owned Central Valley Project, 10,000 miles of transmission line, and electricity for all purposes. It is strange that in England there has been no opposition to such work as has existed in this country. In England today there are approximately 400 water distribution systems of millions of which some 400 approximately are publicly owned and operated, and approximately 200 under private ownership. The system of securing the necessary power owned properties goes on steadily, without opposition or interference on advantage on the part of the private interests. The public has no interest in the land grown gentlemen and they don't seem to have any difficulty in meeting government.

In closing, this is a statement by myself and I am reading from my address before the Commonwealth Club. In short, nothing is to be gained as a result to agriculture and the general welfare as flood control and irrigation are made.

My belief is that this task should be approached in cooperation with the Federal government along substantially the same lines and methods as the Central Valley Authority and as contemplated in the Mississippi River Authority bill now pending before the Congress.

It seems that in other parts of the nation the Federal government is taking a very keen interest in watershed protection and that the Federal government has exhibited an interest in California by enactment of the Hamilton-Dunn-Savage Johnson Bill. That same Federal cooperation could be possible in cooperation with the Central Valley Project and that the results of how much the Federal government should contribute for subsidizing the work or how much the State should contribute for subsidizing the work, these are details for technical experts of which I don't propose or pretend to be qualified as such.

But, in its broad aspects, in particular every nation on earth irrigation scheme the same government by King that flood control and irrigation do in the United States—I mean irrigation is considered as much a benefit as the common good as flood control is in this country, and irrigation is a public utility, and nations which have lived a great many years have been working with it. And our experience in living irrigation schemes conclusively we have only to look at Modesto and Turlock Irrigation Districts and some other irrigation districts—they cannot operate as private utility interests. They understand it and get into the kumbe because they didn't get the help that Modesto and Turlock got from the power by-product. In other words, you might compare it to the running of a dairy. You might undertake to run it, but it takes feed for the cows and milking the cows, and I come along and say, "I am the necessary trust. I don't mind you have a dairy, but you have got to let me handle the money. You go ahead and feed the cows and milk them and you can have the skimmed milk and I will take the cream for five cents a quart and you can buy it back for half a dollar." As a dairy owner you might question the soundness of such a proposal.

ing, and the same way when the Kennett Dam is built; it won't be built only for power or for irrigation.

There are broad questions of policy involved which have not been thrashed out which are being given careful consideration. For example, the American Society of Civil Engineers in 1934 came out with a national proclamation of policy, the result of years of study by the nation's leading engineers, and I urge that this Committee get a copy of their recommendation, which any member of the American Society of Civil Engineers will be glad to supply to you. That resolution goes into considerable detail in these matters, and I would say offhand my views coincide with the recommendations made by the American Society of Civil Engineers.

EXHIBIT Y.

STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF PACIFIC GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY AND ITS SUBSIDIARIES

Before the SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC UTILITIES of the SENATE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

San Francisco, California

December 5, 1936

In response to the request of your Honorable Committee to be supplied with certain information in connection with your investigation of "the feasibility and practicability of centralizing in the State of California the ownership, conduct and control of public utilities concerned with the development and exploitation of power and water," pursuant to the resolution of the Senate adopted June 14, 1935, we submit to you the following statement on behalf of Pacific Gas and Electric Company, and its subsidiaries, San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation and Midland Counties Public Service Corporation (sometimes hereinafter referred to collectively as the "Pacific System").

History.

Pacific Gas and Electric Company was organized in October, 1905, and, between the date of its incorporation and January 1, 1912, acquired the properties formerly owned by San Francisco Gas and Electric Company and California Gas and Electric Corporation. Subsequently, it acquired the properties and the stock of a number of other gas and electric utility companies and all of the physical properties so acquired have been consolidated into a single interconnected system. Since March 23, 1912, when the Public Utilities Act of California went into effect, all properties and all stock of other public utility companies acquired by it have been so acquired under the authority of orders made by the Railroad Commission of California.

Pacific Gas and Electric Company has followed the policy of maintaining the simplest practicable corporate structure. During the present year nine of its subsidiary companies, including Great Western Power Company of California, Sierra and San Francisco Power Company, and Mt. Shasta Power Corporation transferred all of their properties to Pacific Gas and Electric Company, which assumed all of their debts and obligations, pursuant to authorization of the Railroad Commission, and the subsidiaries were dissolved. Five other subsidiaries owning no physical properties were also dissolved during the year.

Pacific Gas and Electric Company has now only two subsidiary companies engaged in the gas or electric utility business, which are San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation and Midland Counties Public Service Corporation. The properties of Pacific Gas and Electric Company and its two subsidiaries comprise a unified interconnected system.

The Pacific System serves electricity to the greater part of Northern and Central California. The transmission and distribution lines of the System extend into 46 of the 58 counties of California. The population of the area is approximately 2,900,000. As a whole, the region is predominantly agricultural, dotted with towns and cities, of which only seven have a population in excess of 50,000.

Pacific Gas and Electric Company and San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation own and operate 47 hydroelectric generating plants having a total installed rated capacity of 1,141,815 horsepower. These plants vary greatly in size, the largest, Pit No. 3 plant on Pit River, having an installed rated capacity of 108,580 horsepower. In addition, Pacific Gas and Electric Company operates under lease two hydroelectric plants, having an installed rated capacity of 32,512 horsepower.

The hydroelectric generating system also includes dams and reservoirs having a storage capacity of about 1,238,000 acre feet and many miles of canals, tunnels, and ditches. These works are located mainly in the Sierra Nevada Mountains, extending from the Pit River in the north to the Kern River in the south. This storage and canal system is of great importance in the preservation of water and for the conservation of the water supplies of this State. The waters impounded after their use for the generation of electricity, are returned into the rivers and streams and thereafter diverted into irrigation canals and domestic water systems.

In addition to the many hydroelectric plants, the Pacific System includes steam electric generating plants having an installed rated capacity of 465,110 horsepower. These steam plants are well distributed over the system, with plants to land centers, four being located in San Francisco, two in Oakland, one each in Sacramento, Berkeley, Milpitas and Fresno. The steam plants are used to supplement the hydroelectric plants. Some are operated in parallel in combination with the hydroelectric power supply, others are used as standby plants to make up deficiencies in the output of the hydroelectric plants during the wet season of each year and during abnormally dry years.

All of the steam and hydro plants are interconnected by an extensive net work of about 6,127 miles of high voltage transmission lines. In addition to this system-wide interconnection, providing a measure of diversity in operation, two lines are connected with those of the California-Oregon Power Company on the north, and the Southern California Edison Company Ltd. on the south, which afford additional guarantees of an unfailing service for the consumers in the Pacific System.

The transmission and distribution lines of the Pacific System supply electricity to 680 cities and towns, of which 636 are served directly and 44 indirectly, and to a very extensive rural area. This network included about 29,892 miles of distribution lines.

(b) Gas Properties.

The electric properties of the Pacific System are supplemented by, and supplied in conjunction with, an extensive gas transmission and distribution system in Northern and Central California. Gas is supplied to 90 communities, cities and towns, including the principal cities in the territory, and to metropolitan communities. There are about 6,867 miles of distribution pipe lines and 548,975 consumers, as of December 31, 1935. With few exceptions, the Pacific System supplies gas and electric service in the same cities and towns with quantities carried on through the same bond offices with two exceptions.

Over 97 per cent of the gas consumers are now served with natural gas, obtained principally from the Kettleman Hills oil and gas field by means of two large pipe lines. The remaining 3 per cent of the consumers, who are located in outlying communities, are served with manufactured gas. The natural gas supplied has a very high heat content, averaging about 1180 b. t. u. and having about twice the heating capacity of most manufactured gas.

The introduction of natural gas, which was completed in 1930, was a tremendous undertaking. In addition to the construction of two large transmission pipe lines, there were large additional expenses, such as the construction of compressor stations, distribution systems for smaller communities, adjustment of the transmission lines, extension of existing distribution systems, adjustment of the appliances of 478,000 consumers to efficiently and safely burn natural gas of 1180 b. t. u. in place of manufactured gas of 550 b. t. u., exchanging portions of the gas mains on account of increased leakage due to dryness of natural gas and sales promotion to increase the volume of sales in order to make up for the revenue to be lost by introduction of natural gas having over twice the heating content of the old manufactured gas. Also eight gas manufacturing plants previously in use had to be equipped to produce gas of a heat content approximately equal to the natural gas, for use as stand-by against interruption of natural gas service. The amount of money expended by the Company in introducing natural gas was approximately $25,000,000.

However, the Company's enterprise and large expenditures have been more than justified by the benefits to its consumers. At the time natural gas was introduced the domestic consumers' bills were reduced on the average about 40 per cent. The low cost of the natural gas made its use economic for other purposes, such as building heating, commercial and manufacturing purposes. Industry has been greatly stimulated and new manufacturing concerns have been brought into this territory as a result of the introduction of low cost natural gas.

Natural gas is also used in the Company's steam electric generating stations for fuel. Its use has considerably reduced costs and has materially contributed to the reductions made in electric rates during the last seven years.

On May 1 of this year the Company reduced natural gas rates in the gross amount of $2,500,000 annually.

Financial Structure.

The outstanding securities of Pacific Gas and Electric Company and its subsidiaries consist of bonds, preferred stock and common stock. As of September 30, 1936, the amount of such securities outstanding in the hands of the public was as follows:

Bonds	$288,979,600
Preferred stocks—6 per cent and 5½ per cent
5,234,625 shares—$25 par value	130,865,925
Preferred stocks of subsidiaries outstanding	3,598,300
Common stocks—
6,261,347 shares—$25 par value	156,533,925
Total in hands of public	$579,887,450

Ownership of Securities.

Pacific Gas and Electric Company's bonds and stocks are widely distributed among a large number of investors in all walks of life. At the close of 1935 its outstanding preferred and common shares were held by approximately 92,670 investors, of whom 70,765, or 76.3 per cent, were residents of California. In addition, there were about 4,000 stockholders of subsidiary companies.

An overwhelming proportion of the Company's stockholders are people in moderate circumstances. This is partially evidenced by the fact that stock holdings average only about $3,000 each, notwithstanding that holdings by other corporations, insurance companies, educational, charitable and religious institutions, and fraternal organizations naturally average in excess of the above figure and serve to raise the general average.

The degree to which the savings of persons of moderate means are invested in the Company's stock is illustrated by the following table:

Summary Showing Distribution of StockDecember 31, 1935

Stockholders owning	Number	Percentage of Total Holders
1 to 5 shares	10,021	10.8
6 to 10 shares	11,653	12.6
11 to 100 shares	55,204	59.6
101 to 1000 shares	15,052	16.2
Over 1000 shares	740	.8
	92,670	100.0

As of December 31, 1935, 41,546 of the Company's stockholders, excluding those participating as joint tenants, were women.

The wide-spread distribution of the ownership of the Company's stock is in large measure attributable to the Company's policy, initiated upwards of twenty years ago, of offering its stock for sale direct to residents of the territory served. The Company was, it is believed, the first public utility in the United States to adopt the plan of offering stock direct to its customers and other residents of the territory served.

The "customer ownership" plan has afforded a very large number of local investors, consisting of persons who by their industry and thrift save some portion of their earnings, an opportunity to invest their savings in a high grade security yielding a fair return. At the same time, the customers have received benefits, in the way of lower gas and electric rates, contributed to by the low selling costs incurred by the Company in connection with the direct sale of stock to its customers.

The Company's bonds also are widely distributed among investors. While no complete record of the ownership of outstanding bonds is available, the most complete available statistics compiled from ownership certificates filed in connection with the cashing of bond coupons show that approximately $136,000,000 face value of bonds are distributed among upwards of 47,000 individual investors, with average holdings approximating $3,500. In addition, a large amount of the Company's bonds are held by insurance companies, banks, trust companies and other institutional investors, in which millions of insurance policy holders, savings bank depositors and others have an interest. For example, one large insurance company owns over $11,000,000 of the Company's bonds.

We may reasonably expect that the movement toward customer ownership of public utilities, which has already become so extensive, will continue. This movement has already brought about, and will in the future bring about to an even greater degree, that diffusion of interest which government ownership is intended to supply and at the same time leaves undisturbed the initiative, aggressiveness and inspiration of private effort, which have been the basis of American progress.

Taxes

Pacific Gas and Electric Company is the largest taxpayer in the State. The amount of taxes payable by Pacific Gas and Electric Company and its subsidiaries toward the maintenance of government in California, 1931 to 1935 for the last five years:

Year	Amount
1931	$6,000,000.00
1932	6,000,000.00
1933	7,500,000.00
1934	7,000,000.00
1935	8,000,000.00

The above figures do not include the taxes paid to the Federal Government.

The property tax payable to Fresno and Kern Counties by the City and County of San Francisco for the year 1935 amounts to $1,500,000.00. The total property tax payable for the year amounts to $1,510,470.00 to Alameda County, $420,000.00 to Sacramento County and $410,470.00 to Butte County.

If the Corporation's property were taken over by the State or any other governmental agency, and the property remained there, the tax would then be paid by other governmental agencies and the burden of property taxes would be thereby, in no degree, upon the taxpayers.

Payrolls

The Pacific System now employs over 11,000 persons scattered over the entire territory served, who are somewhat and dependent on the 50 counties in which the Pacific System renders service or owns property. The total payroll for the last three years were as follows:

Year	Amount
1933	$16,000,000.00
1934	16,700,000.00
1935	17,000,000.00

The payroll for 1935 was about $2,500 for the San Francisco District, exclusive of the general office employees; about $1,000,000 for the East Bay District, and about $1,500,000 for the Sacramento District.

Record of Rate Reductions

Pacific Gas and Electric Company has just announced its intention of voluntarily reducing electric rates beginning February 1, 1937, to effect an annual saving of approximately $7,000,000 for its customers. This reduction follows a $2,000,000 electric rate reduction effected in January 1st of this year and the $2,500,000 gas rate reduction effected in May 1st of this year.

These reductions are in accord with the policy of Pacific Gas and Electric Company to make reductions in rates as rapidly as it is possible with the maintenance of its high standard of service and the sound financial condition. Every improvement in operating conditions, every additional business from increased economy, every benefit gained from the reduction and transmission of power, and every benefit gained from the growing economy of business and home conditions are utilized in rate reductions in gas and electric rates. This is a policy which is established by the kind of rate reduction, which is temporary, except for the long period when economy was made necessary by the year 1930 to 1931 and 1932.

The major electric rate reductions since 1910 were as follows:

Year	Amount of Annual Reduction
1921	$1,000,000.00
1923	2,000,000.00
1928	2,400,000.00
1930	3,000,000.00
1932	3,000,000.00
1936	2,000,000.00
1937 (to be effective on February 1st)	2,000,000.00

In addition, a 50% discount on certain classes of power used during certain months in excess of previous use saved consumers $215,000 in 1934 and $1,715,000 in 1935.

Rural Electrification.

One of the outstanding accomplishments of the electric utilities of California has been their extension of electric service to the great majority of the farms throughout the State. This has in no small measure contributed to the wealth and progress of the entire State.

Rural electrification in California is very much more extensive than in any other State of the Union. The last United States census shows that in 1930 78.2 per cent of the farms in this State were supplied with electricity compared to an average of 9.1 per cent, for the entire Nation.

More recent figures are contained in the Farm Housing Survey (a Federal Civil Works Administration Project) completed by the United States Department of Agriculture and the State Agricultural Extension Service. The report covers six counties of the State, all of which are served by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company. The survey, which was made in 1934, covered 14,185 farm homes in these six counties, and of that number, 12,326, or 86.9 per cent, were found to be receiving electric service.

It is worthy of note that rural electrification on the Pacific System is so extensive that the Federal Government, through its recently created Rural Electrification Administration, has found it unnecessary to make any advances in Northern and Central California in aid of rural electrification. On the other hand, expenditures aggregating over $24,000,000 to October 30, 1936, have already been made in other States.

The construction of lines in rural areas requires a much higher investment per dollar of revenue and per customer served than in the cities.

In California, the private utilities, without any financial aid from the government, have furnished electric service to the farms throughout this State to an extent unequalled in any other place in the world.

Rural Electric Rates.

The extraordinary extensive use of electricity on the farms in the Pacific System is due, in a large measure, to the low rates established and the liberal line extension regulations.

Under State regulation an equality of rates has been established throughout the vast rural distribution system. With the exception of two comparatively small parts of the territory, the same agricultural power rates and the same domestic lighting, cooking and water heating rates prevail throughout the entire rural territory served by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company regardless of density of customers.

The California Farm Bureau is responsible for the statement that: "Nowhere in the world are to be found the possibilities of cheap (electric) service that we have in California."

Perhaps the best evidence of this is to be found in the reports of the United States Bureau of Census for electric light and power stations, which is compiled every five years. The latest of these reports, which is for the year 1932, shows that the average rate per kilowatt hour for electric energy sold for farm service (all uses) for the entire United States was 2.8 cents, and for California 1.5 cents. California alone accounted for 63% of the total energy supplied for farm service in the entire country, so, if California is eliminated, we find that the average rate for the entire remainder of the country is 5.2 cents, as against 1.5 cents for California.*

Cheap electricity has made possible the transformation of the great central valleys of the State into one of the richest and most productive agricultural areas in the world, thus adding immeasurably to the wealth and prosperity of our cities.

The present low electric rates for farm service have been made possible because of the unification of the electric service throughout large areas of the State, including both cities and farming districts, as well as the development of a large load for irrigation pumping in the rural areas.

Speaking generally, the policy under state regulation, established over twenty years ago, has been to fix substantially equal rates throughout an entire region, embracing both cities and rural areas. However, the unit cost of providing electric service in rural areas is much greater than in the cities, because the sparsely populated districts require greater capital investments per consumer than the densely settled areas.

In a condemnation proceeding before the Railroad Commission brought by the City of Tulare to acquire the electric distribution system in the City, Commissioner Whitsell, in his opinion, made the following observations with regard to the effect that the condemnation of the urban electric distribution systems by municipalities would have upon rural electric rates:

"If municipalities in California continue to condemn and take over the electric distribution facilities within their corporate limits and thereby throw the greater burden of system maintenance and costs upon the backs of our rural population, the time is not far distant when the burdens will become too great and agriculture will be compelled to forego the use of electric energy, or the utilities will be compelled to furnish electric energy at a figure which would not return sufficient compensation to warrant maintenance of systems. Such takings of utility facilities with their resultant disintegration of utility systems will likewise be injurious to the urban as well as the rural communities."**

*See United States Bureau of Census for electric light and power stations, 1932, Table 24. The figures for California did not include domestic service (as distinguished from agricultural service). If domestic service were included, the true average for the combined service on the Pacific System would be about 2 cents.

Urban Electric Rates

The recent studies*** made by the Federal Power Commission reveal that the electric rates for domestic service now charged on the Pacific System in urban and towns are much below the average for the United States and among the lowest in the nation. The report shows that for rates of 25, 100 and 250 kilowatt hours per month, the average rates in the United States in 1935 were as follows:

	Amount of Average Bill
	for 25 kwh.	for 100 kwh.	for 250 kwh.
Average for entire United States.....	$1.79	$4.78	$8.38

The corresponding rates on the Pacific System in effect in 1935 were as follows:

	Amount of Average Bill
	for 25 kwh.	for 100 kwh.	for 250 kwh.
Pacific Gas and Electric Company— Metropolitan areas.....	$1.40	$3.50	$7.15
Pacific Gas and Electric Company— Other incorporated areas.....	1.50	3.60	7.35

Numerous comparisons have been made by Government agencies between the electric rates charged on the Pacific System and rates charged for electrical service in selected communities elsewhere as an effort to show that local rates are unduly high. Such comparisons are usually limited to a single index of the service we supply and to certain carefully selected communities, and thus do not reflect all or even an average of the conditions that should be considered in a true comparison.

For example, taxes, which amount to 14 per cent net of each dollar of revenue received by Pacific Gas and Electric Company for domestic and commercial service, are not paid by municipalities or Governmentally owned systems. Otherwise, a fair comparison requires that adjustment be made for this fact. Taxes are a part of the cost of service, so those who can avoid this element of cost have an advantage over those who can not.

Also, municipal systems, including those in California, are located only in the densely settled areas and serve only the most profitable customers, leaving the private companies the burden of serving the sparsely settled, outlying districts and farming areas where the cost of service is high.

Another vitally important fact which should not be lost sight of in making comparisons of electric rates in California with those obtained elsewhere is the existence of a very low cost and highly efficient natural gas source in the majority of the municipalities in this State. For example, in order to compare with natural gas the domestic heating, electricity would have to be sold in the cities in the San Francisco Bay area, or the other large cities on the Pacific System, such as Sacramento, Fresno and Stockton, for less than one-half cent per kilowatt hour. This is well below the rate charged for electricity for domestic heating anywhere on this Continent with which we are familiar, and far below the cost of production and distribution in California. Consequently, in the cities and communities in California where natural gas is available, natural gas is generally used for domestic cooking and heating.

On the other hand, certain selected cities elsewhere are located near sources of exceptionally low cost hydroelectric power supplies, and do not have available low cost natural gas. Consequently, in those cities electricity is extremely used for domestic cooking and heating, as well as lighting. This greatly increases the use of electricity per consumer and makes possible lower electric rates than would be possible if other fuels, such as natural gas, were used for domestic heating, as in most of the cities in California. It is well known to all that lower electric rates are made possible by increased use per consumer.

The fact is, that the domestic consumer in the cities on the Pacific System, for example, San Francisco, where both natural gas and electricity are available, receives his domestic lighting, cooking and heating service cheaper than the consumer in any city located on this continent outside of California using an electric service exclusively for those purposes.

Cooperation with Cities and Districts in the Development of Water Supplies.

We have already mentioned the great part that the Pacific Gas and Electric Company plays in the conservation of the water supplies of the State. Flood waters, which would otherwise go to waste, are stored in its great system of lakes and reservoirs; and, in the dry season of the year, such waters, after being used for the generation of electricity, are returned to the streams and made available for use by municipalities, irrigation districts, farmers and others.

***Federal Power Commission, Electric Rate Survey, Rate Series No. 3.

Pacific Gas and Electric Company has also, by cooperation with various cities and irrigation districts, rendered great aid to them in developing municipal and irrigation water supplies. A good example of this cooperation and aid is that rendered to the City and County of San Francisco. By a contract, entered into on July 1, 1925, the output of the city's Hetch Hetchy Project is consigned to the Company at the latter's Newark Substation. The Company transmits the consigned power to the City of San Francisco and acts as agent for the city in distributing such power to the consumers in the city.

This arrangement provided an immediate market for the output of the city's plant and an income that takes care of a substantial portion of the cost of the entire Hetch-Hetchy project. Also, the Company assumes full responsibility for providing a stand-by source of power during periods of water deficiency at the Hetch-Hetchy plant and in case of break-downs and other interruptions of the plant. The city now receives over $2,000,000 per year under the contract and, from August 14, 1925, to and including December 31, 1935, the City of San Francisco received a total of $21,541,145.

The Pacific Gas and Electric Company or its subsidiaries have also entered into contracts with the East Bay Municipal Utility District, Merced Irrigation District, Modesto Irrigation District, South San Joaquin Irrigation District, Turlock Irrigation District, Oakdale Irrigation District, Nevada Irrigation District and Thermaito Irrigation District to utilize the power or water developed in connection with their projects.

The Pacific System, because of its diversity of service and reserve steam electric generating plants, is able to utilize the full output of power developed in connection with irrigation and municipal water supply projects, which would not be possible if they were operated separately by the municipalities and districts. Steam stand-by generating plants must be available to provide service to electric customers during dry seasons when water is not available for the hydro-electric plants and in case of break-downs.

Conclusion.

For over twenty-four years the State has regulated practically every activity of the privately owned electric and gas utilities. It has prescribed their accounting systems and seen to it that their books were correctly kept; it has analyzed their property accounts to the fullest extent possible; it has supervised the issuance of their securities; it has established standards of construction and quality of service; and it has fixed the rates that these companies have charged. Over 85 per cent of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company's total investments in electric and gas properties have been made under authorization and approval of the Railroad Commission.

Under this regulation the Pacific System has been built up into a widespread interconnected electric and gas system, extending the benefits of these great modern conveniences throughout the territory which it serves, which service we believe is unequalled anywhere in the country, at rates which are among the lowest in the United States and are being revised downward as rapidly as technical advances, added economies and growth of business permit.

EXHIBIT Z.

THE ESTABLISHMENT AND ACTIVITIES of the SACRAMENTO MUNICIPAL UTILITY DISTRICT.

History.

The Sacramento Municipal Utility District was established at an election held on July 2, 1923 and began to function actively in August of 1924.

The Sacramento District as first organized in 1923 consisted of the City of Sacramento, the City of North Sacramento, the adjacent rural territory embracing some 48,000 acres of which the urban area comprised approximately 10,000 acres. On June 24, 1924 the district annexed practically all of the County of Sacramento and a portion of the southern part of Placer County. The total area of the district now embraces some 625 square miles.

The district was organized and is now functioning under the provision of the Municipal Utility District of the State of California.

Any district organized under the Municipal Utility District becomes autonomous.

It is granted the following powers:

First—To have perpetual succession.

Second—To sue and be sued, except as otherwise provided herein or by law, in all actions and proceedings, in all courts and tribunals of competent jurisdiction.

Third—To adopt a seal and alter it at pleasure.

Fourth. To take by grant, purchase, gift, lease, or license, or otherwise acquire, and to hold and convey real and personal property of some kind within or without the district necessary to the full or convenient exercise of its powers. The district of the district may lease, mortgage, sell or otherwise dispose of any real or personal property within or without the district when a lease, mortgage, or sale for the best interests of the district so to do. The purchase of state bonds shall apply to all sales or mortgages herebefore or hereafter made.

Fifth. To acquire, construct, own, operate, control or own, operate or without, or partly within and partly without, the district, works or parts of works for supplying the inhabitants of said district with water and municipal utilities, such as light, water, power, heat, transportation, telephone service, or other means of communication, or means for the treatment of garbage, sewage, or refuse matters and to do all things necessary or convenient to the full exercise of the power herein granted, also to purchase any of the communication or means aforementioned from any other utility district, municipality, person, or private company, and distribute the same. Whenever there is a surplus of water, light, heat or power above that which may be required by such transmission or communication within the district, such district shall have power to sell or otherwise dispose of such surplus outside of the district to persons, firms and public or private corporations, or municipalities within or without.

Whenever any of the business, service or utilities of the district, or part thereof, is not used or employed to the fullest capacity for the benefit or convenience of the district or its inhabitants, such district shall have power to enter into an agreement or agreement with another, firm, corporation, individual, person, public or private corporation, or any public corporation or persons, upon such terms and conditions as may be satisfactory to the board of directors, for another, leasing, or otherwise using the available portion or parts of such business, service, or utilities and in connection with any such agreement, leasing or buying, the district may undertake or perform any service incidental thereto.

Sixth. To have or exercise the right of eminent domain in the district provided by law for the condemnation of private property for public use. In that case property necessary or convenient to the exercise of the power herein granted, whether such property be already located in the same use or otherwise. In the proceedings, same and with relation to the exercise of such right the district shall have all the rights, powers and privileges of a municipal corporation and all rights, powers and privileges deemed consistent.

Seventh. To construct works within or along any street or public highway, or over any of the lands which are now or may be the property of this state, and to have the same rights, and privileges respecting them as now have or may be granted to municipalities within the state, and to construct its works across any stream of water or watercourse. The district shall exercise any such power on highway to its former state as long as said law shall exist but the same is a power to unnecessarily multiply its facilities.

Eighth. To borrow money and issue indebtedness, and to grant bonds or other evidence of such indebtedness, also to refund or secure any indebtedness that may exist against or be assumed by the district, provided no indebtedness shall be incurred exceeding the ordinary annual income and surplus of the district without the approval of a two-thirds vote of the district sitting in the presence of some such indebtedness, provided, however, that a further vote of the district is not required for any indebtedness heretofore or hereafter incurred within the purposes and not exceeding the available amount of any appropriation authorized hereunder and as to such indebtedness the amount of any of such money borrowed by the treasury of the district, or the pay value of any of such bonds when not repaid shall be deemed a part of the ordinary annual income and surplus of such district; provided further, that any district operating a utility under rules and regulations requiring applicants for extensions to advance the expense of such extension and facilities for serving additional territory may enter agreements to refund to such applicants in a subsequent year the whole or any part of such expense so advanced and such refunds may be paid out of the revenues of such subsequent years.

Ninth. To levy and collect, or cause to be levied and collected, taxes for the purpose of carrying on the operations and paying the obligations of the district.

Tenth. To make contracts, to employ labor, and to do all acts necessary and convenient for the full exercise of the powers herein to this act granted.

Eleventh. To proceed in the name of the district in case of condemnation proceedings (as Amended by Stats. 1931 Ch. 75).

The district is administered by a Board of Directors consisting of five members, representing the five different wards of the district. They are elected at large by the voters of the district.

The Board of Directors acts as the legislative body governing the district and determines all questions of policy. It supervises and regulates every matter passed and operated by the district. This includes the fixing of rates, meters, charges and classifications, and the making and enforcing of rules, regulations, contracts, agreetices and schedules, for or in connection with any service, product or commodity owned or controlled by such district.

The Board of Directors appoint a Chief Executive, entitled the General Manager of the District.

The General Manager has full charge and control of the construction of the works of the District, their maintenance and operation, and the administration of the business affairs of the District.

The General Manager is obligated:

- (a) To see that all ordinances of the district are enforced.
- (b) To appoint or hire, except as otherwise provided, all heads of departments, subordinate officials and employees for the administration of the affairs of said district, and to remove the same;
- (c) To attend all meetings of the Board of Directors and submit a general report of the affairs of the district;
- (d) To keep the directors advised as to the needs of the District;
- (e) To prepare or cause to be prepared, all plans and specifications for the construction of the works of said District;
- (f) To devote his entire time to the business of the district;
- (g) To perform such other and additional duties as the Board of Directors may require.

This organization is in most essentials similar to that of cities under the City Manager form of Government.

The district was established primarily for developing the water resources of Silver Creek in El Dorado county for a Municipal water supply for the City of Sacramento and adjacent territory and for the utilization of this supply to generate electrical energy at several strategic locations along the water supply aqueduct en route to the district.

Inception of District.

The Silver Creek project had its inception with the City Commission of the City of Sacramento, in May, 1921. Nothing was done concerning it however until in July.

On July 1, 1921, the form of the Government of the City of Sacramento changed from the Commission form to the City Manager form.

The report and data on Silver Creek filed with the City Commission in May was by succession transferred to the office of the then City Manager, Mr. Clyde L. Seavey, now member of the Federal Power Commission.

From the information submitted in this report Mr. Seavey authorized the writer, then City Engineer of the City of Sacramento, to make a study of the material submitted and report his findings, to him.

Investigation by City of Sacramento.

In September 1921, a reconnaissance survey of the Silver Creek Drainage was initiated.

This cursory examination, together with a study of available maps of the territory and the government data on the water production of the drainage basin, convinced the City Administration that a power and water project could be developed on Silver Creek.

Accordingly, an amount of $15,000 was set up in the budget for 1922 to prosecute the work of an engineering investigation and to make a preliminary survey of the more important features of the project. An office force and survey party were organized in the spring of 1922, and active investigation work started on the project under the immediate supervision of the City Engineer.

Water Rights.

In order to safeguard the interests of the city, applications for the diversion of water from Silver Creek were filed with the Division of Water Rights of the State of California, and also with the Federal Power Commission, for the use of government land necessary for the construction of reservoirs and conduits.

The applications to the Federal Power Commission and to the Division of Water Rights were filed only after a careful analysis and compilation of all the data procured by the survey parties in the field and from State and Federal agencies. These data, together with the results of the engineering studies in the office of the City Engineer, formed the basis upon which the City Council adopted resolution No. 575 on March 15, 1923, for the formation of the Sacramento Municipal Utility District.

Subsequent to the filing of applications for water rights by the City of Sacramento with the Division of Water Rights of the Department of Public Works of the State of California and the Federal Power Commission, the Federal Power Commission and the State together appointed a Board of Consulting Engineers, known as the California Power Board, which consisted of:

- D. C. Henry, Consulting Engineer, of Portland, Oregon, representing the Department of the Interior.

U. S. Grant III, Major Corps of Engineers, representing the War Department;
E. W. Kramer, District Engineer of the Forestry Service, representing the Department of Agriculture;
Paul Bailey, representing the State of California.

Their report, "ON THE USES OF THE AMERICAN RIVER, CALIFORNIA," was dated April 26, 1924, in San Francisco and was made to Mr. D. C. Marshall, Executive Secretary of the Federal Power Commission, at Washington. The report is published, and presents the alternative plans made by the planning board on the water resources and potential power generating capacities of the American River. This report was made after a public hearing in Sacramento at which the City of Sacramento thru the writer presented detailed studies on the water resources of Silver Creek, upon which the city had previously had negotiations for the allocation of those waters for the use of the city.

Subsequent to the city's application and the filing of this report at the California Power Board, the city was granted permission to use the outlet of Silver Creek for a domestic water supply and for the generation of power.

Silver Creek has the capacity to generate in excess of 600,000,000 kilowatt hours per annum.

Formation of Sacramento Municipal Utility District

Following the early Silver Creek studies it became apparent that it would be necessary to finance the development of Silver Creek through some other agency than the City of Sacramento, because the funds required exceeded the funding capacity of the City.

After considerable study, it was determined that the Municipal Utility District Act, Chapter 218, Statutes of 1921, contained the conditions necessary to finance and provide the machinery to properly administer the development of Silver Creek.

Under this law the City of Sacramento and the seven adjacent cities, all cities comprising in all some 48,000 people, at an existing rate of $100,000,000 formed the Sacramento Municipal Utility District. Under subdivision 4, of Article 15 of the Act, the District can create a bonded indebtedness up to 20 per cent of its assessed valuation. Since the assessed valuation of the city of Sacramento is about $123,000,000, the District may issue securities for the installation of properties up to $24,600,000.

The Silver Creek Development

At first it was contemplated that the water supply be obtained from the Silver Creek basin, after passing thru the power houses, thence to be carried into the natural tributaries of the American River to come to Sacramento its flow during the summer period and improve the character of the water presented to the filtration plant for later distribution into the City's water mains.

It was estimated that the return from the sale of power from this plant would carry all fixed charges on the investment, including maintenance and operating expenses, and in addition leave a surplus that could be accumulated and eventually used for financing a mountain water supply system of works for the district.

The previous estimates and conclusions were based on the natural situation that had prevailed up to that time.

The year following the formation of the district however, conditions of an unusual character presented themselves. The total flow of all the water from the two great rivers of California emptying into San Francisco Bay was but twenty-seven per cent of normal. The yield of the Season 1923-24 was the lowest which had occurred, so far as records were obtainable, since the advent of the white man on the Pacific Slope.

This dry season caused a revision in plans, and it was decided to secure the water supply first, since it was evident from the conditions that provided in the Sacramento River at the filtration plant intake that the river could no longer be relied upon to present a satisfactory type of water, even though it was water filtered and sterilized by chemical treatment. It appeared that the logical thing to do was to make a complete and comprehensive study for developing a municipal water supply from Silver Creek using this water for the production of power incidentally during its transit from the reservoirs in the mountains to the district area.

These investigations on account of the size and cost of the project have required a very careful consideration of all the elements included in its possible development. Their sole purpose was to arrive at a sound determination of the quantity of water available from the Silver Creek Drainage Basin, the total amount of power that could be generated from this water in transit to the district, and the costs of accomplishing it.

Studies of the available water supply from the Silver Creek Drainage Basin were completed and submitted to Consulting Engineers Grunsky and Mulholland in March, 1925, and their review of this report was submitted to the Board of Directors of the District in August, 1925. Studies of the Big Bend hydro development of the Silver Creek project were completed by September, 1925, and were then submitted to the Board of Consulting Engineers.

In March, 1926, complete studies for developing a water supply for the District from the Silver Creek area together with a study of the incidental power development were submitted to the Board of Consulting Engineers, which consisted of:

- Daniel W. Mead, Professor of Hydraulic and Sanitary Engineering, University of Wisconsin; Consulting Engineer on Water Supply, Flood Control and Hydro-Electric Development, Madison, Wisconsin.
- C. E. Grunsky, Consulting Engineer on Water Supply and Hydraulic Developments, San Francisco, California.
- R. E. McDonnell, Consulting Water Supply, Sanitary and Municipal Engineer, Member of Firm of Burns, McDonnell and Smith, Kansas City, Missouri, and Los Angeles, Calif.
- William Mulholland, Consulting Hydraulic Engineer; Chief Engineer and General Manager of the Bureau of Water Works and Supply, Los Angeles, California.

These engineers visited the Silver Creek drainage area in September, 1925, and in general made a study of the physical features of the project.

In March, 1926, they again visited the Drainage Basin of Silver Creek and also investigated and inspected the location of the proposed water supply aqueduct from Silver Creek to the City of Sacramento.

After reviewing the project and considering the reports assembled for their study, they suggested that before a definite recommendation concerning this development could be submitted they would like to have the district determine whether or not the power companies now distributing power in this vicinity would cooperate with the district in developing the power resources of the project, or purchase the power that could be generated.

In April, 1926, the power companies operating within the district were requested to cooperate with the district, either by the purchase of power that might be generated by the district or by leasing the use of water supply developed, the companies to construct and operate the power plants.

In September, 1926, these operating companies indicated their unwillingness to cooperate with the district; consequently it became necessary for the district to proceed to develop a water supply without their aid or assistance.

This information was then submitted to the Board of Consulting Engineers. Their complete review of the many reports of the District together with their conclusions and recommendations was submitted to the Board of Directors of the District in January, 1927.

The studies of the Engineering Board showed that during the summer months the flow of the Sacramento River was dependable and insupportable and recommended that the district take steps immediately to develop Silver Creek as a source for an unpolluted water supply.

Upon submission of the report by the Board of Consulting Engineers the power company was again requested to cooperate with the district in developing a water supply and hydro electric project from the Silver Creek source. Again the power company refused to cooperate with the district.

In September, 1927, the first Silver Creek election was held and at that election sixty per cent of those voting voted in favor of the project. However, the proposal was defeated for the reason that the law requires that a two-thirds majority of those voting vote in favor of the issue. The district took no further action until late in 1928 when it began making arrangements for submitting another election to the people. The second election, in October, 1929, was again defeated. The majority in favor this time was about 62 per cent.

During the water year of 1930-31 the flow of water in the streams in the Sierras approximated that of the season of 1923-24, and again, the supply of water from the Sacramento River indicated its unsuitability for domestic use.

During the fall of 1931 the Board of Directors again held an election for the voting of bonds for bringing water from Silver Creek. This election was held in December, 1931, and again the bond issue was defeated. However, approximately 64 per cent of the voters voting at this election voted in favor of the issuance of the bonds.

Investigation by State.

For the past fifteen years the State of California has been making extensive investigations of its potential water supplies.

The result of these investigations and further study has been that the State Engineer has recommended that the State construct and operate a development consisting of several interrelated projects in the Sacramento and San Joaquin Valleys.

This development is known as the CENTRAL VALLEY PROJECT.

The reports of the State Engineer on this development show that large quantities of power can be developed at Kennett, in the Upper Sacramento Valley.

The State administrative authorities during the legislative session of 1924 had an act introduced in the legislature authorizing the Central Valley Authority to issue revenue bonds for the financing of their development. This measure was later passed Chapter 1945, which was approved by the Governor on August 26, 1925, and would have become effective on October 1, 1925, if it had not been held up by referendum. This referendum condition provided for its holding to be decided on December 19th, 1925, and at that session the measure passed the enactment of the legislature by a very large majority.

In the Sacramento district the act was approved by a majority of more than 8 to 1. Anticipating the benefit that might accrue to the Sacramento Valley, and particularly to the area within the Sacramento, Marysville and Yuba District, because of the development of a source of cheap power at Kennett the district authorized the area so that the rural areas tributary to the City of Sacramento might participate in this benefit.

It was then and is now apparent that the benefit of the Kennett project depends on the sale of the power produced at low development to cheap to local consumers, since the price that consumers and users of water can pay will be inadequate to support it.

Acquisition of Electrical Properties

The District Directors due to past experience and by consultation with the expressed desire of the recently created boards came to the conclusion that in order to secure cheap power from dry storage two methods of procedure were available to them:

First—Condemn the present distributing facilities of the Pacific Gas & Electric Company.

Second—Build a competing system of their own and generate their own power or purchase it from Kennett.

Further study and advice confirmed the directors that implementation may be a long drawn out procedure and would require a heavy expenditure of money from aggregating an amount in excess of $110,000.

If condemnation is required in the process of taking over the present property, in addition to the physical plant value, compensation consisting of going concern value and severance damages may be assessed. These amounts are indeterminable except after a long and critical hearing before the State Railroad Commission which is the authority established by law to determine such value.

As stated above, these values at present are unknown and their total will considerably to the present physical plant value. If there are excessive they would be of such magnitude that upon being added to the physical plant value they would make the acquisition of the system impracticable.

The cost of a competing plant was estimated by the directors and upon the advice of competent engineering authority it was determined to make two nationally known engineering firms to estimate the cost of such a competing system. This has been done at a cost of $17,500.00.

In July 1924 the engineering firms of BURNS & MCDONNELL of Kansas City and FORD, RACON & DAVIS of New York were employed by the district to make a study of the cost of an electrical transmitting station and generating system for the district, including also an economic analysis of the cost of installation and probable return over a period of years, especially during the life-time period. These reports were filed with the district on September 20, 1924.

The firm of Burns and McDonnell has had a more extensive experience in completing reports upon and constructing works for municipalities than any other group of engineers in the United States, the firm of Ford, Bacon & Davis on the other hand has been connected with the construction and management of power plants and industries. The board employed these two firms so that there would have before them for their consideration point of view of two different engineering groups concerning any action they might contemplate taking in this but not desire to be accused of basing any action taken upon data or information that might be considered prejudiced.

After a review of the situation involving a complete study of the present properties of the P. G. & E. Co. in the district, and the success of other municipal and district electrical distributing systems in California and on the Pacific Coast, these engineering firms determined that a competing system for the district could be constructed for

Steam Power Plant.....	$5,024,500
Miscellaneous structures and equipment.....	3,298,000
Working Capital.....	392,500
	175,000

Total.....$10,490,000

Additions and betterments, including interest during construction and probable increases in material and labor requirements.....

Other studies were made for generating power by different methods.

These studies show that power can be generated in the formative period of the development much cheaper by steam than by hydro with steam standby. However, with Silver Creek as a source of supply, a hydro development with adequate standby capacity and with two independent transmission lines to Sacramento can produce power cheaper than can be produced by steam, with the same standby capacity.

The engineering studies further show that by constructing this system and operating it as a public utility, rates can be reduced ten per cent the first year, twenty per cent the second year, with increasing benefits thereafter. This is the incentive back of the proposal either to build a competitive system or to buy the present properties at a reasonable figure.

If in the future the Kennett development is completed, the steamplant it is proposed to construct under this plan may act as a standby for it. In the event Kennett is not constructed within, say, the next five or seven years, then at that time hydro power can be developed from Silver Creek as cheaply as it can be obtained from Kennett; because by then a sufficient load will have been developed to make the project competitive with steam.

Election for Financing Electric Project.

With these engineering reports as a basis the directors called an election to be held on November 6th, 1934 to vote bonds in the amount of twelve million dollars ($12,000,000) with an interest rate not to exceed four and one half (4½) per cent, for the purpose of constructing a competitive system or for purchasing the present system of the P. G. & E. Co.

On November 6th, bonds in amount of $12,000,000 were authorized by vote of seventy per cent of all those voting at said election for the acquisition and or construction by the district of a system of works for supplying the district and any municipalities therein with electric power. The vote for and against this proposal was as follows:

For the proposition-----	32,036
Against the proposition-----	13,902
Total vote cast-----	45,938

Since the annexation and bond election above noted, the Board of Directors of the district have authorized the preparation of an application to the State Railroad Commission for that authority to determine just compensation to be paid by the district for the distributing properties of the Pacific Gas & Electric Company, lying within the district and are preparing plans to serve as a basis for determining the cost of constructing a steam electric generating plant and a distributing system. This is necessary in order to determine what the true value of a distribution system for the district may be.

This work, therefore, will become a necessary prelude to and part of any general development proposed by the District and City for providing cheap power and water to consumers within these areas.

In accordance with Section 16 of the Municipal Utility District Act the district brought an action in the Superior Court of the County of Sacramento, in order to determine the validity of the authorization for the issuance of the bonds heretofore voted.

The district proceeded immediately after the election with this case. Suit was filed on January 2, 1935. Demurrers were argued in February, 1935. The trial of the case was held in May. Judgment validating the bonds was signed on August 29th. Appeal was taken to the State Supreme Court by the P. G. & E. Co., on September 7th. The testimony in the case was submitted on briefs by the P. G. & E. Co., and the District, and oral argument was had before the Supreme Court and the case was finally submitted on January 9, 1936.

On April 29, 1936, decision was rendered by the Supreme Court of the State of California approving the decision of the Superior Court of Sacramento County validating the authorization for the issuance of $12,000,000 in bonds by the district. A request for a rehearing of the case was filed by the Company. This was denied by the State Supreme Court and their decision became final on May 29, 1936.

As heretofore noted the final decree of the State Supreme Court of the State of California was handed down on May 29, 1936, approving the validation of the bonds by the Superior Court of Sacramento County. This case was not appealed to the United States Supreme Court, but in place thereof the Pacific Gas and Electric Company filed a petition in the Federal District Court on August 10, 1936 requesting an injunction to prohibit the Utility District from selling its bonds. This petition came up for hearing on September 18, 1936, at which time the district appeared and presented its argument and filed its brief, asking a dismissal of the case, on the ground that there was no substantial Federal question involved and that it was brought to obstruct a worthy public development. The Company filed its reply brief on October 10th and the district filed its closing brief on October 28th.

Before this case is concluded it undoubtedly will be appealed through the Circuit Court of Appeals, and to the United States Supreme Court, and may require a year or more before its final determination.

After the election held November 6, 1934, at which bonds to an amount of $12,000,000 were voted, the district was left in a financial predicament, or, to take over the present system, has more power than could be used by the obstructive tactics of the power company and a few dissatisfied citizens. The tactics of the power company seem that some have done it, consumers for the district to impose additional taxes to obtain revenues for the district and to fund the administrative work of the district, e.g., $200,000 in district bonds of $75,000. Furthermore it is a significant fact that since the bond election in 1934 the Pacific Gas & Electric Company has lowered the rates approximately ten percent amounting to a saving the rate payers of more than $1,000,000 in the sum of power within the district. The Company recently through the press has given notification that it intends to make a further reduction by the first of February, which reduction may approximate a saving to the consumers of the District of $165,000. It is this reduction in charges for power in the year 1937. These total reductions will approximate $1,000,000 in the sum of power within the district. If nothing further than the rate reduction is accomplished the formation of the district has been worthwhile and the expenditures made by it will be returned many fold.

Experience in California has conclusively demonstrated that reduction in rates of electrical current may be more readily obtained by direct competition of the various political agencies than by the indirect method of legislative enactment by the State to control the cost of the electric power and the electric industry. This has been illustrated by the voluntary reduction made by the power companies throughout the State to the rate of electrical current which would otherwise have been had, or at least have been, and they would not be able to do this but for the saving made by the consolidated authority some for most supply.

Summary

Summing up the attempts of the district to provide a cheap source of water and power it will be noted that on three different occasions, namely in 1907, 1929 and 1934 the Legislature of the State of California has placed before the voters of the district proposals for the construction of the issuance of bonds to construct the Saline Creek project or obtaining a water supply from a high mountain source.

At all three elections referred to above satisfactory results were obtained for the project. However these initiatives were not sufficient to carry out the legal requirements of a two-thirds majority for the construction of bonds. Furthermore, on each of these occasions the power company has attempted to obstruct the district in the development of this source of supply and at each occasion has refused such cooperation as was reasonable.

On November 6th, 1934, the district held its fourth election at which the voters by a majority of seventy percent authorized the issuance of $1,000,000 in bonds for the acquisition and/or construction by the district of a system of works for the generation and distribution of power to the consumers of electrical current within the district.

All these elections were opposed by the Pacific Gas & Electric Company, three organized groups designated as Tax Payers Association, White State organized for the purpose of defeating these initiatives. At the last election held on November 6th, 1934 the records show that the initiative spent directly $4,587,000 was expended through the Excessive Tax Payments League $21,800,000 in an attempt to defeat this bond election. The power company is now operating the district through court procedure in its attempt to have its bonds voided, although issuance of bonds was authorized by a forty percent, or more, majority.

The activities and attitude of the power company have conclusively that the only method whereby the development of the Saline Creek project or any benefit from the Central Valley project may be secured is for the district to make provisions to control the distribution of power within its boundaries either by purchase of the present plant or by the construction of a generating station or works. Steps toward the carrying out of this requirement have been taken by the district of the district.

The Following Principles Are Recommended To Be Passed

1. That the ownership and control of the water resources of the State should vest in the public, either local or statewide depending upon the extent of, or the application of, the uses of such natural resources.

2. That the State as a sovereign power should participate only in such projects that are of statewide benefit or of more than general local importance. This applies to the impounding of water for controlling floods, the regulation of stream flow for assisting navigation and controlling salinity in estuaries for protecting and/or improving potential or developed industrial or agricultural areas.

3. That where electrical energy is produced by the state provision should be made for the transmission of this energy by constructing transmission facilities whereby this energy may be received for local distribution by the various political subdivisions of the state, and further that additional generating facilities be constructed if necessary, to insure and or supplement the output of such hydro resources so that under all operating circumstances power will be continuously available.

4. Distribution of water and or electrical energy should be made by the local political subdivisions or districts of the state that may develop such supplies or acquire them from the state or some other public or private source. It is believed it would not be wise for the State to assume the task of distributing either water or electric energy locally.

5. Many of the Political Subdivisions of the State now generate, transmit and distribute power to the consumers within their political boundaries and it would be unwise to change the control of the present distribution and generation by these autonomous political subdivisions. We do not feel that the State could more economically serve these areas than they are now being served.

6. Many of the Political Subdivisions of the State have acquired water rights and constructed storage reservoirs from which they at present obtain water supplies and with which water supplies they generate electrical energy. Most of these projects are progressive in nature, that is, to say, the present development is part of a larger program and to take all future control of water supplies and their by-products from these political agencies would be unfair and unwise.

When the rights of riparian owners are not infringed upon, the use of the waters of the state are now subject to the control of the state. The right to the use of water, except as above, can only be acquired by obtaining such rights from the State through its present organized agencies. These grants for the use of water by permittees are predicated on their being put to beneficial use. As long as they are so used protection by the state to their use is assured. If and when beneficial use is not made or maintained their use reverts, and these waters again become subject to the control of the state for future allocation.

Suggested Legislation.

It is believed that undoubtedly it would be to the best interests of consumers of both water and electric energy if an enabling act were placed upon the statute books providing a manner in which districts could be formed by a majority vote of the electors of either or both urban or rural territory, either contiguous or noncontiguous, for the distribution of water and or electric energy. These districts should be privileged to extend their boundaries by the annexation of contiguous or noncontiguous territory at the request of a majority of the electors of the territory desiring to be annexed. Such districts should have the power to consolidate, whether contiguous or noncontiguous, when thought to be to their economic interest, and should be empowered to purchase water and or electric energy for distribution from either publicly or privately owned sources. These districts should be empowered to acquire either by construction, purchase or condemnation, any impounding, conducting, generating, transmitting and distributing facilities required for present or future use, and to finance or refinance the same, and to acquire necessary water rights, permits and privileges to put in effect these powers.

Legislation should be enacted whereby the state could assist its various political subdivisions financially by lending its credit for:

- a. The development of water supplies for domestic and agricultural purposes; and
- b. The utilization of the water resources of the state for the generation of power; and
- c. In constructing transmission lines and distributing systems; and
- d. For stabilizing the output of possible hydro developments by the construction of steam generating plants.

This is necessary due to the variable flow of the waters of the state in the various drainage basins.

Any State Authority established for the development and control of the water resources of the state or any of its by-products should be autonomous, and should be administered by officials elected and appointed because of their fitness and qualifications for such work, and further that provisions be made for the payment of adequate salaries to such administrators.

It is felt that most of the administrative state officials who are responsible for the carrying out of large state projects are inadequately paid for their services at the present time. This applies particularly to the engineering groups.

It is felt that any authority vested with the power to use the natural resources of the state to develop water supplies for domestic and agricultural purposes and for to generate, transmit and distribute electrical energy, should be autonomous. Where the benefits to be derived are of more than local importance, but not State wide, this can be accomplished by the establishment of a large district, consisting of a group of affiliated districts or political subdivisions, better than by a state controlled commission or authority. The setup for such control being similar to that of the Metropolitan Water District, that is to say the present political agencies, or agencies to be created, each with their own legislative and operating personnel would be a part of the large district. These subordinate political subdivisions to have certain limited authority, being subject to the supervision and control of the legislative and executive branches of the large embracing districts, each minor district being represented on the Board of Directors of the Large District.

A type of district system to that immediate section would make a more comprehensive and economical use of electric line facilities, in particular, at lower cost and also to sell its securities at a more favorable market price than the smaller political subdivisions.

In order to facilitate the issuance of such public bonds it is suggested that legislation should be enacted whereby revenue bonds may be issued for the financing of the utilities. These bonds to be subject to a maximum rate of five percent within the political subdivisions that may authorize the issuance of these securities and further that these bonds that may be issued, be placed in a fund separate to the utilities for which these have been issued.

The right of condemnation given a district should not, under any circumstances, include a right to condemn property belonging to another district, municipality, political subdivision or public corporation.

A law permitting the formation of districts as outlined above should provide that acquisition or construction of lines for the transmission and distribution of power and of the generation and transmission of electric energy shall be limited by the issuance of either general obligation bonds or by mortgage bonds which shall serve on the revenues of the utility or both, at the option of the voters of the district.

All rights and privileges given to these districts should be extended to county municipalities, political subdivisions and public corporations.

Taxation.

From some of the questions asked by members of the committee, it would seem that there is a feeling that publicly owned electric corporations should be taxed to the same extent that such privately owned corporations are taxed. There has been no intimation that publicly owned water purifications should be taxed, and it is hardly probable that anyone would attempt to tax such facilities. The issue of a publicly owned water supply is not taxed in Germany (it is a governmental activity, owned, constructed, maintained, and operated by the people for the purpose of supplying themselves with a necessary natural product).

Some of the water purities of our country are owned by privately owned water corporations, which are subject to taxation; other purifications are owned by water systems owned and operated by the municipalities, which are not taxed. In some municipalities the district of water is in the hands of persons (although the corporations, and the business is taxed). In other municipalities some power plants are owned and operated by the municipality and are not taxed. In some municipalities the sewer systems are publicly owned and operated for profit and are subject to taxation; in other municipalities the sewer systems are publicly owned and operated, and are not taxed. Electricity has become as great a business and when publicly owned and operated is as truly a commercial and profitable enterprise as is the supplying of water and the disposal of waste and sewage and should be judged by the same standard and taxed under the same rule.

Publicly owned institutions under the law are supposed to operate their industries, privately owned institutions are not permitted to do so. To require a publicly owned institution to pay taxes as well as non-taxation would be to handicap the public institution.

Agitation for the selling out of publicly owned electric enterprises for taxation comes, of course, from the operation of privately owned electric corporations, who fear the competition of the publicly owned enterprise utility. To tax the publicly owned electric utility as well as to require it to maintain its subsidiaries is to subject it to unfair competition and unfair competition. The laws of this State now provide that property purchased by a publicly owned utility outside the lines of the political subdivision owning such utility, which is on a county tax roll at the time of purchase, shall remain on such tax roll; and it would seem that this is as far as such taxation should go.

Consideration should be given the marked difference between the two plants. The publicly owned plant is maintained and operated solely for the benefit of the community, selling its product at the lowest price compatible with good operation and maintenance; the privately owned plant sells its product at the highest price the traffic will bear, and maintains and operates its plant for the purpose of paying dividends. To require both competition and taxes would upset the present fair balance as to competition, and furthermore we must encourage large rivers in California if we are to meet the competition of the Northwest and Tennessee Valley regions.

Non-profit Corporations.

If the non-profit corporation law of California were liberalized to permit residents of rural communities to form corporations to purchase and resell electric energy, it would undoubtedly be of great benefit to communities now deprived of the benefits of electricity. In the State of Washington, there are several such corporations which purchase their supply of electric energy, build transmission lines to carry the energy from the point of purchase to the place of distribution and a distribution system to supply the members. None of these mutual organizations have a lighting rate higher than 5¢ per kwh for the first block, and one of them has a rate of 5¢ for the first 20 kwh, and 1¢ for all over 20. Some of them have power rates of 1¢ for the first block, and one goes down to ¾¢ per kwh for all over 100 kwh.

Rural Electrification.

The farmer is very much interested in securing for himself the benefits which would come from a full use of electric energy in doing the work of the farm. The number of rural users of electric energy in California is increasing, but not so rapidly as it would if the farmers understood some of the facts in connection with the availability of electric service. The business of distributing electric energy and making it available to consumers under varying conditions, is somewhat complex, and unless those who are vitally interested make themselves familiar with the facts, it is easy for erroneous beliefs to be formed and promulgated and incorrect statements to be given credence.

Benefits of Public Ownership.

In conclusion we would point out that the municipal plant in Pasadena has a rate of 4½ cents for the first block of 40 kwh down to 7¢ per kwh. Under the Pasadena rates 500 kwh per month costs a householder $6.30, which is the lowest rate for the amount of electric energy in the United States. The Modesto Irrigation District generates and distributes electric energy as a by-product of its water project. Although the district's electric rate is lower than rates in surrounding communities, the profits from the electric business have reduced the water tax in the district from $6.42 per acre to $2.76. The municipal plant of the City of Los Angeles, after paying the costs of operation, maintenance, interest and outstanding bonds, and setting aside $2,169,260 for depreciation, last year made a profit of $4,000,502.52 and has earned a net income of $47,798,960.82 since beginning operations in 1917.

UTILITIES ASSOCIATION

The California Municipal Utilities Association is not a for-profit corporation. The purpose of the Association is to support the interests of those California municipalities and districts that are engaged in the acquisition, collection, treatment of water, and in the generation and/or distribution of electric power, and other utilities.

At the meeting of the committee held in Los Angeles on January 2, 1930, the Association presented the following resolution:

The members of the Association are opposed to any legislation that would require the city of Chicago to take over the operation of the water supply of any municipality or city, or to require the city of Chicago to take over the operation of the water supply of any municipal corporation or district; and that this organization is opposed to any legislation interfering with the right of any municipality to determine the manner in which it will supply its water and sewer facilities if it so desires.

At a regional conference held in Toronto, Ontario, in 1966, the following was adopted and later approved by the Board of Governors of the Association:

This Association believes that the State of California should encourage its projects for the development of water and other resources in accordance with or salinity control or benefits other than the conservation of water and the generation of electric energy.

The right of nondiscrimination gives the licensee the right not, among the general consent, include a right to nondiscriminate between the licensee and the licensee's licensee.

A law permitting the formation of districts as political units would provide the acquisition or construction of stocks for the acquisition and distribution of assets and/or the generation and distribution of income, or income to be received by the issuance of either general obligation bonds or by majority vote bonds based solely on the revenues of the county, or bonds of the county for the purpose of the project.

All rights and privileges given to them formerly should be extended to public municipalities, political subdivisions and other institutions.

From some of the questions asked by members of the committee, it would seem that there is a feeling that publicly owned electric enterprises should be taxed to the same extent that privately owned businesses are taxed. There has been no intimation that publicly owned water enterprises should be taxed, and it is highly probable that anyone would seriously challenge such taxation. The reason a privately owned water supply is not taxed is because it is a quasi-public utility, and thus constructed, maintained, and operated by the people for the purpose of supplying themselves with a necessity without profit.

Some of the responsibilities of our country are served by privately owned water corporations, which are subject to taxation. Other water utilities are served by water systems owned and operated by the municipality, which are free from taxation. In some municipalities the disposal of wastes is in the hands of private indusviduals or corporations, and the business is taxed. In other words, poll taxes waste disposal plants are owned and operated by the municipality and are not taxed. In and the disposal of waste and sewage, and should be judged by the same standard and taxed or not taxed under the same rule.

Publicly owned institutions, under the law, are required to amortize their indebtedness; privately owned institutions are not required to do so. To require a publicly owned institution to pay taxes as well as amortization would be to seriously handicap the public institution.

Agitation for the singling out of publicly owned electric enterprises for taxation comes, of course, from the operators of privately owned electric corporations, who fear the competition of the publicly owned non-profit utility. To tax the publicly owned electric utility as well as to require it to amortize its indebtedness is to subject it to unfair comparison and unfair competition. The laws of this State now provide that property purchased by a publicly owned utility outside the limits of the political subdivision owning such utility, which is on a county tax roll at the time of purchase, shall remain on such tax roll, and it would seem that this is as far as such taxation should go.

The committee should take into consideration the marked difference between the two plants: The publicly owned plant is maintained and operated solely for the benefit of the community, selling its product at the lowest price compatible with good operation and maintenance; the privately owned plant sells its product at the highest rate the traffic will bear, and maintains and operates its plant for the prime purpose of paying dividends. To require both amortization and taxes would upset the present fair balance as to competition, and furthermore we must encourage lower rates in California if we are to meet the competition of the Northwest and Tennessee Valley regions.

If the non-profit corporation law of California were liberalized to permit residents of rural communities to form corporations to purchase and re-sell electric energy, it would undoubtedly be of great benefit to communities now deprived of the benefits of electricity. In the State of Washington, there are several such corporations which purchase their supply of electric energy, build transmission lines to carry the energy from the point of purchase to the place of distribution and a distribution system to supply the members. None of these mutual organizations have a lighting rate higher than 5c per kwh for the first block, and one of them has a rate of 5c for the first 20 kwh, and 1c for all over 20. Some of them have power rates of 1c for the first block, and one goes down to  $\frac{1}{2}$ c per kwh for all over 100 kwh.

The farmer is very much interested in securing for himself the benefits which would come from a full use of electric energy in doing the work of the farm. The number of rural users of electric energy in California is increasing, but not so rapidly as it would if the farmers understood some of the facts in connection with the availability of electric service. The business of distributing electric energy and making it available to consumers under varying conditions, is somewhat complex and unless those who are vitally interested make themselves familiar with the facts, it is easy for erroneous beliefs to be formed and promulgated and incorrect statements to be given credence.

In conclusion we would point out that the municipal plant in Pasadena has a rate of 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ c for the first block of 40 kwh down to  $\frac{1}{2}$ c per kwh for 500. Under this rate 500 kwh per month costs a householder \$6.30, which is the lowest rate for 500 kwh in the United States. The Modesto Irrigation District generates and distributes electric energy as a by-product of its water project. Although the district's electric rate is lower than rates in surrounding communities, the profits from the electric business have reduced the water tax in the district from \$6.42 per acre to \$2.76. The municipal plant of the City of Los Angeles, after paying the costs of operation, maintenance, interest on outstanding bonds, and setting aside \$2,270,573 for depreciation, last year made a profit of \$4,220,374 and has earned a net income of \$50,679,335 since beginning operations in 1917. The following comparison of electric bills under the Los Angeles rate effective February 1, 1936, with like bills in several other communities, may be of interest.

EXHIBIT H. H. COMPARATIVE COST OF ELECTRICAL POWER

By RALPH L. CRISWELL

The Federal Power Commission has issued a report setting forth the cost of electrical energy in 17,722 communities in the United States under rate schedules in effect January 1, 1935. The report shows the cost of various amounts of electricity, ranging from 15 kilowatt hours to 500 kilowatt hours per month.

Of the 17,722 communities covered in the report, 16,054 are served by privately owned agencies and 1,668 are served by publicly owned agencies. From a public ownership point of view, Kansas stands at the head of the list with 142 communities served by public agencies and 295 private, while Rhode Island counts all its States with only 1 community served by a public agency and 41 by private agencies.

The following table gives the number of communities served by private companies and the number served by public agencies:

COST OF 25 KILOWATT-HOURS.

About 25 kwh. per month will light an average residence. The report of the Federal Power Commission shows the following range of cost for 25 kwh.

In cities of 25,000 population and over consumers in * Jamestown, N. Y., and * Cleveland, Ohio, pay 88 cents, and in * Holyoke, Mass., they pay $1.00. In Miami, Florida, 25 kwh. costs $2.76, and in Manchester and Nashua, N. H., the bill is $2.34.

In cities of 10,000 to 25,000, the lowest bills are rendered in * Virginia, Mass., 50 cents, and in * Manitowish, Wis., 88 cents, while in * Dothan, Ala., the charge is $3.88 and in * Lakeland, Fla., $3.25.

In cities of 5,000 to 10,000, the monthly bill in * Fergus Falls, Minn., adds for 85 cents, and in * Penn Yan, N. Y., 86 cents, while in * Palatka, Fla., 25 kwh. costs $3.57 and in Lake Worth, Fla., $3.45.

In cities of 2,500 to 5,000 the consumer in * Athens, Ala., and * Amory and * New Albany, Miss., pays 75 cents, and in * Rensselaer, N. Y., 90 cents, while in Myrtle Beach, S. C., the consumer pays $4.39 and in Nantucket, Mass., $4.25.

COST OF 100 KILOWATT-HOURS.

The lighting of an average residence, the use of ordinary small electric appliances and a refrigerator will consume about 100 kwh. monthly. The lowest and highest monthly bills for 100 kwh. are shown by the Federal Power Commission report to be:

In cities of 25,000 and over the residents of * Tacoma, Wash., pay $2.12 for 100 kwh. and in Madison, Wis., they pay $2.73. At the other extreme is Myrtle Vernon, N. Y., $7.31, and * Jacksonville, Fla., $7.00.

In cities of 10,000 to 25,000 the lowest bill is in *Virginia, Minn., pays $2.00, and in *Hudson, Mass., $2.50. The highest bill is charged in Massachusetts, Orono, Portland, and Port Charles, N. Y., $7.31, and Ray West, Pa., $7.23.

In cities of 5,000 to 10,000 the lowest bill is in *Tucson, Ill., at the amount of $2.30 and in *Tulsa, Okla., $2.50, while in Rock Junction, Pa., $12.00 is charged and in Morenci, Ariz., $10.00 is the price.

In cities of 2,500 to 5,000 in *Albany, N. Y., $2.50 will pay for 100 kwh., and in *Fort Morgan, Colo., and *Graham, Neb., $2.70. In Nantucket, Mass., $14.85 will be required and in *Olathe, Kan., $11.00.

COST OF 250 KILOWATT HOURS

Adding a kitchen range to the uses enumerated in the foregoing classification will increase the amount of electrical energy to approximately 250 kilowatt-hours per month.

In cities of 25,000 and over, *Tucson, Ariz., has the highest bill for this amount, $3.62, with *Stamford, Conn., at $4.80. The largest bills are found in Mt. Vernon, New Rochelle, and White Plains, N. Y., $16.31, followed by Haverhill, Mass., $11.70.

In cities of 10,000 to 25,000 the highest bills are found in *Marquette, Mich., $5.50, and *Virginia, Minn., $4.70. The highest bills are found in Manhattan, Ossining, Pacific Hill and Port Charles, N. Y., $16.31, and *South River, N. J., $14.20.

In cities of 5,000 to 10,000 the average of 250 kwh. in *Tulsa, Okla., and *Logan, Utah, is $5.00, and in *Haci, Cal., $5.50. The average in Morenci, Ariz., is $21.25 and in *Palaquimine, La., $16.70.

In cities of 2,500 to 5,000, Woodland, Cal., $4.90 and *Rensselaer, N. Y., $4.95, enjoy the lowest bills, and *Charlestown, Ark., $21.00, and Salt Creek, Ind. Field, Wyo., $22.00, groan under the highest bills.

CITIES OF 1,000 TO 2,500

The Commission report registered consumption of 1,000 to 2,500 population in only 29 of the 48 States. In the 29 cities given, the following is shown:

For 25 kilowatt-hours per month the consumer in *Gratiotville, Ohio, pays 88 cents, and in Gila Bend, Ariz., $5.00.

For 100 kilowatt-hours per month the consumer in *Parowan, Utah, pays $2.60, and in East Hampton, N. Y., $14.90.

For 250 kilowatt-hours per month, the consumer in *Parowan, Utah, pays $3.35, and in East Hampton, N. Y., $23.41.

Only one community in the above 15 classifications served by a privately owned company (a company not controlled by a holding company) is found in the list of lowest bills, and no three communities served by publicly owned agencies are found in the 15 with highest bills.

CALIFORNIA ELECTRIC RATES

A comparison of domestic electric rates for lighting and other household uses, between publicly owned and privately owned electric utilities in reasonably comparable cities of California. These rates have been compiled from the latest rate schedules obtainable.

The first block (40 kilowatt-hours) will supply enough electric energy for lighting an ordinary residence and operating such small appliances as a toaster, percolator, waffle iron, vacuum cleaner, etc. for one month.

The second block (100 kilowatt-hours) will supply enough energy for the above use, in addition to operating a refrigerator and such additional appliances as washer, ironer, etc.

The third block (250 kilowatt-hours) will add to the above uses an electric range.

PUBLIC POWER—ITS FINANCING AND ITS ADVANTAGES

By J. D. ROSS, Member, Federal Securities and Exchange Commission, Formerly Chief Engineer, Seattle Municipal Light Plant.

An Address Given Before the National Convention of the Investment Bankers Association of America.

Augusta, Georgia, December 5, 1936

In presenting to you the subject of public power, as a field now being opened to power, it is natural to suppose that you will be interested in it from the standpoint of financing as well as from the standpoint of your interest as a citizen. In the field of finance you are interested in the security of your investment, the security that is back of every investment. The public power industry is in the field of finance that is far-reaching. Whether there is a surplus of the use of electricity, that expense will bring in a much greater return, the financing. If you will make that business, public power, financing and your investment, you will give the best interest rate that you can get and that rate will be a much greater expansion of the use of electricity possible.

On account of these facts the public power industry and power throughout the nation become of tremendous interest to you, further the fact that the public power will be the use, and this will result in a tremendous extension of financing for the generation, transmission and distribution. But the most of financing that you find here.

Every additional kilowatt-hour put into service means a greater volume of industry requiring further financing. Every additional kilowatt-hour put into the home requires further financing of homes, the construction and all the appliances that go to make the home more comfortable. This manufacturing requires further financing, and so, the cheaper manufacturing and consumption go for a greater volume of electricity. The question then becomes, "What is the best way to lower the price of electricity in the homes and factories and business houses of the United States?" and to mention home light, street and commercial lighting. On this question you will hear from both public power and private power.

Your convention has assigned to me the task of discussing Public Power upon which subject my views are well known, because of my own direct experience in connection with public power projects. I wish to make it clear that in speaking upon this subject that I am reflecting my own views and not necessarily those of the Securities and Exchange Commission, which body you will know has no function that is in any way related to the administration of public power projects that have been or are being developed by the Federal Government. As you know, the functions of the Securities and Exchange Commission are confined primarily to the protection of the investor so as to assure the safety of every dollar that he invests in securities. As a member of the Securities and Exchange Commission, it is not within the power of my associates in the impartial administration of these Acts of the Congress under which we have been given jurisdiction and thereby render a service of value to the people of our country.

Public power advocates believe that the yardstick, the public plant, is the only method by which rates can be reduced to the point where they should be.

State regulation has brought us its houses throughout the country a number of very excellent, honest men. Sometimes they have fought the battle hard and made good, only to be held up for years in the courts. The regulatory bodies have thus done a tremendous amount of good in some states, especially in the control of issuing of bonds and stocks, but all in all, state regulation has not been a complete success.

Public power has a tremendous influence in the reduction of rates of private power. Let me call to your attention the great and fundamental difference between private power company financing under our existing methods of regulation and public power methods of accounting as used by municipal plants and the plants of the Federal Government.

Under state regulation a power company is not usually required to amortize its bonds, and so goes along through the years refunding its bonds as they come due from new bond issues.

The company is allowed often up to 3 per cent depreciation. The theory of an annual depreciation allowance is that it will go into a fund that at the end of the useful life of the plant will build a new one, or under a better system the company may be allowed to put it into new construction. The history of regulation, however, has shown us that these depreciation allowances have been largely used for purposes other than replacement of property.

On the other hand, a municipal plant or a federal plant has a financial structure based on the idea of paying off and thus cancelling its indebtedness as its bonds come due. It usually charges off on its books depreciation from about 1½ per cent in federal plants to about 3 per cent in municipal plants, but actually uses an amount about equal to this depreciation for the amortizing of its bonds, an amount that a private company does not use for the purpose of reducing its debt.

Thus, the capital cost of a public power system keeps slipping away year by year. If the system is growing rapidly, its bonds outstanding may be greater in total amount year by year, but the capital cost back of every kilowatt-hour output is getting less and less. Since the ideal of the public plant is for service instead of profit, the declining capital cost per kilowatt of output is soon reflected in lowering of rates.

One fact here that is interesting to financiers and to the manufacturer is that as these rates are reduced a greater amount of electricity is required and this in turn requires greater manufacturing and greater financing for both power plant and system and for the manufacturer, as well as for every business that the greater use of electricity promotes.

Those in public power believe that the handling of this great utility is a public function, being in a class with streets, sewers, roads and water systems, necessities that are the life-blood of the nation, natural monopolies totally distinct from our great competitive system of ordinary business.

Electrical power has become a necessity. The rivalry of cities in the inducing of industry to come within their limits has become of greater importance to those cities than the competition between private and public power. The hand that controls the electric switch today dominates civilization. We have passed from the iron age and the machine age into the electrical age and our industries and manufactured products depend on electricity.

May I tell you some facts from my own work in the Seattle Municipal Plant, which it has been my privilege to direct and with which I have been connected for over 30 years. The gross revenues of that plant are around 5 million dollars per year. It serves close to 100,000 customers in all classes of light and power. Every year about 1½ million dollars of bonds are paid off; that is about 30 per cent of the gross revenues. Contrast this with a private power system which does not amortize any bonds. Suppose that a power company used this 30 per cent of its gross revenue for dividends; 1½ million dollars would pay 5 per cent on 30 million dollars of stock. In the Seattle plant, in addition to amortizing this 1½ million dollars a year, the interest on outstanding bonds, amounting to about another one and one-third million, is also paid and in addition, the system pays about $500,000, in state and city taxes and donations to the general tax fund of the city.

Surely, since a private power system does not redeem its bonds, it should not object to the competition from a public plant that is not only self-supporting but pays a fair tax. One thing that this convention as bankers should appreciate is the fact that by paying off its bonds regularly a public plant keeps its value greater than its indebtedness and this keeps a conservative sound value back of its bonds. Contrast this with the pyramiding of stock of the last decade that has brought so much disaster.

Compared with some of the cities and rural districts of our Canadian friends across the line and with some of our own public plants, the United States is over-charged millions of dollars every year.

But there is another question far more reaching that concerns us now. It is the fact that the use of electricity is only a small fraction of what it can easily be. The whole industrial structure of our nation is cramped from the lack of power. The work in the home is vastly greater than it should be. There are 6 million farm houses in the nation that are without the advantage of electricity. The average number of kilowatt-hours used in the home per annum is only 673, yet the use in some public systems rises from 1000 kilowatts up above 4000 per annum, or over six times the national average. By the time the national average rises six times, those plants will probably be still just as far ahead. The question is when will we make it. Next year will show a tremendous increase.

The simplest plan of the sale and distribution of surplus power is, naturally, the most economical and, therefore, the one subject for discussion. The building of a power system may be divided physically into three parts: the generating plants, transmission lines, and the distribution systems. When a city or district undertakes the building of a public power system for its own use, the simplest plan is for it to handle the whole system itself.

In the case of the federal generating plants, the simplest system and the one preeminently better than all others is for the Federal Government to take complete ownership and operation of such plants and to build the main transmission lines. The government would sell wholesale to the entire Nation or companies to be served, delivering the current at their rates or at such points as the transmission or company can conveniently reach with its own lines. The system is then divided into two parts: the government and the separate companies. This system of distribution is by far the most successful because no one can handle such a machine as well as the one that pays for it.

The local handling of distribution allows for the spontaneous placement of complaints. It needs the handling of the constantly coming in the home needs of the community. It allows the work to be done for local purposes and it allows the profits to remain at home.

Another important fact is that each city and district can pay taxes to itself, whereas taxes cannot be derived from a sale of national distribution since if the Government wished to distribute freely.

On the Canadian side the Provincial Government distribution system is being built in many cases, but in this country this work is being handled by the Rural Electrification Administration through cooperation, a system which gives governmental help in the promotion of rural electrification but not across the distribution to the hands of the local people interested.

Power should be sold as far as possible wholesale to districts and companies at a uniform rate throughout the entire system. Both public and private distribution systems should be given the same rule. Whenever a public power system can carry current, though the wholesale rate charged is the same, preference should be given in priority of contracts to the public utilities, but the companies should be allowed to contract for power, with the government holding one right to cancel the contract in favor of a public, city or district system, giving the company a reasonable time to get another source of supply, say 30 or 60 days.

Whenever a private power company can't wholesale to public and utility concerns they too should be willing to give the same wholesale rate.

Any attempt at a partnership is so safe that any man here is a success, and never can be a success. You cannot make a partnership prosper a company that carries its indebtedness forever when the structure has rotted from the inside, and whose ideal is to make dividends on that perpetual indebtedness and a company that rapidly pays out its debt and whose ideals are for the earning of profit. Any compromise of a rate between these two would be a sacrifice to the public side, their proper right is a lower rate.

Cities and districts are best interested in federal power where there are economic benefits on one or both sides, because their taxes and their amount of investment are the same.

Both municipal and federal systems may be retained with respect to power ownership but only for the interchange or sale of power and not in any way with a partnership of management. On this account, and for other reasons, it is very doubtful if it is strictly fair to compel a company to give a certain profit rate according to a federal or a city plant from which a company must of necessity buy. In fact, it is doubtful if cities or districts to which power is sold should be compelled to give a certain retail rate.

A uniform residence retail rate might have considerable justification, but the needs of each district are subject to considerable variation. One may want to conserve irrigation and another close by to promote manufacturing. However, the question of uniform retail rates is only a matter of secondary importance.

In the case of private power companies it is assumed that the large government plants, especially where there are few public district or city systems, would reach such a company to buy current from it on a fair basis. The price would be several mills; say 3½ mills at the power house. Perhaps the company would make the current for ½ mill or a mill more. It is the wish of the government that the advantages of public power be passed on to the customer. In the home the customer pays several cents per kilowatt-hour, probably eight or ten times the cost at the power plant, yet there is only one mill differential to pass on to the reduction of bills in the home.

This very fact shows that the other seven-eighths of the cost to reach the home consumer is not in the power plant at all, but in the lines and distribution system. This proves in turn that the power plant is about one-eighth of the yardstick and the other seven-eighths must now be added by some system which will make a reduction in the cost of distribution from the power plant to the customer.

How is this to be done? Evidently not by demanding a reduction of several cents in the customer's bill for the advantage of a mill at the generating plant. This is the real question now between public and private power systems. There is only one answer to the question. It must be done by the people themselves locally through public power plants or through their insistence that the private companies get the spirit of modern times and make the proper reductions.

The people of America are not asking that their bills for light and power be reduced. They are really asking that they get more current for the same money. This points to the production of greater quantities of energy—two, three, or four or five times as much as today. It can be given to the people at the lowest of rates and yet with still greater profit to the power concern whether it be public or private.

It is a remarkable fact that wherever there is a municipal plant with low rates you can travel radially away from it and find the rates of private companies equally low when you start and rising at more distant points, and yet, the concerns with the low rates are doing better than those further distant.

The great federal power plants at Boulder, Coalee, and Bonneville, and in Tennessee are rapidly proving themselves to be one of the greatest moves ever made in America. It is regrettable beyond words that the St. Lawrence at Messina is not now being constructed. It takes time to build these plants and the demand is rising at a tremendous rate, doubling about every 7½ years throughout the country and doubling regularly at Seattle and a number of other municipal plants every 5½ years, up to the time of the depression.

The doubling of all power facilities in this short time is almost beyond the imagination. It means in the case of the doubling of 5½ years that in that time all facilities must be doubled and must be increased four times in eleven years, eight times in 16½ years and must be sixteen times as great 22 years from now. With the reduction of light and power rates throughout the country development would be at least as rapid as in these low rate plants.

With the great federal plants goes the tremendous improvement in irrigation, navigation and flood control—permanent additions to the wealth of the country.

It must be remembered that the great objectives reached by the building of these plants is the prevention of the cornering of electricity by a few individuals, the production of great quantities of electricity, and the building of these great natural resources by the government where no individual or group of individuals is strong enough financially, or perhaps we should say, has the vision and the faith to build them.

Let us hope that the government will also build the main transmission lines for the distribution of this power. The people must now realize that they must bring the current themselves from the present power lines or plants. Electricity will not come to them of itself, and it will not come to them for nothing, and it can not be operated for nothing.

About seven eighths of their cost in many places is yet spent in taking the current from the plant to the home and the retailing of it from house to house. Instead of waiting for the government to do anything in this work the people should themselves take hold and form their power districts where the power company is unwilling to serve them at a proper rate.

In forming such a district or in instituting a public plant in a city, I am firmly convinced that every effort should be exhausted first to buy out the power company property.

I have been through a competitive battle at Seattle for over 30 years. About three fourths of the people will patronize any public plant. I have been misquoted in some of my statements concerning competition so wish to state here that in Seattle we brought down the rate from 20 cents per kilowatt hour to a maximum 5-cent rate and an average rate of about 2½ cents in the home, with very low industrial rates down as low as 3.4 mills in steel furnaces. This is what public power can do. It has been necessary for the self-protection of the city. The very life-blood of a city is its industries and its homes.

But I also believe that every effort should be exhausted in buying the private company at a fair price. Nothing for over-capitalization, but a fair price that will compensate the bondholders and the stockholders who have made an investment in good faith, and something to the company for quitting the job. My reason for this plan is that I made a careful survey in Seattle and found that for every $3 taken in by the private power concern and ourselves in the public plant $1 was lost to us in duplication and competition and this dollar loss alone would be quite sufficient to retire the bonds issued for the purpose of buying property of the private concern and pay off those bonds as they became due. Serial utility bonds are all that is necessary for such a purchase. The taxpayer would not then have to pay a cent, but gets the property presented to him for nothing. He pays for the property anyway over and over again every 20 years and has purchased it in the past about twice. He might as well own it.

Where these public agencies will buy out the competitor they can again cut their rates in two, for two power systems, on account of duplication and competition, cost the customer twice as much as one, or more than twice as much. This fact is self-evident.

In other words, each particular case of communication should be an ad hoc move.

There is also considerable talk of the possibility of a new method of raising capital from abroad. For about a century now, the normal way of raising money from abroad has been by the issue of bonds or shares in foreign companies. But now it is being suggested that there is a field in which the normal method of raising money from abroad is to issue bonds or shares in foreign companies. But now it is being suggested that there is a field in which the normal method of raising money from abroad is to issue bonds or shares in foreign companies.

the east. A 1000-mile railway of engineering is being planned to run the length of the St. Lawrence in Maine, Canada and Quebec, Canada and on down in Wisconsin. I expect that the United States could be a great beneficiary because of one of the new structures, the St. Lawrence.

It must be remembered that if we consider the 30 years of 30- to 35-year bonds in the life of the country, the average life of those bonds would be only 15 years. The total interest would have to be paid in 15 years. If we consider the 30 years of 30- to 35-year bonds in the life of the country, the average life of those bonds would be only 15 years. The total interest would have to be paid in 15 years. If we consider the 30 years of 30- to 35-year bonds in the life of the country, the average life of those bonds would be only 15 years. The total interest would have to be paid in 15 years.

To those who think that the business of life and property is the exercise of private power, we say that the Government is not a power, but a trust. We have sent out before the Government and that we are now to see will bring a condition of affairs that has never before in the world thought, namely, that there will be no increased use of private power in the future in both public and private power. And there is no power in the Government, but the power of the people. The yardstick of public power and that through the country, which is the Government of the people, is the power of the people, and the area in which distribution is made by the people. Therefore, the Government will set the pace for rates in the future.

The cry against the good police parties has been the fear of the mobsters, and not really the fear of any damage to the city's economy, for the city is left with its body in power, must surely crave justice.

It would be better for both scientific and policy reasons if the categories were more accurately defined and less broadly based. For all these kinds of the great federal plants should be given a somewhat separate treatment concerning the information for power purposes.

As to rates in the home, the home owner unconsciously budgets his light bill and so as a general rule he does not wish his bill lessened, but wants his rate lessened so he can get more for his money.

The power concern is, therefore, guaranteed that in three or four months at the most the residence load will come back at least to normal after a cut in rates.

The investment banker can help the situation to a tremendous degree. Just as low rates in current bring greater volume of business and greater profit, so lower rates for money will call for greater volumes of money and greater total profits to the bankers, and build the physical needs of the nation.

You will find about the same cross section of people in any group whether it be the private utilities or public utilities or any group of people. You will find the same cross-section in the investment bankers. It is in your hands to promote a tremendous business by looking carefully into the merits of every reasonable request that comes to you be it public or private, and try to bring the money to the needs of the people rather than having the needs of the people crying to you for money.

THE CASE FOR PUBLIC OWNERSHIP

Presented by R. E. McDONNELL.

In Public Debate before Missouri State Teachers Association
Kansas City, Mo., November 12, 1936

Case for Public Ownership.

The real purpose and objective of public ownership is the ownership, operation and management of electric utilities in a manner so that the greatest good and benefit will accrue to the public as their owner. In one case the public is the beneficiary. In the other the private owner, capitalist or holding company is the chief beneficiary. It would seem that an ownership which gives all its benefits to the public is preferable to an ownership which gives its chief benefits to an individual. In one the profits go to the public in the form of lower and lower rates. The basic purpose of private ownership is private profit, which goes to swell the already fat incomes of utility magnates and holding company officials.

Electricity, the article produced, is the same regardless of ownership. It is a standard product, producing the same results when used. There is little or no difference between the generation costs under municipal or private ownership. A pound of coal, a barrel of oil, or falling water produces just as many kilowatts for the public as it does for an individual. The real merits of arguments, therefore, relative to public ownership relate largely to that of management, control and operation. I shall, therefore, attempt to show wherein the public enjoys greater benefits under municipal ownership.

Why Public Ownership?

Electricity more and more has become a part of our everyday existence. The industry has become a necessity in modern domestic life. Electricity in some way enters into every phase of the daily life of all the people. It, therefore, is important as to whether or not this industry, so vital to the welfare of the nation, should be exploited by private interests and handled to their financial benefit instead of being handled in the interest of the public.

This article is the affirmative speech by Mr. McDonnell in a debate with B. J. George of The Kansas City Power & Light arguing the comparative merits of public and private ownership of electric utilities. The debate, "Resolved That All Electric Utilities Should Be Governmentally Owned and Operated," was presented recently before a meeting of the Missouri State Teachers Association at Kansas City.

Widespread use of electric power among the vast majority of its citizens has demonstrated that the city must take the responsibility of providing some kind of reliable source of power to its citizens at a reasonable price. Mr. McDonnell goes on to show that experience has proven the most economical method of delivering this electrical service is for the city to operate the system itself.

Regulation Not Enough.

Some may hold that because we have an elaborate system of regulatory commissions—local, state and national—that protect the public in the matter of rates and service, there is no need of public ownership. Many of our states passed what were considered ideal regulatory laws, and established high minded, well meaning commissions. They have been, however, almost powerless to regulate rates and operations effectively. Rates remained high. Dividends were not made on actual investments, but on inflated values. Companies were over capitalized and manipulation of stocks and bonds, which still continues. We soon found that many of our commissions that were supposed to regulate rates were being regulated, themselves, by the powerful holding companies. If a well-meaning commission did authorize a reduction of rates its decision was promptly appealed and carried into the higher courts; so, in the final analysis, the courts were really the regulators of rates—not the commission.

The New York State Utility Commission has had one case before it for over 20 years, and the case not finally settled as yet. It is a long drawn out and expensive procedure for cities to attempt to secure just rates by regulation. Walter J. Springfield, Commissioner of Public Property at Springfield, Illinois, and President of the Public Ownership League of America, says that the regulation of utilities by the commission of Illinois has become a scandalous and almost impracticable system. He further adds that the one municipal plant at Springfield, Illinois, has lost more money bringing down rates and regulating rates in Illinois than all the commissions since their inception.

Large contributions were made by the utility corporations to bring about the election of Frank Smith as United States Senator at Illinois. The Mr. Smith was chairman of the State Utilities Regulating Commission, and had caused the utilities so faithfully that they decided to make him United States Senator. It was a common remark in Illinois that "they had one last Senator that would not fail." Fortunately, he never gained his seat after going to Washington.

In my own experience of nearly forty years in engineering and appearing before about twenty five state utility commissions, I have caused the commissions that taking all things into consideration, such as the expense involved and the trouble obtained, state regulation was never a failure.

Every effort to abolish the state commissions brings the utility companies to their defense.

The New York Edison Company spent over five million dollars in fighting and winning case, and it should also be kept in mind that this enormous expense of fighting for regulation of rates has been paid by the electricity consumers. So, in regulating rates, the public pays the bills of both sides to the conference rate-making rates. It is this failure of regulation that has caused the public to look toward municipal ownership.

After summing up the arguments before the Federal Trade Commission on regulation, the general conclusion was, "Thank us you wish, it is competition that brings the price down, and not regulation."

Further, Mr. Arkwright, President of the Georgia Power Company, pointed out that it was the United States Supreme Court that determined "the method of arriving at the value of rate-making purposes" and that the state regulatory commissions.

Public Ownership Reduces Rates.

The 1977 municipal electric plants in the United States have been the pioneers in establishing rates. The general policy of the municipal plants through the country is to establish rates sufficiently high to pay the operating costs, making care of the fixed charges, with sufficient reserve to maintain additions and extensions to the plant, keeping it modern and in condition to serve the public. Therefore, there is no incentive toward getting by a service. As return accumulates and surplus piles up then the municipality has promptly reduced its rates, and every reduction in rates has produced a wider and freer use of electricity. So, as rates went down the use of electricity and consumption of electricity went up, thus giving to the public greater benefits.

Reductions in rates have been consistently resisted and opposed by the privately-owned companies. Many of these companies declared a resistance in rates would be impossible, and would lead them to bankruptcy. It is not unusual for companies to make three, four and even five reductions in rates to build off the construction of a municipal plant. Yet, after the municipal plant has become established, these same companies will make so-called "voluntary reductions" and meet the rates of the municipal plant. Strange as it may seem, the companies meeting these reduced rates have in many cases enjoyed greater revenues under these reduced rates than they formerly did. We have two examples of this policy: one, in the Tennessee Valley Authority, where the Georgia Power Company, in lowering its rates to meet the T. V. A. rates, experienced the highest net income in 1935 in the history of their company; another, at Cleveland, Ohio, where the Cleveland Illuminating Company competing with the municipal plant enjoyed a higher net revenue after reducing its rates because of the establishment of the municipal plant. This is a direct benefit to thousands of users of electricity, coming solely thru the establishment of competitive service.

Compare the residential rates in Kansas City, Kansas, under municipal ownership, with those in Kansas City, Missouri, under private ownership:

5 Active Room House	Kansas City, Mo.	Kansas City, Kansas
50 Kilowatts cost-----	$2 75	$1 80 or 34.0% lower
75 Kilowatts cost-----	$3 38	$2 30 or 32 % lower
100 Kilowatts cost-----	$4 00	$2 80 or 30 % lower
200 Kilowatts cost-----	$6 50	$4 80 or 26.2% lower

These lower rates in municipal plants are made possible because:

1st—Of the lower interest rates of the municipal plant.

2nd—No over-capitalization.

3rd—No expensive holding companies.

4th—No exorbitant salaries to executives.

It is the policy of the municipal plants to reduce rates from 20% to 35% as soon as the municipal plant is established, and then continue to reduce the rates as the bonds are retired and fixed charges wiped out.

An answer to the question of whether rates are lower under municipal ownership or private ownership was attempted by the Federal Power Commission. Such an analysis, made with the use of accepted formulae and interpreted by unbiased authorities, is as follows:

Arriving at the average by weighting population is fair. In other words, the correct average cannot be secured by comparing the rates of a large community with the rates of a small community. But, when compared on a basis of total population served, the average for private and municipal utilities in communities of all sizes of the nine geographical divisions of the U. S. are as follows, as set forth clearly in the tables of the Federal Power Commission, and using their own words for their analysis:

"Municipal utilities averaged lower rates for use of 25, 100 and 250 kilowatt hours in five of the nine geographical divisions, namely the New England States, the Middle Atlantic States, East North Central States, Mountain States, and Pacific Areas.

"The private utilities averaged lower rates for the South Atlantic, East South Central, and West South Central areas. Averages are about even for private and municipal utilities in the West North Central states area."

Finally, the conclusion of the Federal Trade Commission was that "when averages of all nine geographical divisions are combined (still keeping the final result of weighted averaging), the rates for the entire U. S. the municipal utilities averaged lower rates than private utilities for a domestic use of 25, 100 and 250 kilowatt hours."

Therefore, for the entire United States the municipal utilities, according to the Federal Power Commission, Table 11—Rate Schedule No. 5: 25 kilowatt hours under municipal ownership costs $1.55, under private $1.79; 100 kilowatts under municipal ownership $1.27, under private $1.79; 250 kilowatts under municipal ownership $8.16, under private $8.99.

I want to cite you just a few of the comparisons of rates before public ownership and after public ownership:

	BPO	APD
Cleveland, Ohio	10c	3c
Seattle, Washington	20c	5c
Tacoma, Washington	15c	4c
Pasadena, Calif.	15c	4c
Jamestown, N. Y.	10c	3c
Columbia, Missouri	12c	5c
Virginia, Minnesota	11.3c	2c
Holyoke, Mass.	16c	4c

These are just a few typical examples of what has happened to rates after establishing municipal ownership. Municipal rate reductions have been voluntary. Private company rate reductions have been resisted and contested before commissions and courts, involving an enormous expense, all of which is merely added to the customer's already high bill. Every rate reduction made by a municipal plant is invariably followed by reductions made by the private plant. An outstanding example of reductions in rates by the municipal operation is at Los Angeles, California, the largest city in America under municipal ownership. There, on December 16, of last year, the rates were reduced 10%, making a saving of $1,625,000 to the users of electricity annually. This was just one of the six reductions made since the depression, making a total saving to the customers of eleven million dollars. It should not be overlooked that in addition to these reductions in rates the municipal plants have been contributing heavily to the general fund during the same period, thus saving the best plants.

The saving to the citizens in the reduced rates at Cleveland since the establishment of that plant amounts to over fifty million dollars. In other words, the savings to the public have been ten times the cost of the plant.

Wider Use of Electricity.

The wider use of electricity is beneficial to the public. As the price of electricity has come down its use has been multiplied. Formerly, electricity was generally used in a house for lighting only, and now we have modern homes with as many as 25 to 30 electrical appliances used, thus lessening household drudgery and performing every task electrically. The heaviest household tasks, such as washing, ironing, cooking, heating, refrigeration, and, now, air conditioning and cooling, are all done electrically. This is made possible by the low price of elec-experience I have never heard of a labor strike in a municipal light plant. Evidence of these facts is found in the action of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers in their support of municipal and public ownership as a general principle, and especially in their testimony given before the Code authorities in the recent hearings in Washington, D. C., in which they declared that wages and labor conditions under municipal and public ownership were much better than under private, and for that reason they supported the municipal and public ownership projects.

Private Ownership and Politics.

Those opposed to public ownership have harped for years on the question that those supporting it were communists and reds, socialists, anarchists, etc. While, as a matter of fact, it is nothing but plain, common business sense, and has no relation whatever to any socialistic ideas or propaganda. If public ownership of public utilities was socialistic propaganda we must have 80% of our cities socialistic for we now have 80% of all water plants municipally owned. It has been my observation that there is not one-tenth the political corruption or interference in municipal plants that there is in the private plants. When cities cease to issue franchises for electric light and power and other utilities they will not have these valuable franchises to fight over, and politics will disappear when public ownership comes into operation.

Utility Boards Valuable.

It is fast becoming the universal policy of cities throughout the country to establish public utility boards of high-minded citizens for the management and operation of light and power plants in a similar manner to the school boards. These boards attract the highest type of citizenship. We rarely hear of any corruption in the management of these utilities. The cities throughout the country enjoying this utility board management report no changes in the employees because of politics. We have some fine examples of these non-partisan utility board managements in such cities as Los Angeles, Lansing (Michigan), Tacoma, and here in our neighboring city of Kansas City, Kansas, where a utility board sits as a board of directors in an advisory capacity, and their general manager handles the entire management of the utility. I defy any private plant in the country to equal the record of this city where the average employment has been 12 years 10 months for the men employees and 12 years 11 months for the women employees, and a manager that has served the department for approximately 25 years.

These managers are universally looked to good load factors, high efficiencies, fuel economies, and lower generating costs. The tenure of office of these managers, operators, and superintendents is as long as the managers of the private institutions if not longer—some serving as long as 25, 30 and even up to 50 years in these departments. Yet, the partisan advocates of the utilities would have you believe these positions are all changed with every election.

There is no monopoly on the brains or ability serving either the private or the municipal plant. There is that same high-class service and loyalty existing in both the private and municipal installation.

It behooves the advocates of private ownership to keep rather silent on politics, for we have never experienced a greater scandal in the history of our country than the Insull scandal, wherein $200,000,000 worth of fraudulent stocks were issued against these utilities. Thousands of school teachers were innocent purchasers of these inflated stocks.

Lower Fixed Charges.

One inherent difference between public ownership and private is the fact that it is the policy of the municipal plant to retire the bonds out of the earnings, and wipe out in a few years the fixed charges. This makes it possible to come down lower and lower in rates. The opposite policy prevails with the private plant. According to the Federal Trade Commission's report, there was a write-up in the value of public utilities up to June, 1935, amounting to $1,463,334,892. These write-ups were in excess of any tangible construction cost, and were inflated values pure and simple, and were the sworn confessions before the Federal Trade Commission.

It was this policy of pyramiding the cost, adding stocks and bonds, and inflating the value that really brought about the government's investigation as to the high charges of electricity. The only hope, therefore, of lower rates comes through the municipal plants. The fixed charges and write-ups of the private plants prevent their lowering rates; and with generation costs about the same for both municipal and private plants, the municipal plants have been given this distinct advantage of being able in a short time to lower rates through the elimination of their fixed charges. With the light and power plant it is not the policy of the holding company or owners to ever free it from debt. Every time any extension or enlargement or change of ownership is made the debt is increased—never intending to retire the debt. Therefore, when you consider these fixed charges you will find the lower cost of production and distribution of power is with the municipally-owned plant.

Private Profits Excessive.

The records of the Federal Trade Commission now amount of 50 volumes, filled with the confessions of the utility engineers and holding company officials. These are a most useful tale of corruption, and tell of the buying of legislatures, the purchasing of newspapers, the editing and publishing of secret books, and a widespread corruption throughout the country. These Federal Trade Commission volumes were given but very little publicity, only the constant notice being given in the press—the chief reason being that utility companies were receiving large contributions in most all of our daily newspapers, and these could only spread their evilness.

It should be understood that these writings, full of inconsistencies, represent no investment whatever. They are simply business bookkeeping entries by which the capital investment is increased as a means of concealing and ultimately increasing the earnings of those who own and control the utility.

Just a few instances of these writings, as discussed in the Federal Trade Commission, are the following:

The Electric Bond and Share Company a writing of $100,000,000 dollars.

The American Gas and Electric Co. a writing of $5,000,000 dollars.

The American Power and Light Company a writing of $5,000,000 dollars.

The New England Power Association a writing of $4,000,000 dollars.

The Georgia Power Company a writing of $4,000,000 dollars.

Utilities claim that the holding companies are of great service to the operating companies because they render important services in the way of engineering supervision, financing, etc. The investigations of the Federal Trade Commission disclosed that in many cases the charges for these services amounted to enormous profits to the holding companies. In one case it paid an engineering charge or profit as high as 75%, in another a profit as high as 243%.

Senator Norris, in discussing this question, said: "In my opinion, holding companies constitute the greatest evil of our civilized age."

These confessions before the Federal Trade Commission showed that some of the private utilities were able to earn 41%, 60%, and even as high as 148%, as explained in Senate Document No. 213.

This explains why the enormous profits and drains on the electric industry that permitted salaries to Senator Lowell of over one-half million dollars a year. The public is certainly not the beneficiary in such transactions. Our municipal plants do not have any of these high-priced keepings, and are successful because they.

Public Ownership Taxes.

The opponents of municipal ownership often charge that it causes a loss in taxes which must be made up by increased taxes on the general public. They further contend that if the private companies were national of their taxes they could then reduce rates far below those of the municipal light and power companies. This contention of the private power companies and the opponents of public ownership is completely and finally disposed of by the findings of the Public Power Commission in their recent report covering the subject. This is "Rate Survey No. 5, Federal Power Commission's Electric Rate Survey," page 31 to 41. This survey shows that during the year 1933 the municipally owned light and power plants of the United States paid in taxes, cash contributions to general city funds and in free services rendered to the cities in street lighting, water pumping and miscellaneous purposes a total of 234 million dollars. This amounted to 22.4% of the base revenues of the municipal plants. Meanwhile, the private plants of the United States that same year paid in taxes 207 million dollars, which amounted to only 12.0% of their total base revenues for that year. In other words, taking the country as a whole, the municipal plants pay 10% more of their base revenues than the private plants pay in taxes.

Another item that should not be overlooked is the fact that these municipal plants are paying for themselves out of their earnings, and are consequently a cash surplus besides. Many of the municipal plants pay into the city treasury taxes equal to the taxes paid by the private company before municipal ownership took place. Kansas City, Kansas, for example, reports its savings in taxes as approximately six and one-half times the amount lost in taxes.

Cleveland, Ohio, shows from their annual reports that the savings resulting from lower rates were almost ten times as much as the amount the city lost in taxes which the plant would have paid had it been privately-owned.

Conserves Resources.

Municipal and public ownership not only keep the earnings of those plants at home in the local community, but also keep the control of the project at home.

Public ownership of electric utilities conserves the nation's natural resources. The water power of the nation can be used over and over again in the production of electric power as it flows from the river sources to the ocean. We see in the Tennessee Valley a good example of how this is beneficial to the public, whereas a series of dams are being built on the stream in this valley, holding water that would be destructive in times of flood, and utilizing it in the generation of power, and selling it at low price to the consumers. This is a public benefit resulting directly from publicly-owned operation and management. Compare this with the policy of the private company which was to get the water rights for ownership and control of the streams and then holding them without development—developing only a limited volume of electricity, instead of making electricity available for all to use and enjoy.

Record Justifies Public Plants.

The record of the 2000 municipal plants, themselves, is the best argument and propaganda that these municipalities can offer as to the success of municipal ownership. Their existence is believed to be fully justified, and their conception, operation and management has been in the interest of the general public. They are not new. They are not experimental. We have now in existence 53.56% of the light and power plants of America that are municipally owned, according to the latest government census report. Whether these municipal plants are acquired by negotiation, purchase or competitive bidding, they have finally been established and are proving to be yardsticks throughout the nation in showing what electricity can be purchased for. These plants are fulfilling their mission of bringing to the citizens a full measure of comfort in the home at a reasonable cost.

This, I contend, is a public benefit!

Request for Permission to Introduce a Bill

The following request for permission to introduce a bill was presented:

By Senator Cunningham:

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, March 11, 1937.

MR. PRESIDENT: In accordance with the provisions of section 2, Article IV of the Constitution, I request permission to introduce a bill. The title of same is set forth below:

An act to amend section 42 of the California Irrigation District Act relating to publication of the delinquent list.

Respectfully submitted,

SENATOR CUNNINGHAM

Request referred to Committee on Rules.

Report of Standing Committee.

The following report of standing committee was received and read:

On Rules.

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, March 11, 1937.

MR. PRESIDENT: Your Committee on Rules, to which was referred a request by Senator Cunningham to introduce a bill entitled

An act to amend section 42 of the California Irrigation District Act relating to publication of the delinquent list;

Has had the same under consideration, and respectfully reports the same back, and recommends that the request be granted.

Committee membership—5; committee vote: Ayes—5.

RICH, Chairman.
McCOLL.
TICKLE.
KNOWLAND.
SLATER.

The question being on the adoption of the report.

The roll was called in accordance with the provisions of section 2 of Article IV of the Constitution, and the report adopted by the following vote:

AYES—Senators Allen, Biggar, Cunningham, DeLap, Deuel, Fletcher, Garrison, Gordon, Hays, Hollister, Holohan, Keating, Keough, Knowland, Law, McColl, McGovern, Metzger, Mixer, Nielsen, Olson, Phillips, Pierovich, Quinn, Rich, Schottky, Seawell, Slater, Tickle, Wagy, Westover, and Young—32.

NOES—None.

Introduction, First Reading and Reference of Bills.

The following bill was introduced:

Senate Bill No. 1099: By Senator Cunningham—An act to amend section 42 of the California Irrigation District Act, relating to publication of the delinquent list.

Senate Bill No. 1099 read first time, and referred to Committee on Irrigation.

President of the Senate in the Chair.

At three o'clock and five minutes p.m., Hon. George J. Hatfield, President of the Senate, in the chair.

Assistant Secretary Howard McIntire at the desk.

Third Reading of Senate Bills.

Senate Bill No. 323—An act to add section 661.8 to the Political Code, relating to the payment of claims against the State and indorsing of warrants issued therefor.

Bill read third time.

The question being on the passage of the bill.

The roll was called, and Senate Bill No. 323 passed by the following vote:

NOES—None.

Title read and approved.

Senate Bill No. 323 ordered transmitted to the Assembly.

Senate Bill No. 1072—An act amending sections 9 and 31 of the act of the Legislature of the State of California entitled, "An act to provide for the formation, government, operation, reorganization, dissolution and alteration of boundaries of sanitary districts in any part of the State, for the construction of sewers, septic tanks and other sanitary purposes; the acquisition of property thereby; the calling and conducting of elections in such districts; the assessment, levy, collection, custody and disbursement of taxes therein; the issuance and disposal of the bonds thereof and the determination of their validity and making provision for the payment of such bonds and the disposal of their proceeds, to empower sanitary boards to make and enforce sanitary regulations and providing penalties for violations thereof," approved May 17, 1923, as amended, relating to elections of sanitary boards in sanitary districts.

Bill read third time.

The question being on the passage of the bill.

The roll was called, and Senate Bill No. 1072 passed by the following vote:

NOES—None.

Title read and approved.

Senate Bill No. 1072 ordered transmitted to the Assembly.

Senate Bill No. 1071—An act validating the election and classification of members of the sanitary board of sanitary districts reorganized pursuant to section 31 of the act of the Legislature entitled, "An act to provide for the formation, government, operation, reorganization, dissolution and alteration of boundaries of sanitary districts in any part of the State, for the construction of sewers, sewage tanks and other sanitary purposes, the acquisition of property thereby, the calling and conducting of elections in such districts, the assessment, levy, collection, custody and disbursement of taxes thereon, the issuance and disposal of the bonds thereof and the determination of their validity and making provision for the payment of such bonds and the disposal of their proceeds, to empower sanitary boards to make and enforce sanitary regulations and providing penalties for violations thereof," approved May 17, 1923, as amended, and providing that this act shall take effect immediately.

Bill read third time.

Urgency Clause.

SEC. 2. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, and shall take effect immediately. The following is a statement of the facts constituting such urgency: After reorganization of sanitary districts of this State pursuant to section 31 of the above mentioned act of the Legislature of the State of California elections have been held within such districts in which five members of the sanitary boards thereof have been elected, and the members so elected have themselves elected themselves by lot for the purpose of fixing their respective terms of office, and are now acting as such members. Doubts, however, have arisen relative to the legality of the organization of said sanitary boards as so constituted. Cleanup of such districts require the immediate construction and completion of sanitary works, which are essential to the health of the inhabitants of such districts, and for that reason it is desired to authorize, issue and sell these bonds, but such bonds can not be sold unless and until said doubts relative to the legality of the organization of the sanitary boards of such districts are removed.

Urgency clause read.

The question being on the adoption of the urgency clause.

The roll was called, and the urgency clause adopted by the following vote:

AYES—Senators Allen, Riggat, Cunningham, DeLap, Fletcher, Garrison, Gordon, Hays, Hollister, Holohan, Keating, Keough, Knowland, Law, McCall, McGovern, Metzger, Mixer, Nielsen, Olson, Parkman, Phillips, Pierovich, Powers, Quinn, Rich, Schottky, Seawell, Slater, Tickle, Waggy, and Westover—32.

 NOES—None.

The question being on the passage of the bill.

The roll was called, and Senate Bill No. 1071 passed by the following vote:

 NOES—None.

Title read and approved.

Senate Bill No. 1071 ordered transmitted to the Assembly.

Senate Bill No. 744—An act to amend section 2 of the State Contract Act, relating to the State Department of Finance.

Bill read third time.

The question being on the passage of the bill.

Unfinished Business.

Assembly Joint Resolution No. 35.

Relative to memorializing the President and Congress to provide for the investigation by the United States Reclamation Service and the United States Biological Survey of the engineering problems involved in, and the feasibility of, diverting sump waters from the Tule Lake area into the Lower Klamath Lake area.

WHEREAS, More than 25,000 acres of extremely fertile lands lying within the sump area of Tule Lake will soon be inundated by sump waters at the present rate of development of the district; and

WHEREAS, This great economic loss can be avoided by removal of a portion of this water into other outlets; and

WHEREAS, It is possible and economical to develop a great portion of these lands into fertile farm tracts; and

WHEREAS, The waters so diverted from this sump area can be advantageously used in the development of a breeding and resting ground for migratory water fowl in the Lower Klamath Lake area; and

WHEREAS, A proper solution of the problem will require engineering study covering the utilization of flood waters from Lost River and Upper Klamath Lake, water rights around Lower Klamath Lake, pumping of the sump waters, construction of canals, and many other factors; and

WHEREAS, The drainage and reclamation problems involved and the bird and wild life conservation problems involved each require the consideration of experts in these subjects; and

WHEREAS, The proposed project is of state-wide and more than state-wide interest, and is in line with the policies of the Federal Government to reclaim and develop fertile lands and to conserve the wild life of the country; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly and Senate of the State of California, jointly. That the Legislature of the State of California respectfully urges the President and Congress of the United States to take whatever action may be necessary, both by way of legislation and by way of administration, to consider the advantages and the proper methods of draining the sump waters of the Tule Lake area and diverting such waters to the Lower Klamath Lake area; and be it further

Resolved, That the President and Congress are respectfully requested to cause to be made a study of the engineering, drainage, and soil life conserving aspects of the project, and to utilize therein the services of the United States Reclamation Service, the United States Biological Survey, and such other technical agencies as may be available in the several departments of the Federal Government; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States, the Vice President of the United States, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and to each Senator and member of the House of Representatives in the United States Congress from California.

Amendment No. 24.

On page 6 of the printed bill, strike out lines 13 to 28, inclusive, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"Sec. 14. If any needy employable person has during within this State a spouse, parent or adult child, and such kindred or any of them are not giving or being paid sufficient financial ability to support such person, the Department of Social Welfare, or county or city and county administering aid hereunder, as the case may be, may refuse to give aid under this act. If the department, or county or city and county acting hereunder, extends aid, such aid shall be for the limited time to the extent of such financial ability that possesses the State, or county or city and county, in its own behalf or in behalf of the State, as the case may be, for support of such needy employable person, by paying to the State, or county or city and county, in its own behalf or in behalf of the State, as the case may be, according to whether the county or city and county has received reimbursement from the State for aid furnished to such needy employable person, the amount of aid received. In any case where such kindred are not of sufficient financial ability to pay the entire charge for aid or relief furnished to such relative hereunder, then shall reimburse the State, or county or city and county, as the case may be, on behalf of the State, as the case may be, to the extent of their financial ability. Upon failure on the part of the kindred interested to perform their duty to support such needy person, the State or county or city and county administering aid hereunder, may continue to give aid and benefits, as from time to time, until reimbursement from such kindred for such care, aid or relief previously extended, or may proceed in accordance with other provisions of this act to procure court orders requiring said kindred to pay to the State, or to the county or city and county, as the case may be, monthly sums in advance."

Amendment No. 25.

On page 6, line 29, of the printed bill, strike out "14", and insert in lieu thereof the following "15".

Amendment No. 26.

On page 6 of the printed bill, strike out lines 31 to 35, inclusive, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"Sec. 15. Such proceedings to procure court orders requiring said kindred to pay to the State, or to the county or city and county, as the case may be, monthly sums in advance, shall be begun by filing in the superior court in the name of the State, or of the county or city and county administering aid hereunder, as the case may be, a petition verified in the manner of a complaint, praying that the responsibility and liability of the kindred entitled to reimbursement, who that may order be made accordingly. The provisions of Title I to IX (inclusive) of Part II of the Code of Civil Procedure shall apply to the proceedings in such action and the court shall therein determine the liability, if any, of each of the kindred for such sums. The court shall, in such action, ascertain the financial ability of the defendants and each of them, and unless it finds that a defendant is unable to pay any sum for support, the court shall order such defendant to pay to the State or county or city and county, as the case may be, a precise proportion, if any, of his liability for the support of the needy person. In no case where any one or more of the kindred has, or have, sufficient financial ability to support the needy person shall a relative beyond him or them to the order of liability issued in this act be ordered to pay any portion of the support. The order of court shall specify that a given sum shall be payable monthly in advance to the Department of Social Welfare or to the county or city and county, board of supervisors or its designated social agency, as the case may be, for the entire or partial maintenance of the defendant's needy relative in accordance with the defendant's financial ability."

"Sec. 16. Upon request by the State Department of Social Welfare, or by the board of supervisors or the duly authorized agency thereof of a county or city and county administering aid hereunder, as the case may be, the district attorney of the county or city and county in which a relative or relatives of said needy person resides or reside, shall bring action against said relative or relatives hereinafter described, and shall take such legal steps as may be necessary to procure reimbursement for aid advanced or to obtain continuing orders for support as hereinabove set forth."

"Sec. 17. The State Department of Social Welfare and the counties and cities and counties of this State are authorized to receive and expend such funds as are made available to them or to the State of California or either or both of them by the United States Government or any agency or department or board thereof for aid, relief, work relief or rehabilitation or cooperation with the United States Government for the aid or relief of indigency whether consisting of hardship and destitution due to or caused by unemployment or otherwise, and notwithstanding any other provisions of law all such funds made available to the counties or cities and counties or to the State, or either or both of them shall be expended in accordance with the rules and regulations of the United States Government or the rules and regulations of the appropriate agency, department or board thereof and in the manner therein prescribed and for all of the uses, purposes and objects authorized, directed or specified by said rules and regulations. The State Department of Social Welfare may act as agent of the United States Government in the expenditure of any moneys made available by the United States Government as hereinbefore mentioned. The Governor or the State Department of Social Welfare upon approval of the Governor, or both of them, are hereby given full power and authority to contract, agree, deal and negotiate in all the respects required by the United States Government and in all the respects for all the purposes herein mentioned or contemplated, or which, affect or concern aid or relief in this State, with the United States Government or any agency, department or board thereof on behalf of the State of California and any and all of the counties or cities and counties thereof.

SEC. 18. Section 17a is hereby added to the act cited in the title hereof to read as follows:

Sec. 17a. Every person who wilfully and with intent to deceive, falsely represents any fact or facts to be true which are not true, for the purpose of obtaining, receiving or continuing to receive aid or relief under this act, whether the same be work relief or otherwise, or who wilfully and with intent to deceive withholds or fails to disclose any facts rendering him ineligible for aid hereunder for the purpose of obtaining, receiving or continuing to receive aid or relief under this act, whether the same be work relief or otherwise, is guilty of a misdemeanor. Any person who knowingly aids or abets any other person to violate any provision of this section is guilty of criminal conspiracy and shall be punished as provided in section 182 of the Penal Code as now existing or hereafter amended.

SEC. 19. Section 17b is hereby added to the act cited in the title hereof, to read as follows:

Sec. 17b. Any relief recipient to whom any goods, wares, merchandise or commodities are furnished or supplied under the provisions of this act who sells, disposes, exchanges or otherwise misappropriates the same or any part thereof, and any person who, knowingly, assists such recipient to sell, dispose of, exchange or otherwise misappropriate goods, wares, merchandise or commodities furnished or supplied under this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

A new article, numbered III, to be added to Chapter III of Title 1 of Part III of the Political Code, containing sections 367 to 367k, inclusive, is read as follows:

Article III.

DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL WELFARE AND RELIEF.

367. A department of the government of the State of California, to be known as the Department of Social Welfare and Relief, is hereby created. It shall be conducted under the control of the Governor, who shall appoint the Director of Social Welfare and Relief, who shall be a resident of this State. The director shall be appointed by and hold office at the pleasure of the Governor, and shall receive a salary of $10,000 per annum. The director shall have authority to appoint and remove such officers and employees as may be necessary for the proper conduct of the department, and shall have authority to expend the public funds of the State for the purposes of the department.

367a. For the purposes of administration, the department shall be organized forthwith by the director, with the approval of the Governor, in such manner as shall be deemed necessary and proper to carry out the duties of the department.

367b. The work of the department is hereby divided into at least five divisions, to be known respectively as the Division of Aid to the Aged, the Division of Children and Children's Aid, the Division of Aid to the Blind, the Division of Alcoholism, and the Division of Unemployment Relief.

The director shall have power to arrange and classify the work of the department, and with the approval of the Governor, may create such other divisions and subdivisions as may be necessary, and change or change back other divisions from time to time. The duties of each division shall be specified by the director.

367c. The director, as head of the department, shall possess all powers, exercise all powers and prerogatives, receive and disburse all appropriations, and carry out and effect all purposes now or hereafter vested by law in the Department of Social Welfare and Relief.

367d. Except as otherwise provided in this article, the provisions of Article II of Chapter III of Title 1 of Part III of the Political Code, as amended by the forty-fourth session of the Legislature, as amended and as the same may be amended from time to time, shall apply to the members of the Department of Social Welfare and Relief in every respect the same as if such provisions were herein set forth at length. Whenever in said Article II the term "head of the department," head of a department," or similar designating words, are used, for the purposes of this article, mean the Director of Social Welfare and Relief.

367e. Except as in this article otherwise provided, the Department of Social Welfare and Relief shall succeed to and is hereby vested with all the duties, powers, purposes, responsibilities and organization of the Department of Social Welfare created by Chapter 128 of the Statutes of 1927, the Social Welfare Board, the Director of Social Welfare, and of the several officers, deputies, and employees of such department, board and director, or any thereof, and except as in this article otherwise provided, whenever by the provisions of any statute or law now in force or that may hereafter be enacted, a duty or jurisdiction is imposed on authority conferred upon said department, board or director, or upon any of said officers, deputies or employees, such duty, jurisdiction and authority are hereby thrust upon and transferred to the Department of Social Welfare and Relief, with the same force and effect as if the title of the Department of Social Welfare and Relief had been specifically set forth and named therein, in lieu of the name of such department, board or director, or of any such officer, deputy or employee, or in lieu of the names of "State Board of Charities and Commissions," "Department of Public Welfare," "Executive Board of the Department of Public Welfare," "Children's Agents"; provided, however, that appeals allowed by section 5 of "An act to provide for needy blind persons, not inmates of any institution supported in whole or in part by the State or any of its political subdivisions, making appropriations therefor and prescribing penalties for the violations of the provisions of the act," approved May 28, 1929, and by section 2283 of the Political Code, and by section 14 of the Old Age Security Act, shall be taken to and be heard by the State Board of Com-

trol, whose decisions shall have the same force and effect as heretofore attached to decisions in such matters of the Department of Social Welfare.

The following named bodies and offices and the positions of all deputies, officers and employees thereunder, are and each of them is hereby abolished and shall have no further legal existence: Department of Social Welfare, Social Welfare Board, and Director of Social Welfare; but the statutes and laws under which they existed, and all laws prescribing their duties, powers, purposes, responsibilities and jurisdiction, together with all lawful regulations and jurisdiction, are hereby expressly continued in force, except as in this article provided.

367f. The Department of Social Welfare and Relief shall succeed to and is hereby vested with all the duties, powers, purposes, responsibilities and jurisdiction of the Relief Administrator and the Relief Commission under the provisions of the California Unemployment Relief Act of 1935 or of any other law, and of the several officers, deputies and employees of or under the Relief Administrator or the Relief Commission; and whenever, by the provisions of any statute or law now in force or that may hereafter be enacted, a duty or jurisdiction is imposed or authority conferred upon the Relief Administrator or the Relief Commission, or upon any of the officers, deputies or employees of or under either thereof, such duty, jurisdiction and authority are hereby imposed upon and transferred to the Department of Social Welfare and Relief with the same force and effect as if the title of the said last named department had been specifically set forth and named therein, in lieu of the name of the Relief Administrator, the Relief Commission, or any such officer, deputy or employee thereof or thereunder.

For the purposes of this article, the terms "Relief Administrator," "Relief Commission," or similar designation, and of the several officers, deputies and employees of or under either thereof, when used in any statute or law now in force, or that may hereafter be enacted, shall be construed to mean and refer to the Department of Social Welfare and Relief, the same as if the title of such department had been specifically set forth and named therein.

The Relief Commission and the office of Relief Administrator, and the positions of all deputies, officers and employees of or under either thereof, are and each of them is hereby abolished and shall have no further legal existence; but the statutes and laws under which they existed and all laws prescribing their duties, powers, purposes and responsibilities and jurisdiction, are hereby expressly continued in force.

367g. The Department of Social Welfare and Relief shall take and be in possession of and control all records, books, papers, equipment, supplies, money, funds, appropriations, lands and other property, whether real or personal, now or hereafter held, possessed or controlled by or for the benefit or use of the Department of Social Welfare, or any of the departments, divisions or agencies or other officers or employees that are hereby abolished, dispensed with or superseded, and the officers, agents and employees of such departments and agencies and of all agencies, associations or organizations having any such property in their possession or under their control, are hereby authorized and directed to deliver any and all such property to the Department of Social Welfare and Relief.

367h. The unexpended balance of money in the unemployment relief fund and the unexpended balance of any funds or moneys appropriated for the support or use of the Department of Social Welfare, or of any of the departments, divisions or agencies hereby abolished or superseded, shall be transferred immediately on the taking effect of this act to the Department of Social Welfare and Relief, to be under its control and at its disposal thenceforth, to carry out the provisions and to accomplish the purposes hereof.

SEC. 2. Article III of Chapter III of Title I of Part III of the Political Code, embracing sections 367 to 367g, both inclusive, as added to the Political Code at the forty-seventh session of the Legislature, and all acts and parts of acts in conflict therewith, are hereby repealed."

Third Reading of Assembly Bills.

Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 29.

Directing an investigation and report on the construction of said Antelope Toll Bridge.

WHEREAS, It is the policy of the State of California to acquire and own all toll bridges situated upon or along any part of the highways of the State with the end in view of completely eliminating all toll bridges thereon; and

WHEREAS, Two privately owned Antelope Toll Bridge constitutes an important connecting link between highways of the State; and

WHEREAS, The present rates of tolls across said bridge are relatively higher than tolls on other toll bridges; and

WHEREAS, The construction of said toll bridge by the State or the California Toll Bridge Authority at the earliest possible date is in conformity with said established policy; and, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Assembly of the State of California, the Senate thereon concurring, That the California Toll Bridge Authority is hereby authorized and directed to conduct a survey and investigation of said toll bridge with a view to the feasibility and practicability of the acquisition, as at the time of October, 1937, and up to the first of July, 1938, of this toll bridge for purchase or condemnation by the State or the California Toll Bridge Authority, which survey and investigation shall comprehend the appraisal of the value of the structure in view of its construction, the amount of compensation to the owner when in the judgment of said authority should be paid on the basis of the value of the structure and the length of time which the franchise has yet to run; the quantity of shipping trade for such navigation by towing and sailing vessels passing the toll; the tolls for it computed as necessary to collect pending the replacement of said present bridge; and the estimated amount, in the rate of tolls which may be effected immediately upon acquisition of said toll bridge; and be it further

Resolved, That as a part of the report hereinafter referred to, the California Toll Bridge Authority shall prepare and submit to the Legislature:

(a) Historical tables of the annual average tolls and the necessary to raise such revenue bonds over a twenty year period together with interest thereon computed at 3 per cent, and with interest computed at 4 per cent.

(b) Historical tables of the traffic over said bridge for the years 1902 to 1936 inclusive, showing by years the amount of different classes of traffic and the amounts from each class at the present toll rates together with an estimate of the amount of annual traffic over said bridge at the present rate of tolls from the first of January, 1937, to the expiration of the franchise on said bridge.

(c) Historical tables, by years, showing the estimated cost of the operation and maintenance of said bridge and of the estimated cost of collecting tolls thereon for a period of twenty years, together with a report upon the property and feasibility of paying such maintenance, operation and toll collections costs from the gas tax fund.

(d) A report upon the effect the lowering of tolls upon said bridge may have with respect to the volume of traffic which may be expected to use the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge; and be it further

Resolved, That the California Toll Bridge Authority shall prepare a report of the results of such investigation and survey and deliver it to the Chief Clerk of the Assembly prior to April 27, 1937.

Resolution read.

Introduction, First Reading and Reference of Bills.

The following bill was introduced:

Senate Joint Resolution No. 15: By Senator Fletcher—Relative to memorializing and petitioning Congress to enact adequate legislation to regulate the presentation of radio programs dealing with crime.

Consideration of Senate Joint Resolution No. 15.

Senator Fletcher asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent for the consideration of Senate Joint Resolution No. 15, without reference to committee for purpose of adoption.

Senate Joint Resolution No. 15.

Relative to memorializing and petitioning Congress to enact appropriate legislation to regulate the presentation of radio programs dealing with crime.

WHEREAS, During the past few years radio stations throughout the Nation have been broadcasting, without discretion or restriction, programs comprising the nefarious exploits of criminals; and

WHEREAS, These broadcasts are corrupting many sections of impressionable, tender, and immature mind to emulate the deeds of the characters they portray, inciting them to crime and general moral demoralization; and

WHEREAS, The Government of the United States has no effective legislation entitling it to supervise, regulate or control these programs, and the several States themselves are powerless to act in that respect; and

WHEREAS, Proper legislation by the Congress of the United States would have a salutary effect and would tend to raise the quality and moral tone of these programs; and

WHEREAS, The protection and welfare of the public now demands that the United States of America now extend its legislation to this field; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly of the State of California, jointly: That the Legislature of the State of California at its first session regular session, support memorializes and petitions the Congress of the United States to enact appropriate legislation for the regulation of radio programs dealing with crime; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be presented by the Secretary of the Senate to the President of the United States, to the members of the Federal Communications Commission, and to each Senator and Representative in Congress of the State of California.

Resolution read.

The question being on the adoption of the resolution.

On page 3 of the printed bill, following line 51, insert the following:

"Sec. 5. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution, and shall therefore go into immediate effect.

The facts constituting such necessity are as follows:

Upon the expiration of two years after the enactment by Congress of the Banking Act of 1935, signed by the President August 23, 1935, said act prohibits all banks, members of the Federal Reserve System, from paying any interest upon any deposit in the United States, including deposits of public funds made by or on behalf of any State, county, school district, or other subdivision or municipality, which is payable on demand, and makes the payment of interest by such banks on all such deposits, other than those payable on demand, subject to limitation by regulation by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. Said Banking Act of 1935 also authorizes the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System to define "demand" and "time" deposits and to determine what shall be deemed to be a payment of interest and to prescribe such rules and regulations as it may deem necessary, and also requires that no such bank shall pay any time deposit before its maturity except upon such conditions and in accordance with such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the said board.

Unless effectively amended on or before August 23, 1937, the existing law of this State, because of the restrictions imposed by the Banking Act of 1935, will make it mandatory that very large sums of public money be withdrawn from deposit with banks and that all amounts so withdrawn be held by the Treasurer in his own possession and handled in currency.

It is necessary that the withdrawal of such an amount of currency from circulation at one time be prevented and that the radical and objectionable changes in the handling of public financial transactions that would immediately ensue, as an inevitable result of such withdrawal and holding of currency, be obviated and that the means of deriving revenue from the depositing of public funds be impeded as little as possible. This act will permit the State to make deposits in such a manner as to comply with the Federal requirements. This act is necessary in order to permit the economical, orderly, and safe handling of the funds of the State."

Sec. 4. The Surveyor General is hereby authorized, upon the payment to him of 50 cents per acre, for each acre in any enclosed tract, the boundaries of the lands proposed to be prospected, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, to grant (a) to any person or association of persons, who are citizens of the United States or who have declared their intention of becoming such, or who are eligible to citizenship under the laws of the United States and are citizens of any country, dependency, colony or possession, the same immunities and privileges of which permit grant of similar or like privileges to citizens of the United States; or (b) to any corporation ninety per cent or more of the stock of which is owned by citizens of the United States or by citizens of any such country, dependency, colony or province whose citizens are eligible to citizenship under the laws of the United States, in the order of the applications made therefore, a prospecting permit as hereinafter described; provided, however, that the Surveyor General is hereby authorized to issue such a prospecting permit to any alien person entitled thereto by virtue of any treaty between the United States and the nation or country of which such alien person is a citizen or subject. Such prospecting permit shall give the exclusive right, for a period not exceeding two years, to prospect for oil or gas, or for both oil and gas, upon not exceeding 640 acres of land wherein such deposits of oil or gas belong to the State and are not within any known geological structure of a producing oil or gas field, upon condition that the permittee shall begin drilling operations within four months from the date of the permit and shall within nine months from and after the date of the permit drill one or more wells for oil or gas to a depth of not less than 1,000 feet each, unless valuable deposits of oil or gas shall be sooner discovered, and shall within eighteen months from the date of the permit drill for oil or gas to an aggregate depth of not less than 2,000 feet unless valuable deposits of oil or gas shall be sooner discovered.

The Surveyor General may, if he shall find upon proper application and proof thereof that the permittee has been unable with the exercise of diligence to complete drilling operations in the time granted by the permit, extend time not exceeding two years, from the date of the permit and upon such conditions as he shall prescribe.

Whether the lands sought in any such application and permit are surveyed or unsurveyed the applicant shall prior to filing his application for permit, locate such land in a reasonably compact form and according to the legal subdivisions of the public land surveys if the land be surveyed; and in an approximately square or rectangular tract, if the land be an unsurveyed tract, the length of which shall not exceed two and one-half times its width; the land to be surveyed by the Surveyor General at the expense of the applicant for the permit in such form as the Surveyor General shall deem to be to the best interest of the State; provided, however, that in case of prospecting permits and leases to river beds, or lake beds, the width or length of the prospecting permit or lease along the shore line, measured on an east and west or north and south line, shall not exceed one-quarter mile. No such prospecting permit shall be issued covering any overflowed, tide or submerged lands.

If the applicant shall cause to be erected upon the land for which a permit is sought a monument not less than four feet high, at some conspicuous place thereon, and shall post a notice in writing on or near said monument, stating that an application for permit will be made within 30 days after the date of posting said notice, giving the name of the applicant, the date of the notice, and such a general description of the land to be covered by such permit by reference to courses and distances from such monument and such other natural objects and permanent monument as will reasonably identify the land, stating the amount thereof in acres, he shall during the period of 30 days following such marking and posting, be entitled to a preferential right over others to a permit for the land so identified; provided, however, that applicant shall, as a part of his application for a permit, show that within two days after the posting of the said notice, he recorded a copy of the same in the county recorder's office of the county in which the said land is situated.

The applicant shall, within 90 days after receiving a permit, mark each of the corners of the tract described in the permit upon the ground with substantial monuments, so that the boundaries can be readily traced on the ground, and shall post in a conspicuous place upon the lands a notice that such permit has been granted and a description of the lands covered thereby; provided, however that where the boundaries of the land sought to be prospected or developed under lease are wholly or partially in river or lake beds, the notice shall be conspicuously posted on a monument as close to a corner of the land as possible and shall specifically describe the area to be developed by courses and distances so that the limits of the area can be easily determined."

Sec. 5. Upon establishing to the satisfaction of the Surveyor General that valuable deposits of oil or gas have been discovered within the limits of the land embraced in any permit, the permittee shall be entitled to a lease for one-fourth of the land embraced in the prospecting permit; provided, that the permittee shall be granted a lease for as much as 100 acres of said lands, if there be that number of area within the permit. The area to be selected by the permittee shall be in compact form and if surveyed, to be described by the legal subdivisions of the public land surveys; if unsurveyed, to be surveyed by the Surveyor General at the expense of the applicant for lease in accordance with rules and regulations to be prescribed by the Surveyor General, and the lands leased shall be conformed to and taken in accordance with the legal subdivisions of such surveys; deposits made to cover expense of survey shall be deemed appropriated for that purpose, and any excess deposit may be repaid to the person or persons making such deposits, or their legal representative. Such lease shall be for a term of 20 years upon a royalty of 12 1/2 per centum in amount or value of the production and the annual payment in advance of a rental of one dollar per acre, the rental paid for any one year to be credited against the royalties as they accrue for that year, with the right of renewal as prescribed in section 8 hereof.

The permittee shall also be entitled to a preference right to a lease for the remainder of the land in his prospecting permit at a royalty of not less than 20 per centum in amount or value of the production, and under such other conditions as are fixed for oil or gas leases in this act, including the right of renewal as prescribed in section 8 hereof, the bonus and royalty to be determined by competitive bidding or fixed by such other method as the Surveyor General may by regulations prescribe; provided, that the Surveyor General shall have the right to reject any and all bids.

Sec. 7. All permits and leases of lands containing oil or gas, made or issued under the provisions of this act, shall be subject to the condition that no wells shall be drilled within 200 feet of any of the outer boundaries of the lands so permitted or leased, unless the adjoining lands have been patented or the title thereto otherwise vested in private owners without a reservation to the State of oil and gas deposits therein. And to the further condition that the permittee or lessee will, in conducting his explorations and mining operations, use all reasonable precautions to prevent waste of oil or gas developed in the land, or the entrance of water through wells drilled by him to the oil sands or oil-bearing strata, to the destruction or injury of the oil deposits. Violations of the provisions of this section shall constitute grounds for the forfeiture of the permit or lease, to be enforced through appropriate proceedings in courts of competent jurisdiction.

SEC. 6. Section 8 of the act cited in the title hereto is hereby amended to read as follows:

SEC. 8. All unappropriated deposits of oil or gas situated within the known geologic structure of a producing oil or gas field and the adjacent lands underlying the same, with respect to which no producing permit shall be granted and which shall not be subject to preferential lease, may be leased by the Surveyor General to the highest responsible bidder by competitive bidding under general regulations to qualified applicants to cover not exceeding 160 acres and in tracts which shall not exceed in length two and one-half times the width, the maximum land to be leased according to legal subdivisions, the leaseholders have to be accepted by the Surveyor General, if the extension of the lease, in such cases as the Surveyor General shall deem to be to the best interest of the State. Provided, however, that in case of leases to river bed or lake bed, the width or length of the lease along the shore line, measured on an east and west or north and south line, shall not exceed one-quarter mile, such leases to be conditioned upon the payment for one barrel of such barrels as may be accepted and of such royalty as may be fixed in the lease, which shall not be less than 20 per centum in amount or value of the production, and the payment in advance of a royalty of not less than one dollar per acre per annum thereafter during the continuance of the lease, the rental paid for any one year to be credited against the royalty as then fixed for that year. Leases shall be for a period of 20 years with the privilege to renew in the lease to extend the same for successive periods of 10 years upon such reasonable terms and conditions as may be prescribed by the Surveyor General, unless otherwise provided by law at the time of the expiration of such permit.

Whenever the average daily production of any oil well shall not exceed ten barrels per day, the Surveyor General is authorized to reduce the royalty on future production when in his judgment the wells can not be successfully operated upon the royalty fixed in the lease. The provisions of this paragraph shall apply to all oil and gas leases made under this act, provided, further, that the Surveyor General shall not lease or receive any application for lease, and shall not give a lease to the highest responsible bidder by competitive bidding under the provisions of this section of any title, overflowed or submerged lands of this State after the approval of this act and prior to the first day of September, 1929.

SEC. 7. Section 12 of the act cited in the title hereto is hereby amended to read as follows:

No person, association of persons, or corporation shall take or hold, either directly or indirectly, under the terms of this act, permit or permits, lease or leases, exceeding in acreage 400 acres for each of the minerals reserved to the State under the terms of this act, and no person, association of persons, or corporation shall take or hold at any one time any interest or interests in a number of an association or corporations, or as a stockholder of a corporation or corporations holding a permit or permits, lease or leases, under the provisions of this act, together with any other interest or interests, or as a member of an association or associations, or as a stockholder of a corporation or corporations holding a permit or permits, lease or leases, under the provisions of this act, but any kind of said minerals leased hereunder, exceeds in the aggregate an amount equivalent to the maximum number of acres of the respective kinds of minerals allowed to any one permittee or lessee under this act.

Provided, however, that for the purposes of this section, a person, association of persons, or corporation which is a member of an association or stockholder in a corporation holding a permit or permits, lease or leases, under the provisions of this act, shall be chargeable only with that proportion of the number of acres of minerals or permits, lease or leases, held by said association or corporation, which his or its interest in said association bears to the entire interest held by all the members in said association or which his or its stock holdings in said corporation bear to the stock held by all the stockholders of said corporation, and provided further, that for the purposes of this section, a person, association of persons, or corporation holding a fractional undivided interest, whether it be the legal or beneficial interest, in a permit or permits, lease or leases, shall be chargeable only with that proportion of the acreage of said permit or permits, lease or leases, which his or its fractional undivided interest bears to the entire interests held in said permit or permits, lease or leases, by all persons, associations of persons, or corporations.

Any interest held in violation of this act shall be forfeited to the State of California by appropriate proceedings for that purpose in the superior court for the county in which the property, or some part thereof, is located, except that any ownership or interest forbidden in this act which may be acquired by descent, will judgment, or decree may be held for two years and not longer after its acquisition. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to limit or to prevent any number of permittees or lessees under the provisions of this act from conducting their several interests so far as may be necessary for the purposes of constructing and carrying on the business of a refinery, or of establishing and constructing as a common carrier a pipe line or lines of railroads to be operated and used by them jointly in the transportation of oil from their several wells, or from the wells of other lessees under this act, or the transportation of coal.

And provided further, that for the purpose of more properly conserving the natural resources of any single oil or gas pool or field, permittees and lessees thereof and their representatives may unite with each other jointly or separately, or jointly or separately with others owning or operating lands not belonging to the State, in collectively adopting and operating under a cooperative or unit plan of development or operation of said pool or field, whenever determined and certified by the Surveyor General to be necessary or advisable in the public interest, and the Surveyor General is thereunto authorized in his discretion, with the consent of the holders of leases or permits involved, to establish, alter, change and revoke, drilling, and producing requirements of such leases or permits, and to make such regulations with reference to such leases and permits with like consent on the part of the lessee or lessees and permittees in connection with the institution and operation of any such cooperative or unit plan as he may deem necessary or proper to secure the proper protection of the interest of the State of California.

And further provided, that when any permit immediately adjacent to another permit or lease upon which valuable deposits of oil or gas have been discovered, and in good standing and not expired on January 1, 1935, has been included, with the approval of the Surveyor General, in a unit plan of development or operation under this section, the Surveyor General may issue a lease for the area of the permit so included in said plan without further proof of discovery, upon such royalty requirements as may appear to him to be to the best interests of the State, but not less than a royalty of twenty (20) per centum.

And provided further, that the Surveyor General is hereby authorized, on such conditions as he may prescribe, to approve operating, drilling or development contracts made by one or more permittees or lessees in oil or gas leases or permits with one or more persons, associations, or corporations, whenever in his discretion and regardless of acreage limitations, provided for in this section, the conservation of natural products or the public convenience or necessity may require it, or the interests of the State of California may be best subserved thereby.

And provided further, that whenever it appears to the Surveyor General that wells now drilled upon private lands are draining oil or gas from lands owned by the State of California, the Director of Finance is hereby authorized and empowered on behalf of the State of California to cause the production thereof from such State lands to offset such drainage and to produce oil and gas from such State lands for the benefit of the State in the manner provided for by law.

And provided further, that, if any of lands or deposits leased under the provisions of this act shall be subleased, trusted, possessed, or controlled by any device permanently, temporarily, directly, indirectly, tacitly, or in any manner whatsoever, so that they form part of, or are in anywise controlled by any combination in the form of an unlawful trust, with consent of lessee, or form the subject of any contract or conspiracy in restraint of trade in the mining or selling of coal, phosphate, oil, oil shale, gas, or sodium entered into by the lessee, or any agreement or understanding, written, verbal, or otherwise to which such lessee shall be a party, of which his or its output is to be or become the subject, to control the price or prices thereof or of any holding of such lands by any individual, partnership, association, corporation, or control in excess of the amounts of lands provided in this act, the lease thereof shall be forfeited by appropriate court proceedings.

Sec. 8. Section 13 of this act cited in the title hereof is hereby amended to read as follows:

Rights of way through all State lands may be granted for pipe-line purposes for the transportation of oil or natural gas to any applicant possessing the qualifications provided in section 4 of this act, to the extent of the ground occupied by the said pipe line and 25 feet on each side of the same under such conditions and regulations as to survey, location, application, and use as may be prescribed by the Surveyor General and upon the express condition that such pipe lines shall be constructed, operated, and maintained as common carriers.

Provided, that the Surveyor General shall in express terms reserve and shall provide in every lease of oil lands hereunder that the lessee, assignee, or beneficiary, if owner or operator or owner of a controlling interest in any pipe line or of any company operating the same which may be operated accessible to the oil derived from lands under such lease, shall at reasonable rates and without discrimination accept and convey the oil of the State or of any person, association of persons, or corporation not the owner of any pipe line, operating a lease or purchasing gas or oil under the provisions of this act; provided, that no right of way shall hereafter be granted over said lands for the transportation of oil or natural gas except under and subject to the provisions, limitations, and conditions of this section.

Failure to comply with the provisions of this section or the regulations prescribed by the Surveyor General shall be ground for forfeiture of the grant by appropriate proceedings prosecuted in the superior court for the county in which the property, or some part thereof, is located; and provided further, that all of the rights and privileges as are now, or as may hereafter be provided by law, respecting the acquisition of rights of ingress, egress and regress over the property of another, the proceedings in eminent domain, are hereby expressly given to a permittee or lessee so that such permittee or lessee may carry on the operations contemplated under the terms of this act.

Sec. 9. Section 17 of this act cited in the title thereof is hereby amended to read as follows:

Any person or association of persons, corporate or otherwise, including nations or riparian owners of tide, overflowed or submerged land, as provided in section 17a of this act, who enters or has entered upon any land or lands owned under the provisions of this act, and who is holding or attempting to hold or occupy, use such land, is guilty of a trespass, and the claims being asserted are hereby declared to be null and void, and any property placed upon the said land is hereby declared forfeited to the State, and the Surveyor General is hereby authorized and empowered to issue a prospector's permit or lease on the said land to any qualified claimant who shall comply with the provisions of this act after a hearing thereon.

Sec. 10. Sections 10, 17a and 18a of the act cited in the title thereof are hereby repealed."

Resolution.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, } ss.
COUNTY OF MERCED, }

WHEREAS, At the regular session of the Legislature of the State of California held during the year 1933, there was passed by the State Legislature and approved by the Governor, a bill introduced by Senator Arthur H. Ross, relating to the State highway system, several thousand miles of county roads, and

WHEREAS, Said bill as originally introduced included a road from Newman, Stanislaus County, to Livingston, Merced County, part of which road was and is in Merced County; and

WHEREAS, Said road is a twisting and turning road filled with several right angle turns and is not suitable or desirable as a State highway; and

WHEREAS, The John C. Fremont Road from Gustine, Merced County, to Merced is free from right angle turns and is a main artery of travel from the west to one side of Merced County to the county seat, and is suitable and desirable as a State highway; and

WHEREAS, In 1933 the Board of Supervisors of Merced County and the State Senator from Merced County, Honorable Andrew R. Schottky, and the Assemblyman from Merced County, Honorable C. Ray Robinson, all desired the John C. Fremont Road from Gustine to Merced to be included in the State highway system, rather than the Newman to Livingston Road; and

WHEREAS, Upon motion offered by Senator Andrew R. Schottky, said bill of Senator Breed's was amended in the State Senate by substituting the John C. Fremont Road from Gustine to Merced in place of the Newman to Livingston Road; and

WHEREAS, Thereafter by inadvertence and mistake and without the knowledge of either Senator Schottky or Assemblyman Robinson and against the desires of the Board of Supervisors of Merced County, said Newman to Livingston Road was substituted in place of the John C. Fremont Road from Gustine to Livingston; and

WHEREAS, The present Assemblyman from Merced County, Honorable J. D. Garibaldi, has introduced a bill in the State Legislature of 1937, known and designated as Assembly Bill No. 699 to correct said inadvertence and mistake and to substitute the John C. Fremont Road from Gustine to Merced in place of the Newman to Livingston Road as a part of the State highway system; and

WHEREAS, The Board of Supervisors of Merced County desire such substitution to be made; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Board of Supervisors of Merced County, California, That the State Legislature of California be, and it is hereby petitioned to pass said Assembly Bill No. 699 and to substitute the John C. Fremont Road from Gustine to Merced in the place and stead of said Newman to Livingston Road as part of the State highway system; and be it further

Resolved, That a certified copy of this resolution be forwarded forthwith by the county clerk of Merced County, to the Speaker of the Assembly and to the President of the Senate and to the Governor of the State of California.

Dated: March 15, 1937.

The foregoing instrument is a correct copy of the original on file in this office.
Attest: March 15, 1937.

P. J. THORNTON,

County Clerk and ex officio Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, in and for the County of Merced,
State of California.

Communication.

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, LEGAL DEPARTMENT.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 15, 1937.

*Honorable George J. Hatfield,
Lieutenant Governor,
State Capitol, Sacramento, California.*

DEAR SIR: Your letter of the eleventh instant referred to resolution adopted by the Senate of the State of California on that date, and stated that you desired to be advised in accordance with such resolution,

"whether the State Legislature has the power to grant a pardon to Thomas J. Mooney."

In compliance with your request, on the ninth of February, 1917, Thomas J. Mooney was, in the superior court of the City and County of San Francisco, convicted of murder in the first degree, without recommendation, and thereafter, by Executive order, his sentence was reduced to life imprisonment, and that sentence he is now serving.

The Constitutional Convention of 1849, without difference of view and with little debate, adopted as a part of the first Constitution of this State section 13 of Article V, which vested in the Governor the power to pardon, for "all offenses," except treason and impeachment, and vested in the Legislature of the State the power to pardon in cases of treason, and withheld from both the Governor and the Legislature the power to pardon in cases of impeachment. The provision on the subject, as then adopted, read:

"The Governor shall have the power to grant reprieves and pardons after conviction, for all offenses, except treason and cases of impeachment, upon such conditions and with such restrictions and limitations as he may think proper, subject to such regulations as may be provided by law relative to the manner of applying for pardons. Upon conviction for treason, he shall have the power to suspend the execution of the sentence until the case shall be reported to the Legislature at its next meeting, when the Legislature shall either pardon, direct the execution of the sentence, or grant a further reprieve. He shall communicate to the Legislature, at the beginning of every session, every case of reprieve or pardon granted, stating the name of the convict, the crime of which he was convicted, the sentence and its date, and the date of the pardon or reprieve."

In so vesting the power to pardon in the Governor the Constitutional Convention followed the precedent established by the Constitution of the then great majority of the States.

It had been proposed to vest in the Governor the power of granting "commutations," as well as reprieves and pardons, and a member of the convention moved that the proposal be amended by striking out "commutations," and such proposed amendment was carried. In speaking to the motion the member said:

"I wish to grant to the Governor the power of pardoning alone."

See Debates of the Convention of California (1849) pages 341-342.

The section of the Constitution of 1849, above quoted, remained unchanged until the adoption of the Constitution of 1879.

It does not appear in the history of this State that it was ever doubted by the courts, by the Legislature or by laymen, that the exclusive power to pardon in all cases, save treason and impeachment, was vested exclusively in the Governor. Such appears to have been the universally adopted construction of the pardoning provision of the first Constitution.

Such appears to have been the construction of the original pardoning provisions by the members of the Constitutional Convention of 1879. However, several of the members of that convention showed dissatisfaction with the original provision, and various amendments were proposed. It was in that convention proposed "that the pardoning power be vested in a committee of three."

Another proposal was that the Legislature should provide for the election of three "State Wardens to be elected by districts," etc., and that "the board of State Wardens shall constitute a Board of Pardons."

Another proposal was that

"the Governor and the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court shall have the power to grant pardons."

Another amendment was offered to the effect that

"the Governor shall have the power to grant reprieves; but nothing herein contained shall be construed to authorize the granting of pardons or commutations of sentence, after conviction."

which was followed by a provision authorizing the Governor to remove, in certain instances, a case to the court.

At no time in that convention was it suggested that the power to pardon, except in the case of treason, be vested in the Legislature.

California Constitutional Convention, Volume I, pages 90 138 274 294 375 376
Volume 3, pages 1428 1492

During the discussion of the provision in question, Mr. Shafter, a delegate to the convention, called attention to the fact that at that time in 17 of the States, including California, the power to pardon was "confided to the Governor." He further noted that in Louisiana the power vested in the Governor

"by and with the approval of the Senate," and in Maine, Massachusetts and New Hampshire the power was vested in the Senate, and in Nevada that the power was vested in the Legislature.

After full consideration of the then existing constitutional provisions of California, and the constitutional provisions of the other States, the several amendments offered were rejected and the convention by a vote of 78 to 23 adopted section 1 of Article VII, as follows:

"The Governor shall have the power to grant reprieves, pardons, and commutations of sentence, after conviction, for all offenses, except treason and cases of impeachment; upon such conditions, and with such restrictions and limitations, as he may think proper, subject to such regulations as may be provided by law relative to the manner of applying for pardons. Upon conviction for treason, the Governor shall have power to suspend the execution of the sentence until the case shall be reported to the Legislature at its next meeting, when the Legislature shall either pardon, direct the execution of the sentence, or grant a further reprieve. The Governor shall communicate to the Legislature, at the beginning of every session, every case of reprieve or pardon granted, stating the name of the convict, the crime for which he was convicted, the sentence, its date, the date of the pardon or reprieve, and the reasons for granting the same. Neither the Governor nor the Legislature shall have power to grant pardons, or commutations of sentence, in any case where the convict has been twice convicted of a felony, unless upon the written recommendation of a majority of the judges of the Supreme Court."

which section has not since been changed.

It will be noted that this provision down to the last sentence is in all substantial respects a copy of Article V, section 13 of the Constitution of 1849, and that the last sentence denying to the Governor and to the Legislature the power to pardon one who has been twice convicted of a felony.

"unless upon the written recommendation of a majority of the judges of the Supreme Court."

As it has not heretofore been claimed that the Legislature of California possessed the power to pardon in any instance save that of treason, it is not surprising that no case has been found in this State where there is a contention inconsistent with the generally accepted construction of the provisions of the Constitution.

It is interesting however to note that the District Court of Appeal in People vs. Hale, 64 Cal. App. 532, adopted the generally accepted construction, and said:

"Nowhere does the State give the prison board the right to commute or pardon, nor does it attempt to impair such power reposing exclusively in the Governor; indeed, the statute expressly recognizes that such power remains with the Governor, where it has been placed by the Constitution."

In denying the power in the court to grant relief as requested in People vs. Bowers, 2 Cal. Unrep. 878, the Supreme Court said:

"But, manifestly, the court has no authority to consider these matters as thus presented. They are no part of the record sent to us from the court below, and there is no provision of law by which newly discovered evidence may be presented to this court in the first instance. The remedy in such case rests with the Executive. He alone can afford relief."

The court in denying its power to act in the case of People vs. Mooney, quoted approvingly the above statement from the Bowers case.

People vs. Mooney, 176 Cal. 108.

An application to the Supreme Court for equitable relief was denied, the court saying:

"It is very clear to the court there is no law sustaining this application for an injunction, and that there is no relief other than an application to the Governor for a pardon."

People vs. Superior Court, 190 Cal. 625.

The Constitution of Florida vests the power to pardon with the Governor, Secretary of State, Controller, Commissioner of Agriculture and the Attorney General, in all cases except treason and impeachment, subject to such regulations as may be prescribed by law relative to the manner of applying for pardons, and of this provision the Supreme Court of Florida said:

"We are of the opinion that the pardoning power after conviction conferred by this section upon the Board of Pardons designated, is exclusive, and that the legislature can not exercise such power."

Singleton vs. State, Lawyers Reports Annotated, Book 34, pp. 251-254.

The Constitution of Missouri vested the pardoning power in the Governor, and it was held by the Supreme Court of that State that such power belonged exclusively to the Executive Department and could not be exercised by the Legislature.

State vs. Sloss, 25 Mo. 291; 69 American Dec. 467.

To like effect is the decision of the Supreme Court of Texas in Underwood vs. State, American Law Reports Annotated, 63 A. L. R. 981. The court in that opinion quotes the following from Bishop on Criminal Law, 9th Edition:

"While this power (of pardon) is not inherent in any office and may be lodged wherever people determine, if once it has been conferred by the Constitution (elsewhere) it cannot be exercised by the Legislature."

By section 2 of Article II of the Constitution of the United States it is provided that the President

"shall have power to grant reprieves and pardons for offenses against the United States, except in cases of impeachment."

It has been uniformly held that that provision gives to the President the exclusive power to pardon, and that such power does not rest in the Congress.

From the foregoing it appears that the power to pardon for all offenses, except treason and impeachment, rests exclusively with the Governor, and that the power to pardon for the offense of treason rests exclusively with the Legislature. Thomas J. Mooney having been convicted of murder, I am therefore of the view that the Legislature is without power to pardon him.

Very truly yours,

U. S. WEBB, Attorney General.

Communication.

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL,
SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, March 14, 1937.

Honorable George J. Hatfield, President of the Senate of California, State Capitol, Sacramento, California.

MR. PRESIDENT: This is in answer to your request for an opinion as to the extent of the power of the Legislature with respect to pardons, commutations and reprieves.

History.

On this subject, our Constitution provides in Article VII:

"SECTION 1. The Governor shall have the power to grant reprieves, pardons, and commutations of sentence, after conviction, for all offenses except treason and cases of impeachment, upon such conditions, and with such restrictions and limitations, as he may think proper, subject to such regulations as may be provided by law relative to the manner of applying for pardons. Upon conviction for treason, the Governor shall have power to suspend the execution of the sentence until the case shall be reported to the Legislature at its next meeting, when the Legislature shall either pardon, direct the execution of the sentence, or grant a further reprieve. The Governor shall communicate to the Legislature, at the beginning of every session, every case of reprieve or pardon granted, stating the name of the convict, the crime for which he was convicted, the sentence, its date, the date of the pardon or reprieve, and the reasons for granting the same. Neither the Governor nor the Legislature shall have the power to grant pardons, or commutations of sentence, in any case where the convict has been twice convicted of felony, unless upon the written recommendation of a majority of the Judges of the Supreme Court."

Our Constitution of 1849 had a section with similar provisions to the one above quoted. The Constitution of 1879 added "commutations of sentence" to reprieves and pardons, and the requirement that the Governor, in his report to the Legislature, shall give his "reasons for granting" each reprieve and pardon, and limited the last sentence. This section having been adopted by the people in 1879 as a part of the Constitution, has remained unchanged to this day. In view of this condition and the fact that the Legislature was constituted in the same in connection with independent representation it was thought desirable to make the provisions embodied in us to the class of convicted persons, namely, and to require, either and positively, that no officer or authority in the State could grant a reprieve to any of that class of convicted persons except on the advisement and not, which was provided to meet the possible case of the conviction of an innocent person or of a minor who had been led astray.

The provisions of the first three lines of the above section are substantially embodied in the Constitution of most of the States. In some of the States, the authority is given to the Legislature, as with us, to make regulations as to the form in which applications may be made. In some States, the Governor, in Council, or authority to grant pardons is lodged in the Council or Board of Pardons, of which, generally, the Governor is a member. In others, the power is given to the Governor, acting on the advice of a board. Where there is a board of pardons, it is the board that acts. Where the power is given to the Governor to act on the recommendation of a board, the responsibility is the Governor's.

Discussion.

A pardon is an act of grace, a remission of guilt.

A reprieve is a respite or withholding sentence for an interval of time.

A commutation is a change of punishment to a less severe one, and may be granted only by the executive. (People vs. Decker, 722 Ill. 34.)

The case of Wilson, 29 Cal. App. 702, has pointed out that as to the power of the Governor, the Constitution makes no distinction between pardons and commutations. It follows that the same thing can be said as to reprieves.

Hereafter, unless otherwise expressed, the word "pardon" includes as well commutations and reprieves.

In the last analysis, the pardoning power is a part of the constitutional scheme and resides in the people, who may delegate it to whom they wish. Our constitutional provisions in this respect are traceable to the practice of the representatives of the English crown in colonial times (People vs. Bacon, 43 Cal. 439).

In our system, this power is not inherent in any office or body, and the people may place it where they choose. (Johnson vs. Hinman, 116 Kan. 624, 228 Pac. 82.)

The Constitution is a limitation upon the powers of the Legislature. It is a grant of power to the executive. (Field vs. People, 3 Ill. 79.)

Even where the Constitution allows the Legislature to make rules governing the application for pardon, it has been held that the Governor may not, though no rules are made; and further that if they have been made, the Governor may act though they have not been complied with. In re Moore, 4 Wyo. 98, holding such rules to be merely directory.

In any case, the authority to regulate does not carry the power to delegate the executive function. State ex rel. Rogers vs. Judges, 20 Wash. 78, where the Governor granted a pardon though the board had recommended a commutation.

It was said in California Highway Com. vs. Industrial Accident Com., 200 Cal. 44, that the Legislature having the power to deprive a prisoner of civil rights must have power to restore them. The decision in this case, however, was specifically limited to the holding that by the Convicts Road Camp Bill the Legislature intended to restore to a convict assigned to work on the public highways "such limited civil rights" as entitled him to claim the benefits of the State Workmen's Compensation Act.

Cases which seem at first glance to be in conflict prove on closer examination to be distinguishable and harmonious in principle. The true rule seems to be stated in State vs. Grant, 79 Mo. 113, at p. 129 (relying on People vs. Bacon, 43 Cal. 439, among other cases), where Justice Sherwood, speaking for the court, said:

"If the disabilities which the statute annexes to the commission of certain offenses constitutes a part and parcel of the judgment, the Legislature may not exorcise a part thereof, nothing but a full pardon of the crime itself makes the convict a new man and rehabilitates him with his former civil rights."

and it was held that the Legislature could not infringe thus far on the Governor's prerogative.

Statutes granting immunity to witnesses who testify for the State in criminal proceedings as to crimes in which they themselves were involved furnish no argument in favor of the power of the Legislature to pardon for the reason that they are enacted to carry out the spirit and direction of the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which declares that "no person shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself." See also section 13, Article I, Constitution of California. Such statutes, therefore, are based on independent constitutional authority, and are akin to acts of general amnesty. See United States vs. Swift, 186 Fed. 1002.

Amnesty statutes apparently form a class by themselves, and are generally enacted in behalf of a class of persons who are subject to trial but have not yet been convicted. See Brown vs. Walker, 161 U. S. 591; State vs. Nichols, 26 Ark. 74.

It is to be remembered that such statutes are signed by the Executive.

There is another provision of our Constitution which must be noticed in passing Section 1 of Article III divides the power of government into three separate departments—the legislative, executive and judicial—and declares that "no person charged with the exercise of powers properly belonging to one of these departments shall exercise any functions appertaining to either of the others, except as in this Constitution expressly directed or permitted."

The Constitution having conferred this power on the Governor, such power is exclusive in the absence of an express provision conferring like power in some person in the legislative or judicial departments. Butler vs. State, 97 Ind. 375. See also State vs. Stoss, 25 Mo. 291; Ex parte Garland, 4 Wall. 333. And it can not be exercised by the Legislature even to the extent of restoring civil rights. Wendewood vs. State, 111 Tex. Crim. App. 124.

In People vs. Hale, 64 Cal. App. 523, the court, in upholding the indeterminate sentence law revealed fully the position of our courts, saying

"Nowhere does the statute give the prison board the right to commute or pardon, nor does it attempt to impair such power reposing exclusively in the Governor; indeed, the statute expressly recognizes that such power remains with the Governor, where it has been placed by the constitution."

Conclusions.

1. Where the pardoning power resides depends on the will of the people as expressed in the Constitution.

2. Under the constitutional provision quoted above, except in cases of treason and impeachment, the Legislature has exhausted its power respecting pardons, commutations and reprieves after conviction, when it has provided regulations relative to the manner of applying for pardons.

Very truly yours,

ARTHUR P. WILL, Consultant.

Unfinished Business.

Senate Joint Resolution No. 14.

Relative to memorializing the President and the Congress of the United States to enact Bill H. R. 4069, which proposes to appropriate $50,000,000 to cooperate with the States of the United States in the eradication of noxious weeds, and urging the Secretary of Agriculture to expedite consideration favorable to said bill.

WHEREAS, During recent times numerous noxious weeds, such as Bermuda Grass; Nut Grass; Canada Thistle; Perennial Sow Thistle; Quack Grass; Johnson Grass; Wild Morning Glory, sometimes known as the Creeping Jenny, or Field Bind Weed; the Russian Knapp Weed; Leafy Spurge; and many others have invaded the farm and agricultural lands and gardens in most of the States of the United States, including the State of California; and

WHEREAS, Little organized effort has been made to control such noxious weeds; and

WHEREAS, It has been estimated that noxious weeds are costing the United States $3,000,000,000 every year; and

WHEREAS, A definite effort made in the State of Idaho to check such weeds has clearly demonstrated that the work can be successfully accomplished; and

WHEREAS, There was introduced in the House of Representatives by D. Worth Clark of Idaho, a bill known as H. R. 4069, which has as its purpose enabling each State to furnish financial assistance as far as practicable for the control and eradication of noxious weeds within such States and the appropriation of $50,000,000 by the Federal Government to aid in such work; and

WHEREAS, H. R. 4069 is well designed to accomplish the following purposes:

(a) It will make possible the eradication of noxious weeds in the State of California and thereby bring inestimable benefits to California agriculture,

(b) It will cause the employment of numerous deserving citizens of this State who at present, through no fault of their own, are unemployed,

(c) It will hasten economic recovery; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly of the State of California, jointly, That the President and the Congress of the United States are respectfully urged to enact legislation proposed by Bill H. R. 4069, and that Henry A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, is also urged to expedite consideration favorable to said bill; and be it further

Resolved, That the Governor of the State of California is hereby requested to transmit copies of this resolution to the President and the Vice President of the United States, to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and to the Chairman of the Committee on Agriculture of the House of Representatives and to each member of the Committee on Agriculture of the House of Representatives, and to Henry A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, and to each Senator and member of the House of Representatives from California in Congress, and that such Senators and members from California are hereby respectfully urged to support such legislation.

Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 18.

Relative to granting a full and complete pardon to Thomas J. Mooney.

WHEREAS, On February 9, 1917, in the superior court of the State of California in and for the City and County of San Francisco, Thomas J. Mooney was convicted of the crime of murder in connection with the bombing of the Preparedness Day Parade in the city of San Francisco on July 22, 1916, resulting in the death of several persons; and

WHEREAS, Thomas J. Mooney was thereupon sentenced to death, which sentence was later commuted by the Governor of the State of California to life imprisonment; and

WHEREAS, The said Thomas J. Mooney has, since said conviction, been incarcerated in the State Prison at San Quentin, where he is still confined as a life prisoner; and

WHEREAS, It has since been shown that the conviction of said Thomas J. Mooney was based upon false and perjured testimony, and it is now fully evident that said Thomas J. Mooney is innocent of the crime for which he was convicted, and should be granted immediately a full and complete pardon and set at liberty; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Assembly of the State of California, the Senate thereof concurring, a majority of all members elected to each having voted therefor and concurred therein, That the said Thomas J. Mooney be and he is hereby granted a full and complete pardon, and that the said Thomas J. Mooney be and he is hereby set at liberty; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the State of California be and he is hereby authorized and directed to transmit a certified copy of this resolution to the warden of the State Prison at San Quentin immediately upon the passage of this resolution, and that the said warden be and he is hereby authorized, ordered and directed to forthwith set at liberty and release from the custody of said State Prison the said Thomas J. Mooney upon receipt of said certified copy of this resolution, said resolution constituting a full and complete pardon by the State of California of the said Thomas J. Mooney.

Resolution read.

The question being on the adoption of the resolution

The roll was called, and Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 18 refused adoption by the following vote:

AYES—Senators Crittenden, Hollister, McGovern, Olson, and Westover—5

NOES—Senators Allen, Biggar, Cunningham, DeLoe, Donald, Fletcher, Garrison, Gordon, Hays, Holahan, Jaspersen, Keating, Kneigh, Kuykendall, McBride, Mettall, McCormack, Metzger, Mixer, Nielsen, Parkman, Phillips, Pomeroy, Powers, Quinn, Rich, Schottky, Seawell, Slater, Swing, Tickle, Waggy, Williams, and Young—34.

Remarks.

Pursuant to Senator Swing's motion, the following remarks were printed in the Journal:

By Senator Fletcher:

I can not understand why the question of pardon for Tom Mooney is before this Senate for action when both our Legislative Council and our Attorney General have given as their opinion that we have no legal right so to do. I feel any action, therefore, by this Senate is not alone a waste of time, but unfair to the parties interested. I know nothing of the innocence or guilt of Tom Mooney. The case is not being submitted to us legally or, as matters of fact, before us on the right or on here as a jury. The whole matter is purely argumentative.

I have the utmost respect for the decisions of our courts, our Board of Pardons, and the investigation and conclusions of our jury commissions. In any opinion it would be an insult to those who have had this matter legally before them, to attempt to decide the guilt or innocence of Mooney by this resolution before us today. Mooney has been offered and refused parole for the last six or six years. He has been nearly 21 years in the penitentiary; we all know that a year of good behavior in prison brings a year of credit, and certainly 42 years is a life time.

If this resolution is acted on by this Senate as to Mooney's pardon, I shall have to vote "No," for the reason that it is not a legal matter for the Senate to pass on. I stand ready to petition duly constituted authorities to parole or pardon Mooney for the reason he has paid the debt he owes to society.

By Senator McGovern:

To the Senate of California:

GENTLEMEN: In addition to oral statements heretofore made by me to the Senate with respect to the Assembly concurrent resolution by Assemblyman Thomas Maloney which grants an unconditional pardon to Thomas J. Mooney, I have a number of communications and resolutions from various organizations and persons in San Francisco supporting such resolution and endorsing a pardon for Mooney.

Because of our legislative practice in not making or preserving any record of our discussions in any legislative matter unless by special request, I respectfully ask that the Secretary of the Senate do make a record of and that there be printed in the Senate Daily Journal the names of those organizations and persons in San Francisco that have requested the Senate through me to adopt such joint resolution for a pardon for Mooney, and which are as follows:

By Senator Olson:

Remarks of Senator Olson on Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 18 Relative to Granting a Full and Complete Pardon to Thomas J. Mooney.

This resolution of the Legislature of California pardoning Thomas J. Mooney, convicted of participating in the placing of a bomb on Steuart Street near Market Street in San Francisco on July 22, 1916, which exploded and killed six people and injured many others, is one which calls upon each member of the Senate to act in accordance with his own knowledge, conscience and judgment. He has not such responsibility for his own vote to any other agency. He should not merely follow the acts or the opinions, and certainly not the prejudices of others, in voting upon this resolution. I do not believe the Senate should act on this resolution at all until a full hearing of the record of the damning case and nature and character of the evidence upon which he was convicted has been given in order that the honest judgment of each Senator may be based upon a knowledge of the case.

Nor do I believe that this resolution should be disposed of on the question as to whether the Legislature has power to pardon a person convicted of a felony under the Constitution of this State. Whether we have that power or not is questioned in the opinions given to us by the Attorney General and the Legislative Counsel. However, if the courts should decide that we do not have the power, the adoption of this resolution would, at least, mean the expression of the will of our body with reference to the pardon of Mossey, and be persuasive upon the Governor of the pardoning power resides solely in the Governor.

With due respect to the opinion of the Attorney General and the Legislative Counsel, I suggest that the Legislature has the power to pardon Mossey for the following reasons:

The Constitution of the State is not a grant of powers, but a restriction upon the powers of the Legislature. It is competent for the Legislature to exercise all powers not forbidden by the State or Federal Constitutions.

People vs. Coleman (1854) 4 Cal. 46, 60 Am. Dec. 581.

Smith vs. Judge of the Twelfth District (1861) 17 Cal. 547.

Ex parte McCarthy (1866) 20 Cal. 395.

Hager vs. Supervisors of Yuba County (1871) 47 Cal. 222.

Sheehan vs. Scott (1905) 145 Cal. 684, 79 Pac. 450.

Hilborn vs. Nye (1911) 15 Cal. App. 298, 114 Pac. 801.

Wigley vs. South San Joaquin Irrigation District (1916) 31 Cal. App. 162, 159 Pac. 985.

People vs. Rinner (1921) 52 Cal. App. 747, 199 Pac. 1096.

I quote from annotations of decisions:

"An express enumeration of powers, without exclusion of others not named unless accompanied by negative terms." (Ex parte McCarthy (1866) 20 Cal. 395).

"The Legislature is vested with the whole of the legislative power of the State, and may deal with any subject within the scope of civil government unless it is restrained by the provisions of the Constitution." (Macmillan Co. vs. Clarke (1920) 184 Cal. 491).

"The power of the Legislature is omnipotent and unlimited, except as circumscribed by the Constitution."

Kingsbury vs. Nye (1908) 9 Cal. App. 574, 90 Pac. 985.

In re Madison Ins. Dist. (1891) 92 Cal. 296, 27 Am. St. Rep. 106, 28 Pac. 272, 675, 14 L. R. A. 755.

Hilborn vs. Nye (1911) 15 Cal. App. 298, 114 Pac. 801.

"There is no implication of the absence or known existence of legislative authority or power, and whoever would claim that the power in any instance does not exist must point out the provision of the Constitution which has taken it away or forbidden its existence." (People vs. Rinner, 52 Cal. App. 747).

"It has never been questioned so far as I know," says Redfield, Chief Justice, "that the American Legislatures have the same unlimited power in regard to legislation which resides in the British Parliament, except where they are restrained by written Constitutions. That must be considered I think to be a fundamental principle in the political organization of the American States. We can not well comprehend how, upon principle, it should be otherwise. The people must, of course, possess all legislative power originally. They have committed this, in the most general and unlimited manner, to the several State Legislatures, saving only such restrictions as are imposed by the Constitution of the United States, or of the particular State in question."

Mitchell vs. Winneck, 117 Cal. 520.

"The power to pardon is not naturally or necessarily an executive function."

State vs. Nichols, 7 Am. Rep. 600.

Jamison vs. Flanner, 228 P. 82.

Ex parte Bustillos, 194 P. 886.

"At common law pardons proceeded from the crown or from Parliament. In England pardons by act of Parliament are not infrequently placed on a higher level than the kings." (U. S. vs. Hall, 53 Fed. 352).

The question then is whether the Constitution prohibits, by any of its provisions, the exercise of the power to pardon a prisoner convicted of a felony.

It will not be denied that there is no express provision of the Constitution prohibiting the Legislature from exercising that power. The only provision relating to the pardoning power is Article VII, which reads as follows:

"The Governor shall have the power to grant reprieves, pardons, and commutations of sentence, after conviction, for all offenses except treason and cases of impeachment, upon such conditions, and with such restrictions and limitations, as he may think proper, subject to such regulations as may be provided by law relative to the manner of applying for pardons. Upon conviction for treason, the Governor shall have power to suspend the execution of the sentence until the case shall be reported to the Legislature at its next meeting, when the Legislature shall either pardon, direct the execution of the sentence, or grant a further reprieve. The Governor shall communicate to the Legislature at the beginning of every session, every case of reprieve or pardon granted, stating the name of the convict, the crime of which he was convicted, the sentence, its date, the date of the pardon or reprieve, and the reasons for granting the same. Neither the Governor nor the Legislature shall have power to grant pardons, or commutations of sentence, in any case where the convict has been twice convicted of felony, unless upon the written recommendation of a majority of the Judges of the Supreme Court."

While this article gives the Governor the power to grant pardons, reprieves and commutations of sentence, after conviction, for all offenses except treason and cases of impeachment, it does not say that the Legislature is prohibited from the exercise of that power. Opinions given are to the effect that this provision of the Constitution, having delegated the pardoning power in certain cases to the Governor, impliedly prohibits its exercise by the Legislature in those cases. But that is not a necessary implication. On the contrary, and without considering the last clause of this section, the inference may be well drawn that this power also resides in the Legislature, because no provision is found prohibiting its exercise by the Legislature. However, the last clause of the section clearly expresses the existence of the power to pardon in the Legislature:

"Neither the Governor nor the Legislature shall have power to grant pardons, or commutations of sentence, in any case where the convict has been twice convicted of a felony, unless upon the written recommendation of a majority of the Judges of the Supreme Court."

This clause expressly recognizes that the power to grant pardons exists in the Legislature. There is no reference here to treason or cases of impeachment, but only cases of felony, in which neither the Governor nor the Legislature may grant a pardon after two convictions, except upon the recommendation of a majority of the Supreme Court.

Mooney was convicted of a felony, but was not twice convicted. Therefore, the Legislature, as well as the Governor, may pardon him without the recommendation of a majority of the Supreme Court.

I have not been able to find any decision of the courts of the State determining this question of the Legislature's power to pardon under our present Constitution. Citations are given of decisions in this and other jurisdictions but the cases cited do not deny that power to the Legislature. On the contrary, their effect is to establish that historically the power to pardon existed both in the Legislature and in the executive, and further, to establish that today the power to pardon exists in the Legislature.

However, as already stated, whatever the legal effect of the adoption of this resolution, no member voting upon it can escape the responsibility of reaching his own conclusion as to whether Mooney should be pardoned, by basing his action upon the question of the constitutional power of the Legislature to pardon him. The question involved in this resolution is one of fundamental rights and civil liberties, which the Constitution itself was created to preserve and protect. To refuse to consider the case for the technical reasons presented in a divergence of opinion as to the legal effect of the adoption of this resolution, would ignore those fundamental rights and civil liberties which it is our duty to protect.

All of the developments which have occurred, not only since Mooney's conviction, but also since the consideration of his case by any Governor of this State, regarding the manner in which he was prosecuted and the evidence upon which his conviction was based, justifies a full hearing by the Legislature of the full record of the Mooney case. All important developments material to the question of his guilt or innocence, and the unlawful manner in which he was prosecuted and convicted by public officials, have come to light since his conviction, and many of them only in the past few years.

Many of these developments are extra-judicial in the sense that they are not clearly within the legal issues arising out of the court proceedings in the Mooney case, and for that reason will probably never be considered by any court of law. Consequently, Mooney's only apparent redress as to these matters in the State of California is through the exercise of the pardoning power, and to the extent that such redress may be available to one entitled thereto, it is the duty of this Legislature to take affirmative action.

Now as to the merits of the resolution. It predicated a partial, false belief in the innocence of Mooney and that he was convicted on false and perjured testimony.

If Mooney was guilty of this horrible and inexcusable crime, and was convicted thereof after a fair and impartial trial, he should have been hanged, and that applies also to his co-defendants Billings, Rena Mooney, Weinberg and Nolan, all of whom were charged with participating in the crime equally with Mooney, but neither Mooney nor any of his co-defendants have been executed. Two of them, Rena Mooney and Weinberg, were acquitted after a trial of their cases and the charge against Nolan was dismissed. Yet the evidence remains upon its feet to support the charges against Mooney and Billings as it carries the same conviction as that relied upon to support the charges against Rena Mooney, Weinberg and Nolan. The fact that Billings and Mooney have not been hanged, and the fact that the other three are acquitted is unquestionably due to the ultimate fact that none of them were guilty of participation in this crime.

I would not vote on this resolution without a knowledge of the case. I have obtained such knowledge from reading books of the evidence in the Billings, the Tam Mooney, the Rena Mooney and the Weinberg cases; the evidence before the Supreme Court on the application of Billings for a pardon and on one occurring in said matter, the testimony of John McDonald before the Attorney General Board on the application of Mooney for pardon; the books of counsel for Mooney as petitioner and the Attorney General in contest for the resolution in pending habeas corpus proceedings; dependable reports of strange investigations into the whole background of the prosecution; of all the conditions in San Francisco which led up to the indictment of Mooney and the others; of the failure in 1916 the prosecution was conducted, of the character of the witnesses for the State produced against the defendants, of the conduct of the district attorney in whom they were prosecuted, including a report made in June, 1911, by the Southern California Enforcement of Law of the National Commission on Law Observance and Enforcement, appointed by President Hoover, consisting of Zachariah Chaffey, Jr., Walter H. Pollak, Carl S. Stern and Thomas A. Hadden, known as the Wickenshaw Committee of which former United States Attorney General Wickenshaw was chairman; a report presented to the Sixty-sixth Congress of the United States, published as House Document 157, and known as the Deansford Report; and the accumulation of the unimpeached evidence throughout the years which tends to establish affirmatively the innocence of Mooney.

It is the evidence and facts established by these records and reports, together with important disclosures that have been made since any consideration of Mooney's case has been given by any Governor of this State, that determine my vote on this resolution.

It would be impossible, within the limits of time given me here to review and point out the facts, shown by all of these records and investigations, that Mooney did not have a fair trial; that he was convicted on false and perjured testimony, confessed by nearly all of the witnesses for the prosecution, and proved beyond doubt as to all the others; and, that the only unimpeached, true, corroborated and apparently truthful evidence in the case establishes Mooney's innocence of this crime.

What are some of the salient facts about the Mooney case? In San Francisco, as elsewhere throughout the United States, in July, 1916, the whole atmosphere was charged with war, violence and dynamiting in California, as elsewhere, principally by agents of the German Government, opposing any participation on the part of this country to enter the World War. Also at that time in July, 1916, American troops were in Mexico, seeking to apprehend Villa, the bandit, for depredations at the border, and conflicts between Americans and Mexicans on the border and in the interior of Mexico were of daily occurrence.

Here, as elsewhere, there were conflicts between organized capital and organized labor, determination on the part of organized capital to destroy the organization of labor and maintain an open shop, and the determination of labor organizations to promote the organization of labor, and secure the right of collective bargaining for better wages and working conditions. Organized capital generally classed those who were associated with labor organizations as unpatriotic and as undesirable citizens. Mooney was a militant labor organizer who had antagonized large employers of labor.

The population of San Francisco in 1916 was a cosmopolitan one, made up of all nationalities, Germans, Mexicans, and other foreigners. The Preparedness Day Parade was organized, advertised and brought about against protest of German sympathizers, and other nondescripts. It was held at a time when warlike harrows were likely to be aroused in foreign groups, and prompt some limit to such an insane act as occurred. It is undisputed that the newspapers and persons who were to participate prominently in the parade received anonymous communications, warning them against appearing in the parade.

Here is an example of such a communication, received by several newspapers:

"Our protests have been in vain in regards to this preparedness propaganda, so we are going to use a little 'direct action' on the 22nd, which will echo around the earth and show that Frisco really knows how, and that militarism can not be forced on us and our children without a violent protest. Things are going to happen to show that we will go to any extreme, the same as the controlling class will do, to preserve what little democracy we still have. Don't take this as a joke or you will be rudely awoken. (sic) WE HAVE SWORN TO DO OUR DUTY TO THE MASSES, and only send this warning to those who are wise, but are forced to march to hold their jobs, as we want to give only THE HYPROCITICAL (sic) PATRIOTS WHO SHOUT FOR WAR BUT NEVER GO a real taste of war. Kindly ask the Chamber of Commerce to march in a solid body IF THEY ARE NOT COWARDS. A copy has been sent to all papers, our duty has been done so far.

THE DETERMINED EXILES FROM MILITARISTIC GOVERNMENTS, ITALY, RUSSIA, RUSSIA ITALY, Germany, Holland, U. S.

A representative of the German spy system in this country advised his neighbors in Oakland not to attend the parade for fear of harm to them.

I quote from an account of previous happenings, published by Ernest Jerome Hopkins, a San Francisco newspaper man who was on the scene throughout, and covered such happenings, as well as the Preparedness Day Parade:

"There had been a series of dynamite explosions up and down the coast, and in Canada, ascribed to German agents. Among others, there had been the dynamiting of the Victoria Bridge. The United States was neutral; and it was on Federal charges of conspiracy to violate neutrality, in connection with these 'jobs', that no less a person than Franz Bopp, German Consul-General at San Francisco; his aides, Baron E. H. von Schack, and Lieutenant Wilhelm von Brincken; Mrs. Margaret Cornell, and their 'outside man,' C. C. Crowley, had recently been indicted in San Francisco. On July 10—just twelve days before the parade—their cases had come up in the local Federal District Court and were set to be tried November 15. The charges included conspiring to blow up ammunition plants and vessels carrying war supplies to the Allies; using San Francisco as the base for provisioning German naval vessels; and organizing in San Francisco a 'military expedition against a friendly country,' to wit, Canada. Now, a very peculiar circumstance was later divulged:

Crowley, the ring's hired dynamiter, had gone to Detroit, Buffalo, and up into Canada just a year before (1915). And he had carried with him the following letter of credential from Charles M. Fickert, District Attorney of San Francisco, written just five weeks after the Lusitania affair:

CITY AND COUNTY OF SAN FRANCISCO,

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., June 14, '15.

To the Officials and Officers Throughout the United States and Canada:

The bearer of this note, Mr. C. C. Crowley, whose signature appears hereon, is a special agent of this office and connected with the Department of Justice of the City and County of San Francisco, State of California.

At present, and for some time to come, he will be especially assigned to the duty of investigating the illicit drug and poison traffic between this city, Canada and the Eastern States, and particularly of the shipment of such articles from Canada into the United States. A number of officials here are under investigation for their alleged connection with the illicit traffic in these drugs. As a result Mr. Crowley will have to work secretly in his investigation, and I earnestly request that all officers to whom Mr. Crowley presents this letter will cooperate with him to the ends outlined herein.

Respectfully yours,

C. M. FICKERT, District Attorney.

Fickert's act in asking officials, foreign and domestic, to cooperate with Crowley, became embarrassing in the trials that were pending on Preparedness Day. Fickert testified for Bopp and the rest at the trials. An excerpt:

'Q. Did he (Crowley) tell you for whom he was going to Detroit or Buffalo?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. For whom?

A. He said for the German Consul.

Q. Did he tell you, Mr. Fickert, on whose behalf or for whom he intended to go into Canada?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. For whom?

A. For the German Consul or for the German Government—I don't know which.'

Immaterial to the Mooney case, perhaps—except that the knowledge of this letter hanging over his head might have made Fickert somewhat loath to pursue the German line of investigation. Day states that the episode sheds queer light upon the hostile posturing on which Fickert, in the Mooney case, was so ready.

Bombing activities on the part of Mexicans in and about the bay district are also reported by this same authority as follows:

"The month of June had closed with a bomb explosion, and it was a fine bomb, in a suitcase, left by a railroad train by three Mexicans. The train was a Southern Pacific overland. Number Five, coming into San Francisco the evening of June 30.

Three Mexicans, who looked like brown or freckled, and came into Elmina on a branch train from the Vacaville cherry district, and boarded Number Five, carrying a suitcase. Two of them had left the train at Richmond, last stop but one. The third had carried it through to the point of the bombing, and was ordered out by Conductor W. A. Brown, at the next station, Sixteenth Street Station, Oakland. Brown had seen all three men coming. The train halted, the third man left before it had fully stopped—and two minutes later, in the toilet, there was an explosion.

It blew a hole, eight feet by four, in the steel side of the car. It broke every window in the car, and injured thirteen people, none fatally. It was ascribed, of course, to the anti-war feeling among the Mexicans—American troops, including the Fifth California Infantry, were passing at San Jose. That same day's papers carried news of the arrest of two Mexicans at Napa, caught while placing fuse and dynamite near the powderhouse of the military arsenal. These train-bombers escaped.

Both morning papers of Parade Day had material designed, putting mildly, to inflame a suggestible mind. 'The Examiner' told (as it had told before) of 'bullet-torn battle-flag, one of the State's most potent emblems, borne through the Spanish-American War to the First California Regiment. It was to be carried by the Spanish War Veterans, who, if you thought of it, would line up, and await their turn to march in Steuart Street near Market. Both 'Examiner' and 'Chronicle' made much of the bombs that were to be set off:

'Sharp at 1:30 bombs will be exploded . . . the signal to all San Francisco that her sons and daughters have started on their great demonstration.'

That was 'The Examiner'. 'The Chronicle' had it:

'The firing of a bomb and the blowing of the siren . . . will be the signal that the head of the parade has arrived.'

EX-MEMBERS OF NATIONAL
STEUART ST.
1:15.

The headline across the top said in large type: 'PATRIOTS' PAGEANT TO CRY, "PREPARE!"'

The bomb did go off in Steuart Street, precisely opposite the first three ranks of Spanish War veterans, two of whom, a Dr. Plaster and Thomas Turnbull, were killed and several wounded. Precisely opposite that bullet-torn battle-flag! Yet in the shell-shocked amazement of the moment, the fact that those men, of all men in the parade, had fought on Spanish soil and against Spanish blood—that this flag had been pierced by Spanish bullets—remained totally uninterpreted. The location was deemed 'accidental'. Was it?

Latin-American antagonism toward the 'Land of the North', dating from Mexican War days, had its modern revival at the time of the Spanish War. To the Mexican eye, that battle-flag was the perfect symbol of the American aggressions which, at this precise moment, were apparently being renewed.

• • • And now: 'Ex-Members of National Guard Meet at Steuart Street 1:15.' At 2:06 a bomb exploded in Steuart Street killing ex-members of the National Guard! And it need not have been a clock-bomb—it was, probably, a fuse-bomb, like the one in the railroad train, but with a longer fuse. No clock was ever found. . . .

As Mrs. William Hineckley Taylor, in charge of the Women's Division, was waiting to march, an ill-dressed man of whom she caught but a glimpse darted from the crowd and thrust a note into her hand. Its first words were, as she remembered them: 'If you enter this parade, there is a bomb waiting to blow you to hell.' The rest was obscenity. Unfortunately, she lost the note.

John Clifton, from his cigar-store at the deserted corner of Kearney and California streets, told the police he had observed two men of foreign appearance, dark-skinned, poorly dressed, carrying a cheap brown suitcase and waiting for a ferry-bound cable-car. Somehow, their demeanor drew his attention. They boarded the car, where Samuel Weeks, the conductor, noted them clearly. He told the police he thought it strange that two men, evidently poor, should use his car for so short a ride. They left it, carrying the suitcase, at the terminus—just across Market Street from the mouth of Steuart. This, by Weeks' time-schedule, was at 12:45. Both he and Clifton described these men as Mexicans; one was 35, 160 pounds, five feet ten inches tall, smooth-shaven, dark, and clad in an old blue suit and black hat. The other was younger—about 30; and smaller—five feet six; rather heavy-set, weighing 140 pounds, gray suit and cap.

John Powers, a workman living at Eleventh and Folsom, saw, it may be, one of these same men. As quoted by the police to the newspapermen, and restated by one of them: 'It was about twenty minutes to two, as I was passing down Steuart Street. I saw a man, apparently a Mexican, place a suitcase just at the point where the bomb exploded. . . . There is little doubt that he was a Mexican. The suitcase was a cheap-looking tan affair.' Major W. J. Watson, of the G. A. R. saw the suitcase itself. 'It was about 1:25 when I observed, at the side of the wall and parallel with it, a suitcase. . . . I noticed that nobody around seemed to own the thing. I was about to go up and give it a kick to see what it contained, but on second thought decided not to do so. It was of imitation leather, terra cotta color, of regular type and size, well worn and broken a little at the corners.'

Elmer E. Kimberlin had been a night watchman at the Exposition. His presence at the bomb explosion was unquestioned—he received body-wounds from metal fragments. He stayed away from the Bomb Bureau, being in the hospital, but Fickert acknowledged receipt of his affidavit on September 30. Kimberlin swore that 'at 1:15 P. M. (the exact time mentioned in the "Chronicle" picture) affiant stood on Steuart Street near Market within two feet of the spot at which an explosion occurred that day . . . that at 1:30 p.m. he saw a man with a suitcase coming in a northerly direction . . . a brown, or dark terra cotta colored suitcase, worn at the end'; that the man set it down 'within two feet from where affiant was standing as aforesaid, and against the wall of the saloon against which affiant was leaning'; that the man then turned up Market Street. Description: 'approximately five feet ten inches in height, weighed 170 pounds; he wore a soft black hat turned down all around; he wore dark clothes apparently very much worn; was of a very dark skin or complexion and in the opinion of affiant was either Mexican or Italian. That said suitcase remained in the position in which it was placed as aforesaid until the time of the explosion,' at which time Kimberlin was just across the street. Kimberlin saw several people step up to the suitcase, including a small boy, who was doubtless 13-year-old Jimmy McDougall, who later testified.

Charles F. Johnson, a ship's carpenter and a deputy sheriff of San Mateo County, saw this same man: 'about five feet seven in height, weighed about 160 pounds, black hair and wore a dark-colored crush hat,' to quote his affidavit. 'In appearance he seemed to be a Mexican or Spaniard, being very dark complexioned, and had a smooth, round face.' Johnson saw him deposit the suitcase; 'I thought the man had lost the suitcase and I followed along behind him to catch up with him and tell him. I caught up with him . . . and asked him why he had left the suitcase there. He said he did not want it. He walked on in advance of me very fast and never looked at me.' Johnson declared that, on the dock the following Monday, he 'saw this same man' taking a boat for Seattle. 'He saw me looking at him and turned and walked away.' Johnson didn't report this until the following February, explaining he 'did not care to get mixed up in it'; but Fickert, then, received the affidavit.

M. T. Prendergast was an Oakland gardener, and a Spanish war veteran. Appearing at the Bomb Bureau on Monday, he informed the police that he had seen a man 'who he declares was a Mexican' put the suitcase on the sidewalk; a 'Mexican or Portuguese, 25, dark suit and hat, 145 pounds, five feet eight.' He added that he was looking at the suitcase when it exploded, and was knocked down but unhurt.

Later, he was taken to see Billings, but declared Billings was not the man. Now, Prendergast stuck to his original version so ardently that he proved rather a thorn in the side of the officials, whose energies by now were solely devoted to making the case against Mooney and Billings 'stand up'.

The Mexican theory is said to rest rather on the positive opinion of that alone, fits and explains the location that was chosen, and attested to at the outset by more and better witnesses than the Santa case command at the trial, was, to say the least, worth investigating. The suppression of this important evidence was in itself a prime indication of guilt.

On November 28, 1930 the United Press carried an interview with Major Vincente R. Barrow, U. S. A., retired, in a dispatch from Manila. Major Barrow stated that he had been near the bomb scene and had seen a man, fifty yards away, deposit the bomb and some packages and, watching as he drove near, we bumped against each other. I fell and he landed on top of me. I was angry and grabbed his leg, but he swung away, cutting me with a bloody tongue. . . His features and characteristics were those of a Latin. This brings the apparent number of direct Mexican witnesses to eight: Collins, Weeks, Powers, Kimbrough, Johnson, Taylor, Frothingham and Barrow, and we shall see, John McDonald, who later became the Santa's secretary. In his initial statement to the police described two men in brown military uniforms with the above. Immediately after the crime Patrick J. Kennedy, head of the Southern Pacific Railroad police, conferred with Captain Matthews and expressed his opinion that the bombs of June 30 and of July 2 had been set by the same hand.

All the 'Mexican' witnesses were in the way of justice, being out of the office.

The parade started from the Embassments at 1:30 p.m. At 2 o'clock, after most of the parade had passed up Market Street, and just as the Spanish American War Veterans were marching out of Stuart Street, which intersects Market Street one block west of the Embassments, to join the parade, a bomb exploded on the westerly side of Stuart Street about 17 feet south of Market Street, killing four people and maiming 40 more, including Spanish American War Veterans and those gathered there to join or watch the parade.

When that bomb exploded, Tom Mooney and his wife, Rena Mooney, with a number of other people, were on top of the Police Building, in which they lived, on Market Street, a mile and a half west of Stuart Street. No witness appeared or was discovered that in any indicated that Mooney or Mrs. Mooney or Winkler or Nolan or Billings was connected in any way with the getting of that bomb. On the contrary, reports to the police department by persons who were actually known to be at the scene of the explosion, giving those that of Billings, suggest a lead to the apprehension of the person or persons guilty of the crime, were destroyed by the district attorney.

An itinerant waiter, usually engaged in selling newspapers at the corner of California and Kearny Streets, a long distance away from the scene of the bombing, who was described in the Workshop Report as a "sophisticated and psychopathic liar," had no reason for being at the scene of the bombing, but in telling a policeman that he was there and that he saw a man walk up from Mission Street toward Market Street with a suitcase in his hand and set it down on the sidewalk at the point where the explosion occurred. His description of that person was not the description of Billings, and this man McDonald never mentioned Billings as that person until, as he now confesses, he was manufactured into a false witness for the purpose of fastening this crime on Billings and on Mooney.

The district attorney, Charles M. Fickert, prompted by Martin Sullivan, a detective in the employ of the United Railroads and his high-soup corporate friends, which Tom Mooney had antagonized in attempts to organize their employees, set out to fasten this crime on Mooney. That detective became attached to the district attorney's office the night of the bombing, and from then on there was a build-up in the newspapers, by statements emanating from the district attorney's office establishing in the public mind that Mooney was the main guilty of this outrage. By such tactics, indictments of Mooney and Billings were secured in a few days. False reports were given out concerning their actions, and in a court room charged with the prevailing belief in the public mind in these false reports and of the guilt of the accused, Billings was tried. His conviction depended upon the perjured testimony of McDonald. Deputy district attorney Brennan, who prosecuted the case, asked the jury, if they found Billings guilty, to recommend life imprisonment. That is why Billings was not hanged.

The Mooney trial followed. The theory of the prosecution was that between 1:30 and 2 o'clock that day Mooney and Billings and Mrs. Mooney and Nolan, in a jitney bus driven by Weinberg, drove from 721 Market Street with a suitcase held on the outside, straight down Market Street in the face of the parade, and a long line of policemen, and stopped at the corner of Stuart and Market Streets, that from this jitney bus Billings took the suitcase containing a bomb and placed it at the point of the explosion, and that Mooney and Mrs. Mooney returned to their home in the Eilers Building a mile and a half away where the clocks show they were watching the parade, immediately before and after 2 o'clock.

This story was manufactured with the use of a prostitute with a police record who was employed in an advertising dentist's office at 721 Market Street. This witness has also confessed that her testimony was perjured. In the manufacture of this story the prosecution also used the testimony of a woman and her daughter who lived in Oakland and were not in San Francisco on the day of the parade. They had stated that they were at Steuart Street when the explosion occurred but had never seen Billings or Mooney or anyone resembling them. Later they stated that they were at 721 Market Street, nearly a mile away and saw Billings and Mooney there. When confronted with her first statement claiming that she was at Steuart and Market Streets, the mother said her physical body was at Steuart Street, but her astral body was at 721 Market Street. Obviously their testimony was perjured.

Physical impossibility for the jitney bus to go from 721 Market Street to Steuart Street when all traffic on the street was cleared off for the parade and the sides were lined with the largest crowd ever turned out in San Francisco, with policemen keeping the way clear for the parade, the impossibility of time elements and other obvious features show the nature and the unreasonableness of the evidence upon which Mooney was convicted.

McDonald's story was made to fit in the Mooney case, notwithstanding his testimony in the Billings case. But another witness was used to convict Mooney, and that was a man by the name of Oxman, who was not in San Francisco on the day of the parade until nearly 6 o'clock of that day. When the bomb exploded, he was over here at Woodland, 90 miles from San Francisco. He testified that he was at the corner of Steuart and Market Streets; that he saw Billings, Mooney, Mrs. Mooney and two others drive up in a jitney bus driven by Weinberg with a suitcase; that Billings deposited the suitcase at the point of the explosion.

Oxman's perjured testimony was shaped to fit in with McDonald's perjured testimony. The job was not thoroughly done, but such discrepancies in their lies did not seem to make any difference. Mooney was convicted in the public mind by means of false public statements concerning the case, furnished by the district attorney's office, and Mooney was convicted. He would have been hanged, had not the exposure of Oxman occurred shortly after his conviction. Oxman was both a perjurer and a suborner of perjury. It was his attempt to produce other false testimony for the district attorney's office in the Mooney case that led to his exposure as a perjurer, not only in the Mooney case, but in other cases.

When this perjurer was secured for the Mooney trial it did not make any difference that the first statements he made were entirely different from his testimony as framed in the district attorney's office. That statement, like any amount of other evidence that, if produced would have made impossible the conviction of either Mooney or Billings, was readily suppressed by the prosecution. Gradually, year by year, the truth about the Mooney case has been drawn further and further into the light of day in the civic life of California. It is further being brought to the light in this proceeding, and with it the disgraceful and criminal manner in which the office of district attorney under Charles M. Fickert, was conducted.

To realize this one only needs to read the Densmore Report hereinbefore mentioned, a stenographic report of meetings and conversations in the office of the district attorney, taken by means of a dictaphone placed in that office from day to day over a considerable time, showing the low character of the district attorney's office of San Francisco County under Charles M. Fickert. As stated in the Densmore Report, that record shows:

"That Fickert is in constant association with men and interests of such nature as to render it incredible that he should be either impartial or honest in the conduct of a case of this nature; that he is and has been for some time past cooperating with notorious jury and case fixers; that, for instance, he is equally guilty with Pete McDonough in conspiring to free a wealthy man charged with crimes of degeneracy; and that he has also been working with the same notorious corrupt McDonough and Ben Selig to save from conviction Dave Blaine, an automobile tire thief. These cases are mentioned simply to illustrate his common practice, of which abundant evidence is furnished by this report.

"SECOND. That Fickert and his associates within the past month have conspired to fabricate evidence with which to convict Mrs. Mooney; and that to this end they have attempted, in the grossest manner, to intimidate and blackmail a prospective woman witness."

As an example of matters to which this Densmore Report refers is the following conversation which took place between district attorney Fickert and his assistant prosecutor, in the Mooney case, Edward A. Cunha, on September 18, 1918:

"CUNHA: Chief, if you can get a witness who will put Mrs. Mooney at Steuart and Market Streets, I don't give a dam if you put her there in a balloon."

FICKERT: I think I can put her there in a taxicab. It looks as though we have the witness.

CUNHA: If you have, Chief, I will put that in of a line. Mrs. Mooney on trial again and I will convict her in every step of the game.

FICKERT: I am going to keep everything quiet so there won't be any leaks.

CUNHA: That's the stuff, Chief, don't tell anybody. I never get you free about the Mooney case. If they ask me I say I never know nothing, because if they get anything from prison one day, guess they are getting it from someone pretty close. It was got that stuff on old lady Mooney, Chief. I am on the job with you.

Mrs. Mooney had been acquitted in one trial. Her acquittal was inconsistent with Mr. Mooney's conviction. Therefore, the district attorney and his assistant, Cunha, were endeavoring to find another Oxman to frame Mrs. Mooney for another trial.

The Densmore Report shows the existence of a secret Mexican lawyer, Attorney Fickert, and Judge F. W. Hendon, formerly a member of the Supreme Court of this State, who resigned under the cloud of having accepted a bribe of $400,000 to change his decision in the Eastwell case.

Fickert was elected to district attorney by some of the worst elements in the public service utilities and in the chamber of commerce for the purpose of securing a dismissal of graft indictments returned against certain officials of the United Railroad of San Francisco, and he secured the dismissal of those graft indictments.

Directed by Hendon, and these men, demands to criminal capital.

Fickert's work was conducted, and the spectacle, as stated in the Densmore Report, "proclaims most eloquently the complete nature of justice as used in the prosecution of the cases against the Mooney defendants. Men like Hendon are bound by no moral conventions. Their standard of conduct is their belief on expediency; to achieve their ends they will promise anything and hesitate at nothing.

Fickert's secret alliance with this arch scoundrel is enough to damn the cause of the prosecution in the eyes of all but the most prejudiced observers. No other single fact developed by the present investigation is more significant with significance than the unholy relationship still shown to exist between these two enemies of law and justice.

No unprejudiced, fair-minded man or woman can honestly read these records and reports and fail to reach the conclusions that have been expressed by so many of the leading citizens of this State and Nation who have made that fair-minded, intelligent study of these records. Such conclusions I desire to keep quiet. After first quoting the judge in the Mooney case upon the expenses in which I have barely referred, and the foreman of the jury in the Mooney case who knows how well how Mooney was framed.

Judge Franklin A. Griffin, who presided at the Mooney case, said:

"There can be no two opinions. There is no evidence against him. There is not even a serious suggestion that it existed. William MacNevin, foreman of the jury says, 'I was foreman of the jury that convicted Mooney. I know what I'm talking about.' (And he does, as a perusal of the record in the case will show). He says, 'There is no evidence to sustain Mooney's conviction and imprisonment.'"

District Attorney Matthew Brady, in the superior court of San Francisco, on May 3, 1933, in a trial of Mooney under a second indictment, said:

"All the witnesses connecting Mooney with the explosion are impeached. we can not prove a case against him."

Conclusions of National (Wickersham) Commission on Law Observance and Enforcement, Section On Lawless Enforcement of Law:

"Considering the records as a whole, we conclude:

- (1) There was never any serious attempt made by either the police or the prosecution to discover the perpetrators of the crime. The investigation was in reality turned over to a private detective, who used his position to cause the arrest of the defendants. The police investigation was reduced to a hunt for evidence to convict the arrested defendants.
- (2) There were flagrant violations of the statutory law of California by both the police and the prosecution in the manner in which the defendants were arrested and held incommunicado, and in the subsequent searches of their homes to procure evidence against them.
- (3) After the arrest of the defendants, witnesses were brought to the jails to "identify" them, and their "identifications" were accepted by the police and the prosecution, despite the fact that these witnesses were never required to pick the defendants out of a line-up, or to demonstrate their accuracy by any other test.
- (4) Immediately after the arrests of the defendants there commenced a deliberate attempt to arouse public prejudice against them, by a series of almost daily interviews given to the press by prosecuting officials.

- (5) Witnesses were produced at the trials with information in the hands of the prosecution that seriously challenged the credibility of the witnesses, but this information was deliberately concealed.
- (6) Witnesses were permitted to testify at the trials, despite such knowledge in the possession of the prosecution of prior contradictory stories told by these witnesses, as to make their mere production a vouching for perjured testimony.
- (7) Witnesses were coached in their testimony to a degree that approximated subornation of perjury. There is a strong inference that some of this coaching was done by prosecuting officials, and other evidence points to knowledge by the prosecuting officials that such coaching was being practiced on other witnesses.
- (8) The prejudice against the defendants, stimulated by newspaper publicity, was further appealed to at the trials by unfair and intemperate arguments to the jury in the opening and closing statements of the prosecuting attorneys.
- (9) After the trials, the disclosures casting doubt on the justice of the convictions were minimized, and every attempt made to defeat the liberation of the defendants, by a campaign of misrepresentation and propaganda carried on by the officials who had prosecuted them."

"People of California and of the United States of America are loathe to believe that the three governors who refused to pardon Mooney and Billings were merely the servitors of those subversive, un-American, un-social interests opposing justice for the victims of its miscarriage. There is a large and growing host within the American electorate who have not only a suspicion but a conviction that those interests were the real instigators or perpetrators of the monstrous crime committed in San Francisco on the afternoon of July 22, 1916. If the three former governors were not sycophants of such subversive interests, then they were amazingly and criminally ignorant, totally unworthy of the high office entrusted to them by the people of this state. We are forced to one conclusion or the other."

—SPECIAL COMMITTEE,

Fresno District Council, Methodist Episcopal Church.

"No one can read the proof which I have before me and not feel that Tom Mooney is the victim of one of the foulest conspiracies ever perpetrated in this country, and it was done because he was active in labor circles in California."

—BURTON K. WHEELER,

United States Senator.

"It is bad business to make martyrs of one's enemies, and the people most opposed to the release of Tom Mooney should be the most eager to get him free; for the longer he remains in prison the more of a martyr he becomes in the eyes of an increasing number of people, the more of an argument he is against the purity and honesty of California justice, the more hostility he builds against the very people who resist his release."

—RUPERT HUGHES.

"It is from you (Franklin D. Roosevelt) who represent the forces of democracy in the United States that we await the gesture of high equity and atonement . . . all around us in Europe, masses of men, more and more numerous, wait impatiently for the reparation of this lamentable judicial mistake."

—H. G. WELLS.

"I maintain that if the State can put an innocent man in prison and keep him there and justify the doing of the same, and refuse to be sensitive and quick in response when the prisoners are not guilty—then this doctrine and practice is more darkly sinister in its character and more terribly far-reaching in its respect than any doctrine Mooney ever stood for."

—OSWALD W. S. McCALL.

"If there is anything you can with propriety do, Mr. President, (Roosevelt) to bring about a pardon at the hands of the governor of California, I am sure you will be disposed to do it."

—FATHER JOHN A. RYAN,

National Catholic Welfare Council.

"The case of Thomas J. Mooney and Warren K. Billings strikes at the very root of orderly government. These men are still in prison. Until this stain is removed, voluntary respect for law is in grave danger of being undermined. Respect for law on the part of citizens presupposes, as a prior condition, respect for right on the part of those charged with the administration of justice.

As long as men can be kept in prison on charges subsequently proved to have been 'framed', justice goes by the board, and law becomes a mockery."

"There is not one scintilla of evidence connecting Billings and Mooney to the bomb blast. To men it is simply inconceivable that men so familiar with all the facts can entertain the slightest doubt about their absolute innocence."

THOMAS SCHALL

United States Senator

"That the poor do not stand on equal chance with the rich before the law in the United States is a charge made and now supported by statements of bar associations. That labor suffers constant injustice in the courts is a truism. For ten years Thomas J. Mooney and Warren K. Billings have been in prison cells in California, convicted on what the defense all along maintained and the prosecution now also admits was perjured testimony."

METHODIST FEDERATION FOR SOCIAL SERVICE

"We are compelled to express to you (Governor Young) our disappointment at your statement that, 'If there is a probability of his guilt he ought, of course, to remain right where he is.' This language seems to us in this particular case to contradict the fundamental principle of free government which provides that a man must be considered innocent until he is proven guilty."

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

(The above statement was endorsed by the California State Federation of Churches.)

"A tacit alliance between legal authority and illegal violence is a cancer which has attacked American politics before, but silently and secretly. It has been proved abundantly during Governor Ralph's term of office that the conviction of Mooney was a miscarriage of justice. And still the Governor has refused either to pardon Mooney or to support the plea for a retrial. He keeps in jail a man who is certainly innocent; he praises men who are guilty of murder and announces that he will pardon anyone arrested in connection with the lynchings."

—THE MANCHESTER GUARDIAN.

Quoted in The Christian Advocate, Pacific Edition.

"May I say how earnestly the friends of California and of its reputation are hoping for a speedy rectification of the injustice now universally recognized to have been done to Tom Mooney."

—JOHN DEWEY.

"The judicial reasoning by which the California Supreme Court reaches its remarkable decision is truly amazing. The court 'reasons' that, even if Mooney and Billings did not actually plant the bomb, they knew who did, and yet (we are quoting from the decision) 'there has never come from the lips of either of these defendants or from out the inner circle of their associates, the slightest tangible hint or aid to the public officials as to anyone else, which might lead to a discovery of the real perpetrators of this revolting crime.'"

"This sounds incredible. . . . It is impossible to view such a lamentable performance by a court with anything but bitterness and contempt. At a time when subversive elements are exhorted to have 'respect for law' we see a Supreme Court echoing, in so many words, the so-called thought which one hears in non-judicial circles 'Well, if they didn't do it, they know jolly well who did.' As if one gained knowledge of a crime, through one's conviction (of that crime) by hired perjurers and unprincipled private detectives! As if a man's guilt were to be assumed because of the inability of the police to arrest somebody else for the same crime! As if anything in the evidence even remotely indicated that either Mooney or Billings 'know who did prepare that bomb'!"

—Editorial Comment,
BALTIMORE EVENING SUN.

"Why should a religious periodical in Boston, 3,000 miles from California, discuss the case of Thomas J. Mooney, now a prisoner under life sentence in San Quentin prison? . . . Because Jesus Christ more than 1900 years ago died on a cross to reveal the love and righteousness of an Eternal God; and wherever and whenever in this wide world an injustice is being done to any human being, it is the business of the followers of that crucified Saviour then and there to protest and to seek to right the wrong. . . . Because neither California nor the United States can afford to have it said that citizens of this country condone injustice even when it is done to someone whom they dislike or with whose views they do not agree. The very foundation of the republic are imperiled by the present situation in California."

—Editorial Comment,
ZION'S HERALD.

"The disposition of the Mooney case must not be left to a casually elected governor. It must be settled by the people of California."

—GEORGE W. KIRCHWEY.

"The whole country, familiar with the background and actuality of the tragedy . . . is painfully aware that Mooney was the victim of perjured testimony . . . It ('Precedent') is one of the few plays which can exist and capture the emotional response of an audience by the very fact it has no ending, that it brings you up to the present and leaves you with a tragic question mark. I am not sure whether it comes technically within the scope of next year's Pulitzer award, but if it does, and if the committee fails to give it very serious consideration, then there will be a miscarriage of dramatic justice to add to the tag ends of the Mooney affair."

—RICHARD DANA SKINNER,
In The Commonwealth.

"I cannot realize that a man has been kept in prison for so many years when all the evidence points to his innocence. It is a reflection on the State of California."

—GEORGE W. P. HUNT,
Six times Governor of Arizona.

"The fact that the judge who originally tried the Mooney case now is foremost in stating that an injustice was done, and that the foreman and all of the jury, along with others associated with the case, have supported the plea for pardon, surely makes this a case where the Christian sentiment of the country ought to demand the rectification of a great wrong. . . . If the Christian conscience of America can lightly contemplate the continuance in prison for a single day of men thus unjustly convicted, then that conscience is Christian in name only and is lacking the humanity of Jesus."

—Editorial Comment,
THE CONGREGATIONALIST.

"We believe Thomas J. Mooney to be the victim of a foul conspiracy against justice. . . . This conference will be outraged if you (Governor Rolph) do not end this monstrous offense against America and Justice."

—GILBERT S. COX, Chairman,
Call to Action Conference.

"I have long been convinced that Mooney was convicted not by evidence but by fear and have expressed my opinion in sundry ways. The State of California has committed a gross act of injustice which cannot be righted, though amends could be made by releasing Mooney from prison."

—BISHOP L. C. SANFORD.

"What about the young people in the Christian church today in the face of such clearly established injustice and wrong? Dare we rest until we have informed ourselves, until we have given ourselves in a real effort to right this iniquity? We cannot return these fifteen years to Tom Mooney, but the Christian young people of California and the nation can give themselves to the cause of ending this injustice."

"It is our opinion that by reason of the exposure of the perjury of the chief witnesses for the prosecution, the revelations of the United States Government investigator as to the dishonest methods employed by the prosecution; and the unanimous opinion of the court and jury on the evidence subsequent to conviction, that the said convictions now are only demonstrable but that the inference is compelled that these two men were innocent of the crimes charged."

"The reasons given by Governor Young for refusing a pardon, constituting a perfect reason for the pardon. Confronted by the testimony of two persons, the Governor dismisses one as unworthy of belief. This leaves Mooney in prison for life on the testimony of one man—and that man has confessed that in this case he perjured himself."

"With these confessions or proofs of perjury, with the man that was convicted pleading for a pardon because of the perjury, with the Judge that presided declaring the frame-up 'the dirtiest piece of business he had ever seen, Mooney is still in prison for life."

"And this is America!"

"It is not a California case any longer, it is the case of the Nation. It is not the shame of California alone, it is the shame of America. It is not Mooney alone who is in prison. It is something very closely resembling American justice that is in prison."

"We feel that the trial and conviction of Tom Mooney and Warren Billings in connection with the Preparedness Parade in San Francisco in 1916 was a miscarriage of justice. It has been proven without a doubt that the whole case was a 'frame-up' against two citizens who had assumed certain big interests in the industrial world. In the name of all that is fair and just we feel that these men should be given their liberty at once."

—Southern California Annual Conference METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

"No man ever had a more unshakable alibi. Not only the photographs taken from the roof of the Eilers Building, but the testimony of sixteen witnesses show him to have been more than a mile away from the scene of the explosion, where he was perjuriously placed by Oxman and McDonald. It is amazing that there is any question about pardoning Mooney and Billings. They should have been pardoned years ago."

—GERALD P. NYE,
United States Senator.

"The San Francisco general strike is a serious one. For nearly twenty years Tom Mooney, a Labor Leader, has been in San Quentin prison, and although everybody outside of California now knows he was 'framed' and had nothing to do with bomb explosion for which he was sent down for life, yet he stays in prison. The outrageous wrong practiced on this Labor Leader rankles today all over the labor field."

"As the long tale of years spins itself out, and one California governor follows the example of another in denying freedom to Tom Mooney, there is gathering a symbolism about the figure of the prisoner which bodes more and more evil for the future of the republic . . . America has at last come to experience the reality and the ruthlessness of the class war.

"Yes, class war . . . Has the appeal to reason any great chance of outrunning the appeal of force? . . . Tom Mooney in San Quentin Prison, and other incidents that are multiplying, are a warning to America. The class war is not threatened in this nation. The class war is actually opening. Can its full fury be averted? This is what the churches, through their preaching of the social gospel, are trying to do. This is what all who seek the establishment of Social justice by the resort to reason are attempting. But can they succeed? The passions that gather on both sides of the Mooney case fill us with foreboding. And the time is short!"

"So long as Mooney and Billings are kept in prison by prejudice, even though that prejudice sways six justices of the Supreme Court, they must not be forgotten. The fight to pardon them, of course, must go on."—THE 25 SCRIPPS-HOWARD NEWSPAPERS.

There may be, and undoubtedly are, those, who, finding no escape from similar conclusions, nevertheless, rationalize opposition to the pardon of Mooney by saying, "Mooney may not be guilty in this case, but he belongs where he is, because he is a radical labor organizer and a dangerous man."

If we are to keep him in prison for such reasons, let the Legislature say so. But we can not say that because it strikes at the very foundation of the civil liberties secured by our State and Federal Constitutions.

Why does not the Attorney General, instead of endeavoring to keep Mooney in imprisoned against his application for release, admit that his application should be granted, instead of putting the State to the expense of $42,000 last year to keep Mooney in jail? Why is there every attempt made to deny the truth in this case, to stand behind legalistic technicalities for the purpose of continuing a wrong committed in California in the name of justice through the corrupt conduct of those entrusted with the enforcement of the law?

The only answer I have ever heard to that question by those who would oppose this resolution is that Mooney is a bad actor, anyhow, and should be in jail.

What about that? I believe that in the book written by Mr. Ernest Jerome Hopkins, from which I have already quoted, there is drawn a fair picture of Mooney and a fair statement of his activities.

Mooney was a man of forceful personality; a fighter, a cynic, a powerful orator of the angry type. He was an extremely easy man to remember and to identify, with his heavy black eyebrows, plump face, his restless and stocky 190-pound body and very characteristic mouth; very self-confident, neither ill-educated nor unintelligent, an egoist. Billings was easy to identify too, for opposite reasons: he was five feet four, weighed 124 pounds, looked (at the time of his trial) younger than his 22 years. Billings was blonde-haired, not self-assertive, but neither weak nor of the subnormal intelligence that has been ascribed to him; as a mere boy he had gone through a shoeworkers' strike and had been shot in a fracas with a detective; in his 'teens he had been an official of his union and a Labor Council member.

Much of the strike activity was in the California delta district, and Mooney at times used a boat. One night, when this boat was tied to a landing in Contra Costa County, a local policeman looked into it. He found it empty. Mooney was arrested by two of Swanson's corporation detectives immediately afterward and turned over to the Contra Costa authorities. These detectives produced against him, as evidence, enough batteries, caps, fuse and copper wire to blow a village into tomorrow, but no dynamite. The detectives said they had found them in the boat.

In the three trials at Martinez that followed, Martin Swenson took personal part. So did an attorney for the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, who entered the case and conducted the prosecuting attorney. Mosley was defended by two different lawyers. The charge was that of transporting explosives, the defense was that the charges were a forgery, and that no actual explosives had been found. The trial seems more out of the "professional" type. At the end of the first trial, the jury disagreed. At the end of the second trial the second jury disagreed. At the end of the third trial, Mosley was acquitted, and the fact of the attempted forgery became a legal record in California.

I state this in some detail because for years Moore has been called a "professional dramatist" all on the same grounds. The above are, in two disingenuous notes and are unimportant as most of Moore does seem to bring implication in a dramatic effort before the reader's eyes.

Swanson's claim was partly assented. Since friendly individuals sent Billings one day up to Sacramento to trade with a number of Indians at a certain saloon. He checked the natives while on the trip, they took it to the place. Oddly enough, detritus were there, and they opened it on the spot. It contained dynamite.

Mr. Martin Swenson came in, Swenson said, and signed in Billings physician. Moody was called in and questioned, but released. Billings, on the other hand, was "sent up" to Federal penitentiary for a two-month sentence. Not long afterward, Swenson called out to jail on some other thing, spoke vaguely of having to follow if Billings would give evidence implicating strike-hardens. The statement certainly has sufficed.

In 1914, the employing group in the city of Stockton monopolized a business and an "open shop" was the result. The growth of Los Angeles, it was argued, was due to "open shop" conditions and all California cities have the growth of the complex. This singularly bitter letter came before President William J. Fox of the Industrial Relations Commission, later on: at the time, California labor regarded it as a first. And even the attorney, who took the case to the state supreme court, said that the detectives grew into a second. The affair had a second trial in 1920.

I am mindful that the disastrous crime of the McNamara Bombing is haunting the Los Angeles Times Building many years ago and killing a number of helpless people played its part in creating in the public mind of California a conviction that a man of the militant and aggressive purpose of Murray in organizing labor activities is capable of a similar crime, and I believe that Murray can think, in part, this horrible deed of the McNamoras for his conviction and long imprisonment for a crime he did not commit.

Certainly men like the McNamaras were not serving any cause of labor or any human cause in the commission of their crime. I do not think that men of this character are capable of serving any good cause, and if I believed that Tim Mooney was guilty of this crime, I would be for hanging him, not instead of raising my voice in behalf of this resolution.

As I read his character and make-up in the lines of the memory of this case, I see a man class conscious, believing that there is a continual conflict of human rights between the working classes and a governing class which means a ruling attitude. I do not remember any attitude that would even touch the topics of violence or destruction of property, much less of any injury to human life. But that Mooney was capable of placing or participating in the placing of a bomb to be exploded to kill innocent and helpless people, work which he has had to do, I have no conflict, even of opinion. I can not believe it. What purpose could that serve, but injury to organized labor? The real motivation on motivations in this case were never apprehended because, as already stated, the purpose was not to apprehend the guilty but to fasten the crime on Mooney.

Further Statement by Senator Olson on Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 18.

I desire to quote from a letter received yesterday by Assemblyman Thomas A. Maloney from Al Katchinski, one of the grand jurors who indicted Moscone. The letter was written regarding other matters, and this statement by Mr. Katchinski was merely incidental and reads as follows:

"I agree with your stand on the Mooney case as you remember I served as one of the grand jury and voted to indict Oxman for perjury."

Communications.

The following communications were, at the request of Senator McGovern, ordered printed in the Journal:

Lt. Gov. George J. Hatfield, Sacramento, California.

DEAR GOVERNOR HATHFIELD: I am deeply interested in the Mooney case—not at this moment in how the Senate might vote, but first of all in whether it will give the matter a fair and thorough consideration and will finally vote on the right basis.

We know there are two questions: the constitutional one, and the merits of the pardon measure as in reference to Mooney. I urge upon you the fact that it does not behoove the Senate to do more with the constitutional question than to recognize that the sponsors of the legislative pardon have grounds upon which to claim for the Legislature this constitutional power. That should be enough, although the sponsors believe their arguments should be conclusive. The real question should be the Mooney case.

To support this contention I point out that the constitutional right, if challenged, could only be settled in court. The Attorney General's opinion is not binding upon the Legislature. He can speak only in an advisory capacity. If the Senate is going to take cognizance of his opinion, it seems only fair that other lawyers should be heard.

But let the court stand ready to perform its own function. I insist that the real question before your body concerns the false and shameful conviction of Tom Mooney by perjured testimony. And I respectfully request that you do all in your power to see that the Senate goes thoroughly into that question, without haste, and finally votes thereon—rather than to vote the opinions of the members on a question of constitutional law. You and I know that a great many of the members know very little about the Mooney case—but fortunately an abundance of authenticated material exists which can be made available for study.

In view of what millions of Americans consider to be a blot upon California and a disgrace to American justice, the people of this State will not look tolerantly upon legalistic subterfuge nor upon any light consideration of this question. They will consider that the votes are cast not upon legal disputes, but for or against justice for Tom Mooney, and for or against retrieving the good name of California—before the Supreme Court of the United States shall have forever taken that opportunity from us and have given this State the brand of shame.

If this measure passes and it seems that action in the State court is to ensue, the Governor would have the best of reason and opportunity to step forward himself and exercise the pardoning power. If he should not do so, then the court would settle the constitutional issue.

No Governor failing to give justice to this innocent man, falsely convicted, has ever been able to get a second term, and I am glad to believe that no man who is branded as having refused justice to Mooney can ever be elected to any high office in this State.

Sincerely yours,

PAUL A. RICHIE.

PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

Respondent, vs.

Criminal No. 2079.

Defendant.

Consent that judgment and order be reversed.

To the Chief Justice and Associate Justices of the Supreme Court of the State of California.

On the 22nd day of July, 1916, at the corner of Steuart and Market Streets in the City and County of San Francisco, and during the progress of the Preparedness Day Parade, a bomb was exploded which caused the death of several persons.

On the second day of August, 1916, the grand jury of said City and County returned an indictment against Thomas J. Mooney, the above named defendant, charging said Mooney with the crime of murder of one of the victims of said explosion. Thereafter, on January 3, 1917, said Mooney was placed on trial on such indictment in the Superior Court of said City and County, Hon. Frank A. Griffin presiding. Said trial continued until February 9, 1917, when it terminated with a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree, without recommendation.

During said trial one Frank C. Ozman was called on behalf of the prosecution and examined as a witness. The testimony given by said Ozman was both material and relevant, and tended strongly to establish the guilt of the defendant.

Thereafter a motion for a new trial was duly made, by said court heard, considered, and on February 24, 1917, denied, and on said day judgment and sentence in accordance with said verdict was duly pronounced. Thereafter, and on the same day, an appeal from said judgment and from said order denying the motion for new trial was duly taken.

On the 14th day of April, 1917, the clerk's transcript of said trial was filed in the above entitled court, and on the 8th day of May, 1917, the reporter's transcript of the trial of said case was likewise filed, and said case is now pending in this court.

After the entry of the order denying the motion for a new trial, and prior to the 5th day of April, 1917, there was presented to the Hon. Frank A. Griffin three letters written by said Frank C. Ozman, two addressed to Mr. F. E. Rigall, Grayville, Illinois, and the other to Mrs. J. D. Rigall of the same address. It is admitted that said letters were written and mailed by said Frank C. Ozman in San Francisco, and received by the persons to whom addressed at Grayville, Illinois, in due course of mail, and that in compliance with said two letters addressed to F. E. Rigall, said Rigall, during the progress of said trial of Thomas J. Mooney, came to San Francisco. A copy of said letters numbered one, two and three, follows:

None of said letters were produced during the trial of Thomas J. Mooney; the witness F. C. Oxman was not interrogated at said trial with respect to the same nor was F. E. Rigall.

On the 25th day of April, 1917, the Hon. Franklin A. Griffin wrote and caused to be delivered to the Attorney General of this State a letter of which the following is a copy:

April 25, 1917.

Honorable U. S. Webb, Attorney General of the State of California,
San Francisco, Cal.

MY DEAR GENERAL:

On the 9th day of February, 1917, in the case of "The People v. Thomas J. Mooney" then pending in my department of the Superior Court, there was rendered against the defendant Mooney a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree without recommendation. Subsequently a motion for new trial was made by the defendant which was, in due time, denied, judgment was thereupon pronounced, and from such judgment and the order denying defendant's motion for a new trial on appeal to the supreme court has been taken and is now pending. It seems unnecessary to tell you that Mooney is one of those indicted for participation in the bomb outrage of July 22nd, 1916.

In the trial of Mooney, there was called as a witness by the People one Frank C. Oxman, whose testimony was most damaging and of the utmost consequence to the defendant. Indeed, in my opinion, the testimony of this witness was by far the most important adduced by the People at the trial of Mooney. In confirmation of these statements, I would respectfully call your attention to the Transcript filed on appeal. Within the past week, there have been brought to my attention certain letters written by Oxman prior to his having been called to testify, which have come to the knowledge and into possession of the defendant's counsel since the determination of the motion for a new trial. The authorship and authenticity of those letters, photographic copies of which I transmit herewith, are undenied and undisputed. As you will at once see, they bear directly upon the credibility of the witness and got to the very foundation of the truth of the story told by Oxman on the witness stand. Had they been before me at the time of the hearing of the motion for new trial, I would unhesitatingly have granted it. Unfortunately the matter is now out of my hands jurisdictionally, and I am therefore addressing you, as the representative of the People on the appeal, to urge upon you the necessity of such action on your part as will result in returning the case to this court for re-trial. The letters of Oxman undoubtedly require explanation, and, so far as Mooney is concerned, unquestionably the explanation should be heard by a jury which passes upon the question of his guilt or innocence.

I fully appreciate the unusual character of such request coming from the trial court in any case and I know of no precedent thereof. In the circumstances of this case, I believe that all of us who were participants in the trial concur that right and justice demand that a new trial of Mooney should be had in order that no possible mistake shall be made in a case where a human life is at stake.

Respectfully yours,

FRANKLIN A. GRIFFIN.

On the 18th day of April, 1917, there was filed in the police court of the City and County of San Francisco a complaint in which Frank C. Oxman was duly charged with a violation of section 137 of the Penal Code, said charge being based on the letters above set forth, and other alleged acts in connection therewith.

Thereafter in said police court such proceedings were had and that an order was made and entered holding said Frank C. Oxman to answer before the Superior Court for the offense charged in said complaint. Testimony as to defendant pursuant to said commitment was filed and is now pending.

A copy of the complaint, commitment and testimony taken in that proceeding is on file in this court in a proceeding before assistant clerk in the matter of the application of F. C. Oxman for a writ of Habeas Corpus.)

It is said by the Honorable Franklin A. Guthrie in his letter copy of which is above set forth, that

"In the trial of Mooney, there was called as a witness by the People one Frank C. Oxman, whose testimony was most damaging and of the utmost consequence to the defendant, instead, in my opinion, the testimony of this witness was by far the most important delivered by the People at the trial of Mooney."

And again in the same paragraph the writer, referring to said letter, states:

"They bear directly upon the credibility of the witness and go to the very foundation of the truth of the story told by Oxman in the witness stand. Had they been before me at the time of the hearing of the motion for new trial, I would unhesitatingly have granted it."

Thereafter Rena Mooney, wife of the defendant Thomas J. Mooney, and jointly indicted with him, was placed on trial, which trial resulted in a verdict of not guilty. At the trial of the defendant Thomas J. Mooney, Frank C. Oxman testified that he saw Rena Mooney in company with the defendant Thomas J. Mooney, near the scene of and shortly before the explosion. At the trial of Rena Mooney, Frank C. Oxman, though available, was not called as a witness.

In view of these facts and of these statements and requests made by the judge who tried this case, it would seem proper for this office to act in accordance with his suggestion. Otherwise this appeal will be dismissed on the ground now on file, which does not include any reference to any of these matters, and should the judgment be affirmed on such record, no opportunity would be presented at any time in this case to have these matters considered and their weight determined. It is so important to the people as to the defendant that such opportunity be afforded.

I have examined the record on appeal and am not prepared to state that it contains reversible error, and am not disposed to enter possession of error, when reversible error does not clearly exist. It would seem, therefore, that the only method by which the result suggested by the trial judge can be accomplished is by consent of respondent that the judgment be reversed, and should this court deem it proper to act in accordance with such consent and enter its order reversing the judgment and remanding the cause for a retrial, such retrial must be speedily held and all matters presented.

Believing that justice will be subserved by a retrial of this case, as the representative of respondent, I hereby stipulate and consent that the judgment and order heretofore entered in this case by the trial court be reversed and the cause remanded for a new trial.

Respectfully submitted

U. S. WEBB, Attorney General of the State of California, Attorney for Respondent

Dated: July 30th, 1917.

Special Order.

Senator Swing moved that Senate Bills Nos. 103 and 579 be made a special order for Monday, March 22, 1937, at eleven o'clock and thirty minutes a.m.

Motion carried, and such was the order.

Communication.

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal at the request of Senator McColl:

SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, March 16, 1937.

Honorable Ralph E. Swing,

Senate Chamber, State Capitol, Sacramento, California.

SUBJECT: Fish and Game Initiative Measure Submitted to the Legislature.

REQUEST: No. 7024.

DEAR SENATOR SWING: You have requested our opinion as to whether or not the Fish and Game Initiative Measure, presented to the Legislature during the present session, will be submitted to the electors, assuming the sufficiency of the title thereof.

In our opinion the Constitution requires that this measure be so presented at the next ensuing general election.

Section 1, of Article IV provides in part as follows:

"Upon presentation to the Secretary of State, at any time not less than ten days before the commencement of any regular session of the Legislature, of a petition certified as herein provided to have been signed by qualified electors of the State equal in number to 5 per cent of all the votes cast for all candidates for Governor at the last preceding general election, at which a Governor was elected, comprising a law not forth to fall in said petition, the Secretary of State shall transmit the same to the Legislature as soon as it convenes and organizes. The law proposed by such petition shall be either enacted or rejected without change or amendment by the Legislature, within forty days from the time it is received by the Legislature. If any law proposed by such a petition shall be enacted by the Legislature it shall be subject to referendum, as hereinafter provided. If any law so petitioned for be rejected, or if no action is taken upon it by the Legislature, within said 40 days, the Secretary of State shall submit it to the people for approval or rejection at the next ensuing general election. The Legislature may reject any measure so proposed by initiative petition and propose a different one on the same subject by a yea and nay vote upon separate roll call, and in such event both measures shall be submitted by the Secretary of State to the electors for approval or rejection at the next ensuing general election or at a prior special election called by the Governor, in his discretion, for such purpose."

The pertinent provision in the above quoted passage is: "If any law so petitioned for be rejected, or if no action is taken upon it by the Legislature within said 40 days, the Secretary of State shall submit it to the people for approval or rejection at the next ensuing general election." Inasmuch as the Legislature has neither adopted nor rejected the proposal, there has been no action taken upon it, and consequently the measure will go on the ballot.

Very truly yours,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel.
By JOSEPH W. PALMER, Assistant Counsel.

Remarks.

Pursuant to Senator Swing's motion of March 16, 1937, during the consideration of Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 18, the following remarks were ordered printed in the Journal:

By Senator Garrison:

MR. PRESIDENT: In accordance with the understanding when Senator Swing moved the previous question, thereby closing debate on this resolution, I submit the following remarks, not in any manner as an apology for my vote on this resolution, but rather as an explanation of the fact that I am voting against a measure which is strongly supported by those with whom I have almost unreservedly agreed on issues before this Legislature.

Were this a question of the conviction of Thomas J. Mooney and this Honorable Body were sitting as a jury to try the case, we would be asked to decide, beyond a reasonable doubt and to a moral certainty, that the defendant was guilty of the crime before voting for conviction. Today, however, the situation is reversed. The defendant has been convicted in a court of law and has served time in the prison of this State. Upon numerous occasions he has applied for a pardon and been refused a pardon for that crime. Today we are asked to issue the pardon, thereby vindicating the defendant, Thomas J. Mooney. Therefore, we should be sure, beyond a reasonable doubt and to a moral certainty, that the defendant is innocent of participating in the Preparedness Day bombing for which crime he was convicted.

We have not had an opportunity to go into all of the evidence of the case but rather have been presented with a multitude of conflicting opinions both as to the legality of this proceeding and as to the innocence or guilt of the defendant. I am not convinced, to a moral certainty and beyond a reasonable doubt, that the defendant is innocent and therefore I vote "No" on this resolution.

By Senator Westover:

MR. President and Members of the Senate:

As you all know, I represent an agricultural county. We do not have the strong union organizations in Orange County that we have in other portions of the State. I know that there are a large number of communities in this State where organized labor stands always as a threatening cloud to the political destinies of the representatives in the Legislature. It might be possible that the representatives from such communities are unable to express their true convictions because of the strong position which organized labor has in their respective communities. Even when they express their conviction, there will always be those who will say that such expression was influenced by the political strength of organized labor.

Coming, as I do, from a nonindustrial county and a county in which organized labor unions have not entrenched themselves as permanently as they have in the larger industrial centers, I feel that I am able to speak upon this matter without the impression getting about that I am taking sides because of the influence of organized labor upon my political future.

We have established in the western hemisphere a government which we like to refer to as being one of the greatest governments which the world has ever seen, and we say to the world that we have a government in which liberty and justice prevail.

Some days ago we discussed from this floor at some length the question of the modernization of our Supreme Court. As a member of the legal profession, I think that I can say our entire judicial system is not perfect and there are times when justice fails to prevail. The Supreme Court of this State has reiterated time after time that the court has just as much right to be wrong as it has a right to be right. We have built up in our judiciary the proposition that if a court is wrong and acknowledges that it is wrong, and that the decision or judgment was in error, nevertheless, after the judgment has become final, no remedy can be given. In other words, if one is unjustly convicted and sent to prison for a crime which he did not commit and the judgment becomes final and afterwards it is demonstrated beyond a question of doubt that the defendant was innocent of the crime charged, the courts are powerless to give relief. The only relief that such an individual has under our present judicial system is the pardoning power.

For 21 years a judicial tragedy has been enacted in the State of California. Twenty-one years ago Tom Mooney was sentenced to death. That sentence later, because of the intervention of President Wilson, was commuted to life imprisonment. For 21 years the controversy has raged as to whether or not Tom Mooney was guilty of the crime, as charged.

There have been those who have insisted strenuously that he was guilty, and there have been those, on the other hand, who have also insisted that he was railroaded to the penitentiary.

Somewhere in the Scriptures we find a quotation to the effect that, "Ye shall know the Truth and the Truth will make ye free."

In this beautiful country of ours we have removed from the throne of Justice and have put in her place "Technicality" and the crown prince is "Jurisdiction."

To one not versed in the law, the technicalities of law are of the deepest mystery. They do not understand that in law, precedent, jurisdiction, technicalities are of far more importance than right and justice. Is it a wonder sometimes, that some of our people do indeed lose respect for the courts of our land.

Tom Mooney was convicted of a crime some 21 years ago. I am not going to speak of the methods which were used to insure his conviction. Many reports have been made, the most authentic of which is probably the Wickersham Commission Report. Here is a report made by a Federal Commission composed of men living outside the State of California and whose chief interest was to obtain all the facts. I have here a copy of this report, and if there was even an indictment of American Justice, here it is.

Shortly after the trial it became evident that there had been a miscarriage of justice. However, a judgment had been rendered. Important evidence was discovered which indicated to the trial court that there had been a miscarriage of justice. But, as judgment had been rendered, the trial court found itself powerless to render relief. Judge Franklin A. Griffin publicly said that if such evidence had been before him at the time of the motion for a new trial that he would have unhesitatingly granted it. "Unfortunately," said Judge Griffin, "the matter is now out of my hands jurisdictionally."

Only a few days after the trial this question of jurisdiction arose and it has been plaguing Mooney ever since. Judge Griffin did one thing, however. He at least tried to right a wrong which had been done. On April 25, 1917, he wrote to the Attorney General of this State and placed the entire matter before him. Judge Griffin stated to the Attorney General that "right and justice demand that a new trial of Mooney should be had."

Attorney General Webb, after making certain investigations, then went to the Supreme Court before which the case was then pending, and on July 30, 1917, he filed a stipulation which ended as follows:

"* * * and believing that justice will be subserved by a retrial of this case, as a representative of respondent, I hereby stipulate and consent that the judgment and order heretofore entered in this case by the trial court be reversed and the case remanded for a new trial."

The Supreme Court considered the matter. The Supreme Court at that time, and in fact at no time, have been interested in the question of whether Mooney was guilty or innocent, or whether he had had a fair or impartial trial. It has been interested only in the question as to whether an error appeared in the record and in the absence of error was willing to allow an innocent man to be put to death.

The Supreme Court held that in the absence of any error in the record, it had no jurisdiction to grant the request of the Attorney General.

Mooney was convicted on February 9, 1917.

Judge Griffin decided there had been a miscarriage of justice about April 20, 1917, and wrote General Webb on the twenty-fifth.

Attorney General Webb filed in the Supreme Court his stipulation and consent for a retrial on the thirtieth day of July.

Thus within six months after the trial of this famous case the trial judge decided it did not then have jurisdiction to interfere in the matter.

Since that time, and on many occasions, Tom Mooney has attempted to gain his freedom. Wherever he goes he is always met with the proposition "We do not have jurisdiction."

Here today that same question has been raised. Jurisdiction. The members, Presidents are more important in this Year of Our Lord 1937 than Justice. Many of you here today are not interested in Justice. You are interested only in the cold technicalities of the law.

Is it a wonder that Justice must hide her face. I do not stand here like Portia demanding Mercy. Not Mercy. But Justice.

By Senator Knowland:

Mr. President and Gentlemen of the Senate:

We have before us Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 18 which purports to grant a legislative pardon to Thomas J. Mooney.

We have already heard the opinion of the Attorney General of the State of California and the opinion of the Legislative Council of this Senate that the Legislature has no power to grant such a pardon as this purports to do. I personally believe that with the opinions mentioned, sufficient arguments have been presented to defeat the resolution in question. They have examined, not only the law and the Constitution, but have searched the debates of the constitutional conventions, to show that no such power was intended to be given to the Legislature of this State.

There is another side of the question, however. What should be presented in all fairness here today. The man in question is no freeness prisoner. For 20 years he has had one of the best financed and most aggressive agencies working on his behalf, that has ever existed in this country. Now, in the midst of all the turmoil that this resolution brings, let's look at the record.

Thomas J. Mooney and Warren K. Billings were indicted by the grand jury of San Francisco, tried in the superior court of that city and convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree. The crime for which these men were convicted was committed on the twenty-second day of July, 1916. Billings was brought to trial in September of that year. He was represented by able counsel and had the benefit of all the protection that the law and Constitution of this State threw around the accused. His attorneys had all the rights of cross-examination and placing on the stand witnesses for the defense. Billings was convicted and sentenced to a life term. Mooney was not tried until January, 1917, and he was represented by able counsel, chief of whom was the Honorable Buckle Cushman, member of the United States Congress. He was convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree and sentenced to be executed at the State's prison. Subsequent to this, his sentence was commuted to life imprisonment by Governor Wm. D. Stephens. There has been no denial of the fact that, from the time of his original trial up to the present, that Thomas J. Mooney has had at his disposal some of the outstanding attorneys connected with the practice of criminal law. His appeal has gone through all the courts of this State and up to the Supreme Court of the United States. There have been applications on his behalf for executive clemency before Governors Wm. D. Stephens, Friend W. Richardson, C. C. Young, James Rolph, Jr., and Frank F. Merriam. All of these Governors have made a study of the case and all of them have, thus far, turned down the request. Does any Senator on the floor of this body, deep down in his heart, feel that if the charges that the proponents of this resolution make are correct, that these five Governors of California would have refused to act if they had believed these men were innocent of the crime charged against them?

We have not the time, nor is this the place to retry these cases. I do wish to call your attention to the fact, however, that many misguided people believe that one or both of these men were incapable of committing the crime charged to them. I wish to call your attention to the fact that during this period, dynamite was considered, by some, to be a legitimate weapon in an industrial dispute. You will recall, that following the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times, in which over 50 people were killed and injured, the same hue and cry of frameup was raised following the arrest of the McNamara brothers. You will recall that defense funds were raised on a large scale somewhat comparable to those raised in this case, and that Clarence Darrow was secured as the chief defense counsel. You will likewise recall that McNamara confessed to the crime and the whole conspiracy of intimidation by violence was exposed.

What is the record of Billings? We find that on April 22, 1913, he was arrested and charged with assault to commit murder and was subsequently released on June 29th of the same year. On September 13, 1913, he was arrested with a suitcase containing 60 sticks of dynamite, was convicted, served time in Folsom and paroled on December 22, 1914. On February 16, 1915, he was found in an alley in Sacramento with a chisel and was sent out of town with a suspended sentence. Following the Preparedness Day explosion, he was identified as the man who placed the satchel containing the explosives at Stuart and Market Streets.

Now, let's see who Thomas J. Mooney was! We find that he was secretary of the International Defense League which provided the means of defense for the direct actionists of those days. Let me read to you from page 282 of the Respondent's Analysis of the Evidence and Proposed Findings of Fact in the Matter of Application of Thomas J. Mooney for Writ of Habeas Corpus in the Supreme Court of the State of California:

"Petitioner and his associates had made a practice of coming to the aid of direct actionists, including the McNamara brothers, Schmidt, Caplan, Joseph Hillstrom, Ford and Suhr and Billings. One of the McNamara brothers pleaded guilty to having placed the bomb which destroyed the Los Angeles Times Building and killed in the neighborhood of fifty people in the year 1910. His brother pleaded guilty to having dynamited the Llewellyn Iron Works. Schmidt and Caplan were convicted of having participated in the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times Building in 1910. Joseph Hillstrom was convicted of having shot and killed in cold blood a grocer and his son in Utah. Ford and Suhr were convicted of murder as the result of the Wheatland hop riots. Billings was convicted of transporting dynamite from Oakland to Sacramento.

For considerable period of time petitioner was the secretary of the International Worker's Defense League, which provided the means of defense for such persons. As secretary of such league he wrote the following letter to Governor Spry of Utah at the time that Joseph Hillstrom's application for pardon was before the Governor:

'Governor William Spry, Salt Lake City, Utah.

DEAR SIR:

On Friday Oct. 1, 1915, Joseph Hillstrom, a subject of Sweden is to meet his death at the hands of the state of Utah unless you as the highest executive of that state intercede in his behalf, by reprieving his sentence or granting a commutation of sentence. This organization has forty five labor union and other organization affiliated with it, with a membership reaching up to twenty five thousand members. They are represented in this League by delegates, and it is the belief that Joseph Hillstrom did not receive a fair and honest trial, that he was tried without council to represent him. We demand you to act in his behalf. We ask you to pardon him if you are in favor of justice. If you are not in favor of Justice, then you can only be expected to be treated as you would treat others. This defense league is on record to do all in its power morally financially and otherwise to defend Joe Hillstrom, and we are not going to see any working man perish without being avenged, when we are satisfied he was not proven guilty of the crime charged in our estimation. Every principle of a fair trial was denied this man, and this is our principle reason for acting as we do at this time. We are for Justice for the Workers every where and all of the time. Hillstrom did not get it yet, and it remains for your self as Governor to prove yourself a man, by seeing to it that the name of the State of Utah was not placed on the black list of shame. If Utah takes this life it will pay dearly for so doing. Governor the Issue is up to you. Act, and Act right, or other will act right. Our demand is that Hillstrom be pardoned. Remember it, don't get, as it don't pay in this age of a fairness to do otherwise.

TOM MOONEY, Secretary-Treasurer.
TOM MOONEY.'

As secretary of the International Workers Defense League, petitioner published an open letter to Governor Hiram Johnson of California upon Governor Johnson's having denied Ford and Suhr's application for executive clemency, such letter concluding as follows:

"There are some workers at least, Governor Johnson, who will not accept as final your decision on the Ford and Suhr case, and from now on they will attempt to use the only kind of reasoning that will eventually reach you, and we hope it will be indulged in until Ford and Suhr are out of prison.

And so if violence is committed, Governor Johnson is responsible for it, as he has closed the last legal or governmental avenue of action.

The workers must act, and they will not until Ford and Sater walk forth free men vindicated to the labor world as their champions in the greatest cause in history.

TOM MOONEY, Sec'y.

It will be observed that both petitioner's letter to Governor Spiry and his letter to Governor Johnson were but thinly veiled threats of assassination, such as had a few years previously befell the Governor of Idaho.

Thus we can see that violence, murder and attempted assassination were not looked upon by some of these men as crimes against the State but merely as a means of liquidating those they considered to be class enemies.

In January of this year A. E. Shaw, referee presented by the Supreme Court of California, in the matter of Thomas J. Mooney for writ of habeas corpus, reported to the Supreme Court his findings. I wish now to read to you from pages 20, 21, 22 and 23 of that report the following paragraphs:

XXXIV

It is not true that the State of California has acknowledged that the testimony of the witness Frank C. Oxman or John MacDonald or Melvin Edlund or Sadie Edlund was perjured, so that by reason of the use of said testimony the petitioner has been wrongfully convicted. It is true that certain witnesses have undertaken to give their opinion that the said testimony of the said witnesses was false or perjured testimony; but said opinions are incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

XXXV

The referee finds that petitioner has failed to establish by a preponderance of the evidence or by any evidence which is itself competent or credible that any witness who testified or believed of the prosecution in the case which resulted in the petitioner's present conviction and conviction committed perjury or testified to anything which said witness did not believe to be true as a result of his or her own knowledge and observation.

XXXVII.

That the petitioner has failed to establish by a preponderance of the evidence or by any evidence which is itself competent or credible, that Charles Fickert or Edward Cunha or any other person connected with the prosecution of petitioner wilfully or deliberately or at all concealed or suppressed any evidence which, had it been produced, would have been favorable to petitioner.

XXXVIII

That it is established by a preponderance of the evidence that Charles Fickert and Edward Cunha and other persons connected with the prosecution of petitioner had reason to believe and did believe that the evidence produced against petitioner was honest and truthful evidence, and that the said Charles Fickert and the said Cunha and such other persons had reason to believe and did believe that petitioner was guilty of the offense charged against him, and of which he now stands convicted.

XXXIX

That it is established by a preponderance of the evidence that petitioner had a fair and impartial trial, and that he was not denied any right or privilege guaranteed or granted to him by the Constitution of the United States or of the State of California, or by any statute of the United States or of the State of California.

XL

That it is established by a preponderance of the evidence that petitioner was not the victim of a "frame-up", nor was he convicted as a result of any improper acts of any kind on the part of the district attorney or any of his assistants, or on the part of any person representing the State of California.

We, in this Senate are about to call the roll for the purpose of granting, what is generally acknowledged as an illegal pardon and, at the same time, to give one of these men a clean bill of health. Before the Secretary of this Senate calls the roll, I wish to call another. I wish to read the names of the dead who were blasted into eternity while watching a patriotic parade in the city of San Francisco. These people, together with others who were maimed or crippled for life, came from all sections of the State. Five of the dead came from the county of Alameda. I read the names to you:

I have gone back over the files and have read of the anguish that this explosion caused to countless innocent individuals. Husband was separated from wife, mother from her family, brother from brother and friend from comrade. Families that could have looked forward to years of happiness found, on that fatal afternoon, that their bread winner had been taken from them.

These men and women are the "forgotten ones" of the Preparedness Day bombing. The fact that they have neither voice nor vote does not lessen our obligation to them.

Senator Rich moved that Assembly Bills Nos. 1206 and 1209 be withdrawn from Committee on Motor Vehicles and returned to the Assembly.

Motion carried, and such was the order.

Communication.

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

SAN BERNARDINO, CALIFORNIA, March 13, 1937.

Senator Ralph E. Swing, Senate Chamber.

Congratulations, Grandpa. I just arrived, weighing six pounds. Mother doing nicely, too.

CAROL ANN SWING.

Remarks.

The following remarks, offered by Senator Swing, were ordered printed in the Journal:

It is fitting that this entry be made in the Journal to-day, on this, St. Patrick's Day, for Carol Ann is of Irish descent on her father's side.

Carol Ann holds the unusual distinction of having the oldest living great-great-grandmother and the youngest living grandfather in the State. A few days ago her great-great-grandmother, Hannah M. Garner, residing at Oremoside, celebrated her 102d birthday, and her grandfather on her father's side will shortly celebrate a birthday which will make him eligible as an elector but not eligible for a pension.

The ancestors of Carol Ann migrated across the desert plains in a train of ox teams in the early trek to California, passing through the famous Mormon Settlement at Salt Lake. So in christening this native daughter, she is blessed with a heritage reaching far back into the early pioneers.

Recess.

At two o'clock and forty minutes p.m., on motion of Senator Rich, the President of the Senate declared recess for the purpose of accepting the Assembly's invitation to attend the Assembly St. Patrick's Day program.

Reconvened.

At four o'clock and thirty five minutes p.m., the Senate reconvened. Lieutenant Governor George J. Hatfield, President of the Senate, in the chair.

Secretary Joseph A. Beek at the desk.

Amendment No. 1.

On page 1, line 1 of the title of the printed bill, strike out "add a new section to", and insert in lieu thereof the following: "amend section 20 of".

Amendment No. 2.

On page 1 of the printed bill, strike out lines 1 to 6, inclusive, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"SECTION 1. Section 20 of the act cited in the title hereof is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 20. Refund of Tax, Interest on Refunds, Appeal. If in the opinion of the commissioner, or State board, at the time when a tax has been computed in a manner contrary to law or has been erroneously computed by reason of a clerical mistake on the part of the commissioner or said board, or if any tax, penalty or interest has been paid more than once, or has been erroneously or illegally collected, or has been erroneously or illegally assessed, such fact shall be set forth in the records of the commissioner, and the amount collected in excess of what was legally due shall be credited on any taxes then due from the taxpayer under this act, and the balance refunded to the taxpayer.

If any tax, penalty or interest has been paid more than once, or has been erroneously or illegally collected, or has been erroneously or illegally assessed, the commissioner shall certify to the State Board of Control the amount collected in excess of what was legally due, from whom it was collected, or by whom paid, and if approved by that board, the same shall be credited on any taxes then due from the taxpayer under this act and the balance shall be refunded to the taxpayer.

No such credit or refund shall be allowed or made after three years from the time the return was filed by the taxpayer or within two years from the time the tax was paid, whichever period expires the later, unless before the expiration of such period a claim therefor is filed by the taxpayer. If no return is filed by the taxpayer, then no credit or refund shall be allowed or made after two years from the time the tax was paid unless before the expiration of such period a claim therefor is filed by the taxpayer. Every claim for refund must be in writing under oath and must state the specific grounds upon which the claim is founded.

If the commissioner disallows any claim for refund he shall notify the taxpayer accordingly. Within 30 days after the mailing of such notice, or if the commissioner does not act upon any claim for a refund within six months after the time the claim was filed, then within 30 days after the expiration of said six months, the commissioner's action upon the claim shall be final, unless within such 30-day period the taxpayer appeals in writing from the action of the commissioner to the State board. The appeal must be addressed to the State Board of Equalization at Sacramento, California, and a copy of the appeal addressed and mailed at the same time to the commissioner at Sacramento, California. Said board shall hear and determine the same and thereafter shall forthwith notify the taxpayer and the commissioner of its determination. Such determination shall be final, unless within 60 days from the time of such determination, the commissioner shall apply to the Supreme Court of the State for a writ of certiorari or review for the purpose of having the lawfulness of the decision of said board reviewed and set aside.

Interest shall be allowed and paid upon any overpayment of any tax if the overpayment was not made because of an error or mistake on the part of the taxpayer, at the rate of six per centum per annum as follows:

(1) In the case of a credit, from the date of the determination to the date of the allowance of the credit. Any interest allowed on any credit shall first be credited on any taxes due from the taxpayer under this act.

(2) In the case of a refund, from the date of the overpayment to a date preceding the date of the refund warrant by not more than 30 days, such date to be determined by the commissioner.

Any refund or any portion thereof which is erroneously made, and any credit or any portion thereof which is erroneously allowed, may be recovered, together with interest at the rate of six per centum per annum from the date the refund was made or the credit allowed, in an action brought by the commissioner in a court of competent jurisdiction in the county of Sacramento in the name of the people of the State of California, and such action shall be tried in the county of Sacramento unless the court with the consent of the prosecutor, order a change of place of trial. The Franchise Tax Counsel or the Attorney General must prosecute such action, and the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure, relating to service of summons, pleadings, proofs, trials, and appeals are applicable to the proceedings herein provided for.

In the event that a tax has been illegally levied against a taxpayer, the commissioner shall set forth on his records the reason therefor and thereafter shall authorize the cancellation of such tax."

Amendment No. 3.

On page 1 of the printed bill, strike out all of the lines 1 to 10, inclusive, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"SECTION 1. Section 737.5 of the Agricultural Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

737.5. (a) After 30 days after the effective date of this chapter no distributor shall deal in fluid milk or fluid cream without first having obtained a license from the director. The special licenses provided in this section are in addition to any and all licenses required by any other section of Division IV, Agricultural Code, or any law or ordinance of any county or municipality of this State. Applications for the licenses herein provided shall be made on forms prescribed by the director and shall state the name and address of the applicant and such details as to the nature of the applicant's business as the director may require. Licenses shall be issued for a period of twelve months from the last day of each year. Application for renewal shall be made at least 30 days before the expiration of the license year.

(b) Before any license is issued to any distributor who purchases or handles fluid milk or fluid cream from producers for other than lawful money of the United States paid prior to or at the time of delivery to the distributor, and in full at said time; and provided, further, that such distributor has executed and delivered to the director a signed affidavit stating that such purchases are being made only for lawful money of the United States prior to or at time of delivery, and in full, the applicant shall execute and deliver to the director a surety bond in the minimum sum of $1,000, executed by the applicant as principal and by a surety company qualified and authorized to do business in this State as surety. Said bond shall be upon a form approved by the director, and shall be conditioned upon the payment in the manner required by this chapter, of all amounts due to producers for fluid milk and fluid cream purchased by such licensee or applicant during the license year. Said bond shall be to the State in favor of every producer of fluid milk and fluid cream. In case of failure by a distributor to pay any producer or producers for fluid milk or fluid cream in the manner required by this chapter, the director shall proceed forthwith to ascertain the names and addresses of all producer-creditors of such distributor, together with the amounts due and owing to them and each of them by such distributor, and shall require all such producer-creditors to file a verified statement of their respective claims with the director. Thereupon the director shall bring an action on the bond on behalf of said producer-creditors. Upon any action being commenced upon said bond, the director may require the filing of a new bond and immediately upon a recovery from any action upon such bond, such distributor shall file a new bond, and upon failure to file same within ten days in either case, such failure shall constitute grounds for the revocation or suspension of the license of such distributor. In the event that recovery upon the bond is not sufficient to pay all of the claims as finally determined and adjudged by the court, any such amount recovered shall be divided pro rata among said producer-creditors.

The minimum bond of $1,000 shall be required of distributors purchasing or handling an average daily quantity of fluid milk from producers not to exceed 100 gallons; distributors purchasing or handling an average daily quantity from producers of 100 gallons and less than 200 gallons must post a bond in the amount of $2,000; distributors purchasing or handling an average daily quantity from producers of 200 gallons and less than 300 gallons must post a bond in the amount of $3,000; distributors purchasing or handling an average daily quantity from producers of 300 gallons or more shall post a bond in the sum of $5,000.

In the event that any distributor so increases his purchases or consignment handling of fluid milk or fluid cream during the license year that said purchases or consignment handling exceed the amount for which said distributor is bonded, said distributor shall forthwith post such additional bond or bonds as may be required to comply with the provisions of this section.

Sec. 2. Section 737.7 of the Agricultural Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

737.7. (a) The violation of any provision of this chapter, or of any provision of any stabilization and marketing plan formulated under the provisions of this chapter, or of any of the unfair practices set forth in this chapter, is a misdemeanor, and is furthermore ground for revocation or suspension of license in the manner set forth in this chapter. The unfair practice provisions described in this chapter are hereby declared to apply to all distributors, whether or not a plan is in effect in the area in which a distributor is licensed or carries on business.

(b) Every distributor must pay or make true and prompt accounting and returns for fluid milk or fluid cream delivered to him or it at the time and in the manner specified in the contract with the producer; failure to make such payment or to make full and true accounting and returns is hereby declared to be a violation of this chapter, and ground for refusal, suspension or revocation of license in the manner set forth in this chapter.

(c) Any person who violates any provision of a stabilization and marketing plan shall be liable civilly in the sum of $500 for each and every violation, such sum to be recovered by the director in any court of competent jurisdiction. All sums recovered under this section shall be deposited in the State Treasury to the credit of the Department of Agriculture fund."

On Contingent Expenses.

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, MARCH 18, 1937.

MR. PRESIDENT: Your Committee on Contingent Expenses, to which was referred the following resolution by Senator Tickle:

WHEREAS, It has been customary for many years for the State to print and distribute free of cost to the students in the schools and to other copies of the Constitution of the State of California, and of the United States, and other documents; and

WHEREAS, The course of study in the schools of the State requires a study of the Constitution; and

WHEREAS, The Constitution of the State of California and the Constitution of the United States and other historical documents are of great use in the teaching of civics in the public schools and in the teaching of Americanization; and

WHEREAS, It is to the benefit of the State of California that the Constitution of the State and other similar documents be readily available to the students in public schools and colleges and for use in the teaching of Americanization; and

WHEREAS, The last edition of such Constitution and documents is now exhausted and there are numerous unfilled requests from the schools and others for copies of such Constitution and other documents; and

WHEREAS, For many years the Legislature has provided for the distribution of the Constitution by members and officers of the Legislature and paid for the same from the contingent fund; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate be and he is hereby directed to procure, revise and have published an up-to-date edition of the Constitution of the State of California, the Constitution of the United States and certain other documents, and to arrange for the distribution of same on request of members of the Senate and others properly entitled thereto, and be it further

Resolved, That the Controller be and he is hereby directed to draw his warrant in favor of the Secretary of the Senate in the sum of thirty-five hundred (3,500) dollars upon the contingent fund of the Senate for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this resolution and the Treasurer is hereby directed to pay the same.

Bill read third time.

Urgency Clause.

SEC. 5. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution, and shall therefore go into immediate effect.

The facts constituting such necessity are as follows:

Upon the expiration of two years after the enactment by Congress of the Banking Act of 1935, signed by the President August 23, 1935, said act prohibits all banks, members of the Federal Reserve System, from paying any interest upon any deposit in the United States, including deposits of public funds made by or on behalf of any State, county, school district, or other subdivision or municipality, which is payable on demand, and makes the payment of interest by such banks on all such deposits, other than those payable on demand, subject to limitation by regulation by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. Said Banking Act of 1935 also authorizes the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System to define "demand" and "time" deposits and to determine what shall be deemed to be a payment of interest and to prescribe such rules and regulations as it may deem necessary, and also requires that no such bank shall pay any time deposit before its maturity except upon such conditions and in accordance with such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the said board.

Unless effectively amended on or before August 22, 1937, the existing law of this State, because of the restrictions imposed by the Banking Act of 1935, will make it mandatory that very large sums of public moneys be withdrawn from deposit with banks and that all amounts so withdrawn be held by the Treasurer in his own possession and handled in currency.

It is necessary that the withdrawal of such an amount of currency from circulation at one time be prevented and that the reduced and objectionable charges on the handling of public financial transactions that would immediately result as an inevitable result of such withdrawal and holding of currency, be avoided and that the means of deriving revenue from the depositing of public funds be impeded as little as possible. This act will permit the State to make deposits in such a manner as to comply with the Federal requirements. This act is necessary in order to permit the economical, orderly, and safe handling of the funds of the State.

Urgency Clause.

SEC. 9. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California and shall take effect immediately. The following is a statement of the facts constituting such necessity:

The Congress of the United States is now in session and probably will make an appropriation for the carrying out of the terms of the "Fulmer Act" (August 29, 1935, Chapter 808, sections 1, 2 and 3, 46 Stats. 963; 11 U. S. C. A. 567a to 567c inclusive), if an act is passed, permitting this State to take advantage of this act. If this act does not take effect immediately upon its approval, such an appropriation will not be made and the State of California will lose the advantage of the provisions of the "Fulmer Act."

Consideration of Daily File.

Second Reading of Senate Bills.

Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 19—A resolution to propose to the people of the State of California an amendment to the Constitution of said State by adding a new article thereto to be known as Article XIVa, relating to water and power development.

Consideration of Committee Amendments.

Pursuant to the report of the Committee on Irrigation, the following amendments to Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 19 were read and adopted:

Amendment No. 1.

On page 1, line 21, of the printed bill, after the word "irrigation", insert a "comma (,)", and the words "publicly owned utility".

Amendment No. 2.

On page 3, line 7, of the printed bill, strike out the words "twenty five", and substitute therefor the words "not more than fifty".

Amendment No. 3.

On page 4, line 12, of the printed bill, after "committees", add the following:
"All the terms and conditions of such bonds, and the issue and sale thereof, shall be such as the board may determine; provided, that provision shall be made for the complete amortization of the aggregate principal amount of each issue of such bonds within a period of fifty years from their date (through the medium of serial, or sinking fund, bonds, or otherwise, as the board may determine) and that the annual service charge (i.e., the aggregate of interest and principal payments, whether by maturity or sinking fund payment), on the issue for all years subsequent to the expiration of ten years after the date of such bonds shall be substantially equal, as near as may be, throughout the life of said bonded debt, giving preference, if any, to the payments first becoming payable on each issue, (and said payments shall be deemed to be substantially equal if the smallest thereof is not less than 75 per cent of the largest thereof); and provided further, that the payment of said bonds shall begin not later than ten years from the date thereof and be completed in not more than fifty years from said date. The board may provide for the refunding of any bonds so issued by the issue of new bonds upon such terms and conditions as it may prescribe; provided, the aggregate principal amount of each issue of such refunding bonds shall be completely amortized within a period of fifty years from the date of the bonds which they refund, rather than from the date of the refunding bonds, and that the annual service charges, as above defined, on the issue of refunding bonds for all years subsequent to their issue shall be substantially equal (and they shall be deemed to be substantially equal if the smallest thereof is not less than 75 per cent of the largest thereof).

Without limiting in any way the generality of the power above extended to the board to determine all the terms and conditions of the issue and sale of bonds, subject only to the express limitations above set forth, the board is expressly authorized, in its discretion, to provide, in connection with the authorization of any issue of such bonds, that the same may be issued in negotiable or nonnegotiable form; that they, and the interest thereon, may be payable or collectible at any place or places, within or without the State of California; that they may be issued in fully registered or in coupon form, registerable or nonregisterable as to principal, interchangeable or noninterchangeable as between registered and coupon bonds and as between bonds of differing denominations; that they may be redeemable, either at the option of the issuer, or in the operation of any sinking fund provided for the issue, at such price or prices as the board may determine; and that provision may be made for the appointment of such paying agents or sinking fund agents, for any such issue of bonds, as the board may determine, and for the deposit of funds with such agents for the service of such bonds and the application of such funds by such agencies for the purposes for which deposited."

Amendment No. 4.

On page 5, line 47, of the printed bill, strike out the words "within twenty-five", and substitute therefor the words "in not more than fifty".

Senate Joint Resolution No. 8.

Relative to the control of white pine blister rust by the United States Government.

WHEREAS, The white pine blister rust was imported from Europe to the United States, and has spread to Idaho, Washington, Oregon, and finally to California; and

WHEREAS, The white pine blister rust, if uncontrolled, will kill all five-needle pines including sugar pine which is the most important timber species in many California counties; and

WHEREAS, The loss of sugar pine will mean the loss of employment for thousands of men now engaged in lumbering operations in California, and heavy loss in assessed values of the counties; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and the Assembly of the State of California, jointly, That the State of California through its Legislature recommends to the President and to the Congress of the United States, and to the Secretary of Agriculture, and to the Chief of the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, that Federal funds that are now available, or are hereafter made available for the control of white pine blister rust, be expended on private and State timberlands as well as upon federally owned timberlands; and

Be it further resolved, That the Governor of the State of California is hereby requested to transmit copies of this resolution to the President and to the members of the Senate and House of Representatives, and to the Secretary of Agriculture, and to the Chief of the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine.

Senate Joint Resolution No. 11.

Relative to memorializing the President and Congress of the United States to increase the WPA appropriation.

WHEREAS, Recent reductions in Federal WPA allocations to California have made necessary sharp reductions in Federal contributions for materials to an average figure of from $7 to $5 per man month of labor employed; and

WHEREAS, These reductions include Federal contributions on projects begun but not yet completed; and

WHEREAS, The original agreements on most of these projects between local government sponsors and WPA called for Federal contribution for materials amounting to an average of from $17 to $13 per man month of labor employed; and

WHEREAS, The city and county budgets under which these sponsors operate can not provide for unanticipated increases in local contributions in the middle of a fiscal year; and

WHEREAS, The local governments feel that these original agreements under which the projects were begun are a moral if not a legal obligation of the Federal Government; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly of the State of California, jointly: That the President and the Congress of the United States are respectfully requested to make an appropriation to WPA to become immediately available, or at least sufficient to permit the completion of projects begun but not yet completed, on the basis of original agreements for allocating cost of materials, and be it further

Resolved, That certified copies of this resolution be forwarded by the Secretary of the Senate of the State of California to the President of the United States, the Vice President of the United States, the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States, and to all the Senators and Representatives from California in the United States Congress.

Communication.

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

FARM CREDIT ADMINISTRATION OF BERKELEY.

GENTLEMEN: Reference is made to Assembly Joint Resolution No. 32, introduced by Mrs. Daley under date of March 4, 1937, amended in the Senate on March 16, 1937, and filed with the Secretary of State on March 15, 1937, and requesting the action of the Federal Land Bank, the Federal Home Owners Loan Corporation and the Federal Housing Administration concerning the effect of proposed legislation in pending deficiency judgments in the State of California.

The Legislature of the State of California has requested in this joint resolution that the Federal Land Bank advise it as to whether or not legislation of this character would have a tendency to hamper, control, make difficult or prevent the continued lending operations of the Land Bank in the State of California.

A copy of this resolution having been forwarded to The Federal Land Bank of Berkeley, I, as the General Counsel of the Farm Credit Administration of Berkeley, which includes The Federal Land Bank of Berkeley, have been requested to advise you of the effect of the enactment into law of legislation prohibiting deficiency judgments upon the Land Bank's lending activities.

I respectfully desire to point out that it is not the purpose of the Farm Credit Administration, or any of its units, to suggest to the Legislatures of any of the individual States that they should not make such regulations as may seem to them warranted by existing local circumstances. To the contrary, it is our desire that every possible effort be made for the adjustment of lending procedures to the legislation, policy, and customs in various parts of the country. However, in determining whether the laws of any State are such as to permit the granting of Federal land bank loans therein, the statutory provisions of the Federal Farm Loan Act which regulate and govern these loans must be observed.

Under the provisions of the Federal Farm Loan Act, Federal land banks can make loans only upon first liens on farm land and on the credit instruments secured thereby. The fact that the act itself requires a careful investigation of the character and solvency of the loan applicant as well as the sufficiency of the security offered by him is a clear indication that the personal credit and responsibility of the applicant is one of the assurances for the repayment of the loan and a requirement before an eligible loan can be obtained. Any legislation, therefore, denying to borrowers the capacity to incur personal liability for their loans, or denying to lenders any remedy for the enforcement of the personal undertaking of their borrowers, would not satisfy the security requirements of the Federal Farm Loan Act, and the enactment of legislation of this character in the State of California would subsequently necessitate a suspension of loaning operations within the State. Likewise, legislation changing the borrower's personal liability with unreasonable limitations or burdensome conditions, whereby its enforcement became impossible or extremely difficult, would necessitate a discontinuance of loaning operations within the State by virtually nullifying the borrower's personal obligation for the repayment of his loan.

The Farm Credit Administration is desirous, of course, that all of the lending facilities of its various agencies shall continue to operate for the benefit of the people of the State of California. It would be a matter of regret, therefore, if, by the enactment of legislation of this kind, its lending activities would have to be suspended.

I should be very glad to appear before any committees of your body for the purpose of further explaining this matter in the event such is desired.

Respectfully,

RICHARD W. YOUNG, General Counsel.

Statement.

The following statement by Senator Phillips was ordered printed in the Journal:

It is important that the above statement from Mr. Young should not be misunderstood, as it might be if considered separately and apart from the entire correspondence with representatives of the Federal Land Bank in Berkeley, including Mr. Young, himself, and the Federal agencies in Washington. The desire of all parties is to correct any feature of the law which may react to the disadvantage of either creditor or debtor, or both. Obviously the Federal Government would take no position detrimental to the debtor and antagonistic to its own program of relief. As in the case of other laws, the trouble rests not with the law itself but with the abuse of that law or with efforts to circumvent the protection it establishes for the man or the woman who does not have corporate advantages, in strength and in legal advice. Some half-dozen bills on the general subject of relief to farm debtors will come before the Senate Committee on Judiciary on the evening of Wednesday, March 24. Deficiency judgments will be discussed at that time. The program under discussion at that meeting is the result of the personal knowledge, in the field, of over 400 men who represent the voluntary Farm Debt Adjustment Committees in 50 of the 58 counties of California. Their knowledge of the situation is not theoretical, but practical. If any changes are necessary in the present laws, this point will be brought out at the meeting. This is supported by the fact that another letter from Mr. Young, dated March 19th, makes certain suggestions for changes, if necessary, in the California law to meet the regulations of the Federal Government. These suggestions are based on the North Carolina Law and, for brevity, are not included in this statement.

Resolution.

The following resolution was offered:

By Senators Slater, Keating, McGovern, and Quinn:

Good Friday, which falls on March 26th, again commemorates an event of outstanding importance all over the Christian world. With a desire to encourage an appreciation of the impelling interest involved in the observance of Good Friday and its world-wide connection in influencing the lives of countless millions and in accordance with the custom followed by the California Legislature for many years; be it

Resolved, That the Senate of the State of California recess from its business during the hours of twelve m. to three p.m. on Friday, March 26, 1937.

Resolution read, and on motion of Senator Slater, adopted.

Amendment No. 2.

On page 1, line 1, of the printed bill, after "Section 1.", insert the following: "The title of the act cited in the title hereof is hereby amended to read as follows:

An act to prevent fraud or misrepresentation in the distribution and sale of gasoline or other motor fuel, distillate, kerosene and lubricating oil; regulating the distribution and sale of such products and the use of brands and trade marks in connection therewith; providing for the licensing of persons, firms, associations or corporations, installing and using motor vehicle fuel pumps; regulating signs, placards, posters, streamers, cards and other advertising media advertising gasoline or other motor vehicle fuel or the price thereof; defining the powers and duties in relation thereto of the Division of Weights and Measures of the Department of Agriculture, and persons authorized by it, sealers of weights and measures, and their deputies and other officers; defining "gasoline" and prescribing specifications for products sold or offered for sale as "gasoline"; prescribing penalties for the violation of provisions hereof; and repealing acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith.

SEC. 2. Section 1 of the act cited in the title hereof is amended to read as follows:

Section 1. A. For the purpose of this act "gasoline" is defined to be any liquid petroleum product offered for sale, which conforms to the following specifications:

(a) It shall be free from water and suspended matter.

(b) A clean copper strip shall not show more than extremely slight discoloration when submerged in the gasoline for three (3) hours, at one hundred twenty two degrees Fahrenheit, the test being conducted in accordance with the American Society for Testing Materials, Standard D 130-36, as published in "American Society for Testing Materials Standards," 1936.

(c) It shall distill, within the following limits, when tested in accordance with the American Society for Testing Materials, Standard D 86-35, Standard Method of Test for Gasoline, Naptha, Kerosene and similar petroleum products, as published in "American Society for Testing Material Standards," 1936, using the low distillation thermometer:

1. When the thermometer reads one hundred and sixty-seven degrees (167 deg.) Fahrenheit, not less than ten per cent (10%) shall be evaporated.

2. When the thermometer reads two hundred and eighty-four degrees (284 deg.) Fahrenheit, not less than fifty per cent (50%) shall be evaporated.

3. When the thermometer reads three hundred and ninety-two degrees (392 deg.) Fahrenheit, not less than ninety per cent (90%) shall be evaporated.

4. The end point shall not be higher than four hundred thirty-seven degrees (437 deg.) Fahrenheit.

5. At least ninety-five per cent (95%) shall be recovered as distillate in the receiver from the distillation.

6. The distillation residue shall not exceed two per cent (2%).

B. The word "person," whenever used in this act, shall mean and include, but without limitation, any natural person, partnership, association, trustee, receiver, corporation, and any member, officer, agent or employee thereof, or assignee for the benefit of creditors.

Sec. 3."

Amendment No. 3.

On page 1 of the printed bill, strike out lines 3 to 18, inclusive, and on page 2, strike out lines 1 to 20, inclusive, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"SEC. 2. It shall be unlawful for any person to sell, offer for sale, or assist in the sale of, or permit to be sold or offered for sale, or deliver or offer to deliver to any premises for the purpose of sale, any product as or purporting to be "gasoline," unless the same shall conform to the foregoing specifications."

Amendment No. 4.

"SEC. 4. Section 3 of the act cited in the title hereof is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 3. It shall be unlawful for any person to sell, offer for sale or assist in the sale of, or permit to be sold or offered for sale, or deliver or offer for delivery, any gasoline, as hereinbefore in section 1 of this act defined, distillate, kerosene, or any oil represented as lubricating or motor oil for internal combustion engines, at any place where petroleum products are kept or stored for sale, unless and until there shall be firmly attached to or painted upon each container, receptacle, pump, and inlet end of the fill pipe of each underground storage tank, from which or into which such gasoline or oil is drawn or poured out for sale or delivery, and so as to be plainly visible, a sign or label consisting of the word or words, in letters not less than  $\frac{1}{2}$  of an inch in height, "gasoline," "lubricating oil" or "motor oil," as the case may be, together with the brand, trade mark or trade name of such product.

If any such lubricating or motor oil so sold, or so offered for sale or delivery, has been previously used for the lubrication of internal combustion engines or all gearing or shafting attached to or connected thereto, or for any other lubricating purposes, and has been rerun or filtered, redistilled or reclaimed, the container shall bear a superimposed sign or label of rectangular shape not less than four by six (4x6) inches containing the words "reclaimed used motor oil" or "used lubricating oil, reclaimed," in red letters over a white background of gothic type with a stroke of not less than  $\frac{3}{16}$  inch in width and not less than  $\frac{1}{4}$  inch in height, provided, however, that on all containers of one gallon or less, a superimposed sign or label of rectangular shape or not less than two by three (2x3) inches containing the words "reclaimed used motor oil" or "used lubricating oil, reclaimed," in red letters over a white background of gothic type with a stroke of not less than  $\frac{3}{32}$  inch in width and not less than  $\frac{1}{8}$  inch in height, shall be sufficient.

If any such reclaimed, rerun or redistilled oil is used in blending or compounding in other petroleum products being sold, offered or kept or stored for sale, the fact of such blending or compounding shall be indicated on all containers as required by this section for containers of unblended reclaimed, rerun or redistilled lubricating oil.

Provided, that in attaching such sign or label to the inlet end of the fill pipe of an underground storage tank, it shall consist of a metal tag firmly attached or affixed to such fill-pipe, at said end, so as to be plainly visible when filling same, but the letters thereon may be any convenient size; and

As to any bottles used for dispensing lubricating or motor oil, either unused or reclaimed, if such bottles are kept in baskets, stands or racks for holding same, it shall be sufficient to label each such basket, stand or rack in lieu of labeling the bottle itself; provided, that all bottles kept in such baskets, stand or rack contain a product of the same brand, quality and viscosity rating, but no bottles containing reclaimed lubricating or motor oil shall be kept or commingled in any basket, stand or rack containing any bottles used to dispense unused lubricating or motor oils; and

If any gasoline shall have no brand, trade mark or trade name, each such sign or label therefor shall consist of the words, in letters of gothic type with a stroke of not less than  $\frac{9}{16}$  inch in width, and not less than three (3) inches in height, "Gasoline, no brand," and if any lubricating or motor oil shall have no brand, trade mark or trade name, each such sign or label therefor shall consist of the words, in letters of gothic type with a stroke of not less than  $\frac{9}{16}$  inch in width, and not less than three (3) inches in height, "Lubricating oil, no brand," "Motor oil, no brand," provided, however, that if such lubricating or motor oil shall be reclaimed used oil, each such sign or label shall also include the words "Reclaimed used lubricating oil" or "Reclaimed used motor oil," as the case may be. And, provided further, that letters of gothic type with a stroke of not less than  $\frac{3}{32}$  inch in width and not less than  $\frac{1}{2}$  inch in height shall be sufficient on all containers with a capacity of one gallon or less, and all such signs shall be in red letters upon a white background. This provision as to size of letters shall not apply to signs or labels at the inlet end of any underground storage tank, which letters may be of any convenient size but must be plainly visible when filling such underground storage tank."

Amendment No. 5.

On page 3 of the printed bill, strike out lines 42 to 51, inclusive, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"SEC. 5. Section 4 of the act cited in the title hereof is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 4. It shall be unlawful for any person to sell, offer for sale, or to cause or to permit to be sold or offered for sale, or deliver or offer for delivery, any petroleum product as a fuel for internal combustion engines at any place where petroleum products are kept or stored for sale, which does not conform to the requirements of section 1 of this act, unless and until there shall be firmly attached to or painted upon each container, receptacle, pump, and inlet end of the fill-pipe of each underground storage tank, from which or into which such petroleum product is drawn or poured for sale or delivery, and so as to be plainly visible, a sign or label comprising the brand, trade-mark or trade name of such fuel, or the words "No brand," which words shall be in letters of gothic type with a stroke of not less than  $\frac{3}{16}$  inch in width and not less than one (1) inch in height, and also in red letters of gothic type with a stroke of not less than 9/16 inch in width and not less than three (3) inches in height, on a white background and not less than twice the size of any other letters or words appearing on or near said label or sign, the words "Not gasoline"; provided, that in attaching such sign or label to the inlet end of the fill-pipe of an underground storage tank, it shall consist of a tag or plate firmly attached or affixed to such fill-pipe at said end, so as to be plainly visible while filling same, but the letters thereon may be of any convenient size.

Sec. 5. Subject to the provisions of section 14, subsections C, D and E of this act, it shall be unlawful for any person to transport in any tank wagon or tank truck or trailer, for the purpose of sale, or for delivery to any place where petroleum products are kept or stored for sale, any petroleum products as a fuel for internal combustion engines, distillate, kerosene or any oil represented as lubricating or motor oil for internal combustion engines, unless and until there shall be firmly attached to or affixed at each outlet faucet or valve of each such tank wagon, tank truck and trailer, a metal tag, plate or label, on which is displayed in letters not less than 1 2 inch in height, the name of the particular product in the tank compartment of the tank wagon, tank truck or trailer with which such valve or faucet is connected; and the brand, trade-mark or trade name of such product, or the words "No brand"; and if such product does not conform to the requirements of section 1 of this act, there shall also be displayed on a corresponding tag, plate, or label, in red letters not less than one (1) inch in height, the words "Not gasoline."

SEC. 7. Section 8 of the act cited in the title hereof is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 8. A. It shall be unlawful for any person to sell, attempt to sell, offer for sale or participate or assist in the sale of any gasoline, distillate or other motor fuel or lubricating oil or motor oil of any kind or quantity whatever for use in internal combustion engines when said gasoline, distillate or other motor fuel or lubricating oil or motor oil is, at the time it is sold, offered for sale, caused or attempted to be sold, wilfully and falsely represented to the purchaser or intended purchaser thereof either verbally or by advertising labels, signs or literature to be the product of any manufacturer, refiner, producer or importer other than the true manufacturer, refiner, producer or importer; and it shall likewise be unlawful for any person knowingly to permit, direct or cause any other person to do any of the acts prohibited by this section.

B. This section shall not be construed to prohibit any person from selling or offering for sale under his own trade-marks, trade names, brands, or the words "no brand," the product of any manufacturer, refiner, producer, or importer, if such person has first obtained the written authorization of the true manufacturer, refiner, producer, or importer so to sell or offer for sale such product, which written authorization shall be in the form and kept available for inspection by both such person and the true manufacturer, refiner, producer, or importer as provided in subsection C hereof. Any other person, other than the true manufacturer, refiner, producer or importer, purchasing any of the products mentioned herein shall not change the designation under which said products are purchased by him, without written authorization as provided in subsection C hereof.

C. The written authorizations referred to in subsection B of this section shall be obtained prior to the displaying, handling, marketing, transporting, selling, attempting to sell, advertising for sale, offering for sale or otherwise dealing in any of the products covered by such authorizations, and shall be issued for and covering each such sale for resale and for each admixture of any of the products hereinbefore referred to. Such written authorizations shall contain the following: A reference by appropriate and adequate designation to an applicable invoice for, or written contract covering the sale of, such products, the quantity of such products sold or to be delivered, the name of the true manufacturer, refiner, producer or importer, the vendor's name, the vendee's name, the trade-marks, trade name or brand under which such products are authorized to be sold.

The written authorizations hereinbefore referred to shall be kept at the main office in the State of California of both the manufacturer, refiner, producer or importer who has authorized the resale of the products referred to in this section under a particular trade-mark, trade name, brand or the words "no brand" and at the main office in the State of California of the person who owns the particular trade-mark, trade name or brand under which such products have been authorized to be sold or offered for sale, or who sells or offers for sale said products under the words "no brand." The written authorizations herein referred to shall be available for inspection during business hours by the duly authorized representatives of said Division of Weights and Measures, each county sealer of weights and measures, each deputy county sealer, each city and county sealer and deputy thereof, each sealer and deputy sealer of each incorporated city and town in the State of California, and any person purchasing any quantity of any of the products mentioned in this section.

D. It shall constitute a violation of this act for any person to fail to keep in the form prescribed, or to forge or falsify any records or authorizations provided for in this section, or knowingly to keep, use or display any such false or forged records.

E. Both the aforesaid authorizations and records shall be kept in the form prescribed by the Division of Weights and Measures of the State Department of Agriculture and contain, in addition to the data heretofore prescribed, such other pertinent data and information as said division may deem necessary for the enforcement of this act.

SEC. 8. Section 9 of the act cited in the title hereof is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 9. It shall be unlawful for any person to deposit or deliver into any tank, pump, container or receptacle, or into any bottle or bottles kept in a barrel, stand or rack, at any place where petroleum products are kept or stored for sale, any gasoline or other motor fuel, or any distillate, kerosene, lubricating or motor oil, other than that indicated by the brand, trade-mark or trade name displayed on such tank, pump, container, receptacle, bottle, barrel, stand or rack, or the outlet end of the underground storage tank, except as provided in sections 8 and 11 of this act.

Sec. 10. It shall be unlawful for any person engaged in the business of selling at retail any gasoline or other motor fuel or any distillate, or kerosene, or any lubricating or motor oil for internal combustion engines, to display any sign or other designating mark at or near the place of business of such person, denoting or designating a brand, trade-mark or trade name or the words "no brand" of a gasoline or other motor fuel, distillate, kerosene, or lubricating or motor oil for internal combustion engines, not actually sold or offered for sale or delivery at the place of business where such sign or other designating mark is displayed.

Sec. 11. A. No person shall sell, offer for sale, or advertise for sale, any gasoline or other motor vehicle fuel from any place of business in the State of California by use of or through or from any dispensing apparatus, unless there is displayed on such dispensing apparatus in a conspicuous place at least one sign showing the actual total price, including taxes, per gallon of all gasoline or other motor vehicle fuel sold, offered for sale, or advertised for sale from the particular dispensing apparatus from which all such gasoline or other motor vehicle fuel is sold, offered for sale or advertised for sale. Each such sign shall be placed in a conspicuous place on said dispensing apparatus and if service of gasoline or other motor vehicle fuel may be made from more than one side of such dispensing apparatus the same shall be so placed as to be visible from at least two (2) sides thereof, and each such sign shall be not less than five (5) inches nor more than eight (8) inches in height and shall be not less than eight (8) inches nor more than twelve (12) inches in width. All letters, figures or numerals on each such sign, however affixed thereto, marked thereon, imprinted thereon, placed thereon or embossed thereon, shall be at least  $\frac{3}{4}$  of an inch in height and each and all of the lines or strokes used in the making or forming of any or all such letters, figures or numerals which are a part of such sign shall be at least  $\frac{1}{4}$  of an inch in width. Each and all of the letters, figures or numerals which are part of any such sign, shall be plainly legible, the same to be of like color or tint and such color or tint shall contrast with the background and other portions or parts of such sign.

Provided, that for the purpose of this section a fraction shall be considered as one numeral and provided further, that where a price computing scale is used in connection with or as a part of any such sign, the figures, letters or numerals of such computing scale need not comply with the provisions of this section.

B. No person shall keep, maintain or display on the premises of any place of business in the State of California any banner, sign, placard, poster, streamer, card or other advertising medium, which banner, sign, placard, poster, streamer, card or other advertising medium indicates or shows or advertises the price of gasoline or other motor vehicle fuel sold, offered for sale or advertised for sale from such premises, unless the actual price per gallon of gasoline or other motor vehicle fuel, including taxes, is also shown on such banner, sign, placard, poster, streamer, card or other advertising medium, together with the trade name of the gasoline or other motor vehicle fuel product advertised for sale by such sign; provided, that if gasoline or other motor vehicle fuel is offered for sale or advertised for sale from any such premises, but not under any trade name or brand name, then the words "No brand" must be used and designated on such banner, sign, placard, poster, streamer, card or other advertising medium.

Each such sign shall conform substantially to the following specifications:

All letters, figures or numerals used in designating the brand name or words "No brand" as the case may be, shall be of uniform size and shall be at least six (6) inches in height and the height shall not be more than twice the dimension of the width of each such letter, figure or numeral;

All letters, words, figures or numerals used for the purpose of indicating or showing prices of gasoline or other motor vehicle fuel sold or advertised for sale shall be uniform in size and shall not be more than twice the size of the letters, figures or numerals used for the purpose of designating the brand name, or if no brand is used "No brand." Such banner, sign, placard, poster, streamer, card or other advertising medium shall not contain any other advertising matter whatsoever, except words of description of the product sold or offered for sale, and if words of description of the product offered for sale or advertised for sale by any such sign are used, the letters, figures or numerals which form any words, marks, letters, figures or numerals of description shall not be larger than the words, marks, letters, figures or numerals used in forming or designating the brand name or the words "No brand."

Provided, that for the purpose of this section, fractions shall be considered as one numeral; and provided, further, that the numeral one (1) or the letter "I" need not conform to specifications prescribed for other letters, words, figures or numerals but all letters, words, figures or numerals shall be of the same type and design and shall be uniform with other letters, words, figures or numerals with which the same are used.

All letters, words, figures or numerals appearing on any banner, sign, placard, poster, streamer, card or other advertising medium, or part of any of them, referred to in this section shall be plainly visible and shall be of such colors or tints as will contrast such letters, words, figures or numerals with the remaining portion or parts of any such banner, sign, placard, poster, streamer, card or other advertising medium; provided that all words, letters, figures or numerals on such sign or a part of such sign forming or designating the brand name or the words "No brand" shall be of like color or tint, and all words, letters, figures or numerals designating or indicating the price of gasoline or other motor vehicle fuel so offered for sale shall be of like color or tint. No banner, sign, placard, poster, streamer, card or other advertising medium shall be placed on the premises in such a manner or in such a position to another sign or advertising medium as will render the sign advertising gasoline or other motor vehicle fuel offered for sale susceptible of being read in conjunction with any other sign, banner, placard, poster, streamer, card or other advertising medium and thereby be misleading to any person reading the same from any public street or highway.

The provisions of this subsection B shall not apply to the signs, banners, placards, posters, streamers, cards or other advertising medium referred to in subsection A hereof.

C. All letters, words, figures or numerals forming any sign, banner, placard, poster, streamer, card or other advertising medium located or maintained on any premises referred to in subsections A and B hereof, advertising or offering for sale any goods, wares or merchandise, other than gasoline or other motor vehicle fuel, but which may be construed by any reasonable person as advertising or offering for sale gasoline or other motor vehicle fuel, is hereby prohibited and shall be a violation of this act.

Sec. 12. A. It shall be unlawful for any person to mix or adulterate any gasoline or other motor fuel, distillate, kerosene, or lubricating or motor oil, and to fraudulently sell or offer for sale or attempt to sell or assist in the sale of, any of the products resulting from such mixture or adulteration as the gasoline or other motor fuel, distillate, kerosene, or lubricating or motor oil, of a brand, trade-mark or trade name, maintained and in general use by the manufacturer, refiner, producer, or marketer of either or both of the products so mixed or adulterated or by any other manufacturer, refiner, producer, or marketer; provided that deliveries by tank wagon, tank truck, tank trailer or tank semi-trailer shall be subject to the modifications as provided in section 14, subsections C, D, E, F and G.

B. It shall likewise be unlawful for any person to sell or offer for sale or attempt to sell or assist in the sale of any of the products resulting from any such mixture or adulteration, as described in subsection A of this section, as gasoline or other motor fuel, distillate, kerosene, lubricating or motor oil, under his own trade marks, trade names, brands, or the words "No brand," unless and until such person has first obtained a written authorization from each and every manufacturer, refiner, producer or importer, any of whose branded product or products has or have been made a part of such mixture or adulteration. All of the provisions of section 8 of this act relative to written authorization shall apply to the provisions of this section.

Sec. 13. It shall be unlawful for any person to place, store, or keep, or cause or permit to be placed, stored or kept, for the purpose of sale, in any storage tank, underground or otherwise, container or receptacle, any petroleum product if such tank contains or has previously contained a different product, or the product of a different manufacturer, refiner, producer, or marketer unless and until such tank, container or receptacle shall first have been emptied and relabeled in all respects in accordance with the provisions of this act.

Sec. 14. A. Subject to the provisions of subsections C, D, E, F and G, of this section, it shall be unlawful for any person to attach or connect, or cause or permit to be attached or connected, any pump, container or other device, used for or in the drawing, pouring, or delivery of any petroleum product referred to in this act, and intended for sale, to or with any tank or receptacle containing any petroleum product or any liquid other than the one described on the label, tag or sign attached or affixed to such pump, container or other device.

B. Subject to the provisions of subsections C, D, E, F and G, of this section, it shall be unlawful for any person in making any sale, to pump, draw, furnish or deliver, or to cause or permit to be pumped, drawn, furnished or delivered, by means of, or through, any pump or other device, any product other than the one described on the label, tag or sign attached or affixed to such pump or other device.

C. In the event that a tank wagon, tank truck, tank trailer or tank semi-trailer is equipped with a meter for the purpose of measuring the quantities of different grades, brands or trade names of a product withdrawn from more than one compartment, then means shall be provided whereby there will be a clear and easily legible indication of the grade, brand or trade name of the product which is being measured by the meter. Such device as may be used for this indication shall be so interlocked or interconnected with the valve or other device with which the selection of product is controlled, that any change in position of the controlling or selecting device shall automatically indicate the grade, brand, or trade name of the product which has been selected for measurement and delivery, and shall not permit the flow of different grades, brands or trade names of a product at any given time.

The provisions of section 5, which pertain to the use of labels on fixtures shall not apply to such tank wagons, tank trucks, tank trailers or tank semi-trailers as are subject to this subsection, but all other provisions of section 5 shall be applicable, provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to prohibit the use of a single meter, with its accessory devices and without a controlling or selecting mechanism, for the purpose of measuring the contents of one compartment only, or of two or more compartments if, or when, a single grade, brand, or trade name of a product is carried in all such compartments at any one time.

D. In the event that a tank wagon, tank truck, tank trailer or tank semi-trailer is equipped with a meter for the purpose of measuring the quantities of products withdrawn from more than one compartment, it shall be unlawful to transport at any one time, in either or any of the compartments whose contents are to be measured by one meter, more than one product as defined in section 1, or as described elsewhere in this act. Provided, that this shall not prohibit transporting two or more grades of gasoline, or of other motor fuel, or of distillate, or of kerosene, or of burner oil, at any one time in all compartments whose contents are to be measured by the one meter, provided, however, that in the application of this subsection to deliveries to the fuel tank of any aircraft, it shall be unlawful to handle gasoline specifically refined or manufactured for the operation of aircraft engines and gasolines not specifically refined or manufactured for the operation of aircraft engines through the same meter.

E. It shall be unlawful for any person to operate a tank truck, tank wagon, tank trailer or tank semi-trailer equipped with a meter for the purpose of measuring the quantities of different grades, brands or trade names of a product withdrawn from any one of two or more compartments, if the quantity which is contained within the meter and its accessory devices on the discharge side of the controlling or selecting mechanism, as required in subsection C, exceeds 5½ gallons; provided, however, that if the meter which is used is designed for two inch or smaller standard pipe size, the quantity which is contained within the meter and its accessory devices on the discharge side of the controlling or selecting mechanism, as required in subsection C, shall not exceed 3½ gallons; provided, however, that in the case of a tank truck, tank wagon, tank trailer or tank semi-trailer when deliveries are made through the medium of pump and hose in connection with a meter for the purpose of measuring the quantities of different grades, brands or trade names of a product from any one of two or more compartments, the foregoing limitations shall not apply to the quantity of product contained within the pump, meter, accessory devices and hose on the discharge side of the controlling or selecting mechanism, as required in subsection C, but it shall be mandatory that the pump and hose be cleared of such quantity of product of a grade other than that which is to be delivered as may remain on the discharge side of the controlling or selecting mechanism from a former delivery. The product thus cleared may be returned to its appropriate compartment by means of the pump.

F. If a single meter with its accessory devices, and without a controlling or selecting mechanism is used for the purpose of measuring the contents of one compartment only, or of two or more compartments, it is required that if such volume of liquid as may be retained in the discharge piping and devices shall exceed 3½ gallons with a two inch or smaller meter, or 5½ gallons with a meter larger than two inches, the quantity so remaining shall be replaced whenever a change is made in the grade, brand or trade name of a product which is carried in such compartment or compartments.

G. Whenever a change is made in the product, as defined in section 1, or as described elsewhere in this act, to be carried in any compartment, the entire contents of its discharge piping and devices shall be replaced and the discharge piping and devices flushed with the product intended for delivery.

Sec. 14. Section 14a of the act cited in the title hereof is hereby renumbered 14 and amended to read as follows:

Sec. 14 $\frac{1}{2}$ . Every person, engaged in the business of selling at retail gasoline, distillate, or other petroleum products, for use as fuel for internal combustion engines, within thirty days from and after the effective date of this act, and every person, after this act becomes effective, before engaging in such business, shall obtain from the Division of Weights and Measures, of the State Department of Agriculture, a license effective for one (1) year, authorizing said person to engage in such business, for which license the licensee shall pay, annually, a license fee, the total amount of said fee to be determined by the number of motor vehicle fuel pumps installed and used, or to be installed and used, or from time to time installed and used by such licensee in such business figured at the rate of one dollar (\$1) for each such pump. Before granting any license authorizing any person to engage in such retail business, the Division of Weights and Measures, of the State Department of Agriculture, shall require such person, firm, association or corporation to file an application with said division in such form as shall be prescribed by said division, which application shall be accompanied by the license fee due from such person, the amount thereof to be determined in the manner hereinabove set forth. Application for a license for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1934, shall be made within thirty days from and after the date upon which this act takes effect, and shall be accompanied by the license fee due from any such applicant, as above provided. Thereafter all applications shall be filed with said Division of Weights and Measures on or before the first day of July of each year, and payment made for an annual license in the usual manner. Every licensee shall at all times conspicuously display any license so granted hereunder on the premises in which such licensee is doing business.

All license fees so collected under the provisions of this section shall be credited to the Department of Agriculture fund created by Chapter 70 of the Statutes of 1929, to be expended in accordance with the law in carrying out the provisions of this act.

Sec. 15. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this act is for any reason held to be unconstitutional, such decisions shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this act. The Legislature hereby declares that it would have passed this act and each section, subsection, sentence, clause and phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more of the other sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared unconstitutional."

The board of supervisors may release any lien for aid to the aged as against all or part of the property affected thereby upon such terms and for such amount, or without consideration, as it deems wise. The board of supervisors may execute agreements subordinating the effect of such lien to other liens theretofore or hereafter placed upon the property by the person owning the same. The recordation of such a release duly executed by the board of supervisors shall release and discharge any lien for aid to the aged heretofore or hereafter created as against the property described in the release and the recordation of any agreement of subordination duly executed by the board of supervisors shall remove any lien for aid to the aged subordinate and subject to the private lien or deed of trust mentioned within such subordination agreement.

"2227. In all actions brought either to determine conflicting claims to real property or for partition of real property under the provisions of Chapter IV, Title X, Part II of the Code of Civil Procedure, or to foreclose a mortgage, deed of trust, or other lien upon real property upon which exists a lien for aid to the aged, the board of supervisors of the county wherein the aid was rendered may be made a party to the action and the priority of such lien determined as in other cases. Service of process in such actions shall be made upon the chairman of the board of supervisors and the district attorney of the county shall appear and represent the board in all such actions. Any decree rendered by the court against the board of supervisors shall be conclusive and binding as against the board of supervisors and as against the State of California and as against the county or city and county participating in the granting of such aid.

"2228. All releases heretofore made by any board of supervisors of any lien for aid to the aged, upon payment of the full amount of such lien to the county, are hereby in all things ratified and confirmed, and shall be conclusive and binding as against the State of California."

"(e) Any person rendering service for another, other than as an independent contractor, or as expressly excluded herein, is presumed to be an employee within the meaning of this act. The term "independent contractor" shall be taken to mean for the purposes of this act. Any person who renders service, other than manual labor, for a specified recompense for a specified result, under the control of his principal as to the result of his work only and not as to the means by which such result is accomplished. A working member of a partnership rendering wages irrespective of profits from such partnership shall be deemed an employee within the meaning of this section.

(f) The term "casual" as used in this section shall be taken to refer only to employments where the work contemplated is to be completed in not exceeding ten working days, without regard to the number of men employed, and where the total labor cost of such work is less than one hundred dollars. The phrase "course of the trade, business, profession or occupation of his employer" shall be taken to include all services tending toward the preservation, maintenance or operation of the business, business premises or business property of the employer. The words "trade, business, profession or occupation of his employer" shall be taken to include any undertaking actually engaged in by him with some degree of regularity, the trade name, articles of incorporation or principal business of the employer to the contrary notwithstanding.

(g) Watchmen for nonindustrial establishments, paid by subscription by several persons, shall not be held to be employees within the meaning of this act. In other cases where watchmen, paid by subscription by several persons, have at the time of the injury sustained by them taken out and maintained in full force and effect insurance upon themselves as self-employing persons conferring benefits equal to those conferred by this act, the employer shall not be liable under this act.

(h) It shall not be a defense to the State, or any political subdivision or institution thereof, or public or quasi public corporation, that a person injured while rendering service for it was not lawfully employed by reason of the violation of any civil service or other law, rule, or regulation respecting the hiring of employees.

(i) Workmen associating themselves under a partnership agreement, the principal purpose of which is the performance of the labor on a particular piece of work, shall be deemed employees of the person having such work executed, and, in the event the average weekly earnings are not otherwise ascertainable, shall be deemed to be employed at an average weekly wage of twelve dollars; provided, however, that if such workmen shall have taken out and maintained in full force and effect insurance, in an insurance carrier as defined in this act, insuring to themselves and all persons employed by them benefits identical with those conferred by this act, the person for whom such work is to be done shall not be liable as an employer under this act.

(j) Each male member registered as an active fire fighting member of any regularly organized volunteer fire department, having official recognition, and full or partial support of the government of the city, town, or district, in which such volunteer fire department is located, shall be held and deemed to be an employee of such city, city and county, town or district for the purposes of this act, and shall be entitled to receive compensation from such city, town or district in accordance with the provisions thereof.

If he suffer injury or death while in the performance of his duty as fireman, then, irrespective of his remuneration from this and/or other employment, his average weekly earnings shall be taken for the purpose of computing such compensation as the sum of $38.46, and three times his average annual earnings referred to in section 9 (c) hereof shall be taken as the sum of $5,999.76; provided, however, that the death benefit referred to in said section 9 (c), when added to the disability indemnity which at the time of his death has accrued and become payable, shall not exceed the sum of $5,000, except as in said section otherwise provided.

The Industrial Accident Commission and the Department of Finance shall jointly and annually, as soon as practicable after July 1st of each year, estimate the total amount of money required to pay the special additional compensation provided for in this section. An itemized statement of the estimated amounts so ascertained shall be open to public inspection in the offices of the commission for 30 days after notice to all insurance carriers and to all self-insured employers affected thereby, before the commission shall make an assessment upon such carriers and self-insured employers as hereinafter provided.

The fund so created from these assessments shall be applied toward the payment of the special additional compensation provided in this act. If there be any deficiency from year to year the commission as above provided shall assess upon and collect from each insurance carrier or self-insured employer, including the State Compensation Insurance Fund, and each county, city, town, village or other political subdivision or employer subject to this act the proportion of such expense that the total compensation or payments made by such carrier in such year bears to the total compensation payments made by such insurance carriers, self-insured employers or other employers subject to the provisions of this act. The amount so secured shall be paid to the commission and immediately thereafter transferred to the State Treasurer for credit to the fund set aside for the payment of special additional compensation as provided by this act.

Where any employer is uninsured as provided by this act, said commission shall levy an assessment of $25 in each case wherein the commission shall find said employer guilty of violating the provisions of this act. Every uninsured employer shall, as a condition precedent to defending any claim filed with said commission and before a hearing shall be held thereon, deposit with said commission said assessment of $25. Said assessment shall be refunded in the event said defendant shall be found not guilty of violating the provisions of said act as to noninsurance. The commission, in its own name, as party plaintiff, may institute the proper action to collect said sum of $25 against any uninsured employer and shall, if necessary, institute the proper action to enjoin any such employer from continuing his business operations during such period as such employer shall be uninsured as provided by this act and shall fail or refuse to pay said assessment as herein provided.

The commission is hereby authorized, and it shall be its duty to administer said fund, to fix and award the amounts of special additional compensation to be paid under this section, to authorize payment from said fund, to carry out the provisions of this section, and to make any orders, rules or regulations which may be necessary or convenient for the administration of said fund, and the Controller is hereby authorized and directed to draw his warrant on said fund from time to time in accordance with the direction of the commission, and the Treasurer is hereby authorized and directed to pay the same."

Amendment No. 52.

On page 10 of the printed bill, strike out line 12, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"3. The death of an injured employee shall not affect the liability of the employer under subsections (a) and (b) of this section, so far as such liability has accrued and become payable at the date of the death, and any accrued and unpaid compensation shall be paid to the dependents, if any, or, if there are no dependents, to the personal representative of the deceased employee or heirs or other persons entitled thereto, without administration, but such death shall be deemed to be the termination of the disability.

(c) If the injury causes death, either with or without disability, the burial expense of the deceased employee as hereinafter limited and a death benefit which shall be payable in installments equal to 65 per cent of the average weekly earnings of the deceased employee, upon the employer's regular pay roll, but not less frequently than twice in each calendar month, unless otherwise ordered by the commission, which death benefit shall be as follows:

(1) In case the deceased employee leaves a person or persons wholly dependent upon him for support, such dependents shall be allowed the reasonable expenses of his burial, not exceeding $150, and a death benefit, which shall be a sum sufficient, when added to the disability indemnity which at the time of his death has accrued and become payable, under the provisions of subsection (d) hereof, to make the total disability indemnity and death benefit equal to three times his average annual earnings, such average annual earnings to be taken at not less than $333.33 nor more than $1,999.92, provided, however, that said death benefit when added to the disability indemnity which at the time of his death has accrued and become payable shall not exceed the sum of $5,000 except as otherwise provided in subsection (b) of section 6 of this act and section 29 of this act.

(2) In case the deceased employee leaves no person wholly dependent upon him for support, but one or more persons partially dependent therefor, the said dependents shall be allowed the reasonable expenses of his burial, not to exceed $150, and, in addition thereto, a death benefit which shall amount to three times the annual amount devoted by the deceased to the support of the person or persons so partially dependent, provided, that the death benefit shall not be greater than the sum sufficient, when added to the disability indemnity which at the time of his death has accrued and become payable, under the provisions of subsection (d) hereof, to make the total disability indemnity and death benefit equal to three times his average annual earnings, such average annual earnings to be taken at not less than $333.33 nor more than $1,999.92, provided, however, that said death benefit when added to the disability indemnity which at the time of his death has accrued and become payable shall not exceed the sum of $5,000 except as otherwise provided in subsection (b) of section 6 of this act and section 29 of this act.

(3) If the deceased employee leaves no person dependent upon him for support, the employer shall be liable for the reasonable expenses of his burial, not exceeding $150 and such other benefit as may be provided by law.

(d) Payment of compensation in accordance with the order and direction of the commission shall discharge the employer from all claims therefor.

Amendment No. 53.

On page 10, lines 30 and 31, of the printed bill, strike out "as required and provided by this act", and insert in lieu thereof the following: "and the right to compensation as required and provided by this act shall be barred unless application therefor shall be made within one year after the last payment of such compensation or within one year after the discontinuance of such payment or care."

(a) No compensation shall be payable in case of the death or disability of an employee if his death is caused, or if and so far as his disability is caused, continued, or aggravated, by an unreasonable refusal to submit to medical treatment or to any surgical treatment, the risk of which is, in the opinion of the commission, based upon expert medical or surgical advice, inconsiderable in view of the seriousness of the injury.

(b) The fact that an employee has suffered a previous disability, or receives compensation therefor, shall not preclude him from compensation for a later injury, or his dependents from compensation for death resulting therefrom, but in determining compensation for the later injury, or death resulting therefrom, his average annual earnings shall be fixed at such as will reasonably represent his annual earning capacity at the time of the later injury.

(c) Any payment, allowance or benefit received by the injured employee during the period of his incapacity, or by his dependents in the event of his death, which by the terms of this act was not then due and payable or when there is any dispute or question concerning the right to compensation, shall not, in the absence of any agreement, be construed to be an admission of liability for compensation on the part of the employer, or the acceptance thereof as a waiver of any right or claim which the employee or his dependents may have against the employer, but any such payment, allowance or benefit may be taken into account by the commission in fixing the amount of the compensation to be paid."

Amendment No. 62.

On page 12, line 16, of the printed bill, after the period, insert the following: "Failure to file an answer as herein required is an admission of the facts alleged in the application."

(b) If the defendant fails to appear or answer, no default shall be taken against him, but the commission shall proceed to the hearing of the matter upon such terms and conditions as it may deem proper. Such defendant failing to appear or answer, or subsequently contending that no service was made upon him, or claiming to be aggrieved in any other manner by want of notice of the pendency of the proceedings, may apply to the commission for relief substantially in accordance with the provisions of section 473 of the Code of Civil Procedure, and the commission is hereby authorized to afford such relief. No right to relief, including the claim that the findings and award of the commission or judgment entered thereon are void upon their face, shall accrue to such defendant in any court unless prior application shall have been made to the commission in accordance with this subsection, and in no event shall any application to any court be allowed except as prescribed in sections 67 and 68 of this act.

(c) If upon the filing of an application, such application shows upon its face that the applicant is not entitled to compensation, the commission may, upon its own motion or upon the motion of the adverse party, and after opportunity to the applicant to be heard orally or in writing, and upon good cause appearing therefor, dismiss the application prior to any hearing thereon. The pendency of such motion or notice of intended dismissal shall not, unless otherwise ordered by the commission, delay the hearing upon the application upon its merits.

(d) Upon the filing of an application by or on behalf of an injured employee or his dependents or any other party in interest, the commission may, in its discretion, in the cases mentioned in section 412 of the Code of Civil Procedure or in any case where the employer has failed to secure the payment of compensation as required by section 29 of the Workmen's Compensation, Insurance and Safety Act of 1917, as amended by Chapter 471 of the Laws of 1919), direct the county clerk of any county or city and county to issue writs of attachment authorizing the sheriff to attach the property of the defendant in an amount not to exceed the greatest probable award against him in such matter, to be fixed by the commission, as security for the payment of any compensation which may thereafter be awarded. The provision of Part 2, Title 7, Chapter 4, of the Code of Civil Procedure of this State, as far as applicable to proceedings before the commission, shall govern the proceedings upon attachment, and the commission shall be substituted for the superior court in said provisions for the purpose of this act. No writ of attachment shall be issued except upon the order of the commission or a commissioner, and such order shall not be made where it appears from the application or affidavit in support thereof that the employer was, at the time of the injury to the employee, insured against liability imposed by this act in any insurance carrier licensed to do business in the State of California. If it should at any time after the levying of an attachment be made to appear that such employer was so insured, and the requisites for dismissing said employer from the proceeding and substituting the insurance carrier as defendant under any of the methods prescribed under section 30 (c) of this act be established, the commission must forthwith discharge the attachment. In levying such attachment, preference must be given to the real property of the employer."

Amendment No. 63.

On page 12 of the printed bill, strike out line 17, and in line 18, strike out "in the title hereof", and insert in lieu thereof the following:

Amendment No. 65.

"(b) If any employer shall fail so to secure the payment of compensation, and an injured employee or his dependents may proceed against such employer by filing an application for compensation with the commission, and in addition thereto such injured employee or his dependents may bring an action at law against such employer for damages, the same as if this act did not apply, and shall be entitled in such action to the right to attach the property of the employer, at any time upon or after the institution of such action, in an amount to be fixed by the court to secure the payment of any judgment which may ultimately be obtained. Such judgment shall include a reasonable attorney's fee to be fixed by the court. The provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure, except in so far as they may be inconsistent with this act, shall govern the issuance of and proceedings upon such attachment; provided that if as a result of such action for damages a judgment is obtained against such employer in excess of the compensation awarded under this act, the compensation awarded by the commission, if paid, or if security approved by the court be given for its payment, shall be credited upon such judgment; provided further, that in such action it shall be presumed that the injury to the employee was a direct result and grew out of the negligence of the employer, and the burden of proof shall rest upon the employer, to rebut the presumption of negligence. In such proceeding it shall not be a defense to the employer that the employee had been guilty of contributory negligence, or assumed the risk of the injury complained of, or that the injury was caused by the negligence of a fellow servant. No contract made in violation of this act shall be allowed to restore to the employer any of the foregoing defenses.

(c) Failure to secure the payment of compensation as hereinbefore provided shall constitute a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not more than $500 or by imprisonment for not more than six months or both. In case of the $500 fine by an employer to secure the payment of compensation as herein provided, the amount of compensation otherwise recoverable but in excess of death as provided in this act shall be increased ten per cent, any of the provisions of this act as to maximum payments or otherwise to the contrary notwithstanding; provided, however, that said increase of award shall in no event exceed $1,000. Failure of an employer to secure the payment of compensation as herein provided shall be prima facie evidence of wilfulness on his part.

(d) The commission may require any employer to furnish a written statement at any time showing the name of his insurance carrier or the manner in which the employer has complied with the provisions of this section. Failure of the employer for a period of ten days to furnish such written statement shall constitute presumptive evidence that such employer has failed or neglected as respect to the matters so required. In any prosecution under this section, the burden of proof shall be upon the defendant to show that he has secured the payment of compensation in one of the two ways set forth in paragraph (a) hereof."

Amendment No. 66.

On page 14 of the printed bill, strike out line 1, and in line 2, strike out "in the title hereof", and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"Sec. 11. Section 30 of the Workmen's Compensation, Insurance and Safety Act of 1917".

Amendment No. 67.

On page 14, line 3, of the printed bill, after "30", insert the following:

"(a) Nothing in this act shall affect the organization of any mutual or other insurance company, or any existing contract for insurance, or the right of the employer to insure in mutual or other companies, in whole or in part, against liability for the compensation provided by this act, or to provide by mutual or other insurance, or by arrangement with his employees, or otherwise, for the payment to such employees, their families, dependents or representatives, of sick, accident or death benefits, in addition to the compensation provided for by this act, or the right of the employer to waive the waiting period provided for herein by insurance coverage; provided, however, that it shall be unlawful for any employer to exact " receive from any employee any contribution, or make or take any deduction, from the earnings of any employee, either directly, or indirectly, to cover the whole or any part of the cost of compensation under this act, and it shall be a misdemeanor so to do.

(b) Liability for compensation shall not be reduced or affected by any insurance, contribution, or other benefit whatsoever due to or received by the person entitled to such compensation, except as otherwise provided by this act, and the person so entitled shall, irrespective of any insurance or other contract, except as otherwise provided in this act, have the right to recover such compensation directly from the employer, and in addition thereto, the right to enforce in his own name, in the manner provided in this act, either by making the insurance carrier a party to the original application or by filing a separate application, the liability of any insurance carrier, which may, in whole or in part, have insured against liability for such compensation; provided, however, that payment in whole or in part of such compensation by either the employer or the insurance company shall, to the extent thereof, be a bar to recovery against the other of the amount so paid; and provided, further, that as between the employer and the insurance company, payment by either directly to the employee, or to the person entitled to compensation, shall be subject to the conditions of the insurance contract between them.

(c) Every contract insuring against liability for compensation, or insurance policy evidencing the same, must contain a clause to the effect that the insurance carrier shall be directly and primarily liable to the employee, and, in the event of his death, to his dependents, to pay, to the extent provided in the subject to the provisions, conditions and limitations of the policy, the compensation, if any, for which the employer is liable; that, as between the employee and the insurance carrier, the notice to or knowledge of the occurrence of the injury on the part of the employer shall be deemed notice or knowledge, as the case may be, on the part of the insurance carrier; that jurisdiction of the employer shall, for the purpose of this act, be jurisdiction of the insurance carrier; and that the insurance carrier shall in all things be bound by and subject to the orders, findings, decisions or awards rendered against the employer under the provisions of this act, to the extent provided in and subject to the provisions, conditions and limitations of the policy.

(d) Such policy must also provide that the employee shall have a first lien upon any amount which shall become owing on account of such policy to the employer from the insurance carrier, and that in case of the legal incapacity or inability of the employer to receive the said amount and pay it over to the employee or his dependents, the said insurance carrier may and shall pay the same directly to the said employee or his dependents, thereby discharging, to the extent of such payment, the obligations of the employer to the employee; and such policy shall not contain any provisions relieving the insurance carrier from payment when the employer becomes insolvent or is discharged in bankruptcy, or otherwise, during the period that the policy is in operation or the compensation remains owing. Every contract insuring against liability for compensation, provided by this act, or insurance policy evidencing the same shall be conclusively presumed to contain all of the provisions required by this act."

Amendment No. 68.

On page 14 of the printed bill, between lines 10 and 11, insert the following:

"(f) Where any employer is insured against liability for compensation with any insurance carrier and such insurance carrier shall have assumed the liability of the employer therefor in the manner provided by this section, or shall have paid any compensation for which the employer is liable, or furnished or provided any medical services required by this act, such insurance carrier shall be subrogated to all the rights and duties of such employer and may enforce any such rights of its own name.

(g) The State Compensation Insurance Fund may insure against any liability fixed under this act to the same extent as any insurance carrier."

Sec. 22e. Where tax reports or payment of excise taxes or license fees are required to be made on or by specified dates, they shall be deemed to have been made at the time they are filed with or paid to the board or other proper official or, if sent by mail, on the date shown by the United States postmark on the envelope containing such report or payment.

SEC. 22.2. Section 23 of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Act is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 23. An excise tax is hereby imposed upon all beer and wine sold in this State by a manufacturer or importer at the following rates:

(a) On all beer, sixty-two cents for every barrel containing thirty-one gallons, and at a proportionate rate for any other quantity;

(b) On all wine, two cents per wine gallon, and at a proportionate rate for any other quantity;

(c) On champagne, or sparkling wine, whether naturally or artificially carbonated, three cents per pint or fraction thereof, six cents per quart or fraction thereof greater than one pint.

SEC. 22.3. Section 23a of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Act is hereby added to read as follows:

Sec. 23a. Beer and wine consumed by employees of manufacturers or importers upon the premises of such manufacturers and importers shall be exempt from tax under such rules and regulations as the board may prescribe.

SEC. 22.4. Section 23b is hereby added to the Alcoholic Beverage Control Act to read as follows:

Sec. 23b. It shall be presumed, for the purposes of this act, that all beer and wine manufactured in this State by a manufacturer, or delivered to a manufacturer or importer here, has been sold by such manufacturer or importer unless proven to the satisfaction of the board, in verified reports on forms prescribed by the board, that such alcoholic beverages are (1) still in the possession of such licensee or (2) that such alcoholic beverages have been sold and delivered to another manufacturer or importer of such alcoholic beverages, or (3) that such alcoholic beverages have been exported without this State or sold for export by the licensee making the report, or (4) that prior to the termination of possession such alcoholic beverages have been lost through unintentional destruction, or (5) destruction of spoiled beer or wine in the presence of a representative of the board or of the United States Bureau of Internal Revenue, or (6) that prior to the termination of possession there has been an unaccounted for loss, but such unaccounted for loss shall not exceed a tolerance to be fixed by the board, or (7) that such beer or wine is otherwise exempted from taxation under this act."

Consideration of Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 17.

Senator Olson asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent for the consideration of Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 17, without reference to committee for purpose of adoption.

Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 17.

Relative to granting the Pasadena Community Playhouse the honorary title of the State Theater of California.

WHEREAS, The Pasadena Community Playhouse of Pasadena, California, has for some years exemplified the highest standards of dramatic art and has brought national and international renown to the State of California as a center of dramatic art; and

WHEREAS, The Pasadena Community Playhouse has encouraged the development of playwrighting in California and has presented the works of native California playwrights and native American playwrights; and

WHEREAS, The Pasadena Community Playhouse has encouraged and developed the talents of native born California actors through its school of dramatic art and has given such Californians the opportunity to study the art of acting and to appear on the stage in classic and modern plays; and

WHEREAS, The Pasadena Community Playhouse plans to and will during the year 1937 produce an historical pageant commemorating the Spanish and American pioneers of California and celebrating the discovery and development of the State of California; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California the Senate thereof concurring, That the Pasadena Community Playhouse of Pasadena, California, be hereby recognized and given the title of the State Theater of California.

Resolution read

The question being on the adoption of the resolution.

The roll was called, and Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 17 adopted by the following vote:

Consideration of Special Order—(Resumed)

Senate Bills Nos. 103 and 579, heretofore set as a special order, were taken up for further consideration.

Senate Bill No. 103—An act relating to State lands, providing for the leasing of certain lands for the production of oil, gas, and other hydrocarbons therefrom, authorizing the acquisition by condemnation of easements and rights of way for drilling sites and drilling purposes on and through littoral lands and lands adjacent thereto, and authorizing the Director of Finance, on behalf of the State of California, to enter into contracts for the production of oil, gas and other hydrocarbons from State lands, providing for competitive bidding for said contracts, and authorizing the production, sale and disposition of oil, gas and other hydrocarbons from such State lands by the State; providing for the exercise of the powers of eminent domain in relation to such State lands and littoral and adjacent lands thereto and relating to the production of oil, gas and other hydrocarbons from State lands other than those specifically described in the act, and providing for the protection of the State's interests in and to all oil, gas and other hydrocarbons in State lands.

Amendments from the Floor.

During third reading of Senate Bill No. 103, the following amendments, offered by Senator Jespersen, were read:

Amendment No. 1.

Strike out the title of the printed bill, as amended, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"An act relating to certain State lands and the production and disposition of oil, gas and other hydrocarbon substances therefrom, providing for the condemnation of real property, rights of way, easements and other interests in real property, for the purposes of this act, and for the exercise of the powers of eminent domain in relation thereto, repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent or in conflict herewith, and providing that this act shall take effect immediately."

Amendment No. 2.

On page 1, of the printed bill, as amended, strike out lines 1 to 9, inclusive, and strike out all of pages 2 to 8, inclusive, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"SECTION 1. The State of California is the owner, in its sovereign and proprietary capacities, of certain tide and submerged lands at Huntington Beach, Orange County, containing valuable deposits of oil, gas and other hydrocarbon substances, which lands are described as follows:

The area bounded by a line beginning at the northeast corner of the northwest quarter of the northeast quarter of Section 4, Township 6 South, Range 11 West, S. B. B. & M.; thence easterly a distance of 14,520 feet, more or less, to the northeast corner of the northwest quarter of Section 1, Township 6 South, Range 11 West, S. B. B. & M.; thence south  $41^{\circ} 20'$  west to the high water mark of the Pacific Ocean; thence south  $41^{\circ} 20'$  west a distance of 5280 feet to a point in the Pacific Ocean; thence north  $48^{\circ} 40'$  west a distance of 10,901 feet, more or less, to a point in the Pacific Ocean; thence north  $41^{\circ} 20'$  east to the point of beginning, except that portion thereof lying landward from the high water mark of the Pacific Ocean.

SEC. 2. The oil and gas deposits in said State lands are being constantly drained by oil wells drilled in and operated on privately owned lands adjacent thereto. The protection of the public interest requires the development, production, removal and disposition of the oil, gas and other hydrocarbon substances from said State lands for the benefit of the State.

SEC. 3. The Director of Finance is hereby authorized and directed to secure the development, extraction, removal and sale of oil, gas and other hydrocarbon substances from said lands for the benefit of the State in the manner hereinafter provided.

SEC. 4. The term "person," as herein used, means an individual, a corporation, a partnership, and association, a joint stock company, a trust, or any unincorporated organization or association.

SEC. 5. The Director of Finance for and in behalf of the State, is authorized and empowered to condemn, acquire and possess, for and in the name of the State, any real property, and any right of way, easement or other interest therein that may be necessary or desirable for convenient access to said State lands for the development and production of oil, gas and other hydrocarbon substances therefrom in the manner as herein provided, and for their removal, transportation, storage and sale, and for such purposes shall, in the name of the people of the State of California, institute condemnation proceedings pursuant to section 14 of Article I of the Constitution and the Code of Civil Procedure relating to eminent domain. The acquisition of such property is hereby declared a public necessity.

Any property or interest so acquired shall be made available to any person to whom an oil and gas lease may be awarded under this act.

SEC. 6. For the purpose of prospecting, drilling for, extracting, producing, removing and disposing of oil, gas and other hydrocarbon substances from said lands, the area thereof shall be divided into nine (9) parcels specifically described as follows:

Parcel A. The area bounded by a line beginning at the northeast corner of the northwest quarter of the northeast quarter of Section 4, Township 6 South, Range 11 West, S. B. B. & M.; thence easterly a distance of 1320 feet, more or less, to the northeast corner of said Section 4; thence south  $41^{\circ} 20'$  west to the high water mark of the Pacific Ocean; thence south  $41^{\circ} 20'$  west a distance of 5280 feet to a point in the Pacific Ocean; thence north  $48^{\circ} 40'$  west a distance of 991 feet, more or less, to a point in the Pacific Ocean; thence north  $41^{\circ} 20'$  east to the point of beginning; except that portion thereof lying landward from the high water mark of the Pacific Ocean.

Parcel B. The area bounded by a line beginning at the northeast corner of Section 4, Township 6 South, Range 11 West, S. B. B. & M.; thence easterly a distance of 1320 feet, more or less, to the northeast corner of the northwest quarter of the northwest quarter of Section 3, Township 6 South, Range 11 West, S. B. B. & M.; thence south  $41^{\circ} 20'$  west to the high water mark of the Pacific Ocean; thence south  $41^{\circ} 20'$  west a distance of 5280 feet to a point in the Pacific Ocean; thence north  $48^{\circ} 40'$  west a distance of 991 feet, more or less, to a point in the Pacific Ocean; thence north  $41^{\circ} 20'$  east to the point of beginning; except that portion thereof lying landward from the high water mark of the Pacific Ocean.

Parcel C. The area bounded by a line beginning at the northeast corner of the northwest quarter of the northwest quarter of Section 3, Township 6 South, Range 11 West, S. B. B. & M.; thence easterly a distance of 1320 feet, more or less, to the northeast corner of the northwest quarter of Section 3, Township 6 South, Range 11 West, S. B. B. & M.; thence south  $41^{\circ} 20'$  west to the high water mark of the Pacific Ocean; thence south  $41^{\circ} 20'$  west a distance of 5280 feet to a point in the Pacific Ocean; thence north  $48^{\circ} 40'$  west a distance of 991 feet, more or less, to a point in the Pacific Ocean; thence north  $41^{\circ} 20'$  east to the point of beginning; except that portion thereof lying landward from the high water mark of the Pacific Ocean.

Parcel D. The area bounded by a line beginning at the northeast corner of the northwest quarter of Section 3, Township 6 South, Range 11 West, S. B. B. & M.; thence easterly a distance of 1320 feet, more or less, to the northeast corner of the northwest quarter of the northeast quarter of Section 3, Township 6 South, Range 11 West, S. B. B. & M.; thence south  $41^{\circ} 20'$  west to the high water mark of the Pacific Ocean; thence south  $41^{\circ} 20'$  west a distance of 5280 feet to a point in the Pacific Ocean; thence north  $48^{\circ} 40'$  west a distance of 991 feet, more or less, to a point in the Pacific Ocean; thence north  $41^{\circ} 20'$  east to the point of beginning, except that portion thereof lying landward from the high water mark of the Pacific Ocean.

Parcel E. The area bounded by a line beginning at the northeast corner of the northwest quarter of the northeast quarter of Section 3, Township 6 South, Range 11 West, S. B. B. & M.; thence easterly a distance of 1320 feet, more or less, to the northeast corner of Section 3, Township 6 South, Range 11 West, S. B. B. & M.; thence south  $41^{\circ} 20'$  west to the high water mark of the Pacific Ocean; thence south  $41^{\circ} 20'$  west a distance of 5280 feet to a point in the Pacific Ocean; thence north  $48^{\circ} 40'$  west a distance of 991 feet, more or less, to a point in the Pacific Ocean; thence north  $41^{\circ} 20'$  east to the point of beginning, except that portion thereof lying landward from the high water mark of the Pacific Ocean.

Parcel F. The area bounded by a line beginning at the northeast corner of Section 3, Township 6 South, Range 11 West, S. B. B. & M.; thence easterly a distance of 1320 feet, more or less, to the northeast corner of the northwest quarter of the northwest quarter of Section 2, Township 6 South, Range 11 West, S. B. Sec. 7. Each parcel described in section 6 hereof shall be offered for lease in the manner as hereinafter provided, to that qualified bidder offering by bid to pay to the State the highest percentum in amount and value of oil, gas and other hydrocarbon substances produced from wells drilled under such lease.

SEC. 8. The Director of Finance shall, within thirty (30) days after the effective date of this act, publish once a week for three consecutive weeks, in a newspaper of daily and general circulation in the county of Orange and in two other newspapers of daily and general circulation, one published in the city of Los Angeles and one published in the city of San Francisco, notice that the parcels described in section 6 will be leased, and that persons desiring to bid for said leases shall fill out and file, within thirty days from the last date of publication of said notice, a questionnaire with the Director of Finance. Said notice shall specify the minimum royalty requirements herein established. Said questionnaire shall be on the standard form prescribed by the Director of Finance and shall contain questions calling for the following information:

1. The exact name in which the person filing the questionnaire intends to bid;

2. Whether the person filing the questionnaire is an individual, partnership, unincorporated association, business trust, corporation, or joint stock company. In case of a person filing a questionnaire as an individual he shall give his residence and business address for five years last past. In case of a partnership or unincorporated association, the names, addresses, and residence for five years last past for all members shall be given. In case of a corporation, the names of the officers and directors shall be set forth. Like information as to managing officers or trustees and beneficiaries shall be filed in the case of business trusts and joint stock associations.

3. In the case of business trusts, corporations, joint stock associations, or partnerships, the name of the State or other sovereign power under which the filer is organized or incorporated and the period of time that said filer has been qualified to do and has done business in the State of California.

4. The period of time the filer has engaged in the oil business in this State and in what branch thereof.

5. The number of producing wells, if any, being operated by such person in California, the location and average daily production of each.

6. The name and address of any other company or person who controls or is controlled by the filer, and all affiliates and subsidiaries of the filer.

7. Such other information as the Director of Finance may require.

SEC. 9. Such statement of information shall be verified under oath as pleadings in a civil action. All statements shall be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check payable to the order of the State Treasurer in the sum of $100, to be credited to the budget for the Department of Finance as an examination fee, which in no case shall be returned. Statements so filed shall be public records and shall be open to inspection by any person or his duly authorized agent filing statements hereunder. Immediately upon receipt of said statements the Director of Finance shall proceed to examine the same for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this act. If such questionnaire be deemed insufficient by the Director of Finance he shall, within fifteen (15) days from receipt of said questionnaire, notify in writing the person filing the same of his objections, and such person shall, within fifteen (15) days thereafter, file an amended statement setting forth the information requested. Said director shall complete the examination of all such questionnaires within one hundred twenty (120) days after the effective date hereof, provided, however, that he shall be authorized to extend said time of one hundred twenty (120) days an additional thirty (30) days.

SEC. 10. Within one hundred twenty (120) days after the effective date of this act, unless said time be extended by the Director of Finance, as hereinbefore provided, the Director of Finance shall prepare a list of persons qualified and entitled to bid for lease of said parcels described in section 6 hereof. To qualify as a bidder, said statement must show and the Director of Finance must find that the person filing such statement or questionnaire, if a corporation or joint stock association, is qualified to do business in the State of California.

SEC. 11. Within twenty (20) days after the preparation of said list of qualified bidders, the Director of Finance shall send out to each person qualified and entitled to bid, a form of lease for each parcel, the only difference in said leases being the description of the parcel.

SEC. 12. No bid shall be accepted and no lease shall be made unless the same provides for payment to the State of more than thirty per cent (30%) of the amount or value of the production of oil and gas from any and all wells drilled thereunder.

SEC. 13. Any lease made under authority of this act shall be for a term of ten (10) years with the right of renewal given to lessee for an additional five (5) year term, and as long thereafter, as wells drilled thereon are producing oil and gas in commercial quantities, not exceeding twenty-five (25) years from the date of said lease.

SEC. 14. Any lease made under authority of this act shall provide for the drilling of at least ten (10) wells on the strip or area embraced in said lease from and by means of piers, groins or islands constructed oceanward from the shore, and that the first wells drilled thereunder shall be so spaced as to properly offset wells operating on adjacent lands that may be drawing oil and gas from the leased area.

SEC. 15. In addition to other provisions required by this act, such lease shall also include provisions:

(a) That piers, groins or islands shall be so constructed as to afford public access to and from the beach for bathing, fishing or other recreational purposes and that drilling and production operations shall be conducted and the equipment therefor shall be constructed with precaution to prevent any pollution of the waters of the ocean and any unnecessary interference with public use of the beaches for such purposes.

(b) Such terms, conditions, and provisions as shall protect the interests of the State with reference to securing the payment to the State of the proper amount or value of production; the proper spacing of wells for the purpose of securing maximum production; diligence on the part of the lessee in drilling the wells in the oil sands; methods of operations and standard requirements for carrying on operations in proper and workmanlike manner; protection of waters; protection of safety and health of workmen; liability of lessee for personal or property damage; prohibiting assignment of the lease or subleasing without written consent of the Director of Finance; security for faithful performance by the lessee; and such other covenants, conditions, requirements and reservations as may be deemed advisable by the Director of Finance in executing the purposes of this act, and not inconsistent with any of its provisions.

SEC. 16. Every qualified bidder desiring to bid on any or all of said parcels shall fill out the blank space indicated in said lease by fixing the percentage of amount or value of production of oil, and the percentage of amount or value of production of gas and casinghead gasoline proposed to be paid or to be delivered to the State as royalty, and sign and execute the lease or lease and covenants in the Director of Finance, State Capitol, Sacramento, California, at a date specified not later than thirty (30) days from the date of the mailing of the notice to the Director of Finance. All bids shall, in this form, be presented under sealed cover and shall be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check of a responsible bank in California made payable to the State Treasurer in the sum of $10,000. The amount thereof shall be deposited as security for the faithful performance by the holder of the terms and covenants of and compliance with the conditions of said lease at the event the bid offered by him is accepted. Upon his furnishing good and sufficient bond to the State in the sum of $15,000 for such faithful performance, as shall be provided for in the lease, said cash deposit shall be returned to the bidder with notice of its rejection. No bid shall be considered unless such certified or cashier's check is inclosed therewith.

SEC. 17. On the date specified for the return of said bids, at the hour of 12 o'clock M., the Director of Finance shall proceed to open publicly said sealed bids and list for each parcel therein the name of the bidder and the percentage of amount or value of production bid for each parcel.

SEC. 18. Any bid may be withdrawn at any time prior to the hour for the opening of said bids, said withdrawal to be as follows and not otherwise: A request in writing for the withdrawal of such bid must be filed with the Director of Finance, which request must be executed by the bidder or his duly authorized representative. The withdrawal of a bid shall not preclude the right of the bidder to file a new bid. Nothing in this section contained shall authorize the withdrawal of any bid at the hour fixed herein for the opening of such bid and no bid shall be received at or after such hour, regardless of whether or not such bids are opened exactly at the hour set or thereafter.

SEC. 19. On the opening of said bids, and after determination of the highest qualified bidder entitled to the same, the Director of Finance, after such bid is accepted, shall execute in the name of the State of California the lease executed and used as a bid by said successful bidder, and thereafter a duplicate of said lease shall be executed, both by the successful bidder and the Director of Finance, provided that the Director of Finance, with the approval of the Governor, may reject any and all bids. One copy of an accepted bid or lease, after its execution by the Director of Finance for and on behalf of the State, shall be recorded in the county of Orange and shall be filed with the Secretary of State.

SEC. 20. In the event bids for leases of said parcels, or any of said parcels, are not received by the Director of Finance in accordance with the foregoing requirements and within the time therein provided, or all bids offered for any lease are rejected, the Director of Finance shall, and he is hereby authorized and directed with the consent and approval of the Governor, to proceed immediately with the drilling of wells on each of said parcels for and on behalf of the State, for the production, removal and disposal of oil, gas and other hydrocarbon substances therefrom. The work of drilling and construction work in connection therewith, may be performed under contract or award to the lowest responsible bidder or by day labor; provided, that if done by contract the Director of Finance may reject any and all bids and call for new bids.

SEC. 21. In the event the development of any or all of said parcels by drilling and other operations is carried on directly by the State, the same shall be done in accordance with the requirements of this act and of lease requirements herein with reference to the location and number of wells to be drilled, methods of development and other provisions so far as applicable. All necessary equipment and materials for the prosecution of said work, construction of piers, groins or islands, drilling, producing and other operations, shall be purchased by the Director of Finance.

All oil, gas and other hydrocarbon substances produced shall be sold by the Director at best obtainable prices and at such times as he shall deem proper for securing maximum cash returns to the State therefor. All funds received therefrom shall be immediately reported to the Controller and paid into the general fund.

SEC. 22. All provisions of this act and powers and duties herein given to the Director of Finance for the development, production, recovery, disposition and realization of production and proceeds of production of oil, gas and other hydrocarbon substances from State lands at Huntington Beach specifically described in this act, and the procedure to be followed as herein prescribed, so far as the same are applicable, shall apply to, and the same powers are hereby given to the Director to proceed with the development, production, recovery, disposition and realization of production and proceeds of production for the benefit of the State from any other tide and/or submerged or overflowed lands of the State that are known or believed to contain oil, gas or other hydrocarbon substances, whenever it is known or there is reason to believe that drilling or other oil-well developments or operations on privately owned lands are draining or threatening to drain, such tide, submerged or overflowed lands of the State.

SEC. 23. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this act is for any reason held to be unconstitutional, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions thereof. The Legislature hereby declares that it would have passed this act, and each and every section, subsection, sentence, clause and phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more other sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared unconstitutional.

SEC. 24. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent or conflicting with this act are hereby repealed.

SEC. 25. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, within the meaning of section 1, Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, and as such shall take effect immediately. The following is a statement of the facts constituting such necessity:

That portion of tide and submerged lands of the State described in sections 1 and 6 of this act contains oil and gas and other hydrocarbon substances of great value. Many oil wells are now drilled, operating and producing oil and gas upon privately owned lands that are constantly draining said oil, gas and other hydrocarbons from said State lands for the sole benefit of the operators of said wells and the owners of said privately owned land. Other wells drilled on privately owned lands are extended into said State lands and are producing oil and gas therefrom. This condition results in the daily depletion of this valuable resource of the State, making it imperative, if the interests of the State therein are to be preserved and the revenues available to the State therefrom are to be saved, that immediate action be taken to drill for, extract, produce and remove the oil and gas so known to exist in said lands and to dispose of the same for the benefit of the State as in this act provided. Unless said emergency is thus met, the State will suffer great and irreparable loss and be deprived of revenues needed to preserve the public peace, public health and public safety. The development of said State lands, in the manner herein provided is also necessary for the immediate preservation of public health and public safety in the use of the ocean beaches upon and in the vicinity of said tide and submerged lands."

Communication.

The following communication was received, read and ordered printed in the Journal:

DIVISION OF FISH AND GAME,
SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA, MARCH 19, 1937.

Senator John B. McCall, Chairman, Fish and Game Committee,
State Senate, Sacramento, California.

DEAR SENATOR: It has just been called to my attention that some person representing the unregulated floating sardine reduction plants has stated before the Senate Fish and Game Committee or one or more of its members that I have declared that in the event of enactment into law of Senate Bill No. 519, it would be my purpose and intention (as well as that of the Fish and Game Commission) to force the floating reduction plants out of business or to otherwise discriminate against them so as to punish the operators thereof.

This statement is unqualifiedly false. Such statement, if made to you, could only have been made as a result of gross misunderstanding or with the deliberate purpose of detracting attention from the need and merits of the proposed legislation.

While I have been and will continue to be opposed to the operation of the floating reduction plants as they presently operate—without any restriction or regulation as to the payment of any tax for the use of fish—as every person who believes in conservation, fair play and the welfare of the State as a whole should likewise be opposed, I would have no prejudice against the operators of such floating reduction plants who submit to the laws and regulations which are imposed upon the rest of the industry.

The purpose of the proposed legislation before your committee (Senate Bill No. 519) is to enable the State to protect its fishing resources and to prevent their fishery from being overexploited by those who operate outside of the State and beyond its jurisdiction for the sole purpose of avoiding regulation and tax. If such legislation would result in the operators of the floating reduction plants electing to operate under the laws of California, then, as a member of the Fish and Game Commission, it would be my purpose (and I am confident it would be the purpose of the commission) to treat such plants on a fair and equitable basis with other reduction plants which are and have been for many years under regulation.

If it is necessary and proper that a floating reduction plant by reason of its larger capacity receive a greater quantity of fish than that allocated a smaller shore plant, the commission would I am confident, issue permits with due regard for those considerations, but also not "freeze out" the small operator.

On at least two occasions of recent date, Mr. Stanley Huller and other representing the floating reduction plants called on me with reference to the matter of regulation of the sardine industry. They admitted that the industry has made such rapid growth,—with more plants, both floating and shore, now operating than the fishery or industry can support,—that consequently there is immediate necessity for prompt and adequate regulation to prevent chaos in the industry and depletion of the fishery. This view has also been stated to me by practically all factors in the industry. It is also recognized by all experts who are familiar with this subject that immediate regulation and control for the whole industry is necessary.

I stated to Mr. Hiller and his associates that should the unregulated floating reduction plants submit to regulation and control, that the commission in cooperation with the whole industry would provide a plan of allocating the available fish for reduction, which would in my opinion permit them to operate efficiently and profitably. The only question apparently is that the operators of the floating reduction plants are not satisfied that they will receive all of the fish which they desire.

The Fish and Game Commission is not interested in inflicting penalties nor granting special favors. In discharging its duties and responsibilities under the law the commission is concerned (1) with assuring conservation of the fishery resource against depletion; (2) with the exploitation and use of the fishery so as to return the greatest value and benefit to the people of the State as a whole; (3) with fair and equitable apportionment of the resource among those who are engaged in the fishing industry; (4) with fostering and protecting the whole fishery so that those engaged therein or dependent thereon may derive profit and benefit therefrom. To accomplish these purposes is often difficult. It is not always possible to satisfy everyone concerned. Experience and changing circumstances tend to point the way but there is no fixed and inflexible formula that may be prescribed in advance that will insure adequate management of the resource. With such changing circumstances and the necessary factors involved, I think it is quite essential that the granting of permits, the allocation of tonnage and other details of administering this fishery should be left with the commission as present laws provide.

It is true that the commission in the past has taken a conservative attitude with reference to the sardine take, but it must be borne in mind that the California sardine fishery, according to reliable and scientific data, is from five to eight times as intensively fished as any other fishery in the whole world. Moreover, experience has shown that in the exploitation of natural resources conservation measures have usually been applied too late.

For several years the commission has pointed out the need of the proposed legislation. It is apparently the only means by which California may protect its fishery. Unless the proposed bill is passed, then all restrictions over the fishery should be removed. If the bill is not passed, I predict it will not be long before the fishery as well as the industry will be ruined.

I hope that this legislation will be promptly enacted.

Respectfully yours,

I. ZELLERBACH.

LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, March 22, 1937.

Senator John B. McColl, Chairman, Fish and Game Committee,
State Senate, Sacramento.

I concur absolutely with everything that Mr. Zellerbach has said to you in his letter of March 19th.

DR. E. C. MOORE, President,

Senate Bill No. 1108 read first time, and referred to Committee on Governmental Efficiency.

Resolution.

The following resolution was offered, and ordered printed in the Journal:

By Senator Metzger:

WHEREAS, Due to the attractive climatic conditions, California is an ideal place for persons who in their youth lived in other portions of the United States to spend the declining years of their lives; and

WHEREAS, Persons who, due to advancing age, feel that they are unable to continue to live in the rigorous climate of the eastern and middle western States seek the more salubrious climate of California; and

WHEREAS, In conformity with the Social Security Act, California has reduced the age at which elderly people may receive pensions from 70 to 65 years; and

WHEREAS, Due to the conditions above recited, the proportion of persons over 65 years of age to the total population of California has thereby become much greater than the average throughout the United States; and

WHEREAS, Consequently, the burden to the State of California of providing its share of pensions for such persons has become so great that it will not be long possible to continue this burden; and

WHEREAS, The present system makes it difficult for persons who wish to receive a pension to move from one State to another; and

WHEREAS, It is to the interests of the United States and all the citizens thereof that a system be devised whereby persons receiving a pension may reside in any State of the union in which they may desire; and

WHEREAS, A system whereby the entire cost of pensions to aged persons is borne by the Federal Government would be both equitable and just; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That the Senate of the State of California respectfully urges the President of the United States and the Congress to take cognizance of the problem of the care of the unduly large proportion of aged persons in California as a national matter and make provision to properly amend the Federal Social Security Act or to pass such other appropriate act so as to provide that all pensions to elderly persons be paid from the Treasury of the United States and that no State shall be required to assume any part thereof save and except in the administration of any pension system so set up; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States and the Vice President of the United States, the Speaker of the House of Representatives and to each Senator and member of the House of Representatives in the United States Congress for California.

Senate Bill No. 434—An act to amend the County Water District Act, approved June 10, 1913, as amended, relating to county water districts, by amending section 31 thereof and by adding to said act, as amended, new sections to be numbered and providing as follows, to wit: section 121, granting to county water districts the powers of mosquito abatement districts, and section 371, relating to segregation of items of property on the assessment roll.

Bill read third time.

The question being on the passage of the bill.

The roll was called, and Senate Bill No. 434 passed by the following vote:

AYES—Senators Allen, Cunningham, DeLap, Denel, Fletcher, Garrison, Hays, Holohan, Jespersen, Keating, Keough, Law, McBride, McCall, McCannock, Meninger, Mixer, Nielsen, Olson, Parkman, Phillips, Rich, Sawwell, Slater, Swang, Wagy, Westover, and Williams—28.

NOES—None.

Title read and approved.

Senate Bill No. 434 ordered transmitted to the Assembly.

Senate Bill No. 753—An act to amend section 32a of the California Irrigation District Act, relating to the issuance of funding and refunding bonds and the approval of plans and modifications of plans for refunding of indebtedness of irrigation districts, and declaring the urgency thereof.

Bill read third time.

Urgency Clause.

SEC. 2. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, and it is deemed necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety that this law shall go into immediate effect. The following is a statement of the facts constituting such urgency: Many irrigation districts organized under the laws of this State have secured the approval of the California District Securities Commission to a proposed plan for funding or refunding their bonded indebtedness and have secured the authorization of a majority of the qualified electors of such districts at an election called for the purpose of authorizing the issuance of such funding or refunding bonds. Certain of such districts have reserved as a condition to said plan so approved the right to modify such plan prior to its consummation and thereafter have found it necessary to modify such original proposed plans in one or more respects. There is no provision now in the California Irrigation District Act for modification of such proposed plans. If this amendment does not go into effect until ninety days after the final adjournment of this session of the Legislature, the doubts as to the power of such districts to make such modifications will prevent such districts from securing legal approval of bonds issued under plans so modified, and such districts will therefore be unable to take advantage of the provisions hereof clarifying such doubts prior to July 1, 1937. Unless such districts can obtain immediate clarification of the statute so as to clearly authorize modification of their proposed plans for refunding their bonded indebtedness, such district must advance large cash payments for maturing bonds and interest coupons on July 1, 1937, leaving them without sufficient funds to enable them to operate properly and efficiently their distribution works. The proper and efficient operation of such works is necessary for the purpose of furnishing water for irrigation and domestic use of the landowners within such districts and also to certain municipalities which are dependent entirely upon such districts for their source of water supply. The failure of such districts to make proper distribution of water would be a menace to the public health of the inhabitants of such districts and of the municipalities aforesaid. If, however, the provisions of this amendment become a law immediately, such districts will be able to secure the approval to the modification of their proposed refunding plans and to refund their bonds and coupons on or before July 1, 1937, thereby enabling such districts to utilize all available funds for the proper operation of their works for supplying and distributing water.

Urgency clause read.

The question being on the adoption of the urgency clause.

AYES—Senators Allen, Cunningham, DeLap, Deuel, Hays, Hollister, Holohan, Jespersen, Keating, Keough, Knowland, Law, McBride, McColl, Metzger, Mixer, Nielsen, Olson, Parkman, Phillips, Rich, Seawell, Slater, Swing, Wagy, Westover, Williams, and Young—28.

Communication.

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL OF DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE WITH COPY OF AGREEMENT FOR EASEMENT No. 338, HUNTINGTON
BEACH, BETWEEN STATE OF CALIFORNIA AND STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF CALIFORNIA, ET AL.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE,
SACRAMENTO, March 23, 1937.

*Honorable George J. Hatfield,
President of the Senate, and
The Honorable Members of the Senate,
State Capitol,
Sacramento, California.*

GENTLEMEN: Herewith is photostatic copy of agreement for Easement No. 338, Huntington Beach, between State of California and Standard Oil Company of California, a corporation; Huntington Beach Company, a corporation; Pacific Electric Railway Company, a corporation, and Pacific Electric Land Company, a corporation, duly executed by and upon behalf of the parties thereto.

Prior to execution of said agreement, a clause was inserted in said agreement in words as follows, to wit:

This agreement shall be subject to and effective upon confirmation by the Legislature of the State of California.

Contemporaneously with the execution of said agreement, a supplemental agreement was executed by and upon behalf of Standard Oil Company of California et al., a photostatic copy of which is herewith.

On account of the widespread interest which has attended the controversy at Huntington Beach, and particularly the proposed settlement of the royalty claims of State of California against Standard Oil Company of California, et al, it is deemed unnecessary to review at length the circumstances which have influenced the State to withhold execution of said agreement. However, it seems appropriate to mention that in December, 1934, the Standard Oil Company of California, et al, made a proposal to compensate the State of California for oil and gas, and products manufactured from gas, taken from lands of the State through wells finished in whole or in part upon lands of the State.

On April 11, 1935, a special committee was appointed by the Speaker of the Assembly of the fifty-first session of the Legislature for the purpose of conducting an investigation of the drilling and development of the tidelands of the State of California. This committee filed a preliminary report with the Assembly on May 7, 1935, containing among other recommendations the following:

In addition to the wells covered by the settlement agreements, heretofore referred to, there are other wells. Some of these may also have been drilled by wilful trespassers, some may have penetrated the tidelands innocently. Regardless of motive, all are alike trespassers, all should be compelled to pay a fair royalty to the State. We recommend that the State officials be directed to proceed against all trespassers and to effectuate a settlement with them at the same royalty and on the same terms as those already negotiated. (See preliminary report of Assembly investigating committee of the drilling and development of the tidelands of State of California, printed in Assembly Daily Journal of May 7, 1935).

Prior to adjournment of said fifty-first session of the Legislature, and subsequent to the report of this Assembly committee, the Senate on April 22, 1935, authorized the appointment of a Special Committee to Investigate the Abstraction of Oil and Gas from State Lands. This committee filed its report with the Senate on March 4, 1937, which report contains the recommendation, among others, as follows:

Specifically, that the Director of Finance execute on behalf of the State and deliver to Standard Oil Company of California, Easement No. 338, in substantially the same form as that agreed upon on March 27, 1935, but containing a clear provision that the settlement set out in said agreement is based upon the line fixed by the Leach survey, and that if at any future time a definite boundary line between the lands and easement is established by judicial determination the easement shall be adjusted accordingly. The easement shall further provide that if the establishment of any new line shall result in a determination that either present or future wells of the operator, other than those now specified in said easement, are found to be bottomed on State lands or if any present existing and proposed existing wells shall be found to be not bottomed upon State land, that said easement shall be adjusted accordingly. (See report of Special Senate Committee to Investigate the Abstraction of Oil and Gas from State Lands, printed in Senate Daily Journal of March 4, 1937.)

In accordance with the recommendations of said committee of the Senate and Assembly, said agreement for Easement No. 338, Huntington Beach, was executed by and upon behalf of State of California, subject to action in confirmation by the Legislature.

The said agreement is respectfully submitted to the Senate for confirmation and such disposition as the Senate may deem proper.

Very truly yours,

ARLIN E. STOCKBERGER, Director of Finance.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE,
DIVISION OF STATE LANDS, STATE CAPITOL, SACRAMENTO.
Agreement for Easement No. 338, Huntington Beach.

THIS AGREEMENT, made and entered into this 22d day of March, 1937, on the 31st day of December, 1936, by and between the STATE OF CALIFORNIA, through the duly appointed, qualified and acting Director of Finance of the State of California, and the duly appointed, qualified and acting Chief of the Bureau of State Lands of the Department of Finance, State of California, both of the first part, hereinafter called the "State," and STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF CALIFORNIA, a corporation organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of Delaware, with a principal place of business in the State of California at 225 Bush Street, City and County of San Francisco, the HUNTINGTON BEACH COMPANY, a California corporation, with its principal place of business at 225 Bush Street, San Francisco, PACIFIC ELECTRIC RAILWAY COMPANY, a California corporation, with its principal place of business in Pacific Electric Building, Los Angeles, California, PACIFIC ELECTRIC LAND COMPANY, a California corporation, with its principal place of business at Pacific Electric Building, Los Angeles, California, parties of the second part, hereinafter sometimes called the "Grantee," pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 593, Statutes of California, 1933, sections 654 and 675 of the Political Code, Chapter 402, Statutes of California, 1931, as amended, Chapter 303, Statutes of California, 1921, as amended, and such other statutes as are applicable, and to any and all implied powers of the State of California to compromise litigation, all of which said statutory provisions are hereinafter referred to as The Act:

RECITAL

The State of California is the owner in its sovereign and proprietary capacities of certain lands situated in the County of Orange, State of California, hereinafter more particularly described, containing quantities of oil, gas, and other petroleum products; that upon lands adjacent to a portion of said lands are owned by the State of California and containing said oil and gas and other petroleum products, six (6) oil wells, commonly known as Standard HB PE No. 1, Standard HB PE No. 3, Standard HB PE No. 6, Standard HB PE No. 8, Standard HB PE No. 9 and Standard HB PE No. 10, have been drilled by Standard Oil Company of California, a corporation, upon that certain real property first hereinafter described and referred to as lands of the Grantee; that the bottoms, or portions of the bottoms, of said wells, and portions of said wells, are now through, in and under said lands of the State of California, and that said wells have drilled, drilled and received and are capable of draining, taking and receiving oil, gas and other petroleum products from the oil and gas deposits of said lands of the State of California; the Grantee is willing to compensate the State of California for all oil, gas and other petroleum products heretofore drained, taken, and received from said lands of the State of California by means of the said wells as hereinafter limited, and the State of California is willing to enter into an agreement with the Grantee whereby compensation may be had for all such oil, gas and other petroleum products produced through the said wells as hereinafter limited, and to permit the Grantee to continue to take oil, gas and other petroleum products from said lands of the State of California, through said oil wells as hereinafter limited, subject to the terms, covenants and conditions hereinafter set forth. The said lands of the Grantee and the said lands belonging to the State of California, to which references are hereinbefore made, are more particularly hereinafter described.

Now, Therefore, this agreement WITNESSETH:

SECTION 1. That the State, in consideration of the royalties to be paid and the covenants to be observed as herein set forth, does hereby grant to the Grantee easements appurtenant to said lands of Grantee first hereinafter described, through, in and under the said lands belonging to the State of California hereinafter more particularly described (which said easements are more particularly hereinafter described), and the right to drain, take, receive, extract, remove, produce and use oil, gas, and other petroleum products, through the said oil wells commonly known and designated as Standard HB-PE Wells Nos. 1, 3, 6, 8, 9, and 10 respectively, the tops of which said wells are located upon those certain lands of Grantee situated in the County of Orange, State of California, and more particularly described as follows, to wit:

A strip of land of varying width being a portion of Sections four (4), three (3), ten (10), eleven (11), and fourteen (14), Township six (6) south, Range eleven (11) west, San Bernardino Base and Meridian; said strip of land being more particularly described as being thirty-two (32) feet on the left or northeasterly side and extending throughout to the line of ordinary high tide of the Pacific Ocean on the right or southwesterly side of the following described line, to wit:

Beginning at a point in the north and south quarter section line of Section four (4), Township six (6) south, Range eleven (11) west, San Bernardino Base and Meridian; and southerly, two thousand four hundred one and five tenths (2401.5) feet, a little more or less, from the north quarter section corner of said Section four (4); thence from said point of beginning, south forty-four degrees, thirty-seven minutes, fifteen seconds ( $44^{\circ} 37' 15''$ ) east, three thousand four hundred five and thirty-four hundredths (3405.34) feet, to the point of beginning of a one degree ( $1^{\circ}$ ) curve to the left; thence southeasterly along said one degree ( $1^{\circ}$ ) curve to the left, four hundred seventy-six and seventy-two hundredths (476.72) feet to the end of said one degree ( $1^{\circ}$ ) curve to the left; thence south forty-nine degrees, twenty-three minutes, fifteen seconds ( $49^{\circ} 23' 15''$ ) east, six thousand three hundred forty and eighty-eight hundredths (6340.88) feet to the point of beginning of a two degree ( $2^{\circ}$ ) tapered curve to the right; thence southeasterly along said two degree ( $2^{\circ}$ ) tapered curve to the right, two hundred twenty-three and fifty-four hundredths (223.54) feet to the end of said two degree ( $2^{\circ}$ ) tapered curve to the right; thence south forty-five degrees, thirty-one minutes ( $45^{\circ} 31'$ ) east, one hundred two and three hundredths (102.03) feet to the point of beginning of a two degree ( $2^{\circ}$ ) tapered curve to the left; thence southeasterly along said two degree ( $2^{\circ}$ ) tapered curve to the left, two hundred twenty-three and fifty-four hundredths (223.54) feet to the end of said curve; thence south forty-nine degrees, twenty-three minutes, fifteen seconds ( $49^{\circ} 23' 15''$ ) east, on a line parallel to and thirty-two (32) feet southwesterly from the southwesterly line of Ocean Avenue, as shown on map of Huntington Beach, recorded in Book Three (3), Miscellaneous Maps of Orange County, California, at page 36 thereof, three thousand six hundred three (3603) feet, a little more or less, to a point in the northwesterly line of "A" Street in Off Addition to Pacific City, as shown on map of said Addition made by S. H. Finley, C. E., in 1903; and through any other wells which Grantee may hereafter drill upon said lands of Grantee into said State lands with the consent, in writing, of the Chief of the Division of State Lands being first had and obtained, and subject to the terms, covenants, and conditions herein contained, in so far as applicable, and otherwise in accordance with rules and regulations of the Division of State Lands now promulgated, and such reasonable rules and regulations of said Division of State Lands as may be promulgated hereafter, from those certain lands in the Pacific Ocean belonging to the State of California situated in the County of Orange, more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at a point in the ordinary high water mark of the Pacific Ocean where the north-south quarter section line of Section four (4), Township six (6) south, Range eleven (11) west, San Bernardino Base and Meridian, projected in a straight line southerly, intersects said ordinary high water mark; thence southeasterly along said ordinary high water mark a distance of three (3) miles to a point in said ordinary high water mark; thence southwesterly at right angles with said ordinary high water mark and in a straight line three (3) miles from said ordinary high water mark to a point in the Pacific Ocean; thence northwesterly along a line which is parallel to said ordinary high water mark a distance of three (3) miles to a point in the Pacific Ocean; thence northeasterly in a straight line to the point of beginning, (hereinafter sometimes referred to as said lands of the State of California); for a period of twenty (20) years from the date hereof, with the preferential right in the Grantee to renew this agreement for successive periods of ten (10) years each, upon such reasonable terms and conditions as may be prescribed by the State, acting through the Chief of the Division of State Lands, hereinafter sometimes referred to as the Chief, unless otherwise provided by law at the time of the expiration of such periods.

It is understood and agreed between the State and the Grantee that the State shall be entitled to receive royalties computed in accordance with the provisions of Section 2(b) hereof, upon the following percentages of oil and gas produced from the said wells hereinbefore specifically mentioned, and of gasoline extracted from said gas:

Wells	Percentages
Standard HB-PE No. 1	57.4%
Standard HB-PE No. 3	100
Standard HB-PE No. 6	44.3%
Standard HB-PE No. 8	100
Standard HB-PE No. 9	100
Standard HB-PE No. 10	31.07

It is understood and agreed that the percentages for the wells set out in the foregoing table are computed on the basis of the line defining the tidelands from the tidelands, as more particularly described in the description attached hereto and marked Exhibit "B." Should any different line dividing tidelands from tidelands be determined by the final decree of any court of last resort or by agreement, such percentages shall be adjusted accordingly, and should such new line establish that there is no or different production from tidelands by any of the wells listed in the foregoing table, or that there is production from tidelands by other wells of Grantee not so listed, appropriate adjustments of easements and royalties shall be made by additional payment or refund out of the state treasury, as the case may be, all without interest.

SECTION 2. In consideration of the foregoing, the Grantee hereby agrees:

(a) To furnish a corporate surety bond, approved by the Chief of the General Land Office of two thousand dollars ($2,000), for each easement herein granted, conditioned upon compliance with the terms, conditions and covenants of this agreement.

(b) To pay to the State of California a royalty computed upon the percentages set forth in Section 1 hereof, and in accordance with the formula and schedule marked Exhibit "A" attached hereto, and by reference made a part hereof, on the oil produced and saved from the said lands of the State of California hereinbefore described, or on demand of the State, acting through the Chief, a percentage of the oil produced in accordance with said Exhibit "A" and in accordance with the percentages set forth in Section 1 hereof, the royalty when paid to value to be due and payable monthly not later than the 25th of each calendar month following the calendar month in which produced, and when paid in kind to be delivered in the field and taken by the State at the receiving tanks of the Grantee on twenty-four (24) hours' notice of the Grantee that a tankful of oil is ready for delivery, to pay to the State of California at the times and in the manner herein specified for the payment of royalty on oil, one-fifth (20%) of the net proceeds computed upon the percentages set forth in Section 1 hereof, received by the Grantee upon all gas, whether dry or wet, produced and saved from said lands of the State of California hereinbefore described and upon all casinghead gasoline extracted from said gas and sold, whether to a subsidiary of any of the parties named as Grantee or any other Buyer. Unless such gas or casinghead gasoline is sold pursuant to a sales contract approved by the Chief, the price shall be the reasonable market price as fixed by the Chief. In case the gas produced and sold has a value both for casinghead gasoline content and as a dry gas from which the casinghead gasoline has been extracted, then the royalty above provided shall be paid upon the proceeds of each of such values.

The Grantee may run all oil produced from said Standard HB-PE Wells Nos. 1, 3, 6, 8, 9, and 10 to central storage tanks located either upon the lands of the Grantee or other lands in the vicinity, from which said oil may be run to pipe line after having been measured and tested and net volume computed and gravity determined. Grantee may run such portion of the oil produced from said Standard HB-PE Wells Nos. 1, 3, 6, 8, 9, and 10 as may require dehydration and/or cleaning to a central dehydrator or cleaning plant and after cleaning and dehydration may run such oil to said central storage tanks. Grantee shall measure separately by proper devices the oil produced from each of said wells, and at approximately regular intervals at least once in each calendar month Grantee shall take samples and make tests of the oil produced from each of said wells to determine the net volume thereof. Such measurements and tests shall be used as a basis for allocating to each of said individual wells the net oil run to the pipe line from said central storage tanks for the purpose of applying the percentages set forth in Section 1 hereof.

The Grantee shall meter all gas transported from said Standard HB-PE Wells Nos. 1, 3, 6, 8, 9, and 10, and such meter readings, together with analyses of the gasoline content of said gas made at approximately regular intervals, at least once in every month, shall furnish the basis for computation of the amount of the gasoline and residue gas deemed to have been extracted and saved from gas produced from each individual well, and allocations shall be made to each individual well in accordance with such determinations for the purpose of applying the individual well percentages set forth in Section 1 hereof.

The State may take its royalty dry gas in kind at its option, delivery thereof to be made at the casinghead manufacturing plant where produced or at such other place as the parties hereto may agree.

(c) To file with the Division of State Lands of the Department of Finance true and correct copies of all sales contracts for the disposition of oil, gas and other petroleum products produced hereunder and in the event the State, acting through the Chief, shall elect to take such oil or gas royalty in money instead of oil or gas, not to sell or otherwise dispose of oil or gas produced hereunder except in accordance with such sales contracts or other method first approved in writing by the State, acting through the Chief.

(d) To furnish monthly statements in detail in such form as may be prescribed by the State, acting through the Chief, showing, with respect to said wells, the amount, gravity, and market price at the well, of all oil produced, saved, and/or sold, the amount of gas produced and saved and sold, and the amount of casinghead gasoline extracted by the Grantee therefrom during the preceding calendar month, as the basis for computation of royalties due the State; to keep full and complete records and accounts of the operation and of the production of oil and gas derived from each and every well for which an easement is herein granted, which said records and accounts shall be available at all reasonable times to the inspection and examination by any person authorized by the State; to consent to an examination of the books and records of any individual, association or corporation which has transported for or received from the Grantee any oil, gas, or other petroleum products produced from said wells in so far as said books and records relate to production and transportation of oil and gas from said Standard HIB-PE Wells Nos. 1, 3, 6, 8, 9, and 10, and to gasoline extracted from gas produced therefrom; to permit inspection at all reasonable times by any person authorized by the State, of the operations of the Grantee with respect to the said wells, improvements, machinery, and fixtures used in connection therewith.

(e) To file, concurrently upon the execution of this agreement, with the Division of Oil and Gas of the Department of Natural Resources of the State of California, as confidential information, logs and all surveys of said Standard HIB-PE Wells Nos. 1, 3, 6, 8, 9, and 10, and any and all plats thereof, and other related information not heretofore filed with said Division; to waive the statutory right of Grantee to the inspection by the Director of Finance or the Chief or a duly authorized employee of either, of said data and information at any time during the life of this agreement; to waive the statutory right of the Grantee to use by the Director of Finance or the Chief or a duly authorized employee of either, of any other information filed with said Division of Oil and Gas by the Grantee; to consent to the withdrawal of such logs and surveys of said Standard HIB-PE Wells Nos. 1, 3, 6, 8, 9, and 10, and any and all plats thereof and other related information whether in original form or by making copies thereof, from the said Division of Oil and Gas at any time during the life of this agreement when determined desirable by the Director of Finance of the State of California for the purpose of making public record of same in the Division of State Lands, Department of Finance, State of California. Any and all such information filed by the Grantee with the said Division of Oil and Gas with respect to said wells shall be available at all times to the State for the purpose of forcing compliance with the terms, covenants, and conditions of this agreement and rules and regulations now promulgated by the Division of State Lands and reasonable rules and regulations which may hereafter be promulgated by the Division of State Lands.

(f) To pay when due all taxes lawfully assessed and levied under the laws of the State, County, City, and United States of America, upon improvements, oil, gas, and other petroleum products produced from the lands of the State of California hereinbefore described, other than the State's royalty oil, gas, and petroleum products; to accord all workmen and employees freedom of purchase, and to pay wages due workmen and employees in accordance with the laws of the State of California and of the United States of America relating to employment of workmen. To comply with all laws of the State of California and all rules and regulations of any agency of the State of California having jurisdiction therein, and all laws of the United States of America, and all rules and regulations of any agency of the United States of America having jurisdiction therein, relating to the drilling, maintenance and operation of oil and gas wells and production of oil and gas.

(g) Not to drill into the said lands of the State of California any wells for the production of oil, gas, and petroleum products, or otherwise, without the consent in writing of the Chief thereto first had and obtained; nor to redrill, lengthen or deepen into the said lands of the State of California without the consent in writing of the Chief first had and obtained, and then only in strict compliance with rules and regulations promulgated by the Chief, and other agency of the State having jurisdiction thereof, said Standard HIB-PE Wells Nos. 1, 3, 6, 8, 9, and 10; provided, however, if consent in writing is first had from the Chief, to redrill, lengthen or deepen any one or more of said Standard HIB-PE Wells Nos. 1, 3, 6, 8, 9, and 10, the State shall not exact any royalty or royalties in addition to those herein specified from the Grantee in consideration of the granting of such permission, and further provided, that when due to collapse of casing or other mechanical difficulty or obstruction in any of said wells, it becomes reasonably necessary to repair any such well, the Grantee may carry on and complete the necessary work of redrilling any such well upon notice of intention, specific in detail and precise in character, of the proposed work, being given to the State at least ten (10) days before any such work is commenced, and said work of redrilling any such well shall be done in strict conformity with the laws of the State of California and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder by any agency of the State having jurisdiction therein without regard to whether such rules and regulations be general or specific or both; and an accurate survey of any new hole or sidetracking shall be made at intervals of not less than one hundred (100) feet, and shall conformably be filed with said Division of Oil and Gas subject to the provisions contained in subdivision (c) of Section 2 hereof relating to the inspection and use by the State and withdrawal by the Director of Finance. All such operations shall be carried on in strict accordance with the detailed plan of said work as submitted to said notice and be varied only with the written consent of the State first had and obtained.

(h) To exercise reasonable diligence consistent herewith in the operation of said wells while said products can be obtained in paying quantities and not to unnecessarily or unreasonably suspend continuous operations except with the consent of the State, acting through the Chief. To carry on all operations hereunder in good workman-like manner in accordance with approved methods, having due regard for the prevention of waste of oil and unreasonable waste of gas therefrom through said wells, or the entrance of water through said wells to the all sands or oil bearing strata to the destruction or injury of the oil deposits, or future productive operations and the health and safety of workmen and employees; to plug severely, in the manner prescribed by any agency of the State having jurisdiction thereof, any of said wells before abandoning the same so as to effectually stop the flow of water from the oil and gas bearing strata; to conduct all drilling and related productive operations hereunder subject to the inspection of authorized officials of the State, to furnish to the State detailed drawings of all oil lines in any manner attached to the said wells and to report changes or additions promptly; to gauge all oil, to measure all gas, whether dry or wet, in accordance with the rules and regulations now or which may hereafter be promulgated by the Chief, provided the State, through the Chief, shall have, at any time, the right to gauge all oil and measure all gas, and in the event of a disagreement between the State and the Grantee concerning the quality and/or quantity of the oil and/or gas so gauged and/or measured, the burden to establish the incorrectness of such gauging and/or measurement shall rest upon the Grantee, and the Grantee is hereby given the right to establish, by proper court proceeding, the correct quality and/or quantity of such oil and/or gas so gauged and/or measured; to carry out at the expense of the Grantee all reasonable orders and requirements of the State acting through the Chief, relative to prevention of unreasonable waste and preservation of the property and the health and safety of workmen, and on failure so to do the State, through its agent or agents, shall have the right to enter on said lands of Grantee to remove or prevent such unreasonable waste at Grantee's cost; to abide by and continue to the rules and regulations in force at the time this easement is granted, covering matters referred to in this paragraph, and to comply with such reasonable rules and regulations as may from time to time be issued by the State, acting through the Chief, or any other agency of the State having jurisdiction thereon; provided, however, that the Grantee shall not be responsible for delay or casualties occasioned by a cause beyond the control of the Grantee.

SECTION 3. The State expressly reserves:

(a) The right to grant easements or crossings for other wells in, upon and under said lands belonging to the State of California and heretofore described over, under or along the courses of said wells of the Grantee, and nothing herein contained shall be construed as limiting the powers of the State of California to lease, convey, or otherwise transfer or encumber, during the life of this agreement, said lands of the State of California for any purpose whatsoever; and this agreement shall not be construed as granting to the Grantee the exclusive privilege to take oil, gas, or other petroleum products from said lands, or any portion thereof, of the State of California.

(b) Full power and authority to carry out and enforce all of the provisions of Section 15 of said Chapter 303, Statutes of California, 1921, as amended, to the extent, if any, the same is legally applicable, to insure the sale of the production of such oil, gas and other petroleum products from said lands of the State of California to the public at a reasonable price to prevent monopoly and to safeguard the public welfare.

(c) The right to use any and all gas, whether dry or wet, produced from the said wells and not required for sale or use by Grantee, for the purpose of repressuring the field provided that such repressuring shall not unreasonably interfere with or cause damage to the said wells of the Grantee.

SECTION 4. The Grantee shall assume all responsibility in connection with the maintenance and operation of said oil wells, and shall at all times hold the State free and harmless from any liability to the State, its officers, agents and employees on account of any negligent maintenance or operations on the part of the Grantee and the officers, agents and employees of the Grantee.

SECTION 5. In the event crossings are made or attempted to be made by any others across the lands hereinbefore described belonging to the Grantee for the purpose of entering into or upon said lands of the State of California, the Grantee shall join with the State in any course of action determined by the State for the purpose of preventing any such crossing or crossings or if such crossings have been made for the purpose of abatement of the same.

SECTION 6. The Grantee may use oil and/or gas produced from said wells, or gas received in exchange for such gas so produced for fuel purposes, for necessary operations of said wells on said premises, or for the drilling of new wells into said lands of the State of California, or for recirculation of any of said wells, or for repressuring the oil sand or sands from which said well may be producing, even though such gas is injected into such sand through another well, the bottom of which is in said lands of the State of California, free from any royalty charges thereon.

If and when it becomes necessary to dehydrate or clean said oil, the Grantee shall be entitled to compensation from the State of California at the rate of two and one-half cents (2½c) per barrel of net royalty oil so dehydrated or cleaned.

SECTION 7. After having been reduced to possession, the possession by the Grantee of the State's royalty portion of oil, gas and gasoline shall be as Trustee for the State until full settlement for the royalty interests to the State have been made. Grantee shall be empowered to sell and convey good title to the full amount of royalty oil, gasoline or dry gas produced and saved it and when such sales have been approved in writing by the Chief as herein provided.

SECTION 8. The State, acting through the Chief, shall have the right and power at any time and from time to time to terminate this easement and agreement as a whole or as to any of said wells or portion thereof in or under said lands of the State of California covered thereby by giving the Grantee notice in writing of its election to effect such termination.

It is further understood and agreed by all of the parties hereto that the above named Standard Oil Company of California shall have the right and power at its election at any time and from time to time to surrender and terminate this easement and agreement as a whole or as to any of said wells or portion thereof in or under said lands of the State of California covered thereby, upon the payment of all royalties or other obligations due and payable to the State, upon the payment of all wages due and payable to workmen and employees by the Grantee and upon notice in writing to the State of its election to effect such termination.

In the event either the State, or said Standard Oil Company of California, shall serve such notice of intention to terminate this agreement as to any of said well or wells as aforesaid, the Grantee shall thereupon discontinue the production by means of the well or wells affected by such termination notice, and within a reasonable time thereafter shall complete the abandonment of that portion or portions of such well or wells affected by such termination notice in, upon, or under said lands of the State of California in conformity with all then existing laws relative thereto. Upon such termination Grantee shall be relieved of all further obligations hereunder with respect to the well or wells or portions thereof so abandoned.

SECTION 9. If the Grantee shall fail to comply with the provisions of the Act so far as its applicable or make default in the performance or observance of any of the terms, covenants and stipulations hereof, or of the rules and regulations of the Division of State Lands now promulgated, and all reasonable rules and regulations which may hereafter be promulgated, and such default shall continue for the period of thirty (30) days after written notice thereof by the State, acting through the Chief, and no steps shall have been taken within that time, in good faith, to remedy said default, then the State, acting through the Chief, may enter upon the premises of the Grantee and take possession of the same for the purpose of operating said wells of the Grantee until such time as all money defaults of the Grantee to the State have been fully satisfied, or if such default cannot be satisfied by the payment of money, then the Chief shall have the right and power to cancel the respective easement and/or to close said well or wells which are not being conducted or operated in the manner prescribed by the provisions of this easement, the rules and regulations of the Division of State Lands now promulgated, and reasonable rules and regulations of the Division of State Lands which may be hereafter promulgated, but this provision shall not be construed to prevent the exercise by the State, through the Chief, of any legal or equitable remedy which the State might otherwise effect. The waiver of or failure of the State to act upon any particular cause of forfeiture shall not prevent the cancellation and forfeiture of this easement for any other cause of forfeiture or for the same cause occurring another time.

SECTION 10. All notices herein provided to be given or which may be given by either party to the other shall be deemed to have been duly given when made in writing and deposited in the United States mail, registered and postage pre-paid, and addressed as follows:

(To the State)

Division of State Lands,
Department of Finance,
State Capitol,
Sacramento, California.

AND

(To the Grantee)

Standard Oil Company of California,
225 Bush Street,
San Francisco, California.

The addresses to which the notices shall or may be mailed, as aforesaid, to either party, shall or may be changed by written notice given by such party to the other as hereinabove provided; but nothing herein contained shall prevent the giving of any such notice by personal service.

SECTION 11. It is further covenanted and agreed that each integration herein shall extend to and be binding upon, and every benefit hereon shall inure to the successors and assigns of the respective parties hereto.

SECTION 12. It is hereby understood and agreed that this agreement and all the benefits derived therefrom to the parties herein, are for the sole and complete benefit of the parties hereto.

SECTION 13. It is hereby agreed that the amount of the royalty here and payable by the Grantee to the State for all oil and gas and other petroleum products produced by the Grantee from said wells hereinbefore mentioned, up to and including December 31, 1936, is the sum of five hundred five thousand nine hundred fifteen and sixty-four hundredths dollars ($505,952.64), which, together with further royalties which may accrue and be payable after December 31, 1936, and up to the effective date of this agreement, the State agrees to accept and the Grantee agrees to pay upon this agreement becoming effective.

Grantee shall pay the State the royalty amount after the effective date of this agreement at the times provided for in Section 2 hereof.

SECTION 14. It is hereby agreed between the parties herein that any of the provisions hereof may be modified and or amended upon the mutual consent of the parties hereto.

SECTION 15. This agreement, or any easement hereby granted, shall not be assigned (except to the successor, or successors, if any, in the business of the Grantee) either in part or in whole, voluntarily or involuntarily, without the consent in writing of the Chief first had and obtained.

SECTION 16. The easement granted by this instrument is more specifically described as follows, to wit:

An easement in and to, under and through, said lands of the State comprising and consisting of separate and distinct cylindrical areas, each twenty-four (24) inches in diameter and extending throughout the full length, course and distance of said respective wells hereinbefore mentioned, in so far as the same traverse or are in, upon or under said lands of the State, the center line of each of said respective cylindrical areas being the center line of each of said respective wells as disclosed by the surveys or plats thereof filed with the said Director of Oil and Gas of the said Department of Natural Resources and or as verified or altered by subsequent survey, if any, and in addition thereto, smaller cylindrical areas following the respective courses and directions of the center lines of such other wells as may hereafter be drilled by Grantee into and through the lands of the State with the written consent of the State or Chief, as hereinbefore provided, together with the right, under and in compliance with the terms of this instrument, to enter in and upon and to use said easement, or cylindrical areas for the purpose of conducting therein or thereon the operations authorized by the terms of this agreement.

In the event any agreement or agreements are hereafter entered into between the State acting through the Director of Finance and or the Chief of the Division of State Lands, and persons, firms, or corporations other than the Grantee herein, pursuant to the authority under which this agreement is made, which said agreement or agreements shall relate to the taking of oil, gas, and petroleum products from said lands of the State of California through wells drilled upon lands of Seventeenth Street Addition to the City of Huntington Beach, California, the Grantee shall have the option to adopt the form of any such agreement in toto, in lieu of this agreement, effective from date of such adoption, which shall not be later than ninety (90) days after Grantee has knowledge of any such new agreement or agreements; provided that this Section 16 shall not create as against the Grantee any implication of consent to such agreement or agreements.

SECTION 17. Should the State elect to take its royalty oil or dry gas in kind, notice of thirty (30) days shall be given to the Grantee of the State's intention so to do; on such election, the State shall continue to take its said royalty oil and/or dry gas (as the case may be) in kind for a period of six (6) months from the time it commenced to take such royalty oil and/or dry gas (as the case may be) in kind, and thereafter for like periods of six (6) months unless the State shall, at least thirty (30) days prior to the end of any such six (6) months' period, notify the Grantee in writing of the State's election to cease taking its royalty oil and/or dry gas (as the case may be) in kind, and to take the same in value.

Standard Oil Company of California, one of the parties named as Grantee, is an integrated oil company buying and selling petroleum and its products and operating refineries, and no use of the oil, gas or other petroleum products from said lands of the State by the Grantee shall subject Grantee to payment to the State for the State's royalty otherwise than in accordance with the provisions of this agreement.

This agreement shall be subject to and effective upon confirmation by the legislature of the State of California.

ROYALTY FORMULA AND SCHEDULE

The royalty to be paid to the State is based upon the following formula which takes into account the average daily production of the well and the average price per barrel in dollars:

 $P$  is the average price per barrel in dollars.

A Simple Example:

Average daily production, 1000 bbls
Average price per barrel, $1.00
 $.008523 \times 1000 = 8.523$
 $.002667 \times 1000 \times 1.00 = 2.667$
 $8 \times 1.00 = 8.000$
Constant .430
Royalty rate 19.62%
In 30-day month, Value production
will equal $30,000.00
Royalty rate 19.62%
Royalty $ 5,866.00

A Practical Example:

Average daily production 237.4 bbls
Average price per bbl. $ 0.917
 $.008523 \times 237.4 = 2.023$
 $.002667 \times 237.4 \times .917 = .581$
 $8 \times .917 = 7.336$
Constant .430
Royalty rate 10.37%
In 30-day month, Value production
will equal $6,530.87
Royalty rate 10.37%
Royalty $ 677.25

The figures in the foregoing table are for comparison only, and are applicable only for the exact daily production and the exact price opposite which they appear. For any and all intermediate calculations which do not appear in the above table, USE THE FORMULA.

APPLICATION OF FORMULA TO PRODUCTION AFTER AND INCLUDING FEBRUARY 15, 1934.

Applying the above formula to the production of the Grantee after and including February 15, 1934, "Pd" (viz., "the average daily production per well") is ascertained by taking the number of days each well of the Grantee is in production during each calendar month, and then adding said number of days together to get the total number of production days, and then dividing the total number of barrels of oil produced from said wells of Grantee and subject to royalty during said calendar month by the total number of production days. In making the above calculation of production days, whenever a well is temporarily shut-in in an effort by the Grantee to comply with the allowable oil production to Grantee under the Code of Fair Competition for the Petroleum Industry, or under any State or Federal statute regulating the production of oil or gas, such well shall be deemed to have been on continuous production during the time it is so shut-in.

"P" (viz., "the average price per barrel in dollars"), is ascertained by dividing the value of the production at the current quoted market price at the well at date of run from the gauge tank by the number of barrels produced.

The market price per barrel as herein used shall be the reasonable market price at the well as determined by the Chief, which market price shall not be greater than the highest price at which a major oil company then having oil of like gravity in substantial quantities from the said field is offering for oil of like gravity and kind at the well.

APPLICATION OF FORMULA OR SCHEDULE TO PRODUCTION UP TO FEBRUARY 15, 1934.

In applying the above formula to the production of the Grantee, up to February 15, 1934, "Pd" (viz., "the average daily production per well") is ascertained by taking the number of days each well of the Grantee has been on production up to February 15, 1934, then adding said numbers of days together to get the total number of production days, and then dividing the total number of barrels of oil produced from said wells up to February 15, 1934, by the total number of production days. In making the above calculation of production days, whenever a well has been temporarily shut-in in an effort by the Grantee to comply with the allowable oil production to Grantee under the Code of Fair Competition for the Petroleum Industry, such well shall be deemed to have been on continuous production during the time it has been so shut-in.

"P" (viz., "the average price per barrel in dollars"), is ascertained by dividing the value of the production at the current quoted market price at the well at date of run from the gauge tank by the number of barrels produced.

DESCRIPTION OF THE LINE OF MEAN HIGH WATER OF THE PACIFIC OCEAN BETWEEN MAIN STREET OF THE CITY OF HUNTINGTON BEACH, CALIFORNIA, AND THE WEST CITY BOUNDARY, AS SURVEYED UNDER THE DIRECTION OF CHAS. T. LEEDS, SEPTEMBER 5TH TO 10TH, 1934.

The line of mean high water of the Pacific Ocean is described as follows, to wit:

A line passing through and connecting points all of which are southwesterly and seaward of a base line at the distances from the engineer's stations of said base line as given in the tabulation hereinafter, said base line being described as follows:

Beginning at a point in the southwesterly prolongation of the center line of Main Street of the City of Huntington Beach, California, as said street is shown on Map of Huntington Beach recorded at Book 3, Page 36 of Miscellaneous Maps, Records of Orange County, which point is 374.92 feet southwesterly, measured along said prolongation of center line, from its intersection with the northeastern line of Ocean Avenue as shown on said map, said intersection being marked by a spike and tin found in the street pavement; thence from the point of beginning, which is Station 0+00, of the base line, along a line which bears northwesterly and makes a forward angle of 94° 26' 20" to the right from said prolongation of the center line of Main Street, a distance of 2241.40 feet to Station 22+41.40; thence along a line which bears 4° 26' 40" to the left a distance of 3577.91 feet to Station 58+19.31, which point is 221.64 feet southwesterly from a spike in a 4"x4" stake found at the intersection of the southeastern line of Twenty-second Street and the northeastern line of Ocean Avenue as those lines are shown on Map of Huntington Beach, Seventeenth Street Section, recorded at Book 4, Page 10, of Miscellaneous Maps, Records of Orange County, and which latter distance is measured along said line of Twenty-second Street; thence continuing northwesterly along the same course 37.5 feet to Station 58+56.81; thence along a line which bears 3° 06' 50" to the left a distance of 2323.19 feet to Station 81+80.00; thence northwesterly along a line which bears 6° 50' 40" to the right a distance of 1800 feet to Station 99+80.00; thence northwesterly along a line which bears 5° 03' 10" to the right a distance of 1000.00 feet to Station 109+80.00; thence northwesterly along a line which bears 2° 36' 50" to the left a distance of 1234.55 feet to Station 122+14.55, which is a point in the west boundary of the City of Huntington Beach distant 359.73 feet southerly, measured along said boundary, from a 6"x6" concrete monument found at the intersection of said boundary with the northeastern line of the 90-foot right-of-way of the State Highway northwesterly from said boundary, said monument being shown on maps on file in the offices of the Division of Highways, State of California, at Los Angeles and Sacramento and in State Highway Map Book No. 1, Page 16-B, Office of the Recorder of Orange County, said west boundary here being the north and south center line of Section 4, T. 6 S., R. 11 W., San Bernardino Base and Meridian; thence continuing northwesterly along the same course 70.41 feet to Station 122+84.96, the end of said base line.

Points on said line of mean high water are located southwesterly from and distant from Stations of said base line as shown in the following tabulation, offset distances being measured normal to the back tangent at each Station:

Supplemental Agreement.

DEAR SIR:

The grantee hereby submits to the State of California for execution two (2) duplicate originals of agreement for easement No. 338 at Huntington Beach.

Should it appear from subsequent investigations that the enclosed Agreement is not in accord with the physical facts, grantee agrees that such instrument may be amended to conform to such facts. It is understood that this agreement for easement shall not be effective until confirmed by the legislature and that any amendment so required may be made either before or after such confirmation.

Grantee agrees that said agreement for easement No. 338 as executed may be deemed amended in the following particulars:

(1) By deleting the date "31st day of December, 1936," in the second line of page 1 of the agreement and substituting in lieu thereof the date "1st day of March, 1934." The purpose of this amendment is to make agreement for easement 338 and the rights and liabilities of the parties thereunder conforming with other agreements for easements at Huntington Beach.

(2) By deleting the sum "five hundred five thousand nine hundred fifty-two and sixty-four hundredths dollars ($505,952.64)" in Section 13, page 17 of the agreement, and inserting in lieu thereof "five hundred five thousand nine hundred sixty-nine and eighty-two hundredths dollars ($505,969.82)." The purpose of this amendment is to conform the sum specified in Section 13 to the final figure agreed upon by both the state and the grantee following a check of all pertinent accounts.

In submitting this agreement for execution by the state, the grantee hereby offers to pay, in addition to the sum specified in said agreement, interest at the rate of six

(6) per cent per annum on the total amount of deferred royalty, whatever that may be determined to be by appropriate breakdown, for the period from February 8, 1935, to May 18, 1935.

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, March 23, 1937.

MR. PRESIDENT: I am directed to inform your honorable body that the Assembly on this day adopted:

Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 34. Relative to adjournment out of respect for Colonel Charles Goff Thompson, deceased.

JAMES G. SMYTH, Chief Clerk of Assembly.

By C. W. BOOTH, Assistant Clerk.

Consideration of Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 34.

Senator Williams asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent for the consideration of Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 34, without reference to committee, for purpose of adoption.

Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 34.

Relative to adjournment out of respect for Colonel Charles Goff Thompson, deceased.

WHEREAS, The members of the Legislature of the State of California have learned, with a sense of profound shock and deep regret, of the death of Colonel Charles Goff Thompson; and

WHEREAS, Colonel Thompson had a brilliant career as an officer in the United States Army, as a scientist, as a man of letters, and as an administrator of Yosemite Park; and

WHEREAS, During the period in which he was in charge of Yosemite National Park, through his diligent efforts in providing sanitary, recreational, and other facilities therein, he created a monument to himself which will endure as long as Yosemite Park endures; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, the Senate thereof concurring, That when the Legislature adjourns this day, it do so out of respect to the memory of said Colonel Charles Goff Thompson.

Resolution read.

Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 34 ordered transmitted to the Assembly.

Motion.

Senator Slater offered the following motion regarding the death of Gerry V. Schofield in Huntington Park on Tuesday, March 23rd.

Mr. President and Gentlemen of the Senate:

Many of the older members of the Legislature I know will be grieved to learn of the death yesterday at his home in Huntington Park of former Assemblyman

Gerry V. Schofield. For three terms Mr. Schofield served faithfully and efficiently as a member of the Legislature, and those of us who knew him and were his colleagues appreciated him as a man and a conscientious public servant in all his work in behalf of public welfare and human betterment. I wish to move that when we adjourn today we do so as a tribute of respect and esteem for Gerry Schofield.

Motion seconded by Senators Mixter and Crittenden, and adopted by a rising vote of the Senate.

Senate Bill No. 969—An act to amend an act of the Legislature of the State of California entitled "An act providing for the formation, government and operation of harbor districts, for the improvement or development of harbors, the calling and conducting of elections in such districts, the issuance and disposal of the bonds thereof, and the assessment and levy of taxes for the payment of such bonds, principal and interest, and for the ordinary expenses of such district," approved April 20, 1927, as amended, by amending section 20 of said act, relating to the management and control of harbors created, developed and improved under the provisions of said act.

Consideration of Committee Amendments.

Pursuant to the report of the Committee on Commerce and Navigation, the following amendments to Senate Bill No. 969 were read and adopted:

Amendment No. 1.

On page 1 of the printed bill, strike out lines 1 to 9, inclusive, of the title; and in line 10 of the title, strike out "and section 20 of said act," and insert in lieu thereof the following: "An act to amend sections 582, 5900, 5901, 5902 of, and to add sections 5900.1 to 5900.10, inclusive, to the Harbors and Navigation Code."

Amendment No. 2.

On page 1 of the printed bill, strike out line 12 of the title and insert in lieu thereof the following: "provisions of Part II of Division VIII of said code."

Amendment No. 3.

On page 1 of the printed bill, strike out lines 1 to 18, inclusive, and on page 2, strike out lines 1 to 25, inclusive, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"SECTION 1. Section 5802 of the Harbors and Navigation Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

5802. The board of supervisors may at the same time and in the same manner levy upon all of the property in the district a tax sufficient to pay the ordinary annual expenses of maintenance of the district and it may also levy a tax sufficient to meet expenditures for any further improvement and development of the harbor which the board deems necessary and advisable.

SEC. 2. Section 5900 of the Harbors and Navigation Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

5900. Whenever any district is formed pursuant to this part and its control is vested in the board of supervisors of the county in which the district is situated, the board of supervisors may pass all necessary ordinances for the regulation of the district and provide that the violation of such ordinances constitutes a misdemeanor.

Sec. 3. Section 5900.1 is hereby added to the Harbors and Navigation Code, to read as follows:

5900.1. The board may sue and be sued in the name of the district.

Sec. 4. Section 5900.2 is hereby added to the Harbors and Navigation Code, to read as follows:

5900.2. The board may adopt a seal and affix it as it pleases.

Sec. 5. Section 5900.3 is hereby added to the Harbors and Navigation Code, to read as follows:

5900.3. The board may take by grant, purchase, gift, devise, lease and dispose of real and personal property of every kind within or without the district necessary to the full or convenient exercise of their powers.

Sec. 6. Section 5900.4 is hereby added to the Harbors and Navigation Code, to read as follows:

5900.4. The board may exercise the right of eminent domain in the manner provided by law for the condemnation of private property for public use, to take any property necessary or convenient to the exercise of the powers conferred by this part. In exercising the right of eminent domain the district has the same rights, powers, and privileges as are by law possessed by a municipal corporation.

Sec. 7. Section 5900.5 is hereby added to the Harbors and Navigation Code, to read as follows:

5900.5. The board may borrow money and issue industrial and bond bonds, or other evidence of such indebtedness in the manner and to the extent deemed necessary by the board for further improvement and development of the harbor. The board may also do any other acts, and exercise any other powers, which may be necessary or convenient for the full exercise of the powers specifically granted by this part.

Sec. 8. Section 5900.6 is hereby added to the Harbors and Navigation Code, to read as follows:

5900.6. When any improvement or development work done under the authority of the board is completed, the maintenance, management and control of the work done and of the harbor as so improved, shall pass to and be vested in the board. The board may employ and pay all necessary agents, servants and employees to manage, maintain and control the harbor.

Sec. 9. Section 5900.7 is hereby added to the Harbors and Navigation Code, to read as follows:

5900.7. If any portion of the harbor is situated within the boundaries of an incorporated city, the board of supervisors may enter into arrangements or contracts with the governing body of that city, upon such terms as may be agreed upon, for the purchase and maintenance of fire boats, patrol boats, buoys and other equipment which the board deems necessary for the proper protection of the harbor.

Sec. 10. Section 5900.8 is hereby added to the Harbors and Navigation Code, to read as follows:

5900.8. The board shall exercise general supervision over the harbor and may adopt general rules and regulations for the government thereof, which, in its judgment will best promote the interests thereof, if these rules and regulations do not conflict with the right of any city to exercise its police powers, or with the right of the city to license and regulate business enterprises within its corporate limits. If any business or enterprise is located adjacent to or affects the use and enjoyment of the waters of the harbor, the approval of the board of supervisors shall be necessary to the licensing and regulation thereof.

Sec. 11. Section 5900.9 is hereby added to the Harbors and Navigation Code, to read as follows:

5900.9. The board may provide by ordinance for the regulation of anchorages, wharves and dockage of vessels within the harbor and it may establish and collect fees and licenses therefor. The proceeds when collected shall be deposited to the credit of the harbor district fund.

Sec. 12. Section 5901 of the Harbors and Navigation Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

5901. The governing body of a city within which a portion of the harbor is situated may establish by ordinance any regulations which are proper in the exercise of its police powers which regulations do not conflict with the provisions of this part, or with any lawful ordinance of the board of supervisors.

Sec. 13. Section 5902 of the Harbors and Navigation Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

5902. The board of supervisors may by ordinance provide for the appointment of a harbor commission consisting of five persons, and shall by ordinance define its powers and duties.

SEC. 14. Section 5009.10 is hereby added to the Harbors and Navigation Code, to read as follows:

5009.10. Every person who violates the provisions of any ordinance enacted by the board of supervisors pursuant to this part, is guilty of a misdemeanor."

Bill read second time, ordered to reprint, and re-referred to Committee on Commerce and Navigation.

Resolution.

The following resolution was offered

By Senator Metzger:

WHEREAS, Due to the attractive climatic conditions, California is an ideal place for persons who in their youth lived in other portions of the United States to spend the declining years of their lives; and

WHEREAS, Persons who, due to advancing age, feel that they are unable to continue to live in the rigorous climate of the eastern and middle western States seek the more salubrious climate of California; and

WHEREAS, In conformity with the Social Security Act, California has reduced the age at which elderly people may receive pensions from 70 to 65 years; and

WHEREAS, Due to the conditions above recited, the proportion of persons over 65 years of age to the total population of California has thereby become much greater than the average throughout the United States; and

WHEREAS, Consequently, the burden to the State of California of providing its share of pensions for such persons has become so great that it will not be long possible to continue this burden; and

WHEREAS, The present system makes it difficult for persons who wish to receive a pension to move from one State to another; and

WHEREAS, It is to the interests of the United States and all the citizens thereof that a system be devised whereby persons receiving a pension may reside in any State of the union in which they may desire; and

WHEREAS, A system whereby the entire cost of pensions to aged persons is borne by the Federal Government would be both equitable and just; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That the Senate of the State of California respectfully urges the President of the United States and the Congress to take cognizance of the problem of the care of the unduly large proportion of aged persons in California as a national matter and make provision to properly amend the Federal Social Security Act or to pass such other appropriate act so as to provide that all pensions to elderly persons be paid from the treasury of the United States and that no State shall be required to assume any part thereof save and except in the administration of any pension system so set up, and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States and the Vice President of the United States, the Speaker of the House of Representatives and to each Senator and member of the House of Representatives in the United States Congress for California.

Resolution read, and on motion of Senator Metzger, adopted.

Motion.

On motion of Senator McGovern, Senate Bills Nos. 133, 134, 289, 290, 291, and 288 were placed on the unfinished business file.

Consideration of Daily File. Second Reading of Senate Bills.

Senate Bill No. 439—An act to amend section 784.3 of the Agricultural Code, relating to fruits, nuts and vegetables.

Consideration of Committee Amendments.

Pursuant to the report of the Committee on Agriculture, the following amendments to Senate Bill No. 439 were read and adopted:

Amendment No. 1.

On page 1, line 1 of the title of the printed bill, strike out "section 784.3" and insert in lieu thereof "sections 782, 784.3 and 830."

Amendment No. 2.

On page 1 of the printed bill, strike out all of lines 1 and 2 and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"Section 1. Section 782 of the Agricultural Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

782. The director and the commissioners of each county of the State, their deputies and inspectors, under the supervisory and control of the director shall enforce this chapter. The refusal of any officer mentioned under this chapter to carry out the orders and directions of the director in the enforcement of this chapter is neglect of duty.

The director may prescribe methods of selecting samples of lots or containers of fruits, nuts and vegetables which shall be reasonably sufficient to produce by such sampling fair representations of the entire lot or containers mentioned, establish and issue official color charts depicting the color standards and requirements established in this chapter, and make such other rules and regulations as are necessary to secure uniformity in the enforcement of this chapter.

Any sample taken under the provisions of this chapter shall be prima facie evidence, in any court in this State, of the true condition of the entire lot in the examination of which said sample was taken. A written notice of violation, issued by a duly qualified representative of the director or by commissioners, their deputies and inspectors holding valid examinations certificates or eligibility as enforcing officers of this chapter, stating that a certain lot of produce is in violation of the provisions of this chapter and based upon the examination of such sample, shall be prima facie evidence, in any court in this State, of the true condition of the entire lot.

Amendment No. 3.

On page 1 of the printed bill, after line 14, add the following:

"SEC. 3. Section 830 of the Agricultural Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

830. All fruits, nuts or vegetables, except dates, of a kind specified in this chapter which are not wrapped or packed, and which are intended for use in the State in commercial processing, preserving, or manufacture of by-products for resale or which are being delivered to any person in the State for grading, packing or reconditioning are exempt from the provisions of this chapter if such commodities are moved directly from point of origin to a commercial by-product or grading or packing plant where such fruits, nuts or vegetables are to be used as provided in this section. The containers of such fruits, nuts or vegetables must not bear any false or misleading statements and such fruits, nuts or vegetables must not be deceptively packed.

The owner or person in possession of fruits, nuts or vegetables, which are to be used or disposed of as provided in this section, must, upon the demand of any enforcing officer, give to such officer a sworn statement in writing made before a notary public, specifying that the fruit, nut or vegetable will be disposed of as provided in this section, and the name and address of such commercial by-product or grading or packing plant to which such fruit, nut or vegetable is to be delivered, and an accurate identification of such product. Within a reasonable time after the demand and receipt of such statement by the officer a written receipt must be presented to the commissioner of the county specified in the statement as the destination of the fruit, nut or vegetable, by the person making the above mentioned statement. This receipt must contain a signed statement by a person representing such commercial by-product or grading or packing plant, receiving such fruits, nuts or vegetables, that such fruit, nuts or vegetables, giving an accurate description of them, have been received."
